

PRIZE WINNERS IN WHO IS WHO CONTEST

First Prize Awarded to Mrs. Lottie Fisher; William E. Quenzler Wins Second Prize

Great interest was manifested in the Who is Who? puzzle page published in the Telegraph Friday, August 28. Among the great number of answers received there were none of them correct. The nearest to a correct solution was Mrs. Lottie Fisher, of 118 South street, winner of the first prize, having found the solution to all the advertisements with the exception of the tenth. This entitles her to the first prize of $15. The second best, with only two wrong out of the entire fifty-six, is the list submitted by William E. Quenzler, of 227 Boas street, who receives $10. He failed on numbers one and thirty-eight. The greatest stumbling blocks to most all were the "Fromar" and "We Fit Them All" by Hoffman & Kerns.

The prize awards will be mailed to winners to-morrow. The judges who decided the winners were Dr. C. Leroy Zimmerman, of the Harrisburg Hospital; John H. Peters, H. D., of the Health Studio; H. F. Asper, of the Johnston Harvester Company. The advertisements are published in correct form on opposite page.

- A correct list of advertisers in the Who is Who puzzle is as follows: 1. The Mechanics Trust Co. 2. The Eckhart Lumber Co. 3. The Brighton-End Paint Store. 4. The East End Bank. 5. Front-Market Motor Supply. 6. Forry's Gents' Furnishings. 7. The Security Trust Co. 8. The School of Commerce. 9. Schmidt's Bakery. 10. Hoffman & Kerns, tailors. 11. C. M. Forry's Drug Store. 12. Geo. W. Himes, stoves. 13. American Sales & Service Co. 14. John Hoffer Flouring Mills Co. 15. City Star Laundry. 16. Paul's Shoe Store. 17. J. D. Brennanman, florist. 18. Diener, jeweler. 19. H. M. Kelley, coal and wood. 20. The Bozar Lumber Co. 21. Manhattan Restaurant. 22. The Bell Realty Co. 23. M. H. Baker, plumber. 24. J. Harr Messersmith, gents' furn. 25. The Arcade Laundry. 26. The Eckhart Lumber Co. 27. The Central Book Store. 28. Capital City Marble & Granite Works. 29. The Shupe Hospital. 30. C. F. Baker, pianos. 31. Detweiler Bros., coal and wood. 32. Ideal Jewelry and Optical Co. 33. E. N. Cooper Machine Shop. 34. Photography Theater. 35. W. H. Fitzgerald Supply Co. 36. E. C. Snyder Lumber Co. 37. Penna. Milk Producers' Assn. 38. Wierman & Hawbecker, ice and coal. 39. Harrisburg Telegraph. 40. Capital City Junk Co. 41. Brinton & Packer, insurance. 42. Andrew Redmond, motor cars. 43. J. E. Montgomery, coal. 44. W. H. H. Marble works. 45. Hoak Milk Co. 46. Capital City Bakery. 47. Ziegler & Hayes, tin shop. 48. E. M. Montgomery, coal. 49. West Shore Bakery. 50. C. B. Nebinger, ice cream. 51. C. M. Musselman, furniture. 52. E. C. Smiley, jeweler. 53. E. M. Montgomery, coal. 54. The Central Hotel. 55. Capital Wall Cement Co. 56. Co-Operative Loan & Investment Co.

Above, left to right, Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh and Senator Franklin S. Martin; center, Senator Boies Penrose; right, Dr. Brumbaugh, greeting Miss Mary Estelle Thomas, daughter of R. H. Thomas, Jr., manager of the Grangers' Picnic; below, left, Henry Houck, Secretary of Internal Affairs; center, Congressman A. S. Kreider, Harry Smith, president of the Gratz Fair Association, and James Shelby, of Gratz; right, Judge George Kunkel.

GREAT REPUBLICAN RALLY AT GRANGERS'

[Continued From First Page] The piffle of Palmer and McCormick on Wednesday. Notwithstanding the plea of the Democratic machine candidates to the people to hearken to the Republican standard bearers, to "challenge" them and to do other things not a man rose to say a word and the denunciation of Palmer and McCormick by the Senator drew shouts of "good," "tell it to them," "that's what they deserve."

The Great Blue Ridge Dr. Brumbaugh's speech was inspiring. He told of his early struggles and of a life dedicated to public service, lauding the land of Penn and saying that the Blue Ridge mountains, visible from the grove and loved by every man who had viewed, trod or traversed them, was the first land sent from the sea by the Creator to form the America in which we live and which we love.

Senator Martin Presides It was a typical Grangers' audience that heard Dr. Brumbaugh and one that could understand and appreciate what he said. He talked plainly and they applauded him to the echo. Senator Franklin Martin, the first land sent from the sea by the Creator to form the America in which we live and which we love.

Dr. Brumbaugh Tells Farmers He Framed "His Own Platform"

Dr. Brumbaugh in the course of his remarks said: "Fellow Citizens: In the councils of my educational friends at Richmond, Va., in February, I decided to submit my name at the May primaries on the Republican ticket for the nomination to the high office of Governor. Had there been no open primary support, I am now a candidate upon my own platform, with the indorsement of my party and with no promise or pledge of any sort to any one."

serve all the people in the light of my training and experience with reliance upon our Father in Heaven for help to deal honestly and justly with all the people. "I was born into a good family, who have tilled the soil of Pennsylvania for one hundred and sixty years and who belong to that great army of producers who have loved her well enough to work for her and to obey her laws.

Leaving the Farm "In 1900 forty-five per cent. of our people lived in the country and produced food for the fifty-five per cent. that lived in our cities and consumed this food. In 1900 the number of producers had fallen to less than forty per cent., and the consumers had increased to almost sixty-one per cent. Thus in ten years twenty per cent. of our population had changed from rural to urban life.

Social Centers "I am and always have been a staunch believer in the wider use of our school houses and public buildings for all kinds of clean, wholesome, helpful and inspiring recreation and education of our people in the remotest valley it is easily possible to provide such social and intellectual agencies for the rural sections of our boys and girls on the farm. We want to lessen the 'Breaking of Home Ties' and speedily to pass this day when generation unto generation we shall praise Him at the old ancestral shrines and our artists shall paint contented around the old hearthstone.

Should Foster the Farmer "The present day farmer cannot afford to pay the high price of good land and compete with the frontiersman to whom land was a gift to be had for the asking. Farming as a business does not pay in Pennsylvania as it should and as it could. The taxes upon our farmers is out of proportion to the taxes paid at large. We have fostered many things and have forgotten the fundamental factor in our development—the farmer and his fields. I pledge you my utmost endeavor to secure such a revision of the tax system of Pennsylvania as to relieve the farmer and secure to him equal and exact justice in taxation. More than this he does not want. Less than this the State should be ashamed to offer.

Conservation Work "Who dares challenge our State's proud pre-eminence in human conservation? We have been generous, but not prodigal in the care of our soil and our poor. Our eleemosynary gifts are worthy our best impulses. We should always make liberal provision for our charitable agencies and institutions. But we should know and know conclusively that our public funds so bestowed actually do the things our generous people desire. For that reason supervision should follow appropriation and the people at large should be given definite and detailed information as to use made of their bounty. This is good housekeeping and the State cannot longer stand for any other.

for the farmer to market his products economically and comfortably. We shall in due time have great trunk line roads of macadam or other suitable material connecting our centers of population. But we want now, with no delay whatever, good dirt roads—well graded, well drained and well crowned, reaching out like rays of hope and help from markets to farms all over this State.

These are all matters of great importance to the farmer and to the entire State. For his good is its good, and to bring to him the best of political experience, I have no money to contribute to this campaign. But I submit my whole life's work as pledge that as your Governor I shall labor zealously to give to this Commonwealth a new day of service, of hope, of help and guarantee to you now that this shall be done in no factional way, but in the true spirit of devotion to the common weal. I appeal to men of all past party affiliations to unite with me in my request for a clean, capable and conscientious administration of the affairs of this great Commonwealth, with the character and the courage of our people to direct I shall be glad to serve.

Penrose Replies to Palmer; Calls McCormick "Aristocratic Plutocrat" Senator Penrose got right down to the attacks made upon him in his speech. Soon after opening he said: "Mr. Palmer appeared before you yesterday and indulged in a lot of coarse abuse of myself and submitted facts for which there was no foundation whatever. He knew they had no foundation and he wanted to disguise the fact before the people of Pennsylvania that almost within the sound of his voice were idle furnaces and suspended rolling mills. I wish that some one in the audience had then confronted him with the facts and asked him—because they all knew he drew a schedule that three thousand of wage-earners out of employment in the Lebanon valley."

The Senator said that he had just been through the Shenandoah valley where 40,000 men are idle in that great industrial region because of Palmer's metal schedule. The Senator continued, "When a man who deliberately has control of a schedule in a tariff bill assigned to him with powers as absolute and complete as are possessed by any monarch or king in Europe and fixes a schedule that deliberately slaughters the industries of his own State I say instead of abusing others the only term to apply to him is the Benedict Arnold of Pennsylvania prosperity.

Who dares challenge our State's proud pre-eminence in human conservation? We have been generous, but not prodigal in the care of our soil and our poor. Our eleemosynary gifts are worthy our best impulses. We should always make liberal provision for our charitable agencies and institutions. But we should know and know conclusively that our public funds so bestowed actually do the things our generous people desire. For that reason supervision should follow appropriation and the people at large should be given definite and detailed information as to use made of their bounty. This is good housekeeping and the State cannot longer stand for any other.

Governor, Vance C. McCormick, who tore down from the Patriot the union label from the editorial page the day he acquired possession and put his own plutocratic and aristocratic name at the head of the column. Congressman Kreider's discussion of the tariff, an abstract of which was printed in the late editions of the Telegraph yesterday, was a convincing argument and exploded the theories of the Democratic revisionists.

Mrs. Mabel Cronise Jones, of Harrisburg, presented the woman's suffrage question, Senator Penrose graciously yielding the floor to her as the first speaker. Miss Emmeline Pitt, of Pittsburgh, closed the meeting with a speech against woman suffrage.

All the candidates were given a great reception after the speechmaking, hundreds of men pledging their support. County Chairman Kline, of Cumberland county, led the parade through the grove.

BANK STATEMENTS

Table with 2 columns: Description and Amount. Includes items like Reserve Fund, Cash, specie and notes, Loans on call with collateral, etc.

BANK STATEMENT

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE SIXTH STREET BANK, of Harrisburg, Pa., at the close of business August 27, 1914.

Table with 2 columns: Description and Amount. Includes items like Reserve Fund, Cash, specie and notes, Loans on call with collateral, etc.

BANK STATEMENT

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE HARRISBURG TRUST COMPANY, of Harrisburg, Pa., at the close of business August 27, 1914.

Table with 2 columns: Description and Amount. Includes items like Reserve Fund, Cash, specie and notes, Loans on call with collateral, etc.

Try Telegraph Want Ads