WELFARE CONFERENCE WILL CLOSE TODAY

It has not been possible during my term to persuade legislators, your representatives, to enact such a law. Further on after summarizing objections voiced he said, "I believe and firmly believe that there should be a law that will give to the family a compensation sufficient to provide for the maintenance of a family as though the bread winner were living."

helping and all of that, if they can't point us how and what to do and how to do it."

Wheaton's Good Idea

Louis Post, chief of the Bureau of Immigration, Department of Labor, Washington, spoke on the beneficial effects of mediation late in the afternoon, giving several concrete cases to illustrate his point, and the creation of a State bureau of employment was urged by H. H. Wheaton, supervisory investigator of Immigration for the State Department of Labor and Industry. He argued that such a bureau is needed to regulate the industrial life of the laborers not only that they can secure employment but that an inter-State exchange can be made in times when labor is scarce in one part of the country and plentiful in another. Fifteen to twenty States now have similar bureaus, he said.

need for additional legislation. A. R. Jerling, representing the street railway employees of Pittsburgh, advocated the carrying out of the requirements affecting only motor driven vehicles at present, in reference to bearing lights after sunset. He said that all vehicles should be equipped with lights after dark.

School Children to Be Taught Safety Every Month by City Experts

Plans are now tentatively completed by the Harrisburg Safety Council to have a permanent organization in the public schools to teach the children the principles of safety. The Safety Council will take the matter up with the School Board in the near future with a view to having safety lectures and educational exhibits in the various buildings periodically. The children will be taught the rules of safety with regard to street cars, fire, crossings and so on by competent lecturers who will be members of the educational committee without flues and other things in cellar barber shops.

Exhibitors to Be Guests of Engineers' Club Tonight

Exhibitors who have had a busy week at the welfare and efficiency exhibition this week will be guests of the Engineers' Society of Pennsylvania tonight. Promptly at 10 o'clock the of the council. On this committee will be members of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce, the Civic Club, representatives of the Harrisburg Railway Company, Motor Club of Harrisburg and other organizations of similar nature.

Light Exhibit

Of all the exhibits and demonstrations that attract big crowds at the Pennsylvania Welfare and Efficiency Exhibit in Chestnut Street Auditorium none is interesting more people than the electric light and electrical appliance display of the Harrisburg Light and Power Company. The method of lighting the company's booth is unique in that illumination is furnished by every type of incandescent from a wee 2-candlepower bulb to a great 1,000-watt new type "C" high efficiency light. Next to the illumination the electrical appliance demonstrations attract the most attention. Most any household duty from ironing and washing to toasting bread and boiling coffee is represented and the methods whereby these little trials and tribulations of the housewife may be made easier and more effective via electricity are demonstrated in practical ways.
