GERMANS OCCUPYING LIEGE BUT BELGIANS STILL HOLD FORTS

single Belgian soldier remains in the town of Liege, as they are all quartered in the forts.

As far as can be learned by the Belgian general staff some 120,000 German troops were engaged at Liege. They are said to have been so weakened as to be unable effectively to attack the forts. On the other hand it is argued that it is not possible for the forts to concentrate their fire on the town of Liege itself.

The next development in the situation is expected to be the arrival of the Belgian main army, reported to be advancing rapidly from Louvain in the northwest to attack the Germans occupying the town of Liege.

Frenchmen Put to Death on Platform of Station

Paris, Aug. 10, 2:45 A. M.—How five young Frenchmen were shot and killed in Germany is graphically described in an affidavit of Jean Demombaynes, a returned student, who declares, furthermore, that two Italians traveling in the same train met the same fate.

The first Frenchman to be killed had shouted: "Long live France!" at Lorrach, a town of Baden, where he was awaiting a train. According to the affidavit, he was immediately arrested, placed against the wall of the station and shot.

Three other French youths, who were among the small crowd detained at Lorrach by the Germans, protested at the killing and were told to shut their mouths. They were then led to the place where the first Frenchman was shot, and there they were killed. Women in the vicinity wept, the affidavit recites, knowing what had happened.

25,000 Visit Gretna Camp Over Sunday; Harrisburg Swell the Big Crowds

Special to The Telegraph Camp of Instruction, Mt. Gretna, Pa., Aug. 10.—An assemblage of people conservatively estimated at 25,000, yesterday visited the National Guard camp here.

Colonel William A. Mann, of the Third Infantry, United States army, the commandant of the camp, reviewed the First brigade in command of General Wm. A. Price at 4 o'clock, and at 5 o'clock he reviewed the natty Fourth brigade, in command of General James B. Coryell. The Philadelphia brigade was given a flattering reception along the line of march by admiring friends, but it was nothing like that tendered to the Fourth brigade, for the crowds were largely from Central Pennsylvania points, and they paid proper homage to the several regimental organizations.

Colonel C. T. O'Neil, of Allentown, the senior regimental commander in the State led off the Fourth brigade review with his soldierly looking Fourth Infantry, and was followed by the Eighth Infantry, in command of Colonel Joseph B. Hutchison, of Harrisburg, and a fine showing of the command brought to view various points along the line of spectators. The Sixth Infantry, commanded by Colonel Thomas Biddle Ellis, brought up the rear.

Local Companies Prominent The Eighth regiment and the two Harrisburg companies figured very prominently in the events of the day. A general observation of the streets might have been led to believe that most of the visitors came to visit Colonel Hutchison and his subordinates, and that the companies were the regimental and company streets. The officers of the regiment entertained a considerable company of guests at their mess, and the officers of the companies were in the evening of the entire regiment assembled at headquarters to witness the presentation of trophies won the recent rifle competition of the organization. Colonel Hutchison himself made the presentation and made a speech in which he paid a glowing tribute to the Harrisburg companies which secured almost a clean sweep of the prizes. He encouraged all the men of the regiment to greater effort, and impressed upon them the value of excellent marksmanship.

To Company I, of which Captain Frank E. Ziegler is the commander, was presented the E. J. Stackpole trophy, a gift of the late E. J. Stackpole; the Colonel Henry McCormick trophy, the gift of Vance C. McCormick, as first prize in the combination matches and the Colonel W. C. Larkin trophy, the gift of W. C. Larkin, as second prize in the slow fire contest. Quartermaster Sergeant Virgil B. Kennedy and Corporal John A. Rogers, the members of which first prize in slow fire match, and the O. M. Copelin trophy, as second prize in the combination competitions. Private Albert J. Dunn, of the company, was awarded individual medals for their skill.

To Company C, of Chamberburg, Captain G. S. Patten, was awarded the prize, the Captain Thomas F. Malone trophy, as second prize in the rapid fire competition.

Distinction for Local Company The principal distinction fell to the lot of Company I, of Harrisburg, that being the only company in the entire two brigades in camp, which has a full quota of fifty-six non-commissioned officers and men, and three officers, that being the regulation number. And what is more they are all in service in camp. The personnel is also the best in the history of the company.

Sheriff H. C. Wells and the members of his family, were among the Harrisburg visitors. Private Ned Wells, the Sheriff's son is a member of Company I, and the visitors spent the day as his guests.

Private Kaiser, of Company D, Eighth Infantry, fell from the ranks suffering from sunstroke, as the organization was marching back to camp after company drill on Saturday afternoon.

A first detail assigned for guard duty in Company D consisted of Sergeant Howard Shickley, and Privates Bell, Brandt, Border, Boughter, Carmichael, Craver, Ehler and Fair.

Mrs. William F. Schell, wife of the first sergeant of Company D, spent a part of the day in camp, and later left with her cousin, Elmer S. Miller, to visit her husband, who is in camp with her husband, who is a sergeant in Company D.

Captain Harry M. Bassler, pastor of the Second Reformed church at Harrisburg, and who is the Chaplain of the Eighth regiment, on Sunday morning conducted a service at headquarters which was attended by all of the organizations of the regiment.

Captain Edward Laubenstein, of Harrisburg, is spending several days the guest of Colonel Hutchison. Captain Laubenstein spent over twenty-eight hours in the service of the National Guard of Pennsylvania and he has not missed an encampment since 1876.

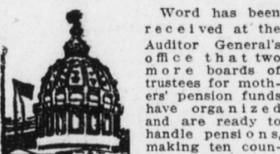

For several hours the leak remained undiscovered and it was believed the trouble was due to a fault in the pumping machinery. In the meantime the men had to carry every drop of water used in camp either from the Hotel Conevago or from the lake. Both places are a half mile from the nearest part of the camp, and fully three miles from the more distant commands, so that the mere task of providing water was hard work.

TELECOMS IN PENSION SYSTEM

Montgomery Forster, insurance commissioner for many years and a former chairman of this city, went abroad with members of his family early in the summer. He has not been heard of since supposed to be in Germany or France.

Going to Camp.—Governor Tenner will visit the camp at Mt. Gretna, Wednesday, coming from Massachusetts for the purpose. He will be accompanied by the adjutant general, General Stewart and members of his staff. The Governor will remain at camp and will attend the exercises of the week when he will return to Massachusetts for the remainder of his trip.

Local Man Complains.—Warren L. Abel, 323 Second street, this city, complains to the Public Service Commission that the passenger coaches on the Pennsylvania Railroad train which arrived in Harrisburg at 8:00 p. m. from Mt. Gretna, on the evening of August 9, were not lighted.

Mr. Snow is on an inspection tour and efforts are being made to hasten his return to the city.

Bulletin in Demand.—State Zoologist H. A. Surface has been much complimented for his bulletin on salamanders and other amphibians. The bulletin is in much demand and contains a lot of information on things about which the average person knows very little.

Two Dropped.—Two national guard officers are announcing as dropped from the roll of officers of the guard in the new general orders. They are Second Lieutenant W. C. Larkin, Company B, Sixth Infantry, who did not appear for examination at New York, and Lieutenant John T. Heckman, Company K, Fourteenth, absent more than thirty days without leave.

NATION'S TRIBUTE TO MRS. WILSON

The church bells will be tolled. A special car on the train will take thousands of wreaths and floral tributes to Mrs. Wilson's death. Police Bear Casket. Joseph R. Wilson, the President's brother, and George Howe, the President's cousin, will remain meanwhile on the funeral car.

Since Mrs. Wilson's death the President or some other members of the family have been constantly in the room with her body. The President took personal charge to-day of the final arrangements for the funeral and steeled himself against his grief.

Six police officers who have been on duty at the White House for many years, were selected to bear the casket to the hearse. They were Forest H. Purks, John F. Jamison, H. F. Hutton, John Bramlett, Eugene X. Davis and Henry Gilbert.

Among the mourners at the White House was Major Charles Loeffler, who for 44 years was doorkeeper for the President. He was among the pallbearers at the funeral of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison who died in the White House.

The senatorial committee, composed of the senior senators, assembled at the Capitol shortly after one o'clock and drove to the White House in carriages to attend the funeral.

STEELTON'S STEELTON'S GARDEN SCHOOLS A SUCCESS

112 Plots Now Under Cultivation; Borough Youngsters Learning Meaning of Thrift

Whether or not the war is going to increase the high cost of living isn't worrying a part of Steelton's population a little bit—that is that part which is fortunate enough to have under cultivation one of the 112 fertile plots in the Steelton Civic Club's garden school on Cottage Hill.

Here every day from sunrise till after sunset one may see a considerable part of the borough's boys and girls busily hoeing, weeding, sprinkling and cultivating their little gardens, and, besides supplying their homes with a considerable part of their garden produce, learning new lessons in the meaning of thrift.

"This season," said Mrs. G. P. Vanier, chairman of the garden school committee, "is proving one of the most successful seasons we have ever had. Every one of the sixty-two plots for children between the ages of 10 and 14 years is under cultivation, as is also the fifty-odd family plots.

All of which goes to show the inestimable benefits that may be derived from the garden schools which are conducted by the civic clubs and kindergartens throughout the country," she went on. "There was a time when the population was rural and the boys and girls had their chores and household duties to perform. In these days in towns and cities there is little, almost nothing, of the kind that these boys can do unless it is specially provided. Public school gardening is a proved success in training the children. It reaches the parents through the children and creates an interest in the home gardens, which alone can immensely reduce the cost of living. If back yards are put to use as gardens, if the vacant lots of cities are used, they will serve to reduce the cost of living and inspire the people with a new hope and courage which in many cases is the only thing lacking for the display of thrift, the beginning of prosperity.

In classroom studies there must be definite attention to thrift if children are to learn the happiness there is in it. The rapidly with which money is being thrown away is not realized—the arithmetic fails to emphasize it. There is too little knowledge of principles which govern safe investments as the fifty to one hundred million dollars of wildcat stocks have demonstrated in recent years.

Not only are the garden schools in Steelton teaching the borough's young people lessons in thrift, but they have done much to improve the appearance of the borough. The Civic Club, in connection with its garden school, offers five prizes, one in each ward, to the family that have the best-kept yard in its district.

German Forces Said to Be Going Backwards

Brussels, Aug. 10, via Paris, 6:15 A. M.—The Belgian general staff today says the situation in regard to the Germans has modified that little since Saturday. However, the German forces are said to be going backwards before the advance of the French troops, a considerable effective force of which has not yet been in contact with the German advance guard. It is reported that the entire territory to the South of the Meuse, has been cleared of German soldiers.

The French and Belgian armies will take the offensive simultaneously in conformity with a concerted plan of campaign.

Dispatch Tells of Occupation of Liege

London, Aug. 10, 2:30 A. M.—A dispatch to the Express from Brussels timed in that city at noon yesterday says the Germans entered Liege on Friday night and occupied that town. The night and occupied that town. The occupation was accomplished decorously.

General Von Emmich summoned the principal citizens and imprisoned them as hostages in a citadel in the center of the city to prevent the forts firing in the German gunners who were entrenched in the public squares to overawe the inhabitants.

The German troops have been billeted in the schools and public buildings, but not in private houses. General Von Emmich's men also have been ordered to pay for all purchases at the stores which remain open.

Most of the inhabitants of Liege remained in their cellars during the day night but came out on Saturday upon finding that General Von Emmich was not permitting excesses.

The General issued a proclamation accusing civilians of firing on German troops and threatening to destroy the town if this was repeated.

Liege presents a strange picture to-day. Soldiers of opposing armies mingled freely in the streets and in bodies awaiting identification lie under shrouds in the city.

Mass Formation Broken by Heavy Machine Guns

London, Aug. 9, 3:05 A. M.—Telegrams from Brussels, the correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says of the fighting at Liege:

"The Germans tried to overpower the forts by flinging on them bodies of men against them in mass formation. The last Prussian assault on Bonifels reminded one of the early days of Fort Arthur. The infantry melted away before the machine guns of the defenders.

"The morale of the Prussians was entirely broken toward the end of the general attack. The casualties among the German officers were considerable. The attackers ran short of rifle ammunition."

Thousands of Germans have left Belgium since Thursday under the protection of the American consul, for Holland. They were also chivalrously protected by Belgian officers and civic guards, who as late as Friday, together with the municipal authorities undertook to put a stop to the mania for espionage.

The most improbable anti-German reports were spread, the correspondent says, one of which was that German soldiers had tried to murder General Leman, the governor of Liege.

Thousands of Germans have left Belgium since Thursday under the protection of the American consul, for Holland.
