HOWES TRAVEL FESTIVAL

Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival, which is at the Majestic this evening and to-morrow, matinee and evening, presents an entirely new program of twenty features. Among the subjects is a ride on a runaway train. To call it a "joy ride" by rail would be entirely inadequate. True, it is joyous enough at the outset so long as it continues merely at express train speed along the bright and brightly lit and around sharp curves, but when it starts to race down a steep inclined plane ever faster and faster, the telegraph poles fly past so fast that they seem as close as the teeth of a fine comb, spectators experience a ride that furnish every thrill that the most adventurous could long for.—Advertisement.

KIRK BROWN

Late successes handsomely staged, handsomely costumed and presented at popular prices is what has gained public recognition for Kirk Brown, who opens a week's engagement, commencing Monday matinee at the Majestic. One of the most emphatic reasons for the even performance given by Mr. Brown is the fact that his company has been in his support for the past nine seasons, with the exception of his new leading lady, Miss Edna Earl Andrews, whom Mr. Brown considers the most handsome and talented actress of any stock company now before the public. She comes from a family of theatricals and has had a schooling of rare excellence. A most striking list of successes embrace the reputations conferred by this company this season, including such notable ones as "Raffles," "The Woman in White," "Sherlock Holmes," "Life's Shop Window" and "The Red River." This is the opening bill for Monday afternoon, and "Raffles," Monday evening. Matinees will be given daily.—Advertisement.

ORPHEUM

"The Lord" is the title of a comedy sketch that is certainly creating an upheaval of laughter at the Orpheum this week. The players are Regina Cornell and company, newcomers here, but just the same they are clever. According to the description of the pretty girl, who married an army lieutenant who had fine big shoulders and was handsome, well-to-do in a regular job, he loses his broad shoulders after he is married and don't take care of his beautiful hair, any more. Accordingly he loses his attractiveness, and his wife, too. The poor little wife runs for consolation to a roughshod man and the fun that ensues must be seen to be appreciated.

Next week we are going to be society goers, that is if we are going to be in line with the many who will want to see pretty Gladys Clark and her partner, Henry Bergman, who are starring in Jesse L. Lasky's newest act called "The Society Bude." The Orpheum will recall this clever team, who are positive favorites, having appeared here on three different occasions. Their greatest success was when they starred in Lasky's "Trained Nurse." "The Society Bude" is Mr. Lasky's latest production and it is said that the new vehicle gives this clever team the best opportunity they have yet had. The week following will find Irene Franklin, vaudeville's celebrated singing comedienne, the bright particular attraction. Miss Franklin will have a budget of brand new songs. Appearing on the same offering with Miss Franklin will be a return engagement of Milton and the DeLong Sisters. This trio, it will be remembered, comprises the "rube" stationmaster and the jaunty sisters, who appear as actresses in the piece.—Advertisement.

COLONIAL

The critic who declared "Home, Sweet Home," to be the sweetest picture ever made, knew something about an artistic triumph in the way of picture picture successes. The acting of the piece is superb and calls in the efforts of Lillian Gish, declared to be the most beautiful blonde woman in the world. The other players are excellent, and the story is fascinating, interesting and genuinely beautiful. The feature is in six parts. At the Colonial, where it remains for the rest of the week, it is being proclaimed a winner. The vaudeville roster is also clever and diversified and is headed off by Eddie Martinec, the merry monkey, presenting a wonderful contortion act amid delightful scenery. "The Lion of Venice," a wonderful George Kline feature, will be the attraction in moving pictures for the first half of the week. It tells a beautiful romance, written and staged in Italy, and much delightful scenery, including the Venetian canals, is depicted.—Advertisement.

AT THE VICTORIA TODAY

Showing pictures of exceptional merit has given the Victoria an enviable reputation among picture picture fans. And to-day's special offering, "The Devil's Fiddler," a strong Apex feature in four parts, proves that only pictures of the highest order are permitted to be shown here. "A Tale of the Northwest Mounted" is a wonderful picture play in two parts and has many stirring scenes. The Pathe Daily News is particularly interesting because it contains pictures of the European war as well as other news events of importance. To-morrow's great feature will be a four-part offering, entitled "The Clue of the Scarab," a prodigious and powerful drama in an entirely new vein.—Advertisement.

"PROTEA 2" AT THE PALACE

Those who saw the first instalment of "Protea," the adventures of the famous detective by that name, will surely want to view this newer and even more thrilling series of experiences. For thrilling is just the word to describe the scenes which are pictured in this film. Profiting in this series, saves a gold mine from the designs of a plotting Count, who woos the girl to whom the mine has been bequeathed by her father. But before Protea can restore the mine to its rightful owner she has to take her life in her hands in a series of adventures and run great risks. But eventually she wins. In addition to the film in five reels there will be a four-part offering, entitled "The Clue of the Scarab," a prodigious and powerful drama in an entirely new vein.—Advertisement.

TODAY INVITES YOUR ATTENTION TO THE FOURTH EPOCH DESCRIBED IN LARNED'S

HISTORY OF THE WORLD

NOW ON DISTRIBUTION TO READERS

Larned makes this epoch to include the Renaissance. One of the greatest of all eras in its development of the human intellect, it is significant that the star of not a single military genius appears above the horizon.

GUTENBERG made civilization possible by inventing printing.
COLUMBUS gave to mankind a new world.
COPERNICUS overthrew all pre-existing notions as to our earth being the center of celestial motions, and demonstrated it to be a mere satellite of the sun.
KEPLER despoiled the stars of their age-old secrets and wrote the laws by which they move.
GALILEO invented the thermometer, discovered the moons of Jupiter, and anticipated the methods of modern science.
CERVANTES wrote a masterpiece that laughed Chivalry into oblivion.
RAPHAEL raised Painting to sublime heights, and MICHAEL ANGELO the latter wrested the laurels of sculpture from the ancient Greeks.

LOYOLA founded an Order never equaled for zeal and devotion to a single lofty aim.
LUTHER wrought a change in the faith of Europe and translated the Bible into the common speech of his beloved Germany.
SHAKESPEARE enlarged the boundaries of human knowledge, and all the sequent centuries acknowledge him their Master.

Of These Great Names Italy has furnished four; Germany, four; Spain, two; England, one.

If you will read Larned's wonderful description of his Fourth Epoch, you will add a cubit to your mental stature!—
