AMUSEMENTS

ORPHEUM DRAWS BIG

The lovely Valeska Suratt continues to attract at the Orpheum. This glittering star of "Black Crepe and Diamonds" has created more comment in Harrisburg than any artist has done in many a day. Incidentally she has attracted huge throngs to the popular Locust street playhouse and the management is warning patrons wishing good seats for the remaining performances to make their reservations early. You'll want to see the much discussed Valeska, you'll want to see her novel playlet, and you'll want to see her magnificent gowns and scenery, or always regret it. Two other acts of almost headline importance is the flirtation skit called "Fifty-Fifty" with Harry Richards and pretty Bessie Kyle, and also Billy McDermott, the tramp monologist, of international fame. Throughout the Orpheum's bill is a meritorious one and vaudeville devotees are declaring it one of the very best ever uncovered at the Locust street playhouse. Lovers of an artistically presented musical act will reveal in the offering of the Pereira Sextet, billed to occupy an important position on next week's offering. This is a male sextet of musicians, principally string and piano artists, and each one of them is a virtuoso of one or more instrument. They play a pleasing arrangement of classical numbers in a handsome stage setting and are said to produce whirls of harmony that fairly brings their audience to their feet. Mayo and Tally will offer something new and original in the way of comedy turn; high Bronson and Baldwin, man and woman, in a comedy surprise skit with music, are also booked to appear here next week.—Advertisement.

AT THE COLONIAL

"Movie fans" and others will find much to interest them in "The Chimney Sweeps," a feature film in four parts that is being presented at the week. The subtitle, "How Love Overcomes Class Prejudice" is apt in suggesting the story, which has to do with a love affair between a young man of high family and a peasant girl on his father's estate. It is an clever feature as the most fastidious could wish for. The Monarch Melody Four, harmonists and comedians, head the vaudeville offerings. There is also a good comedy duo and an original juggling juggler. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in five acts will be the feature moving picture at the Colonial during the first three days of next week.—Advertisement.

THE LURE AT THE PALACE

The Lure, the great Shubert success of the stage is now in motion pictures and is being shown to-day and to-morrow at this house. This photograph is but one of the many stage productions which have been played for the films which are scheduled to appear at this house during the season. The Lure, according to the critics achieves its aim in showing something of the underworld condition of a large city. In addition Florence Lawrence and Matt Moore will be shown in a two part Victor drama, "The Honor of the Humble."—Advertisement.

"POTASH AND PERLMUTTER"

"Potash and Perlmutter," the greatest New York success of many years plays two performances to-morrow at the Majestic. No theatrical offering in many years has made such a romantic hit with amusement seekers as this charming comedy based upon the characters and incidents of Montague Glass. Their quaint humor and quainter personalities have made "Potash and Perlmutter" national characters.—International characters, in fact, for they have fully duplicated in London the tremendous success made in New York, and Manager A. H. Woods, who presented them to the public, has been besieged with offers for the rights to the play in every civilized country in the world.—Advertisement.

ONLY MERIT CAN WIN

It is the real complications that create the wholesome fun that causes the action to become entangled in turnouts and troubles, so serious to the characters yet so purely funny to the observers—not a moment dull, not a character overdrawn, not a thing happens that is impossible. There are no funny falls, no stale jokes, no unnatural faces, just a series of complications that come about naturally and dialogue bringing with it satire. The production will be in Harrisburg Monday, evening matinee and evening performances.—Advertisement.

AT THE VICTORIA

The Pathe Players have for a long time enjoyed the reputation of producing high class dramas, and to-day's four-part offering entitled "The Corsair" is one of their best efforts and one that will please all who see it. The greatest topic of the day, the European war, see the Pathe Daily News here every Wednesday and Friday. There are always subjects that deal with the war. "When America Was Young" is a strong two-part picture play of exceptional merit. "The Keeper of the Light"

Boy or Girl? Great Question!

This brings to many minds an old and tried family remedy—an external application known as "Mother's Friend." During the period of expectancy it is applied to the abdominal muscles and is designed to soothe the intricate network of nerves involved. In this manner it has such a splendid influence as to justify its use in all cases of coming motherhood. It has been generally recommended for years and years and those who have used it speak in highest praise of the immense relief it affords. Particularly do these knowing mothers speak of the absence of morning sickness, absence of strain on the ligaments and freedom from those many other distresses which are usually looked forward to with so much concern.

There is no question but what "Mother's Friend" has a marked tendency to relieve the mind and this of itself in addition to the physical relief has given it a very wide popularity among women. It is absolutely safe to use, renders the skin pliable, is penetrating in its nature and is composed of those emollients best suited to thoroughly lubricate the nerves, muscles, tendons and ligaments involved.

You can obtain "Mother's Friend" at almost any drug store.

It is prepared only by Bradford Field, Regulator Co., 401 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Servians Occupy Semlin After Bloody Battle

By Associated Press

Nish, Servia, Sept. 10, via London, Sept. 11, 8:14 A. M.—The Servians occupied Semlin across the river from Belgrade this morning after a bloody battle.

Semlin is an important town of Austria-Hungary in Slavonia. It is located on the tongue of land formed by the junction of the Danube and Save, opposite Belgrade, Servia, with which it was connected by a railroad bridge across the Save. It was from Semlin that the Austrian infantry and artillery in conjunction with the monitors of the river began their fighting on July 29, against the Servians. The Servians early that morning blew up the bridges connecting Semlin with Belgrade. An intermittent bombardment according to reports, has since been kept up by the Austrians in Semlin from Belgrade.

Merchant Marine Will Expand to Carry Crops

Special to The Telegraph

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—Holding forth the assurance to-day that the heavy crops of this year will not go to waste for lack of ships to market them, Edwin F. Sweet, acting Secretary of Commerce, said:

"A few days will see the American merchant marine augmented by not less than 125 ships. This, with the British vessels still keeping the sea, will be ample to take our surplus agricultural products to consumers abroad. More than that, it will give us sufficient command of the situation to prevent the purchaser across the ocean from dominating the price.

The law admitting foreign-built ships to American registry will rehabilitate our foreign commerce in exactly the way to prevent the United States from suffering unduly from the war in Europe and will take care of the present emergency until the ship purchase bill can be enacted into law."

French Forces Have Recaptured Muelhausen

By Associated Press

London, Sept. 11, 10:30 A. M.—A dispatch from Basel, Switzerland, states that the French have recaptured Muelhausen, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Rome.

Dispatches from French sources recently have stated that the pressure on the Alsace frontier from the Germans had been lessening. Yesterday a report was received that fighting had occurred at Altkirch, Alsace, which is on the road to Muelhausen.

ROOSEVELT WILL NOT HELP TO END WAR

Colonel Denies That He Offered His Services to Help in Bringing About Peace

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 11.—"This country is in a state of profound peace and I am confident it will remain that way." This was Colonel Roosevelt's comment on the war situation on his return from his campaigning trip to New Orleans.

One of the first matters called to the Colonel's attention was an interview in which he was quoted as saying that New Orleans that he believed the time had come when the nations involved could settle their differences honorably and that he was ready to serve on a commission with that end in view.

"Such interviews," asserted the Colonel with vigor, "are absolutely false. The publication of such fakes, it seems to me, is malicious, and I think the newspapers are unjust which print them."

Colonel Roosevelt went to Progressive national headquarters after his arrival in New York and one of his first visitors there was Oscar S. Straus, who, it has been reported, has endeavored to bring about some sort of mediation aiming at settlement of the European war.

Colonel Roosevelt was asked later if Mr. Straus had talked about the European situation with him and urged him to aid in an attempt to end the conflict.

"There was nothing about Mr. Straus' visit that I am at liberty to discuss," was his only reply.

In an interview, in which he was quoted as saying that he would accept the Progressive nomination for President in 1916, and that he wanted John M. Parker, of New Orleans, as his running mate, brought forth another denial from Colonel Roosevelt.

"I never said any such thing," he asserted. "That is another falsehood. The papers ought not to print such things when they are untrue."

The Colonel was enthusiastic over his reception in Louisiana. He said: "The Progressives of Louisiana feel that the Democratic party deliberately broke faith with them and has not kept its promise as regards the tariff or the Panama canal. Everywhere in the South I was struck by the indignation felt at the failure of Congress to take the steps necessary for their salvation."

George W. Perkins, chairman of the national executive committee, had a two weeks' tour of the Middle West mapped out for him, but the Colonel refused to consent to more than a ten-day trip. It will begin September 20.

DEFEAT OF WILLIAM PREDICTED LONG AGO

Weird Story Is Given Space and Credence in Paris Newspaper

Special to The Telegraph

Paris, Sept. 11.—The Figaro, which is now issuing a small edition at Bordeaux besides its usual four pages in Paris, publishes the translation of an extraordinary Latin prophecy in the leading column of its front page. It is alleged the prophecy was written by a monk, Brother Johannes, in the year 1600.

Following are some of the more significant passages:

"The real Antichrist will be one of the monarchs of his time, a son of Luther, he will invoke God, proclaiming himself His envoy. He will have only one arm. His armies, which will appear to be innumerable, will take for its device the words 'God With Us' (motto actually stamped upon Prussian belts.) He will long act by ruse and treachery, and his spies will overrun the earth, but the war will furnish the occasion to throw off the mask—not the war waged against the French monarchy, but another, easily recognized, because in two weeks it will become universal, bringing into battle most distant peoples. Armies will form at the four corners of the earth.

"Antichrist will massacre priests, women and children. To the aged he will show no mercy, holding a torch like barbarians, but invoking Christ. There will be an eagle in his arms, also in those of his acolyte. Another bad monarch who although a Christian, will die through the curse of Pope Benedictus.

"The conqueror Antichrist more men must be killed than Rome held. It will require an effort of all kindreds. This will happen twenty centuries after the incarnation of God's word."

The foregoing is contributed by a writer signing the name of "Peladan," who, after showing the application of the prophecy to the present war, says this is only the first part of the prophecy. He will give part at a later date.

The Petit Journal prints another prediction, which appeared early this year in an almanac of the independent Indian State, Jodhpur, brought to the Journal's notice by a Christian named Varma living in Paris, whose two sons have just joined the Foreign Legion.

"In the month of July all Europe will be upset by war, setting in conflict the greatest Powers, accompanied by enormous disaster.

"In November a great Emperor will lose his crown and the war will end."

German Soldiers Cut Off Boy's Hands and Feet

By Special Correspondence

Antwerp, Sept. 11.—Official couriers arriving here from the American Legation at Brussels say they witnessed with their own eyes a sample of atrocity toward conquered Belgians. Passing through Louvain in an automobile they saw sitting outside a partially burned house a boy, 8 years old, whose hands and feet had been cut off at the wrists and ankles. The Americans stopped and asked the child's mother about the circumstances of the amputation.

"The Germans did it," she said. Evidently in terror lest she had said too much, she refused to answer further questions. The child's wrists and ankles were bandaged as if the frightful injuries had been inflicted recently.

Details of the shooting down of a Jesuit priest by the Germans was told an American courier by another priest who witnessed the affair. It appears that the Jesuit had kept a diary in which he had written this commentary on the sacking of the Louvain library: "Vandalism worthy of Attila himself." The German officers forced him to read the words aloud, then marked a cross in chalk on the back of his cassock as a target and sent a dozen bullets into his back. This occurred in the presence of twenty other Louvain priests.
