

RECIPE FOR BALDHEADS

Well-Known Politician Nearly Bald Now Has New Growth of Hair

Tells How He Did It

A western politician, well known on account of his baldness and his ready wit, surprised his friends by appearing with a new growth of hair. Many of his friends did not know him, and others thought he had a wig. On being asked how he did it he made the following statement: "I attribute the growth of my hair to the following simple recipe which any lady or gentleman can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of Bay Rum, a small box of Eucaly Compound and 1/2 oz. of Glycerine. Apply to the scalp two or three times a week with the finger tips. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but removes dandruff, scalp humors and prevents the hair from falling out. It darkens streaked, faded, gray hair and makes the hair soft and glossy. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at a very little cost and mixed at home."—Advertisement.

CARRANZA REFUSES TO DELIVER POWER

Mexican General, in Statement, Says That He Has Been Misunderstood

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—General Carranza has again refused to deliver the executive power to any but a man of his own selection and once more peace plans for Mexico are upset, according to official dispatches to-day from American agents in Mexico. Just as it seemed that an amicable adjustment had been reached General Carranza has announced that he was misunderstood. From both American Consul Silliman and Leon Canova, special agent at Aguascalientes, the State Department received practically the same version of the newest split, summarized as follows: Carranza first telegraphed General Gonzales that he was willing to deliver the executive power to Cordero provided both he (Carranza) and Villa relinquished their commands and met in Havana on November 21. General Gonzales telegraphed that Cordero, chosen provisional president by the convention at Aguascalientes, took it to mean that Carranza was ready to deliver the executive power to him. Now Carranza has announced that when he used the words "provisional president" he meant a man who enjoyed his entire confidence, such as General Pablo Gonzales. American Consul Silliman referred to this as a new "proposal from Carranza," while Special Agent Canova describes it as a "repudiation of Carranza's of his telegram to Gonzales."

With troop movements under way and hostilities imminent, efforts were being made to-day by some of the negotiators to patch up the differences. Carranza first telegraphed General Gonzales that he was willing to deliver the executive power to Cordero provided both he (Carranza) and Villa relinquished their commands and met in Havana on November 21. EASY WAY TO KEEP BABY'S SKIN HEALTHY

How to Heal Skin Eruptions and Prevent Their Return

Very few babies grow to childhood without having some sort of skin trouble. It may be only itching, scalding, or tooth rash. On the other hand, it may be the worst kind of itching eczema or ringworm. When I find a little one suffering like that, I always advise the mother to do this: Bathe the sick skin with warm water and resinol soap, pat dry with a soft towel, and put on very gently a thin coating of resinol ointment. She can just as easily use talcum powder over the ointment if she likes. This almost never fails to give INSTANT relief and a few such treatments generally heal the trouble. Bathing daily with resinol soap is the best way I know to keep baby's skin free from such irritations and eruptions. It is very pure, soothing and healing. All druggists sell resinol ointment and resinol soap. For free samples, write to Dept. 36-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.—Advertisement.

Test Vibration of Haynes Car With a Lead Pencil

George G. McFarland, the Haynes agent, is very enthusiastic over what the Model 30 Light Six Haynes has been doing in different kinds of tests. In speaking of the Haynes car at the welfare and efficiency exhibit Mr. McFarland claimed the following advantages: "I believe it is the lightest, well-made six-cylinder car on the market, weighing 2,950 pounds; it will go farther on a gallon of gasoline than any other six-cylinder car, averaging 20 miles to the gallon, and that it will go up any hill faster at high gear, faster at second gear and faster at low gear than that it will also go up any hill slower at high gear than any other car represented in this territory. It is equipped with the most expensive carburetor made in America, the Rayfield; the most expensive starting and lighting system, the Leeco-Neville, and the most efficient generator, the Remy; that it will give more mileage on tires than any other six-cylinder car made, and that the construction throughout is not surpassed by any six-cylinder car irrespective of price. "A recent test was made with the engine running fifteen hundred revolutions. A lead pencil was stood on end on the fender and the vibration was sufficient to upset the pencil. All the usual hill-climbing stunts have been done by this car in such an easy manner that to determine if it were possible to cause the car to fall down it was subjected to an unusual test the other day. After going up Berryhill street and turning into Crescent street at the kinds of speed the car was then backed down Crescent street and the wheels placed against the Berryhill street curb, the car headed up Crescent street. The motor was stopped and then again started and shifted into high gear. It started to climb without a tremor and was going twenty-two miles an hour at the top of Crescent street, a distance of about a few hundred feet, and all this without a buck, a tremor, a shake or working the car in a harmful manner. From a standing start the car will pick up into thirty miles an hour in a less number of feet than any other car in this territory."

BIG SLAUGHTER OF CATTLE

Fifteen Cows, Two Bulls and Nine Heifers Killed

Lebanon, Pa., Nov. 18.—Dr. G. L. Bushong, a veterinarian of the State Livestock Sanitary Board came to Lebanon on Tuesday and made the first slaughter of cattle affected by the hoof and mouth disease. With his assistants, he killed fifteen cows, two bulls, nine heifers, a sow and a litter of pigs, on the Pennsylvania Steel Company farm tenanted by Simon Tice. The board of arbitrators allowed Mr. Tice nearly the full value for the stock, but despite the liberal allowance of the State authorities, he suffers a considerable incidental loss as his butter business is ruined and he will not be able to get a new supply of stock until next fall.

HEARD OF QUINLAN PARSONS CASE PRESENTED

Philadelphia Policeman Present in Capitol When Application Was Submitted

Frederick Kilmer, a Philadelphia policeman, heard his own application for pardon argued before the State Board of Pardons this afternoon. Kilmer was sentenced on October 30, 1914, to serve a year for involuntary manslaughter in killing a boy named Murphy while endeavoring to arrest him on March 17 last when released on parole. Accompanying him were several police officers from his station and a number of friends, who are interested in having a pardon granted so that he may be restored to the police force.

The case was presented by John H. Fow, who contended that Kilmer had shot into the air to stop Murphy, but that he stumbled and the revolver while it had been held in a perpendicular position was thrown to a horizontal and the bullet hit the boy. A photograph of the place where he stumbled was shown and Mr. Fow also presented letters from every banker in Germantown and from the Revs. C. Wayne Burns, Wayne Chalmers and Martin Hastings Dodd together with other prominent men of that section asking for pardon.

The board also heard another plea for the commutation of the sentence of William Abel, of Philadelphia, sentenced to be hanged on December 3 and refused clemency in September.

In all five murder cases, three of which involve sentences for electrocution, were presented and the case of Malena Massa, Schuylkill, is on the calendar list. The case of Luka Zareovic, Dauphin county, second degree murder, was also continued. District Attorney D. J. Reedy, of Lackawanna, objected to a pardon for John Chmielowski on the ground that he committed a cold blooded murder of a policeman and Senator Mills asked pardon for Samuel Wheeler, of Bradford county, who is 57 years old and who is alleged to have shot a man under an hallucination. The board had a very long list and there will be no decisions until night.

Steel Revival Gives Good Times Promise

The nation's barometer of trade, the iron and steel industry, in which Pennsylvania leads, shows a return to normal business conditions. It might be said that a return to boom times is indicated, for iron and steel men in Philadelphia and in industrial centers throughout the State confidently assert that business is shaking off the shackles of depression. The men are being blown in, idle men are obtaining work and new orders—scarce indeed prior to November 3—are being received in satisfactory volume. Philadelphia iron and steel men attribute the new prosperity to a variety of causes, chief among them the reopening of the United States steel mills at Gary, Ind., and the resumption in full of the Kokomo Steel and Wire Company plant; the recent victory of the Republican party and the general feeling of confidence that is manifesting itself throughout the nation.

"Tango" at Colonial Next Friday Evening

Professor Sam Alles and Anna M. Smith, dancing instructors, of Atlantic City, but who are well-known figures at the local dance halls, are going on the vaudeville stage. They have been in Harrisburg for several weeks now and in that time have given special dancing exhibitions at about every dancing hall in town. So much favorable comment has been going the rounds over their expert dancing, especially on the late dance crazes, that Manager Hopkins has induced them to give a public exhibition at the Colonial Theater for one night only. Friday night will be "tango night" at the Colonial. Along with the regular vaudeville performance these dancing artists will first give an exhibition of some of the latest dances as they should be danced. They will then invite all the dancers in the audience upon the stage to indulge in a dancing contest. Professor Alles and his dancing partner will conduct the contest and decide the winners.

Horse Trots Home When Driver Goes on a Jag

"Here comes Bill with a driver," called a Lemoyne resident this morning when a horse and wagon turned into a road leading to a Lemoyne stable. There was no person in the wagon. "Guess John must be drunk again," remarked a bystander. That is just what happened. John, on his way home from market to-day, fell from his wagon while crossing the river bridge. Bill kept on going. "John" was brought to the police station to sleep off the jag.

RELIGION IN FRANCE IS BEING REVIVED Abbe's Faith and Belief Drew Great Crowd to His Shell-Torn Church Verneuil, Nov. 18 (correspondence of the Associated Press).—"It matters not!" cried the old abbe, crossing himself before the gaping hole in the front of the parish church at Verneuil. "God is eternal and by His grace we shall survive." The six-inch shell that went through the hole had carried the door with it and blown out part of the side wall. A smaller hole in the clock tower marked where a three-inch projectile had cut through, and the dial lay shattered at Abbe Schmidt's feet. Another shot had torn from its hinges the old church bell, which in its fall had crashed through the font and obstructed the entry. Another shot had made a great opening in the roof and the shell exploding inside had demolished the altar and the reliquary lay buried beneath a heap of stone, mortar and splinters. But the four walls remained erect and the steeple seemed to hold its pointed head up with the same dignified fortitude with which the venerable abbe braved the iron hand of the destroyer. Five days before the Germans had made a short forced halt around Verneuil, and when they passed through it was to seek shelter for a great number of victims of the French artillery which had halted in its retreat to check the pursuers. The vicar of the parish was among the 20,000 priests with the French army, whose line already extended far to the south. Most of the inhabitants of the parish had fled or sought refuge, and the Abbe Schmidt was nearly alone to aid the German surgeons and nurses to take care of these grievously torn soldiers, most of whom lay upon bundles of straw in the church itself. For three days, night and day, he cared for the enemy's wounded with the same devotion as if they were of his own country. Then, in the frantic hurry of the retreat before the allies, he endeavored, as far as possible, to ease the pain caused by their transport into all sorts of improvised ambulances. The last of the wounded had scarcely quit the town when the booming of cannon was heard from two directions almost simultaneously, and from the German lines the shells began to fall into the little village. When the French came through the church was

THE TERRIBLE FURIES OF WAR Europe to-day is a colossal, blood-soaked battlefield—a scene of universal carnage and waste. The flowers of Europe's manhood is being mowed down by awful engines of destruction. Whole regiments will be left decimated and bloody. Tens of thousands of unmarked graves will shelter the corpses of husbands and fathers, sons and brothers, whose smiles and affection and support will never be known again. In every hamlet and town homes will be shattered and left desolate, with widows and wandering orphans weeping by their bereaved firesides. These are the consequences of such a war as is now sweeping Europe like a flame of delirium—a war unprecedented in the ages of man. Is it by accident? Is it the whim of a tyrant? Has it a logical cause? Will men and nations lose or gain by it? "The Story of Europe and the Nations at War" tells the whole story.
