DR. DIXON GIVES SUMMER THOUGHTS

Talks About What Solitary Confinement Means and Presents Hints on Health

State Commissioner of Health Samuel G. Dixon talks about the development of character and what solitary confinement means in a talk on health. The doctor has some ideas on the subject which are interesting. He says:

From the earliest period in which men have imprisoned their fellows, solitary confinement has been considered an extreme punishment. The thought of being shut off from intercourse with mankind like a load to a stone" were the worst moves on would appal the stoutest heart.

"Those who suppress their emotions to too great a degree shut themselves out from all sympathy. The confinement means in solitary confinement, the thought of being shut off from intercourse with mankind like a load to a stone" were the worst moves on would appal the stoutest heart.

"Man has been referred to as a sociable animal. Following the arrival of a state of civilization which made them safe and possible we have had the enormous growth of cities. This herding together of millions of the world's inhabitants, is an evidence of the unconquerable social instinct.

Most of the efforts which are being made to induce emigration back to the land" include some plan for social intercourse in the rural communities. The desire for the society of mankind is inextinguishable. Cultivating those qualities which tend to make association with our fellow creatures agreeable is not alone a duty but an accomplishment of the greatest possible individual benefit.

It may seem some stretch of the imagination to say that the instruction of children and grown-ups as well, in unselfishness, sympathy, modesty, tolerance and courtesy may serve to keep them sound of body and mind.

"However, these are qualities which raise us in the esteem of our associates and their appreciation is a factor of no small importance in maintaining mental health and efficiency. This has been estimated that half of the blindness in the United States is due to inflammation of the eyes of infants following birth. This condition is one which ordinarily is remedied if promptly reported and the case treated by a physician. The failure to secure proper treatment is certain to result in blindness or serious defects of vision in a large percentage of the cases.

The State Department of Health has furnished every physician, nurse, midwife and health officer in the Commonwealth with pamphlets of this kind and pamphlet setting forth its vital importance. Every effort will be made to follow up failures to report cases for every such failure is almost certain to add to the arm of 70,000 blind in the United States, half of whom owe their misfortune to ignorance and carelessness which this act was designed to correct.

TAKE PLEASANT VACATION

The Misses Isabel and Esther Loban, of 622 Muench street, are spending a pleasant vacation at Thousand Islands, Buffalo and Montreal, Canada. At Niagara Falls they will visit at the home of their uncle, Andrew Hoak.

Electric Meter Reader Man Has Troubles Too

Few people realize how many motions meter readers have to go through in collecting the information necessary for making up electric bills. Some interesting facts are brought out in the analysis of a meter reader's movements in a town of 17,000 people, as presented in the Electrical World. The data shows that twenty-eight hours was required in reading 730 meters. During that time 681 stairs were climbed and 1867 doors had to be opened. In traveling from one consumer's house to the next the meter reader traversed 304 blocks and crossed streets 314 times. These figures suggest that considerable time could be saved the men, while inconvenience could be spared the customers, if meters were installed in more accessible places, such as, for instance, on back porches.

ACHIEVEMENT. Professor Plummer's life began with every promise of success: He was a diligent young man—People admired him more or less.

From idle sentiment exempt. He could observe with clearer eyes. And look with laudable contempt. At everything which was not wise.

He saw that friendships came and went. "We meet," he said, "shake hands, and scatter." He saw that time was better spent. Upon some more important matter.

He reasoned in his lucid way. That love was quite unnecessary: "When one was busy," he would say, "A wife would be distracting, very."

Strange, after years in studying Important matters occupied. One wholly unimportant thing Professor Plummer did—he died. —C. T. Ryder, in Harper's Magazine.
