Two of City's Oldest Music Houses to Be Re-opened Soon

Sigler and Kurzenknebe Firms Will Do Business as C. M. Sigler Incorporated

Two of Harrisburg's oldest music houses, C. M. Sigler and Norman B. Kurzenknebe, have combined. They will do a general retail business under the name of C. M. Sigler, Incorporated. Notice of application for a State charter was made public today. Included in the new company, which will have its salesroom at 30 North Second street, are the present Sigler store, are a number of prominent salesmen who have been identified with the piano business for a long time. The officers of the new company are:

President, C. M. Sigler, president of the Sigler Piano Player Company, which is now erecting a large factory on Allison Hill; vice-president, Norman B. Kurzenknebe, of the old Kurzenknebe music house, now closing out; secretary, William T. Rodgers, of Allison Hill; treasurer, Norman B. Kurzenknebe, of the old Kurzenknebe music house, now closing out; treasurer, William T. Lotz, for a long time piano tuner for C. M. Sigler, and general manager, George W. Sheaffer, long in the employ of the Sigler music house.

The new company is to do strictly a retail business and will handle high-grade pianos, piano-players and victrolas. The object of the new company is to join the business of the two firms of long standing and high reputation to combine the abilities of its successful buyers and salesmen. This combination was completed today. It was brought about through the efforts of C. M. Sigler, who has been in business for twenty years. Since his retiring Mr. Sigler finds that his duties are too much for one man to handle.

Mr. Sigler has always handled high-grade pianos, including the Stelway and Mehlman pianos, and announced today that the same high-grade goods will be offered by the new firm.

In combining with the Kurzenknebe music house, of thirty-five years' standing, Mr. Sigler believes he has founded the strongest piano retail establishment in Pennsylvania. Norman B. Kurzenknebe will have charge of the sales forces. Associated with him will be George B. Sheaffer, who is recognized as a young man of exceptional ability. William T. Lotz will look after the mechanical department. Others who will be identified with the new firm are Miss Irene Wagner and Mrs. Mary Sigler, who have been identified with the victrola and business departments of the C. M. Sigler house for several years.

It is the purpose of the new company to make a number of improvements to their salesrooms and to add several more soundproof rooms for testing victrolas and pianos. The big store at 30 North Second street will be redecorated and made additionally attractive. Other business features will be announced from time to time.

125 Want to Come Under Stars and Stripes

From the battered-ragged flags of Europe to the more composed and satisfactory flag of Uncle Sam—this is to be the gist of the petitions of some 125 would-be citizens of the United States who are listed to appear before Federal Judge C. B. Wimer in naturalization court to-morrow.

Judge Wimer arrived here to-day and held a brief session of argument court. Among the hearings was that of Mercer B. Tate, trustee in bankruptcy for F. W. Floyd against C. L. Brinser. Floyd and Brinser it is understood, were in partnership in developing some land near Rutherford and Floyd claimed something over $24,000 due him on his share.

RUPP MURDER TRIAL OPENS NEXT MONDAY

Important Cases Listed For Cumberland County Court, Including Nori Embezzlement

Special to The Telegraph
Carlisle, Pa., Sept. 9.—What is believed will be the largest session of criminal court which has occurred since Judge W. F. Sadler began his term of office will open here on Monday. The Rupp murder trial and the case of S. J. Nori, former chief clerk of the Indiana School, charged with embezzlement of funds belonging to students, by Moses Friedman, former head of the institution, are the ones that attract the most attention.

District Attorney Alexander said today that he expected that there would be over thirty cases up for trial. Since the day when he was arrested, charged with killing John M. Rupp at his home near Mechanicsburg, Max Morgana, alias Bent, alias Stine, a former Harrisburg huckster, has made no comment relative to the occurrence but sticks to his first plea of self-defense. W. A. Zerby and Edwin E. Barnitz, two members of the local bar and practicing also in Harrisburg, have been detailed by the court to defend the Harrisburg man. District Attorney Alexander together with several former district attorneys, will be on the side of the Commonwealth.

The Nori case divides interest with the other here. It is expected that much of the testimony connected with the investigation of the school here will be brought up. It is probable that an effort will be made to take the case to a United States court.

Fierce-Looking Animals Invade Pleasure Resort and Are Driven Off by Police Officer With Flashlight and Club

Special to The Telegraph
Waynesboro, Pa., Sept. 9.—It has been known by a number of residents of Pen Mar Park that a good sized den of lynx or wildcats is located in the mountains above the park, along the High Rock trail. The animals were never known to prowl around the park, but have been known to raid the chicken coops in that vicinity and carry off scores of fowls. Saturday night they became a little more bold and strolled into the park, where one of them was discovered by George Markel, park policeman. Markel was making his rounds and

Baltimore Boy Marooned on Rock in Middle of River

Dauphin, Pa., Sept. 9.—Marooned on a rock with two feet of water on each side of him, Richard Stone waited four hours in the middle of the Susquehanna river until a canoe rescued him. Stone and Tommy Rowly, two Baltimore boys, who were stopping at the Dauphin House, borrowed a rowboat on Monday afternoon and started for a ride on the river. The boys, neither of whom could manage a boat or swim, found themselves going down toward the falls. Stone, thinking the water was very deep, did not attempt to get home. Attracted by his cries, some boys who were out canoeing went over and brought him to shore, not any worse than when they left. A small boy was dispatched for a ride on the river, which was brought home without any damage.

Greatest Event in Woman's Life

All human experience looks back to motherhood as the wonder of wonders. The patience, the fortitude, the sublime faith during the period of expectancy are second only to the mother love bestowed upon the most helpless but most marvelous creation—a baby.

Women are quick to learn from each other those helpful agencies that aid to comfort, that conserve their nervous energy and yet are perfectly safe to use and among those they recommend "Mother's Friend."

It is entirely an external application designed to lubricate the broad, flat muscles and skin that protect the abdomen. It has been in favorable use for nearly half a century and is known to mothers in almost every settled community in the United States who highly recommend it. You will find it on sale in drug stores. "Mother's Friend" is utterly harmless, contains no dangerous drugs and yet its influence in the skin and muscles beneath as also upon the network of nerves beneath the skin is very beneficial, soothing and a wonderful help. The muscles expand naturally and are not subjected to unnecessary surface strain and pain.

Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today at any drug store and write to us for our instructive little book to mothers. Address Bradford Ropinton Co., 415 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

New Market School Building Thought Unsafe For Children

Special to The Telegraph
New Cumberland, Pa., Sept. 9.—New Market schools opened on Monday morning with only thirty-seven pupils. The bad condition of the building and the case of the small attendance were the chief reasons for sending children there. The town was canvassed by two citizens and the patrons signed a petition for a new building, but a majority of the school board was not in favor of it.

Woman Falls Into Lake and Is Rescued by Her Husband

Special to The Telegraph
Waynesboro, Pa., Sept. 9.—Garret B. Foreman, a patternmaker of Chambersburg, yesterday afternoon went with his wife on a fishing trip to Wolf Lake. Mr. Foreman left his wife sitting on a stool along the bank and went down the stream farther. When he returned he was horrified to see his wife floating in the stream and one of his wife's slippers lying on the bank. He looked again and saw the hair of his wife floating in the water and disappeared in the stream. He jumped into the stream, and after a brave effort, succeeded in getting her ashore. It took some time to revive her, and Mrs. Foreman is yet so weak from her experience that she has not been able to give any account as to how she came to get into the water.

German Eagerness May Explain Why They Were Forced From Paris Gates

By Associated Press
Paris, Sept. 9.—6:55 A. M.—The German soldiers have been too rapid and too precipitate in their eagerness to get to the gates of Paris, for they arrived out of breath and to all appearances out of ammunition, which may explain why they did not pursue their original plan.

All prisoners, of whom 300 or more arrived in Paris yesterday, appeared fagged and harassed. It is believed to be everything that is different from the conquerors, who pushed back the army, and the German soldiers and pushed the gates of the capital in ten days.

Whether they hoped to gain time by a hasty movement away from Paris or, as some military critics suppose, aimed to effect a junction with the army that was coming from the direction of Longwy, the developments of the last four days prove that they were wrong.

The army, already weakened by forced marches, constant fighting en route, and now further enfeebled by the engagements of the last four days, is not in the opinion of experts, prepared to make a stand at the siege of Paris, even if it retrieve its fortunes in the battle now in progress. The Germans have been driven to the north-eastern frontier to come to the rescue and their hope now seems too long deferred.

Two German Merchant Ships Are Reported Sunk by Cruisers

New York, Sept. 9.—The only German merchant ship known to be in the Atlantic are the Graecia, of the Hamburg-American fleet, and the Kronprinz, of the Norddeutscher Lloyd, and the Neckar, of the North German Lloyd.

Illinois Is Choosing Its Candidates Today

By Associated Press
Chicago, Ill., Sept. 9.—Illinois voters today chose candidates for the Fall election when the State is to elect a United States Senator. The Democratic party there are five candidates for senatorial honors—Roger C. Sullivan, Lawrence B. Stringer, Congressman-at-large; Harry Woods, Secretary of State; Barratt O'Hara, lieutenant-governor, and James Traynor.

On the Republican ballot Lawrence H. Sherman, United States Senator, has three opponents—William E. Mason, former United States Senator; Frank H. Childs and Myer Stein. There is no fight in the Progressive party, Haymond Robins being without opposition.

Notable contests are being waged in some congressional districts, much attention being directed to the Eighteenth Congressional District. Joseph G. Cannon, ex-Speaker, is opposed by Elmer B. Cooley for the Republican nomination.

Two of City's Oldest Music Houses to Be Re-opened Soon

Sigler and Kurzenknebe Firms Will Do Business as C. M. Sigler Incorporated

Movement Believed to Be Definite Retirement

By Associated Press
London, Sept. 9.—3:12 A. M.—The correspondent of the Chronicle at the front writes as follows: "The tables are turned. The right wing of the German army, which was yesterday hattered by the heavy fighting of the last two days, is continuing its retrograde movement. It is far from the British army. Everything points to the movement being a definite retirement, rather than a temporary retreat. The greater part of the German force holding Arras withdrew yesterday morning and the German wounded were rushed to Arras. When I left the neighborhood of Arras, at noon, a small French force was waiting in the vicinity to re-occupy the town. The German soldier had withdrawn, which was expected Tuesday night.

The allied left wing is giving the retreating enemy no respite, the British cavalry being especially active. The allies are making every effort to detach the harrowed German right wing from the main body and annihilate it.

The German commander seems to be directing the rearward march upon Cambrai and Douai. During his college life at Yale, from which school he graduated in 1892, he was one of the college's leading football players. He later became the treasurer of Yale. McClung comes of a well-known Southern family.

Mr. McClung is very well known in this city and has been a frequent visitor here. He was an All-American halfback on the famous Yale team of which Heffelfinger, Butterworth and Vance C. McCormick played. Mr. McClung is a great favorite incidentally among Yale and other college men because of the keen interest he has retained in athletics. While at Yale he played baseball, too, and on frequent visits to this city he demonstrated how little he had forgotten of that game when he officiated behind the home-plate for the Harrisburg Country Club team.
