As to Love at First Sight

BY BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Do you believe in love at first sight? Numerous people write and ask me this question, and each and every one shows plainly that they hope I am going to speak words of approval for the sudden feeling which they cherish it.

I do not believe in "love" at first sight. In the charm that attracts at once, in the magnetism that makes itself felt almost before a word has been spoken, in the allure that reaches across times of lack of knowledge and understanding, I do believe. But that any of these or all together are stable things worthy of the name of "love" I gravely doubt.

Love ought to be based on understanding, knowledge, congeniality and respect. Unless it have a firm foundation it cannot last.

There is little durability or wearing quality to a cobweb. Now the magnetic quality that makes itself felt as the attraction called "love at first sight" is no more than "a cobweb wet with morning dew" and sparkling delightfully in the early sunlight. When the sun's rays become warm and hard to endure, or when the chill east winds blow, the misty cobweb becomes a dusty, lifeless thing or a chill and sodden mass of gray.

Love at first sight is too often exactly like that. It cannot endure the warmth and friction of daily living or the chill winds of adversity. It is a thing of glamour and of mystery. Understood or analyzed or put to any test of living, it fades away.

If a man is taking a business partner or a woman is hiring a cook, do they plunge in and take someone whose looks they like, or who has a pleasing way of tilting their head? Not at all. Mister Man makes sure of having as his partner someone whose talents dovetail nicely with his own, someone for whom he has admiration and respect, someone with whom he can endure the friction of daily contact. And Madam Housekeeper will have no one as her cook of whose capabilities and qualities she is not sure.

In buying a suit or a dress or a hat a woman studies wearing qualities and suitability and becomingness—and sums it all up by saying, "Can I afford that suit? Will it serve me well?"

When a man gets a lawnmower or a new auto, he studies the workings of that machine, and does not decide upon it until he is sure he knows all about it and considers it a "GOOD BUY."

Isn't love as important as any of these things?

Of course it is. And Love isn't worth entertaining unless it is based on actual knowledge and is sure of itself.

At first sight a given man feels more attraction to one girl of a group than to half a dozen others that would assay just as many charms. Well and good and natural enough. But he is not in love with her. He is ready to judge her faults with a lenient mind and to find delight in all her charms. He is in a receptive mood for love. But truly in love he cannot be.

Perhaps some lad's flashing blue eyes and broad shoulders attract a certain lassie the very first second she sees him. She, too, is ready to feel the force of his every word and quality. But she should try to judge him with somewhat the same open-mindedness that she would show in her judgment of any one of life's far lesser interests. The world is sadly full of people who do not wear well. There are numberless lovable scamps or likable vixens on earth. Don't be fooled by them because they exert on you when first you meet a certain charm.

Love ought to be based on mutual knowledge and respect. And these things come as time prove worthiness and congeniality. If they are added to the first attraction, which is generally merely a snare of the senses, they elevate it to a worthwhile plane.

Don't yield to "love at first sight" until you have investigated it and proved that it is love and not mere fleeting fascination you entertain.

WHERE TO FIND NATIONALLY ADVERTISED GOODS

The World's Best Merchandise In and Near

HARRISBURG, PA.

Merchandise that will bear national advertising has to have exceptional merit. else the manufacturer could not afford to spend large sums of money for the advertising, and to attach his name and reputation to an article that was not extraordinarily meritorious, for it is the repeat sales that he depends on. It is therefore quite evident that when an article is nationally advertised and nationally sold, year in and year out, year after year, it is exceptionally good goods to stand the test and prove worthy of continued sales and growth. It is conceded by experts that when an article is advertised generally—nationally—it is the best possible product. The wise always, in consequence, prefer nationally known goods and ask for what they want by name. Read the magazines and keep posted on nationally advertised goods.

A PRACTICAL AND DAINY SLIP

Simple Silks Are Used For Garments of This Sort as Well as Lawn and Batiste

By MAY MANTON

8374 Girl's Princess Slip, 8 to 14 years.

The princess slip is a most desirable garment for the growing girl. It does away with the belt of the petticoat and is both shapely and comfortable. This one can be made of lingerie material as shown here or it can be made of one of the thin silks and often a color is used beneath thin dresses to produce a pretty effect. India silk, crepe de chine and the very thin taffetas are the preferred silks and, for such use, the lower edge will preferably be finished with a hem only although embroidery and lace trills are pretty for the lingerie garments.

For the 12 year size, the slip will require 1 1/2 yds. of material 36 or 44 in. wide, with 3 yds. of insertion, 2 1/2 yds. of edging, 1 1/2 yds. of embroidery.

The pattern 8374 is cut in sizes from 8 to 14 years. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents.
