WILL RAISE $30,000 TO HELP HOSPITAL

Lewistown Businessmen Will Show Progress of Campaign With Electric Ladder

Special to The Telegraph
Lewistown, Pa., Sept. 21.—Business men of Lewistown have pledged themselves to raise $30,000 to help support the Lewistown Hospital. The campaign committee has decided upon a novel means for recording the amounts received daily. Big clocks and thermometers have been used for this purpose in other places, but Lewistown has originated a new idea. There is at the present time in course of construction a great white ladder, 18 feet in height and three feet wide which will be used. The ladder has thirty steps and each step indicates $1,000. It will be electrically lighted, white lights indicating the thousands up to $5,000, which will be indicated by two red lights. Thereafter all the amounts except the $10,000, $15,000, $20,000, $25,000 and $30,000 will be designated by white lights, those named to be displayed in red. At the foot of the ladder that is being placed against the Odd Fellows building, there will be a small man bearing a small white flag reading, "Watch us climb."
Each day at a certain hour to be announced later this man will climb a rung or two higher, according to the reports of the committee. When he has reached the top rung, the whistles will blow, church bells will ring and there will be a big celebration in commemoration of the success of undertaking.

Pittsburgh Steel Plants Run at 60 Per Cent. Capacity

Special to The Telegraph
Pittsburgh, Sept. 21.—In the gradual reduction of running time in the Pittsburgh district and the West, during the week just ended, there was the threat that the average production in finished steel would not be much better than half time at the opening of the month. Operations in Pittsburgh district plants at the close of the week were at about 60 per cent. of maximum capacity, while operations further west, and in the lake regions were slightly less. Eastern and Southern plants showed a decided falling off in tonnage. The average output in the finished steel industry for the country was about 55 per cent. of maximum capacity.

It is confidently believed, however, that the European war has had its maximum effect on the American metal industries, and that demand will gain slowly with the opening of the new quarter.

As an illustration of the low condition of stocks among consumers of heavy tonnage products, one of the trunk line railroads with terminals here has not in stock a single section of standard rail for replacement of main line track. This company usually carries 10,000 tons of standard rails in stock at its Pittsburgh terminal.

From all standpoints war is wrong—war in any way in which any civilized man can view it. It is wrong socially, wrong economically, wrong morally, and inexcusably wrong religiously.
