PEACE NOT IN SIGHT; MAY COME NEXT YEAR

Herrmann Says He Has Made His Final Proposition to Feds

Special to The Telegraph Chicago, Nov. 14.—Peace with baseball magnates will come one year hence. This is the prediction of James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal League. Gerry Herrmann, president of the National Commission, and head of the Cincinnati club, says it must come before next season starts, or it will not come at all. These conditions, in the opinion of baseball magnates is taken as indication that Gilmore will not accept the terms of peace offered and that the major leagues have fortified themselves against any further invasion by changing contracts and reserve rules, and are ready to fight until the finish. Gilmore declared the Federal League was anxious for peace and ready to make reasonable concessions, but declined to give up everything. A conference of Federal Leaguers including President Gilmore, Weeghman, Otto Stifel and Phil Ball, of the St. Louis club, and E. E. Gates, an attorney of Indianapolis, took place yesterday afternoon, but what was discussed was not announced.

College Football To-day Feature On Local Gridiron

Bucknell and Gettysburg Meet in Annual Battle at Island Park; Games Elsewhere

Harrisburg had its annual college football to-day, the battle between Bucknell and Gettysburg. That there was something doing in the city became known at 10 o'clock this morning when the Bucknell team arrived by special train over the Pennsylvania railroad. The Lewisburg eleven was accompanied by three hundred rooters and their famous college band. Following a short street parade the big crowd from Bucknell located at their headquarters at Hotel Columbus. One hour later came the Gettysburg throng numbering 400, which was met by special train over the Philadelphia and Reading railway. Gettysburg, too, had a band and there was another street parade. Gettysburg headquarters will be at the Commonwealth Hotel. This afternoon both student bodies marched to Island Park, and for an hour the spectators enjoyed the enthusiastic exhibition of real college spirit. Songs and cheers were the opening feature. This year the Gettysburg boys and the public occupied the left field bleachers, while Bucknell students filled the temporary bleachers. Adjoining Bucknell was automobile row. Several hundred spectators also witnessed the game from the grandstand. The game started at 3 o'clock. Theater Parties For Teams Both Gettysburg and Bucknell will remain in Harrisburg until midnight to-night. The Gettysburg eleven will be guests of Wilmer-Vincent and Appeler at the Orpheum, and Bucknell team will take in the September Morn show at the Majestic Theater. With Gettysburg and Bucknell were a number of Harrisburg boys who are enrolled at these institutions. Both elevens were primed for to-day's battle. Bucknell was picked as the winner early in the day by many local enthusiasts, but bets offered were at even money. Gettysburg has been winning games all season, while Bucknell has met with losses. It was also a tie between coaches. George Cockhill, manager of the Harrisburg Tri-State baseball team, is in charge at Bucknell, and Al O'Brien is looking after Gettysburg. The Princeton-Yale struggle at Princeton was a big attraction for Harrisburg to-day and many went from this city to see the game in the new stadium. In scholastic circles, interest centers in the Tech game at Williamsport; Steelton-Wilkes-Barre game at Steelton; and the Central battle with the Stevens Trade school at Lancaster.

COLONIAL "How Jack Loved Jill" is the title of a breezy and clever musical comedy that heads the bill at the Colonial for the last half of the week. About the daintiest pony ballet that has been seen in Harrisburg for many a long day constitutes the chorus of the playlet. The theme novel, even if it were the principal players are especially pleasing. Ford, Hayes and Watts do a clever mixture of song, dance, and acrobatics; the Devon Sisters are a nifty pair in a song and dance specialty; and Harry and Augustus Turpin have something new in a comedy skit with singing. The Colonial's moving picture series will be "The Great Train Robbery" a funny comment among patrons of the Busy Corner.—Advertisement.

AMUSEMENTS Incandescents to Be High Lights of Display

High lights, figuratively and literally, will be a feature of the Harrisburg Light and Power Company's electrical display at the big state-wide welfare and industrial efficiency conference in Chestnut Street Auditorium next week. Electrical lights of every size from the tiny two-candle-power incandescent to the giant 750 and 1,000-watt lamps of high efficiency, will be used to light the booth. Writing for the electric company's big demonstration is well under way and by Monday evening the company officials expect to have something playing in the house, while for hundreds of spectators to see and blink up on. Especial attention, however, will be given to the new type of Mazda lamp. In addition to the scores of incandescents, however, there will be another new type, the "Mazda lamp" sure to please Harrisburg housewives. This will be the continuous demonstration of electrical appliances of every description. FUNDRAISER OF WENDELL REHM Special to The Telegraph Lewisburg, Nov. 14.—General services for Wendell Rehm, who met his death by being kicked by a mule, were held on Thursday. A large number of friends, consisting of a prayer by the Rev. D. L. Dixon, and a duet, Miss Blanche Miller and Mrs. H. Shettel. Further services were held in the Methodist Episcopal Church, at 10 o'clock, with Miss Edith Cline as pianist, sang three hymns, "Lead Kindly Light," "Abide With Me," "My Jesus As Thou Wilt." A quartet, composed of Miss Miller, Mrs. Shettel, Dean E. Hudson, and Mrs. J. C. Cook, sang "Sometime We'll Understand." The pallbearers were neighbors of the deceased—Charles E. Yoder, Jacob Yoder, Charles Parthemer and William A. Parthemer.

EJECTMENT HEARING MAY REQUIRE WEEK

Penny Railroad Suit Likely to Occupy Judge During Most of November Common Pleas

While all but half a dozen of the thirty November common pleas cases have been marked for trial during next week, the chances are that the ejectment proceedings brought by the Pennsylvania Railroad against Anna Rehner may require most of the time of at least one judge. The suit is based on the efforts of the railroad company to obtain certain portions of ground which it contends it owns and which Mrs. Rehner, the original owner, refuses to give over. November common pleas will be the last civil court of the year and plans for the session have practically been completed. Tipstaves announced yesterday include John Pottorf, Robert W. Green, John Bryan, M. F. Graham, Charles Simington, Preston Quam, A. G. West, John Arnold, George A. Knighton, William Hiney, Joshua Fortner, Elmer Dougherty and Albert Cain. The tipstaves for the special term of quarter sessions, beginning November 30, include Pottorf, Green, Graham and Fortner and William Anderson, John R. Kinsley, Bushrod McCormick, George W. Meyers, Harry B. Hanlen, Harry Fulcher, Joseph Bateman, Charles Miller, William Lockley, Robert Dougherty, Noah Dockens, Thomas McCord and Henry Chubb. THE WAR BOOK IS NOW READY Our Readers Can Now Obtain the Book That Reveals the Causes of the War The dogs of war are loosened in all Europe! A new map of a continent is in the making. Nations will be obliterated and new nations will be established. Europe is ransacking red with blood while field-guns and cannon belch forth fire and death, and men are shot down like rows of clay-pigeons. Before the newspaper bulletins in European cities thousands of frenzied men and women are shouting their national anthems and urging fresh troops and regiments into the cataclysmic fray. The inevitable has come. The burden of preparation has staggered Europe. There will arise from the whirlpool new dynasties—new methods—new purposes. Do you know the long string of events—like a cancerous growth—that have brought this about? Do you know the causes of this greatest war of history? Do you understand it? The great book, "The Story of Europe and the Nations at War," which tells the whole story, is now ready for distribution. Clip the coupon on another page, examine the book at our office, and obtain your copy.

SAFETY WEEK WILL BE NOTABLE TIME Arrangements Have Been Made to Call Attention to the Necessity of Care Details of the manner in which Harrisburg will show its interest in "Safety First" week are being worked out by the committee in charge of the local end of the big observance which is to take place coincident with the national Industrial Welfare and Efficiency conference at the Capitol and next week people will wear "Safety First" badges and the trolley cars will do the hesitation with big warning signs and the school children will be urged to wear their seat belts. The names of the exhibitors for the most of the moving picture theater owners of the city have arranged to give free displays of educational films for school children during the afternoon. The names of these exhibitors will be announced Monday. Commissioner of Labor and Industry John Price Jackson has been appointed to the National Safety Council as a member of the National Committee on Educational Safety. This is in recognition of the fact that he is a practical engineer, and can view the safety movement from this standpoint. He was formerly chief of the Bureau of Safety as well as from that of the educator. In co-operation with the Harrisburg Safety Council, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, the Police Department, the Public School Board and the Harrisburg Railways Company, the commissioner has arranged for the first step in such a campaign, which is to include a series of exhibitions for the school children. The National Safety Council is sending on from Chicago H. L. Brownell, of the Chicago Railways Company, with a series of films that he has been using in a two-year campaign before the school children of that city. These films will be presented in the Harrisburg campaign by Mrs. E. W. Wilson, in person, who will explain by means of the films the methods pursued in Chicago in educating the school children in street safety. The Harrisburg Safety Council is also endeavoring to secure the services of Mrs. Jessica McCall, who has had charge of the educational safety work among the school children of Brooklyn, New York. It is hoped that she will be able to present the Brooklyn Rapid Transit films that are among the films selected for exhibition before the Harrisburg school children. Among the other films to be shown will be those used by Mrs. Joseph R. Wilson in her Carnival of Safety recently held in Philadelphia. It is to be hoped that Mrs. Wilson can also be persuaded to co-operate at the time. A recent circular issued by the Harrisburg Safety Council announces that their regular observance meeting will be held the first evening of the Pennsylvania Welfare and Efficiency Conference, at the State Capitol, Tuesday, November 17, at 8 p. m. At this time Robert W. Campbell, chairman of the Central Safety Committee of the Illinois Steel Company, and president of the National Safety Council, will be present and preside over this meeting, at which also will be representatives of the local safety councils of Pennsylvania. This meeting should be of paramount interest to all those interested in safety. It is further contemplated at some later date to engage William P. Eno, the traffic expert, and a man of international reputation, to present a paper on standardized safety traffic regulations before the local safety council. Mr. Eno has devoted many years to the study of traffic conditions in all of the large cities of this country, and has been the originator of most of the up-to-date traffic regulations adopted by those cities. Some years ago he was called upon to
