PHILADELPHIA OUT FOR REPUBLICANS

Metropolis Shows It Has No Time For McCormick; Roosevelt Don't Bother It

ROUSING MEETINGS ARE HELD

Result of Election Shows Tremendous Majorities Will Be Rolled Up in the City

Philadelphia, old city and suburban, turned out in force yesterday and last night to testify to its confidence in the Republican candidates; its distrust of hard-picked cash candidates; Democratic candidates, and its resentment of those who come from other States to butt in. In a series of meetings, many of which far surpassed any of the meetings addressed by the Democratic and Bull Moose candidates, the people of the metropolis gave unmistakable evidence of intention to vote Republican.

Dr. Brumbaugh was given a series of ovations, culminating in the meeting in the Academy of Music, in which he denoted those who come into Pennsylvania meddling with their affairs, and in which he handsomely countered on Theodore Roosevelt. Boies Penrose was given greetings as the champion of education and resolved to acclaim everywhere he went. Senator Penrose's attack on Colonel Roosevelt was more direct and vitriolic than that of Dr. Brumbaugh. He also went into the record of Mr. Pinchot, declaring that the latter's tendency was for office and not for service. Mr. Pinchot, Senator Penrose said, could hardly be classed as a citizen of Pennsylvania. The Washington party candidate had accepted the betrayal of his party into the hands of the McCormick machine, ignoring the will of the voters as expressed in the primary, so that his own ambition, regardless of party ties or party principles, might be fulfilled.

"Mr. Roosevelt, in his speeches," said Senator Penrose, "is indulging in coarse abuse and ranting tirades against the Republican candidates, and particularly against myself. He attempts to discuss the issues before the people of this State. He comes into Pennsylvania, which has been devastated by the false economic policies of the Wilson administration, particularly in connection with tariff legislation. He can see on every side as he travels through the State industrial establishments closed down completely or only working from 25 to 40 per cent of their capacity. He can see an army of half a million unemployed men."

Big Men Presided

John C. Winston, notable independent, presided at the big Germantown rally and William T. Hilden at the Academy rally. Other meetings well known held the gavel at other meetings.

Theodore Roosevelt was hammered by speakers at both meetings and Vance C. McCormick came in for his share of comment, which must have made the young man's ears burn. General Thomas J. Stewart declared that McCormick's position in denouncing as robbers, grafters and looters of the public treasury the men holding public office was "unmanly, unjust, un-Christian-like and cowardly."

"Nowhere is there a citizenship like that in Pennsylvania," he said, "nowhere a State like this one, yet we hear vilification that would lead many in other States to believe that this State is not fit to live in."

"We are going to elect as Governor a man who will see that the highest and lowest, rich and poor, are protected alike. We want an occupant of the place who has not bought it, who has not found it lying on the bargain counter of debauched politicians."

Stuart a Speaker

Ex-Governor Edwin S. Stuart came out firmly for the whole ticket. This is the way the man so much admired in Harrisburg spoke.

"The issue is: Will Pennsylvania elect a United States Senator who will vote for protection, and a man who will use every effort to protect the American workmen, or will he send to the Senate a man who is so near to being a free trader that he is dangerous to the interests of workmen?"

"Brumbaugh is a man who never knew any boss but duty; a man who would not accept a nomination or election unless he thought that it was in the interests of the people, in the interests of good government."

Dr. Brumbaugh, who spoke on home rule for cities, made a great impression. He said in part:

"It is a pleasure to be able to say to you that after eight weeks' rather strenuous campaigning throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania I have met everywhere with the greatest cordiality and consideration and confidently look forward to November 3 for a triumphant election. To accomplish this end in a positive and decisive way with a majority that will be so convincing as to stop much of the mean, narrow, selfish, petty bickerings of life in this Commonwealth, I ask you gentlemen of Philadelphia to give such a vote on the third of November as will say to the whole Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, 'the people are united for a clean, decent, efficient government of the affairs of this splendid Commonwealth.'"

Away With Opportunists

"Two years ago, with a voice that was clamorous and an insistence that would not be denied, we were told that by direct primaries, by suffrage amendments, by the introduction of the referendum and the initiative, and by the establishment of the recall, we would solve our municipal ills and indeed all our political ills. If these were vital principles of government then, and demanded at that time such unusual prominence, where are the advocates of these movements now, and why is there such a great vacuum on the initiative, the referendum and the recall, where once the political world was filled with the clamor of reformers for their adoption of these measures for the relief of an oppressed and burdened people? True, indeed, the recall has been recalled and amended into an impersonal formula, but I submit that it is scarcely just and right for men simply with a greed to hold office and an insatiable thirst for prestige and popularity to drop suddenly what they once considered to be enduring principles of government."

"Undoubtedly this change has been due to the fact that the American public's eyes were found not to be corrective by this species of innuoculation and the quick doctors who proposed these remedies have suddenly sought new nostrums, for they are mere opportunists clamoring for the public approval and not patriotic and high-minded leaders willing to stand or fall with their convictions and their unchanged consecration to the public welfare. I hate an opportunist as much as I hate a boss, and I denounce both with all the righteous vehemence of my spirit, and shall have nothing to do with either."

School Days and School Dresses

When school time comes around again, mothers find that new clothes are needed, and the keynote of the school dress of to-day should be simplicity. Perhaps I should explain what I mean by simplicity. Do you remember the plain-as-a-pipe-stem waist, with the equally plain skirt gathered to it? Well, I don't call that simple any more than I call it good to look at. But a plain Russian blouse dress, with or without a couple of side or box plaits, is no more trouble to make, is pretty and youthful. With this particular type of dress there is no end to changes that, though slight, make one model differ from all the others. The double-breasted closing will have a different effect from the single, particularly if you use a double row of buttons. A diagonal closing is another variation, or little real or simulated tabs will be a change from straight edges.—Home-Sewing, in Woman's World.

more a year in the new York Times caused a renewed discussion in the financial district yesterday. In general, the list was regarded as reflecting pretty accurately the general impression as to who the $1,000,000 a year men and women were. In several cases the question was raised as to whether they should have been included, and this was naturally so, inasmuch as only forty-four persons paid taxes on such incomes, while the list published comprised seventy-seven names of those who were believed by some to be in receipt of such incomes.

Some of those with $1,000,000 incomes, however, might have just enough invested in Government, State, or municipal bonds, the income from which is exempt from the tax, to carry them below the line in the Treasury Department's list.

Here is the Pennsylvania list of those whose incomes are said to exceed $1,000,000 a year:

FEW MINUTES! NO INDIGESTION, GAS, SOUR STOMACH--PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Digests all food, absorbs gases and stops fermentation at once

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take Pape's Diapepsin, and in five minutes you will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is astonishing. Please don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.—Advertisement.

were leased from the Cambria Mining and Manufacturing Company, and the improvements were heavily mortgaged, making it impossible to collect damages from the defendant corporation, i. e., the Sonman Shaft Coal Mining Company. After these facts were presented to the Judge, Hon. F. J. O'Connor, he took the matter up with the attorneys for the defendants. McCormick's attorneys immediately got in touch by long distance telephone with Mr. McCormick and reported to the attorneys for the plaintiffs that he had been able to get Mr. McCormick to agree on compensation to the amount of $2,000, to be divided among the dependents of the five men who had been killed, or at the rate of $400 for each person killed. The attorneys for the miners were forced to accept this settlement, owing to the condition I have noted above, but divided the money among the families in accord with the number of children left destitute. One family received $800, one $650, one $350, one $150, and the family of a 21-year-old son who had been killed received $50.

Mr. McCormick may be in favor of a compensation bill that would provide $1,500 to the dependents of a killed workman, but if we judge his future by his past actions, which is the way we must judge men, then he evidently believes a workman is only worth $400 when he meets death absolutely by the neglect or fault of the company, as these men were passengers on the "cage," or elevator, of the mine, and in charge of the miners were forced to accept the accident occurred, and the only way they had of getting out of the mine.

The attorneys representing the United Mine Workers were James A. Gleason, of DuBois, Pa., and Hon. Singleton Bell, now president Judge of Clearfield county. Trusting this is the information you desired, I am,

Very truly yours,
PATRICK GILDAY, (SD),
President United Mine Workers of District No. 2.

time was secretary and treasurer of the company. On March 18th, 1908, through defective machinery, the engineer being unable to stop his hoisting engine, five men were hauled up over the shaft pulleys, were dropped back down the shaft and killed. Three were married men with families and two of them were single men. The company agreed to bury all of them at a cost of about seventy-five dollars each. The widows and parents of the deceased men thought they should be compensated for the loss of their husbands and sons. The matter was taken up with the company by the officials of the U. M. W. of A., and as no satisfaction could be secured from the local management, one of the board members, William Currie, and I proceeded to Harrisburg to see Mr. McCormick. We failed to see Mr. McCormick at Harrisburg but were informed by one of his office force that he would take the matter up with Mr. McCormick and notify us of his decision in the matter. We failed to receive any word from Mr. McCormick and the United Mine Workers of America requested the plaintiffs to enter suit and that the organization would finance their case.

When the case came up in Cambria county courts at Ebensburg some time in March, 1909, the attorneys representing the McCormick interests notified the court there was no property. It appears the coal company was a "dummy" corporation, as everything, that is, the lands, etc.,

Planning for the Stork's Arrival

Among those things which all women should know of, and many of them do, is a splendid external application sold in most drug stores under the name of "Mother's Friend." It is a penetrating liquid and many a mother tells how it so wonderfully aided them through the period of expectancy. Its chief purpose is to render the tendons, ligaments and muscles so pliant that nature's expansion may be accomplished without the intense strain so often characteristic of the period of expectancy.

"Mother's Friend" may therefore be considered as indirectly having a splendid influence upon the early disposition of the future generation.

Whatever induces to the ease and comfort of the mother should leave its impress upon the nervous system of the baby.

At any rate it is reasonable to believe that since "Mother's Friend" has been a companion to motherhood for more than half a century it must be a remedy that women have learned the great value of.

Ask at any drug store for "Mother's Friend," a penetrating, external liquid of great help and value. And write to Bradford Regulator Co., 402 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. for the book of useful and timely information.
