Harrisburg Newlyweds Try to Skip Board Bill

Special to The Telegraph
Hagerstown, Md., Oct. 2.—By putting up a bold front a Harrisburg couple, newlyweds, tried to skip their night's lodging and board at one of Hagerstown's leading hotels yesterday. They came to the hotel, procured a room, stayed all night and took the meal. About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon both came downstairs with their baggage and started out the front entrance. The day clerk walked over to the door and asked them if they didn't forget something. They said they had not and started out the door. The clerk reminded them of their bill for the lodging and meal. The bridegroom said he had paid the night clerk at 9 o'clock that morning. The day clerk became suspicious because he had been on since 8 o'clock. He suspected that they were trying to skip their bill and immediately called the night clerk. While this was going on the couple left for the railroad station, where the proprietor of the hotel and both clerks found them awaiting a train. Not until threats of calling the police were made did the young husband sorrowfully turn over the money, saying he had often been told that two people could live on what one spent, but that he now found it isn't true.

CRITICIZING RIVER WALL CONTRACTORS

well, it has been a matter of some curiosity as to why the cleaning out has not been done long before now. Inasmuch as the river is at the lowest stage of recent years, the failure of the contractors to push this section of the work before a rise of the water makes it impossible, is a matter of much adverse comment.

There are hundreds of tons of the very best filling material between Iron alley and Maclay street, but there is no serious effort to remove the same. Unless this is done the attractive character of the river wall will be largely destroyed. Notwithstanding the string-

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If cross, feverish or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs"

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomachache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs"; then see that it is made by the "California Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

Life-Size Portraits of Safe Home Matches

Examine them carefully. Note how strong and sturdy they are. Note, too, what fine heads they have—full, round, well made.

Safe Home Matches are better than any matches you have used heretofore. They are made in a better way. No poisonous materials are used. A child might suck the head or several heads off Safe Home Matches. He wouldn't be poisoned. He wouldn't even be seriously ill. For that reason alone Safe Home Matches should be in every home.

Safe Home Matches burn with a steady flame, not by fits and starts. They light anywhere. And yet they are safer than any other brand or type of match.

We ask you to use this new match and to urge others to do likewise. We do not ask you to pay more than you have been paying for matches—merely to see that you get better matches than you have been getting.

ers between Herr street and the pumping station have been finished for weeks and great quantities of material is necessary to fill in between these stringers and back of them, the gravel and stone and dirt outside the wall southward is permitted to remain.

Corporal's Guard at Work

North of "Hardscrabble" a steam shovel is located outside the wall and is operated spasmodically, while three or four wagons and a corporal's guard are in pick and shovel the great quantities of material awaiting removal.

Charles D. Stucker, of the construction company, is quoted in an interview herewith as saying that in his judgment it is not necessary to put on additional men and that the fill is now being dumped above "Hardscrabble" preparatory to puddling and laying of the sidewalk. Mr. Stucker must know that at the present rate of progress the removal of the enormous quantities of gravel and other accumulations outside the wall cannot be accomplished in a year. At least 100 men could now be employed and scores of wagons in rushing this work as against the impending Fall season with its rains and higher water.

It would seem to be the duty of the Board of Public Works and those in authority to compel something like energy on this part of the contract.

Work on the river wall and steps and the Paxton creek improvement was resumed with renewed zest to-day following the public-spirited action of the Harrisburg Trust Company, the First National and the Harrisburg National Banks yesterday in agreeing to assume the remaining $122,000 of Harrisburg's third improvement loan at 4 per cent.

The condition of the bond market during the last few months had aroused some question in the minds of the sinking fund commissioners as to whether the remainder of the bonds could be floated at a 4 per cent, the usual city rate. The money, incidentally, was necessary to permit the continuance of the big job. In municipal circles some doubt had been expressed as to whether or not the operations on the wall and the creek could be finished if the bonds were not floated as the money was necessary.

Charles D. Stucker, president of the Stucker Brothers Construction Company, the contractors building the river wall and steps, discussed the situation on the river front in view of the arrangement for provision for the money.

Won't Put On Additional Men

"While we do not think it necessary to put on additional men, I can say that the work is progressing nicely and we will continue to push the job as rapidly as possible now in order to get it completed before the extreme cold weather interferes.

"We have 200 or 250 more men on the job now, I should say; we vary from 200 to 250 or 300 right along on our payroll."

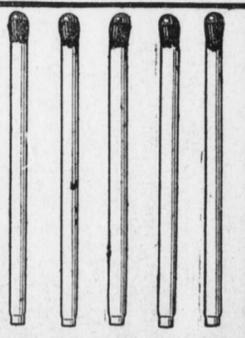

"How much, approximately, have you finished and where are the gangs at work now?" Mr. Stucker was asked.

"We put in the last stringer at the pumping station yesterday. While this stringer was at work on the stringers another gang of concreters was busy putting in the steps from Herr street southward. We've completed about 500 feet of that work and will keep building down stream. To-morrow or perhaps early next week we'll make a shift in that crowd so as to bring one gang down to a short distance below State street to complete the placing of steps. This gang will then work northward to meet the gang coming southward on the step construction.

"When will you begin placing the walk?"
