CALLS REPORTS OF TREATMENT FALSE

Mrs. George B. Kunkel and son Lewis, 118 Locust street.

Mrs. Graybill's story is as follows:

"On our passage over a wireless message was received stating that the crown prince and princess of Austria had been assassinated. This was our first intimation that all was not peace and harmony in Europe. During our stay in Brussels on July 22 we saw what we thought was a military parade in honor of the lord mayor of London's visit to the city. Since seeing the mobilization of troops in other cities we think that Belgium was mobilizing at that time. At Wiesbaden on July 30 we learned that war had been declared between Austria and Serbia. We feared we would have trouble in reaching Berlin, as the cars would be needed for transporting the soldiers. We had no trouble, however, and reached Berlin on the evening of July 31. Everything was commotion and soldiers everywhere. Bulletins were being thrown out from automobiles every hour. The next morning the city was in a ferment and increasing all the time as a new bulletin would be issued. The depression around the hotel affected all. The third call for troops had been made and manager, stewards and waiters in our hotel went one after the other. During the night the tumult increased and on all sides was heard the national songs.

"We soon found on Sunday morning that the situation was grave indeed, and our American ambassador, Judge Gerard, issued special passports for us. A notice in the embassy stated that only one more day would be

Discolored or Spotty Skin Easily Peeled Off

The freckling, discoloring or roughening to which most skins are subjected at this season, may readily be gotten rid of. Metcalf's peel, spread lightly over the face before bathing and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the discolored skin. Get an ounce of the wax at other drug stores. There's no more effective way of removing skin freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process itself doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion, and one soon acquires a brand new, spotless, girlishly beautiful face.

Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness, are best treated by a simple solution of powdered salicylic, 1 oz., dissolved in 1/2 pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this produces a truly marvelous transformation.—Advertisement.

TRIPP ADmits HE IS GOING TO NEW YORK

GEORGE B. TRIPP

General Manager of Light and Power Company and Commerce Chamber President, who will go to New York.

changes, it is expected, will go into effect about September 1 and the new general manager of the Harrisburg company will be here within a few days to look over the plant and become acquainted with the big force.

At 11:30 o'clock this morning the board of directors met in special session and discussed the details incident to the coming of Mr. Kaltwasser.

No Action by Commerce Chamber

Mr. Tripp will continue to serve as a director and vice-president of the company, visiting Harrisburg from time to time to review the operations of the local concern, and in view of the fact that he will not definitely sever his connections with Harrisburg, it is unlikely that any action relative to the presidency of the Chamber of Commerce will be taken by the directorate of the organization until after the annual election of directors in October. Mr. Tripp when elected in January was chosen to serve until the annual meeting of the directors, and this was set at the time for October.

Mr. Tripp's offices will be at 61 Broadway, New York. The United Gas and Electric is one of the most efficiently operated utility organizations in the country, and it has companies in Altoona, Buffalo, Terre Haute, Ind., New Orleans, Houston, Texas, Lancaster, Little Rock, Ark., Memphis, Richmond, Ind., Birmingham, Ala., Colorado Springs, Elms, N. Y., Hartford, Conn., Knoxville, Tenn., Leavenworth, Kan., Lockport, N. Y., Wilkes-Barre, Bloomington, Ill., and Harrisburg.

But Wires Underground

Mr. Tripp came to Harrisburg a little less than three years ago from Colorado Springs, where he had supervision over the big electric lighting, gas and hydro-electric companies of that city. In October, 1911, he assumed the general management of the Harrisburg company and in that time he practically reorganized the electric service system in this city and vicinity.

For some years Harrisburg had discussed underground wiring and with the coming of the new head of the electric light company the first step toward bringing about that hoped for improvement were taken. Mr. Tripp was chosen vice-president and general manager of the Harrisburg Light, Heat and Power Company upon his arrival here and soon afterward the Paxtang Electric Company was purchased and the merging of the two companies was made possible by the passage of an ordinance in Council. The merging of the companies was brought about by the new head of the electric light company.

Provided New "White Way"

The old Fourth street plant was vacated and the Ninth street plant was reconstructed. The Paxtang's old establishment in Cedar street was modeled and fitted up to assist in the furnishing of the electric service for the city. In time the Harrisburg Steam Heat and Power Company in Short street was taken over and the Harrisburg Light and Power Company was formally organized. The new Ninth street plant was fitted up to serve as a central station for the light and power service.

Harrisburg's ornamental lighting system—the system of cluster lights and standards which converted the city's business section into a modern commercial white way—was suggested by Mr. Tripp, and the first steps toward putting wires underground were taken when this ordinance was passed.

Extent of the interurban lighting field were taken over and the administration of Mr. Tripp, too, and today the first unit of the proposed nation-wide interurban lighting system is in service in Dauphin. Plans are under way for the extension into Penbrook and Highspire.

Steelton's streets by the way, have been lighted through the Harrisburg company, the local concern having purchased the Steelton Light and Power Company more than a year ago.
