

STOUGH CAMPAIGN WILL COST $19,000

Closed "Strategy" Meeting Held by Managers and Evangelist at Market Square Church

SESSION LASTS FOUR HOURS

Ministers Unload "Things on Their Minds"; Plan Union Thanks Service

Dr. Henry W. Stough, the evangelist, this morning conferred with the executive committee of the campaign and the co-operating ministerium at a special session in the Market Square Presbyterian Church.

Just what the meeting was for and what measures were discussed could not be definitely learned, as newspaper men were barred from the session.

It is understood, however, that ways and means were discussed toward creating greater interest and increased activity among the campaign workers throughout the city, as the results thus far have not been quite as encouraging as expected, according to the campaign managers.

The budget was discussed during the meeting and a great union Thanksgiving service at the tabernacle was considered. Following the meeting a committee composed of the Rev. E. E. Curtis, secretary, the Rev. W. N. Yates, president, and the Rev. E. J. Cartwright, associate to Dr. Stough, met the press representatives.

Expenses to Be $19,000 The only facts given for publication are that the expenses of the campaign will amount to about $19,000 and that there will be union Thanksgiving Day services at the tabernacle for the co-operating churches at 2:30 o'clock, November 26.

The expenses for the campaign are the largest in any city that Dr. Stough has visited. The reason for this is that the tabernacle in this city at State and Cowden streets is the best and the second largest that has ever been built in the country.

The cost of erecting the tabernacle alone was announced by E. Z. Wallower, chairman of the finance committee, as $11,378.

The session was called at 10:15 o'clock this morning and did not adjourn until shortly before 1. Dr. Cartwright said that the meeting was called to decide the question of union evangelistic and Thanksgiving Day services. He also said that each minister that came was supposed to unload "anything that was on his mind" and open the subject for discussion.

Mr. Cartwright says the session was a "strategy" meeting.

After almost three hours of it the ministers and executive committee left and Dr. Cartwright said that he thinks that all of them went away without any antagonistic feeling toward each other and that the ministers are pleased with the work that is being done.

Ten Couples Reunited Ten married couples were among the ninety-odd trailblitters who responded to Dr. Stough's call of "Who-soever Will Come," at the tabernacle last night. Each pair stood up together as the evangelist gave his congratulations for reunited Christian love, and declared their promise to establish family altars and work sincerely for the "harvest of the Lord" that is just beginning in Harrisburg.

Dr. Stough said of them, "It is like falling in love again for these couples to me together. I don't believe married people know the joy of each other properly until they are united in Christ."

Some of the Trailers Other notables among the confessor who hit the sawdust trail last night were W. S. Roebuck, the builder of the tabernacle, and chairman of the committee in charge; William Ziegler, subquarterback of the Central high school football team; A. W. Holman and wife, manager of the Douthett and Company store.

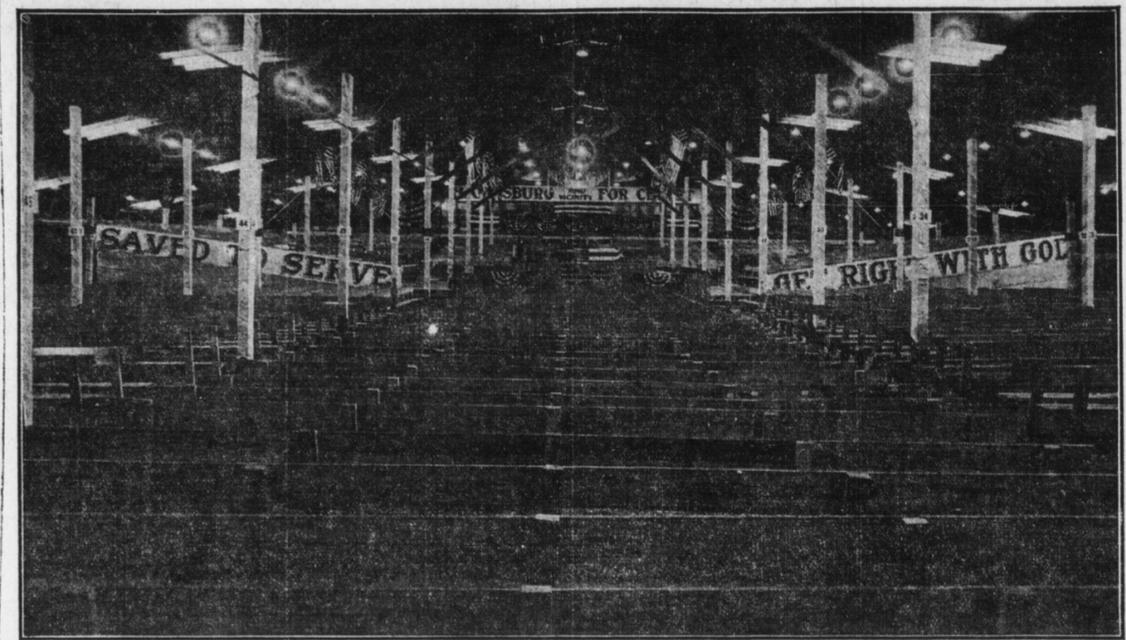

Elderly men in fine clothes and boys in rough blue shirts sat side by side, and tender girls cuddled close to stout matrons as the moneyers' benches as Dr. Stough rushed up and down his platform in a frenzy of enthusiasm to win souls, with the perspiration streaming down his cheeks, his collar wilted and his voice choked with emotion.

The converts confessed aloud to Dr. Stough as he grasped each by the hand. They told of their willingness to endure persecution, to surrender their lives and give up everything to the cause of Christ, and to exert every effort to bring others to the front.

HOW THE BIG STOUGH TABERNACLE LOOKS BEFORE THE CROWDS BEGIN POURING IN

The etching shows an interior view of the Stough tabernacle looking toward the platform and choir loft. The building is so large that the camera was unable to get more than a part of the vast expanse into the view. The building seats 8,000 easily and can be jammed into the seats and choir loft.

RECKLESS DRIVING CAUSES BAD SPILL

Iron Company Head Chases Offending Driver to Get Number, but He Escapes

Reckless driving charged against Joseph Alberts, who runs a Packard auto for hire, came nearly causing a bad accident on the Harrisburg bridge about 8:30 o'clock last night. The Packard car hit a runaway buggy belonging to Harry and Frank Wingard who resides in Woodbine street, smashing the one side of the buggy and throwing the occupants out. Alberts this afternoon was ordered by Mayor John K. Royal to pay a fine of fifteen dollars for reckless driving, and to pay for damages to the buggy.

Robert H. Irons, general superintendent of the Central Iron and Steel Company, who with Mrs. Irons were enroute to Camp Hill in their car, also had a narrow escape through the reckless driving of the man in charge of the Packard car. Mr. Irons gave chase in order to learn the number of the Packard car, but fearing that the young men in the runaway had been injured, Mr. Irons returned to the bridge, and the Packard car got away.

According to testimony given at the police station this afternoon the driver of the Packard car, drove at a breakneck speed over the bridge, blowing his horn loudly and giving little heed to other cars on the bridge. The Irons car barely scraped being hit and the Packard went into the runaway buggy, throwing the occupants out.

Later a hub belonging to a Packard car was picked up on the bridge and the police started in search of a Packard car heading a hub. A car was found in front of the Hershey House with one gone. The driver was found to be Alberts.

Dillsburg Liveryman Receives Team Stolen by "Apple Buyer"

P. A. Fries, the alleged bogus apple buyer and bad checkman, is still at large. Liveryman R. E. Swartz, of Dillsburg, has recovered his horse and buggy, however. He got the team at Churchtown last night, where Fries left it, saying he would return. It is the belief that Fries took the team to make good his escape. He reached Churchtown Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, and left on trolley at 10:30 o'clock for Carlisle. Before his departure Fries told the liveryman that he was buying up apples and would return Friday.

Cronin was found dead in a ravine in the outskirts of the city yesterday after his fiancée, Miss Amelia Schultz, who was to have been married to him had waited in vain for several hours with the rest of the wedding party at St. Joseph's Church. Cronin was frozen to death while he lay unconscious, after falling into the ravine.

BLIZZARD MAY HIT PENNA. TOMORROW

All Depends on What Storm Now Over Lakes and Another Along Coast Chance to Do

An old-fashioned blizzard may hit Harrisburg before another twenty-four hours passes. The blizzard is, of course, just a possibility, according to E. R. Demain, weather forecaster—but then the possibility cannot be denied.

If a storm traveling eastward now centrally located over the lakes arrives here before another storm moving northward along the coast, Harrisburg will have to use the snow shovel. Zero weather was recorded early this morning in Des Moines, Iowa, while Duluth, Minn., records a minus four degree temperature. The cold weather has gripped the whole country. As far south as Florida eight degrees within freezing temperature was reported this morning.

It is possible that extremely cold weather will prevail over the entire eastern section in a few days.

Son of Elliott-Fisher Export Manager Killed in Battle of the Aisne

William Janssens, 19-year-old son of Lawrence C. Janssens, of Perdux, export manager of the Elliott-Fisher Typewriter Company, was killed in the battle of the Aisne. Harry, aged 21, another son, was injured; Lawrence, Jr., the third son, escaped uninjured. The brothers were in the French army as noncommissioned officers. They enlisted in the same engineering company in Paris. The news has just been received by Mr. Janssens here. When the company entered the battle it was composed of 1,200 men. After the battle 200 were left.

14 Buildings Destroyed by Fire at Girardville Early This Morning

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 19.—Fourteen buildings used as business places and residences combined, were destroyed by fire in the business district of Girardville, early this morning. The loss is $100,000. The water supply gave out and water was pumped from a sulphur creek running through the town. A building was razed by dynamite to check the spread of the fire but this was unavailing. A large brick building finally checked the onrush of the flames. One fireman was killed and another was injured.

255,776 PRESBYTERIANS ARE NOW ON "SUSPENDED ROLL" Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—The Presbyterian Church has placed more than a quarter of a million members on the "suspended roll" within five years. They have lapsed, dropped out, moved away from former homes and never been heard of again. As the Rev. Dr. William P. Fulton expresses it, they "slipped back into the world; fell away; were relegated to the ecclesiastical scrap heap."

Presbyterian records show that in 1910 there were 48,956 on the "suspended roll." In 1911 the total was 54,142; in 1912, 51,266; in 1913, 50,927; and in 1914, 50,484. The grand total, 255,776, is equal to about one-sixth of the total Presbyterian membership in the United States, which was 1,368,150 in 1913, according to the Christian Advocate census estimate.

U. S. INVESTIGATING ATTACK ON LAUNCH

President Wilson Is Determined to Keep This Country at Peace

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—Although the Navy Department continued every effort to get a further report to furnish the missing links in the chain of incidents connected with the firing upon the cruiser Tennessee's launch by the Turkish forts at Smyrna, nothing had been heard early to-day from Captain Decker or from Ambassador Morgenthau.

As nearly a week was taken in getting the last message through to the State Department from Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople, information is expected from him before Captain Decker is heard from. Yesterday he got through his first report of the incident within a few hours. Secretary Daniels said to-day he would not state whether the North Carolina and Tennessee would remain in Turkish waters, until all of the facts were known concerning the firing at Smyrna. Some naval officers have urged that the cruisers be withdrawn.

Officials believed, however, that missionary interests for which the cruisers were dispatched to Turkish waters, might justify the vessels be retained as a moral force making for the protection.

Auditors Look For 33 Cents Between Order Book and the Vouchers

Failure to locate 33 cents somewhere between the order books and the vouchers of the Poor Board in 1913 delayed the completion of the audit for 1913. So instead of submitting their work complete to the county commissioners to-morrow, the county auditors may not be able to get through with it before next Wednesday's session.

The difference of voucher numbers on the books and on the vouchers issued. In recording the numbers of the vouchers issued from the Poor Directors' office, a number here and there may have been inadvertently skipped, it is believed, while the totals of the sums issued by vouchers and according to the order books were balanced properly.

County Controller H. W. Gough and his assistant, Fred Holtzman, worked for two days assisting the auditors to find the 33 cents. A similar mistake in the dog license book also kept the auditors guessing.

FIRE DESTROYS PORTION OF MILLHEIM BUSINESS BLOCK Bellefonte, Pa., Nov. 19.—A big part of the business section of the borough of Millheim was destroyed by a fire to-day, the second time within a few years. The loss is estimated at from $30,000 to $40,000, partially covered by insurance. The post office was among the buildings burned.

RECEPTION FOR RED CROSS Washington, Nov. 19.—Hospitality that marked the reception of Red Cross units delegated to Germany and Austria-Hungary upon their arrival in Breslau, was described to-day in a report from Consul Seltzer to the State Department. A luncheon in their honor was given, the report stated, and so great was the crowd that gathered outside the hotel that the police had to make way for the automobiles which carried the units for Austria to the railway station.

WELFARE CONFERENCE WILL CLOSE TODAY

Dixon Discusses Housing; Compensation and Safety Legislation Considered

Pennsylvania's second annual industrial welfare and efficiency conference, which has stimulated interest in "safety first" throughout the whole state and especially in this city, will close to-day at the Capitol. This morning compensation acts were discussed in a big general session and during the morning numerous sectional meetings were held at which various phases of safety work were taken up and men and women of acknowledged prominence in various lines gave their views.

One of the most notable addresses of the conference was that of Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, State Commissioner of Health, who dealt with the vital proposition of housing in the meeting of the section on hygiene. The commissioner has been organizing a state bureau to take charge of housing conditions and has been studying the problem at close range for two years.

In the safety section C. L. Close, head of the safety bureau of the United States Steel Corporation, presided at a meeting at which many leaders in industry presented addresses on safety and sanitation, including blast furnaces, electrical apparatus and work, boiler construction and operation, explosives and other matters were presented. Miss Alice Hamilton, of the government bureau of statistics, presided at the hygiene section, at which lead poisoning, brass foundry precautions and similar matters were

German Attack Proves Predominant Feature of Day's News in London

London, Nov. 19, 12:17 P. M.—The unexpected blow delivered on the Russian center by General Von Hindenburg with the German army which had retreated from before Warsaw was the predominant feature of the news reaching London to-day, from the eastern arena of war.

No change of importance has been recorded for some days past in the eastern arena where Flanders is still the scene of heavy fighting. In spite of adverse weather conditions and flooded trenches the Germans appear to be holding their positions from which, at intervals, they launch the attacks for which territory from the Belgian coast to Arras has become famous.

The allied warships are still off the coast, hurling shells inland when opportunity offers. The Belgian army remains in the region where the floods have been the worst and some dispatches says that in certain places they have been fighting from small boats.

SUDDEN GERMAN ATTACK RESULTS IN VICTORY FOR EMPEROR WILLIAM'S ARMY

Russian Military Officials Admit Reverse in Russian Poland; Petrograd Announces, However, That Her Troops Are Steadily Pouring Into East Prussia; Paris Reports Hopes of Allies Are Again Rising as They Believe the Germans Are Fast Weakening; Cannonading Reported Off Swedish Coast

Violent fighting has been resumed within a two-hour motor ride of the gates of Paris. At Tracey-le-Val, where the main battle line from the north swings to the eastward at the point nearest Paris, a German advance led to a violent encounter. The Germans attempted to recapture the town, won by the allies a few days ago, but, according to the French War Office statement to-day, they were repulsed with heavy losses.

In Flanders the artillery duel, described during the last few days as of furious intensity, has become still more violent on the part of the Germans at least, but here, as elsewhere, the opposing forces are holding fast to their main positions.

An official German communication states that heavy fighting has been resumed in the Argonne forest, around which some of the most severe encounters of the war have raged from time to time during the last two months. A heavy loss, it is said, was inflicted on the enemy. In a battle between two squadrons of aeroplanes, it is said, one of the German pilots and one of the Germans were lost.

Turkey's explanation of her act in firing on the American flag at Smyrna has not been submitted nor has the Navy Department at Washington received a detailed report from Captain Decker of the cruiser Tennessee, one of whose launches was under fire. The Washington authorities were confident, however, that satisfactory amendments would be made by Turkey and that no complications would result.

Austria Issues Call Austria is calling for more soldiers. The older men of the landsturm of 1870 and 1890 have been summoned to the colors. Austria apparently has the upper hand in her war with Serbia. Reports from Vienna state that the pursuit of the enemy is being carried further.

and that the Serbian retreat at places is attended with heavy losses. Unofficial German advices stated that Russia had sent troops to assist the Rumanians but the authenticity of this report was in doubt since such a movement of forces would involve a long sea voyage around the continent of Europe or the invasion of Bulgaria or Rumania, neutral countries.

Germany's new attack on the Russian army in the center of the eastern battle line stood out conspicuously to-day as of chief immediate importance in the European war. The sudden assault of the Germans in Russian Poland, from which territory they were described recently as being driven in disorder, has lent a new aspect to this campaign, which for Germany is not less important than the conflict in France and Belgium.

Russian military officials admit a reverse in this territory and Berlin is celebrating a great victory, but the meagerness of authentic information from the front makes it impossible to determine the extent or importance of the German successes. Meanwhile Russia is proceeding with her other two adventures in her three-fold campaign. Her troops to the north, Petrograd announces, are penetrating steadily into East Prussia, while to the south they are closing in on Cracow,
