

HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH

Established 1831
PUBLISHED BY THE TELEGRAPH PRINTING CO.
E. J. STACKPOLE, Pres't and Treas'r.
F. R. OYSTER, Secretary.
GUS M. STEINMETZ, Managing Editor.

Published every evening (except Sunday), at the Telegraph Building, 216 Federal Square.

Eastern Office, Fifth Avenue Building, New York City, Hasbrouck, Story & Brooks.
Western Office, 123 West Madison street, Chicago, Ill., Allen & Ward.

Delivered by carriers at six cents a week. Mailed to subscribers at $3.00 a year in advance.

Entered at the Post Office in Harrisburg as second class matter.

The Association of American Advertisers has examined and certified to the circulation of this publication. The figures of circulation contained in the Association's report are guaranteed.
Association of American Advertisers
No. 2333 Whitehall Bldg. N. Y. City

Sworn daily average for the month of September, 1914
23,252

Average for the year 1913-21,577
Average for the year 1912-21,175
Average for the year 1911-18,951
Average for the year 1910-17,495

TELEPHONES:
Bell Private Branch Exchange No. 2040.
Gaithe Business Office, 208.
Editorial Room 885. Job Dept. 204.

MONDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 5

SIGNIFICANT REGISTRATION

STUDENTS of political conditions in Pennsylvania are of one mind respecting the collapse of the third party in this State. For some weeks the back-to-the-party movement has been conspicuous in all parts of the Commonwealth and the last of the registration days on Saturday in Harrisburg and elsewhere has demonstrated beyond any question the trend toward the Republican party.

Thousands of voters who were identified with the Roosevelt party have aligned themselves again with the Republican forces and the enormous enrollment on the Republican side indicates a tremendous victory for the whole Republican ticket. Here in Harrisburg the returns of the last registration show the force of the back-to-the-party movement and those who are in close touch with the voters themselves declare that the Republican sentiment is so strong as to preclude a victory of such proportions as will demonstrate the disappearance of the political hysteria that has enveloped the country during the last two years.

Perhaps nothing so utterly disrupted the Washington party forces as the retirement of William Draper Lewis from the head of the ticket in favor of a Democrat. Practically all of the Mull Moose support in this State since the Wilson election was Republican at heart and these voters will not line up behind a free-trade Democrat, the choice of the White House for Governor of Pennsylvania.

Business and industrial conditions are such as to still further emphasize the trend toward the Republican party. Thousands of Democrats who are not saying a word as to their intentions will vote for the Republican candidates. They feel that it is time to call a halt at Washington, and the fault-finding Democratic candidate for Governor is lamentably weak in comparison with Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, the Republican nominee for Governor, who is making a remarkable campaign throughout the State.

Republican leaders and workers in this city and county are pressing forward and are confident of success at the November election. Similar reports come from all over the central part of the State. Perhaps nothing is so significant of the Republican sentiment as the registration figures of Philadelphia. With a few scattered districts still to be tabulated, the complete unofficial returns for the three days of registration are as follows: Republican, 183,248; Democratic, 24,296; Washington, 16,004; nonpartisan, 45,198.

The falling off in the third party strength seems to warrant the statement that it will cut little figure in the total result this year.

It appears that the Democratic candidate for Governor and the chairman of the Democrat machine committee spent a day in Philadelphia trying to round up the Ryan men as the remnant of the Bull Moose party was rounded up. It will be interesting to study the returns in Philadelphia on the day after election. Ryan supporters all over the State have not forgotten the insults heaped upon them by the Democratic candidate for Governor and his personally-conducted newspaper.

Colonel Roosevelt is manifestly out of sympathy with the anti-Brumbaugh propaganda, and the machine Democrats are getting little comfort from his Philadelphia speech.

ADVERTISING
WELL-KNOWN educator notes in a recent address that advertising courses in correspondence schools and business colleges are patronized now more than ever before, and adds that not a few of the students are men owning their own business or managers "who doubtless will never find use for their knowledge as advertising writers." Possibly not, but the businessman of to-day who does not have a practical knowledge of advertising is working under a handicap. How to say the right thing at the right time, in the right way, for instance, is one of the fea-

EVENING CHAT

If any man had any doubt about Harrisburg being one of the great churchgoing cities of Pennsylvania, all he needed was a view of the streets about the hours for the commencement and close of worship yesterday. To be sure, yesterday was communion Sunday in practically all of the churches and many of them had rally day exercises in their Sabbath schools to inaugurate the winter work after the summer vacations, and then there was the intense Peace Rally. But all of these only added to the character of religious observance and enabled him to secure an idea of the numbers and numbers of people who are interested in church work and to realize that in Harrisburg, the capital of a State based upon religious freedom, there is an army of folks to whom the church means as much as it does to their forefathers. There are half a dozen points in Harrisburg where some conception of the throngs who attend services can be obtained. Yesterday about noon time it was astonishing to see the continuous streams of people passing on their way home from the churches in the "cities." The same thing was noted, only in a lesser degree, in the evening when the bells began to ring the call for that service of the day. To be sure, these were a good many in the streets who were not especially interested in churches, but between half-past eight and nine the numbers had increased to a good many more. It is tell where a fair proportion came from. The Rev. J. Ritchie Smith, who as pastor of Market Square Church is in close touch with the life of the city, was in the city many of the big men, the men of the city, were so actively identified with church or Sunday school work, while the late Bishop Thomas McGovern said years ago that the proportion of men who took the abiding interest in religious work was unusually high in Harrisburg. And he was as well posted on every denomination's progress as he was on his own. Harrisburg has grown considerably in the years, and there are some diverse elements in its population, but in spite of all that is said about it in one way or another not a man can refer to here it mainly in the language of the late Bishop Dr. D. M. Gilbert, long pastor of old Zion, set in the busiest part of Harrisburg, "religious impulses which are the life of the city, and with its almost 100 churches and thousands upon thousands of churchgoers Harrisburg compares most favorably with some much larger municipalities.

Next to problems of good citizenship there come matters of good order and the highways of a city offer a pretty good index of the manner in which law is observed. The police department spasmodically chases the loafers, often referred to as "crows," from the corners and curbs and has managed to get a few of them into the heads of people who walk, drive and ride such things as traffic regulations. But there is another problem coming up and the Sunday Peace Rally is a case in point. On certain mornings, notably Saturday, streets in vicinity of markets are lined with wagons, most of them with their backs to the curb and their fronts to the street. On many nights, especially Saturday, certain other streets are lined with automobiles for hours. Market street, for instance, is lined between 10 and 12 o'clock with automobiles on both sides of the street, all drawn up to the curb, all put into line and all well watered, yet there is no available space. The congestion at the busiest part and the thought naturally arises whether the police could not require certain blocks to be kept clear of cars and permit them to be stored in others?

The eighth anniversary of the dedication of the Capitol happened to be marked yesterday by the presence of mobile visitors and there was general regret voiced that some provision is not made by the authorities to enable people to see the Capitol building on Sunday. The Capitol building is open on the first day of the week, and it has been growing to an extent that would surprise those of us who have been brought up to regard the day as one on which to abstain from pleasures.

John F. Lowers, member of the last House of Representatives from the Braddock district and now deputy register of wills of Allegheny county, was among visitors here over Sunday. Mr. Lowers was active in behalf of the hunters' party in the last session and made the strongest speech in its favor, pointing out how it would enable farmers to "spot" the hunters who trespass on their lands and enable them to bring to book people who do damage.

WELL KNOWN PEOPLE
—Bishop Rhinelander, of Philadelphia, is on his way home after a tour of England.
—A. L. Reichenbach, city treasurer of Allentown for many years, has been made a thirty-third-degree Mason.
—Philip Rosenberg, the Philadelphia photographer, was the first American layman to receive the blessing of the new pope.
—George W. Norris, Philadelphia director of docks, may hold the job of member of the Reserve Board, too.

DO YOU KNOW?
That some of the first bessemer steel blown in this country was made right in Harrisburg?
PENROSE AT ALTOONA
[Altoona Tribune.]
The speech of Senator Penrose, one of the ablest in the country, delivered last night, was a masterpiece of the country and the effect of the Democratic tariff and the Republican war upon our commercial and industrial enterprises. In the first part of his address he discussed the sugar problem showing how the Democratic tariff and the European war have conspired to work harm to the country. Agriculture, to which the country is so largely manufacturing industry, and the war has aggravated all the evils produced by the lowered tariff. This address is a notable production and should be widely circulated.

CUMBERLAND TOUR BEGINS TOMORROW

Dr. Brumbaugh Will Be Here to Spend the Night and Will Be in Carlisle Next Day
'PERNICIOUS ACTIVITY' RUMOR Reports That Complaints Have Been Made at Headquarters Are Denied Today

Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, Republican candidate for Governor, and the Republican campaign party will tour the Cumberland Valley this week. He will go through half a dozen counties and there will be numerous meetings. Dr. Brumbaugh will arrive here tonight at 10.50, going to the Commonwealth Hotel, where he will spend the night. To-morrow morning at 7.30 he will leave by automobile for Carlisle, where a meeting will be held. The next stop will be Shippensburg, and then will come Chambersburg. In the evening McCormick and Adams will be here. The tour will be continued to the westward. The tour will be continued to the westward. The tour will be continued to the westward.

CONSTITABULARY AND LABOR
Philadelphia Record: In starting a crusade against the Pennsylvania State Constitubulary the Central Labor Union allows foolish prejudices to run away with its good judgments. There is nothing savoring of militarism about these very efficient troopers, and the fact that they are held up as a model throughout the country is a matter well worthy of Pennsylvania's pride. Does the Central Labor Union want to go back to the brutal and despotic methods of the old Car and Iron Police? Before attacking the Constitubulary it would be well to compare their record with that of their predecessors.

MR. BERRY'S HUMILIATION
[From the Sharon Herald]
Hon. William H. Berry left Pulaski yesterday very badly peeved. It appears that the perennial candidate, who is now collector of the port of Philadelphia, was not allowed to enlighten the crowd at the fair, yesterday, not because Mr. Berry was not willing and anxious to talk, but because the people there assembled preferred horse racing to eloquence. In other words, Mr. Berry was literally howled down before he had well begun his address. He was mortified, of course, and allowed his temper to overflow which was in quite as bad taste as was the attitude of the crowd which refused to listen to him. He made several sarcastic references to the "jackasses" in the throng, but that little episode on the headlamps which persisted in interrupting his address, Mr. Berry showed himself to be a very poor politician. Colonel Roosevelt or Uncle Joe Carnon would have smiled indignantly and a spread eagle would have been put on the wall to spell-binding. It is always best to allow the mob to have its way. Instruction evader and a spread eagle cannot be forced into the ears of the common people against their will.

HATS OFF TO THE FIREMEN
By Wing Dingler
It's hats off to the firemen. Who ready are to fight the flames. The blaze that threatens to destroy our all by day or night. A service noble, doubly so. Because they ask no pay. But volunteer, at risk of life. The fire call to obey.

POLITICAL SIDELIGHTS
—Palmer ought to make that speech about the furnaces and mills being run full time at Lebanon to-night.
—As usual the Democrats are howling about registration. Are they losing their heads?
—Ex-Governor Pennypacker has sent an open letter to Dean Lewis advising him to think straight.
—One wing of the Blair Democracy will Saturday and only 30 of 100 men showed up.
—A free dinner attracted quite a crowd of Pittsburgh Democrats to see McCormick talk Saturday.
—Montgomery county Republicans held a big meeting of committeemen at Norristown Saturday and it was reported that many progressives had come to the meeting.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR
"UNFAIR TACTICS"
To the Editor of the Telegraph:
The undersigned entirely agrees with you in your strictures on "Unfair Tactics" in the telegraph of Friday. It certainly is a matter of sincere regret that some overly zealous temperance advocates, in their zeal to bring about a political party, have resorted to such unfair and indiscreet handling. The temperance question is a question of morals and not of politics, and it is not only unwise, but injurious as well, to mix the two.
It was the writer's misfortune to be absent from the morning session of the East Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran Church, which the resolution to which you refer, was adopted. We sincerely regret its adoption, and are sorry we were not present to offer our views on the subject.
While it is true, as you mention, that it is true, however, that the resolution adopted by the Anti-Saloon League, and which the synod endorsed by a small vote a candidate's name is mentioned. And the synod, by such action, showed an unjust spirit not only to party as well, and entered on the wide field of politics. This, we do not hesitate to pronounce a grievous mistake. It is unwise, as it is wrong. We wish it distinctly understood that the Lutheran Church, as such, does not stand for such "unfair tactics" on the temperance question of any kind. I am frank to say that I do not endorse such methods, as a member of that body, the synod no matter how well meant the action taken may have been.

AN EVENING THOUGHT
If the opportunity for great deeds should never come, the opportunity for good deeds is renewed for you day by day.—Far-rar.

OUR DAILY LAUGH

AS USUAL.
She: You were gone some time on your wedding tour.
He: Yes, and it developed into a lecture tour because we got back, too.

LEARNING TO DRAW.
I hear your boy is going to drawing school.
You can call it that; he's attending a dental college.

CONSTITABULARY AND LABOR
Philadelphia Record: In starting a crusade against the Pennsylvania State Constitubulary the Central Labor Union allows foolish prejudices to run away with its good judgments. There is nothing savoring of militarism about these very efficient troopers, and the fact that they are held up as a model throughout the country is a matter well worthy of Pennsylvania's pride. Does the Central Labor Union want to go back to the brutal and despotic methods of the old Car and Iron Police? Before attacking the Constitubulary it would be well to compare their record with that of their predecessors.

MR. BERRY'S HUMILIATION
[From the Sharon Herald]
Hon. William H. Berry left Pulaski yesterday very badly peeved. It appears that the perennial candidate, who is now collector of the port of Philadelphia, was not allowed to enlighten the crowd at the fair, yesterday, not because Mr. Berry was not willing and anxious to talk, but because the people there assembled preferred horse racing to eloquence. In other words, Mr. Berry was literally howled down before he had well begun his address. He was mortified, of course, and allowed his temper to overflow which was in quite as bad taste as was the attitude of the crowd which refused to listen to him. He made several sarcastic references to the "jackasses" in the throng, but that little episode on the headlamps which persisted in interrupting his address, Mr. Berry showed himself to be a very poor politician. Colonel Roosevelt or Uncle Joe Carnon would have smiled indignantly and a spread eagle would have been put on the wall to spell-binding. It is always best to allow the mob to have its way. Instruction evader and a spread eagle cannot be forced into the ears of the common people against their will.

HATS OFF TO THE FIREMEN
By Wing Dingler
It's hats off to the firemen. Who ready are to fight the flames. The blaze that threatens to destroy our all by day or night. A service noble, doubly so. Because they ask no pay. But volunteer, at risk of life. The fire call to obey.

POLITICAL SIDELIGHTS
—Palmer ought to make that speech about the furnaces and mills being run full time at Lebanon to-night.
—As usual the Democrats are howling about registration. Are they losing their heads?
—Ex-Governor Pennypacker has sent an open letter to Dean Lewis advising him to think straight.
—One wing of the Blair Democracy will Saturday and only 30 of 100 men showed up.
—A free dinner attracted quite a crowd of Pittsburgh Democrats to see McCormick talk Saturday.
—Montgomery county Republicans held a big meeting of committeemen at Norristown Saturday and it was reported that many progressives had come to the meeting.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR
"UNFAIR TACTICS"
To the Editor of the Telegraph:
The undersigned entirely agrees with you in your strictures on "Unfair Tactics" in the telegraph of Friday. It certainly is a matter of sincere regret that some overly zealous temperance advocates, in their zeal to bring about a political party, have resorted to such unfair and indiscreet handling. The temperance question is a question of morals and not of politics, and it is not only unwise, but injurious as well, to mix the two.
It was the writer's misfortune to be absent from the morning session of the East Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran Church, which the resolution to which you refer, was adopted. We sincerely regret its adoption, and are sorry we were not present to offer our views on the subject.
While it is true, as you mention, that it is true, however, that the resolution adopted by the Anti-Saloon League, and which the synod endorsed by a small vote a candidate's name is mentioned. And the synod, by such action, showed an unjust spirit not only to party as well, and entered on the wide field of politics. This, we do not hesitate to pronounce a grievous mistake. It is unwise, as it is wrong. We wish it distinctly understood that the Lutheran Church, as such, does not stand for such "unfair tactics" on the temperance question of any kind. I am frank to say that I do not endorse such methods, as a member of that body, the synod no matter how well meant the action taken may have been.

AN EVENING THOUGHT
If the opportunity for great deeds should never come, the opportunity for good deeds is renewed for you day by day.—Far-rar.

OUR DAILY LAUGH

AS USUAL.
She: You were gone some time on your wedding tour.
He: Yes, and it developed into a lecture tour because we got back, too.

LEARNING TO DRAW.
I hear your boy is going to drawing school.
You can call it that; he's attending a dental college.

CONSTITABULARY AND LABOR
Philadelphia Record: In starting a crusade against the Pennsylvania State Constitubulary the Central Labor Union allows foolish prejudices to run away with its good judgments. There is nothing savoring of militarism about these very efficient troopers, and the fact that they are held up as a model throughout the country is a matter well worthy of Pennsylvania's pride. Does the Central Labor Union want to go back to the brutal and despotic methods of the old Car and Iron Police? Before attacking the Constitubulary it would be well to compare their record with that of their predecessors.

MR. BERRY'S HUMILIATION
[From the Sharon Herald]
Hon. William H. Berry left Pulaski yesterday very badly peeved. It appears that the perennial candidate, who is now collector of the port of Philadelphia, was not allowed to enlighten the crowd at the fair, yesterday, not because Mr. Berry was not willing and anxious to talk, but because the people there assembled preferred horse racing to eloquence. In other words, Mr. Berry was literally howled down before he had well begun his address. He was mortified, of course, and allowed his temper to overflow which was in quite as bad taste as was the attitude of the crowd which refused to listen to him. He made several sarcastic references to the "jackasses" in the throng, but that little episode on the headlamps which persisted in interrupting his address, Mr. Berry showed himself to be a very poor politician. Colonel Roosevelt or Uncle Joe Carnon would have smiled indignantly and a spread eagle would have been put on the wall to spell-binding. It is always best to allow the mob to have its way. Instruction evader and a spread eagle cannot be forced into the ears of the common people against their will.

HATS OFF TO THE FIREMEN
By Wing Dingler
It's hats off to the firemen. Who ready are to fight the flames. The blaze that threatens to destroy our all by day or night. A service noble, doubly so. Because they ask no pay. But volunteer, at risk of life. The fire call to obey.

POLITICAL SIDELIGHTS
—Palmer ought to make that speech about the furnaces and mills being run full time at Lebanon to-night.
—As usual the Democrats are howling about registration. Are they losing their heads?
—Ex-Governor Pennypacker has sent an open letter to Dean Lewis advising him to think straight.
—One wing of the Blair Democracy will Saturday and only 30 of 100 men showed up.
—A free dinner attracted quite a crowd of Pittsburgh Democrats to see McCormick talk Saturday.
—Montgomery county Republicans held a big meeting of committeemen at Norristown Saturday and it was reported that many progressives had come to the meeting.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR
"UNFAIR TACTICS"
To the Editor of the Telegraph:
The undersigned entirely agrees with you in your strictures on "Unfair Tactics" in the telegraph of Friday. It certainly is a matter of sincere regret that some overly zealous temperance advocates, in their zeal to bring about a political party, have resorted to such unfair and indiscreet handling. The temperance question is a question of morals and not of politics, and it is not only unwise, but injurious as well, to mix the two.
It was the writer's misfortune to be absent from the morning session of the East Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran Church, which the resolution to which you refer, was adopted. We sincerely regret its adoption, and are sorry we were not present to offer our views on the subject.
While it is true, as you mention, that it is true, however, that the resolution adopted by the Anti-Saloon League, and which the synod endorsed by a small vote a candidate's name is mentioned. And the synod, by such action, showed an unjust spirit not only to party as well, and entered on the wide field of politics. This, we do not hesitate to pronounce a grievous mistake. It is unwise, as it is wrong. We wish it distinctly understood that the Lutheran Church, as such, does not stand for such "unfair tactics" on the temperance question of any kind. I am frank to say that I do not endorse such methods, as a member of that body, the synod no matter how well meant the action taken may have been.

AN EVENING THOUGHT
If the opportunity for great deeds should never come, the opportunity for good deeds is renewed for you day by day.—Far-rar.

Harrisburg Carpet Co.

We would invite all buyers looking for choice patterns in Carpets and Rugs to call and see our fine display before purchasing. We also carry a full line of Linoleums, Oil Cloths, Carpet Sweepers and Window Shades.

HARRISBURG CARPET CO.
32 North Second Street

NEWS DISPATCHES OF THE CIVIL WAR
IN HARRISBURG FIFTY YEARS AGO TO-DAY

[From the Telegraph, Oct. 5, 1864] Captures Rebel Battery
Fortress Monroe, Oct. 4.—The hospital steamer from the Point of Rocks with wounded men from the Army of the James, reports that General Terry assaulted and captured a rebel battery in the New Market road.

Rob Dead Soldiers
Army of the Potomac, Oct. 5.—In passing over the ground where the Second Division of the Ninth Corps met defeat Saturday, our dead were found entirely stripped of clothing, and some of the bodies horribly mutilated. Several of the men had evidently been murdered after being wounded.

HOW THE NEW DEMOCRATIC PARTY HITS ALL THE PEOPLE
"Mr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, the Republican candidate for Governor, in a speech last week, 'that about a year ago this autumn we had a change in our tariff policy in the Government of the United States. They claimed goods would be cheaper if we took off our tariff. Even the children that stand before you know that nothing has been cheapened by that. All that has happened is that about $25,000,000, which we formerly collected in the National Treasury and used to support our own Government, has gone abroad into the pockets of foreign manufacturers. You are not only taxed to pay back into the Treasury $100,000,000 so that you are not only taxed by reason of the loss of your income, but you are directly taxed to make up the difference."

THE GENERAL SAYS:
Before bad weather comes you should take advantage of the good weather to cover your buildings with a roofing that can withstand the elements of winter in any part of the country. It should be

Certain-teed Roofing
Quality Certified Durability Guaranteed

—because it is made of the very best materials known for the purpose and will give unexcelled service on all roofs in any kind of climate.

REGULATION BY LAW.
Should Its Extension by Government Continue?
This is an age of regulation. The growth of National and State regulation has been tremendous, and if the present rate continues, what is to be the result?

General Roofing Mfg. Company
World's largest manufacturers of Roofing and Building Papers
Stock Exchange Bldg., Philadelphia, Pa.
New York City Boston Chicago Pittsburgh Philadelphia Atlanta Cleveland Detroit St. Louis Cincinnati Kansas City Minneapolis San Francisco Seattle London Hamburg Sydney

Johnston Paper Co., Harrisburg Pa.
DISTRIBUTORS OF CERTAIN-TEED ROOFING

WITMAN BROS.,
WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTORS OF CERTAIN-TEED ROOFING