VERY IMPORTANT SIDE TO ELECTION

Choice of Supreme Court Judge Involves Interests of Every Resident of State

There is an interesting side to the election of next Tuesday that has not been given the public attention its importance warrants. The voters at that time will be called upon to elect a State Supreme Court judge, who will serve in that position for twenty-one years, or practically through the next generation.

Long after the administration of the next Governor has passed into history and the terms of the other officers to be elected have expired, this Supreme Court judge will be deciding appeals involving lives, liberty and property.

It is therefore of importance that the voters choose a man for the place who is at once able, honest, fearless, beyond the reach of influence and of an age that will reasonably insure active work during the full period of his long career.

Such a man, unquestionably, is Judge George Kunkel, of Dauphin county, who has been reversed by the Supreme Court only three times in forty-six appeals. That he is honest is shown by the fact that last year, after serving for years as a judge on the Dauphin county bench, he was re-elected without a dissenting vote.

That he is fearless is shown by the manner in which he has shown in the Capitol graft cases, notwithstanding the influences of wealth and legal talent that were brought to bear for those under indictment. That he is beyond the reach of any influence is shown by his records in the Dauphin county courts in his decisions relating to the taxation of corporations, where in he has decided cases involving millions upon millions of dollars for corporations for State revenue.

And finally, he is in the prime of life and will in all likelihood remain actively engaged in the term of his office to which his friends are confident he will be elected next Tuesday.

Both Men May Lose Eyesight as Result of Explosion During Celebration

Special to The Telegraph - State College, Pa., Oct. 27. - Captain E. W. Tobin, of State College, football eleven, and U. J. Stauffer, of Haddon Heights, N. J., president of the sophomore class, were terribly burned last night by the explosion of five barrels of gasoline that was poured over a gigantic pile of fireworks to celebrate the return of the team from Cambridge, where it played the Harvard eleven to a tie last Saturday.

So great was the force of the explosion that residences in all parts of the village were wrecked, windows of college buildings and fraternity houses were shattered and plaster fell from walls of houses, including that of Dr. E. E. Sparks, president of the college. Hundreds of spectators who circled the bonfire, and the crowd, were knocked down. Many suffered injury from the flying debris and in the stampede that followed.

Tobin and Stauffer were standing side by side, twenty-five feet from the pile. Under Stauffer's direction Tobin lit a torch and threw it into the woodpile. Instantly there followed the explosion, and the five barrels of gasoline which had been poured liberally over the mass of timber.

Thirty-five hundred persons, assembled by the thousands near the armory, frantically struggled to escape from the heat and flames that spread over the ground and leaped high into the air.

Amiral Ganteaume Blown Up by Mine Off Boulogne; Warships to Rescue

London, Oct. 26, 11.30 P. M.—It is officially announced that the channel steamer Queen rescued 2,500 passengers from the French steamer Amiral Ganteaume, blown up by a mine off Boulogne. An appeal has been made for the rescue of the distressed people. When the steamer Queen left the scene of the accident the Amiral Ganteaume was still afloat and British destroyers were attacking it.

The mail boat Queen left Boulogne for Folkestone Monday afternoon. When still in sight of the French coast her captain saw a mine and immediately the water spout up where immediately before was an oncoming French vessel.

A passenger on the Queen told the following story: "We made as speedily as possible to the damaged ship, which then appeared to be going down by the bows. The refugees on the ship were terribly excited, swarming to the deck, climbing into the rigging and shouting in a piteous manner. They attempted to lower a boat, but this was impossible, such an acute angle that it swamped as soon as it touched the water.

Rescuers at Work - A neighboring fishing smack came to the rescue and later two French torpedo-boats came up. The Queen attempted to lower a boat, but, seeing the enormous number of people to be rescued, concluded that this course was useless. By carefully maneuvering she got alongside and by strenuous efforts succeeded in saving a third hand and a woman.

Some of the returning members of the British Red Cross were aboard the Queen and rendered valuable assistance. The whole of the refugees were transferred in five minutes to the sea and were rescued by the British Red Cross. The Queen and her crew were rescued by the British Red Cross.

The effect of having 2,500 more souls on the Queen caused fears of overcrowding in the ship and capsizing, so the rescued were forced below in such masses that it was impossible to get to the sufferers with medical aid.

The rescued were so pleased at their escape that they threw their arms around their rescuers and kissed them. One hundred and fifty Belgian soldiers were among the saved. The Amiral Ganteaume was blown up by a mine off Boulogne.

GARRANZA SUPPORTER PAYS AGENT TO END REBEL LEADER'S LIFE

Would-be Assassin Executed After Making Confession Before American Consul

El Paso, Texas, Oct. 27. - An attempt has been made to assassinate General Francisco Villa by an agent said to have been commissioned and paid by General Pablo Gonzales, General Carranza's staunch supporter, said a message sent the Associated Press today by Luis Aguirre Benavides, General Villa's first secretary. The would-be assassin, Francisco I. Mugia, was executed after making a confession before George C. Carothers, the American consular agent.

The accusation caused much excitement. The telegram from Villa's secretary said the would-be assassin was apprehended at Guadalupe, where Villa with his troops has been awaiting the outcome of the conference. The official report stated that the prisoner just prior to his execution told the Villa officials in the presence of Carothers that he had been paid a large sum of money by General Gonzales, of Mexico City. In his possession was found incriminating evidence and a loaded pistol.

"Mr. Consul: Please advise your government and my family that I died a traitor," Mugia was quoted as having said. The accused was an Argentine subject. It was Mugia who assassinated a German consular official in Mexico City some years ago.

Bombardment, Fire and Earthquake For Shabats - London, Oct. 27, 5.15 A. M.—A dispatch to the Times from Shabats, Serbia, says: "This city presents a desolate spectacle. Two hundred and fifty buildings were destroyed by bombardment. This was followed by fire, doing more damage and then came an earthquake, shaking the city so severely that the houses which remain are almost falling to pieces.

"Finally the deserted town was visited by a band of expert thieves who systematically looted every house from cellar to roof. The contents of the shops were thrown into the streets, all safes were opened in a highly professional manner and the contents of the houses smashed, pictures were slashed and the furniture was splintered in an orgy of destruction.

"Before the Austrians left they destroyed the principal local church. Large numbers of Serb hostages, including the principal residents, were taken to Austria as prisoners. Hundreds of the local populace, who were killed by bayonet thrusts for various alleged misdeeds were buried by the Austrians in the local church yard.

The senseless bombardment still continues although this town is deserted except for the sentries. On Thursday the Serbs succeeded in laying mines which sank an Austrian monitor."

Shabats is an active trading town of Serbia, located on the Save 40 miles west of Belgrade. It had a population of about 15,000 persons.
