AMUSEMENTS
MAJESTIC
Friday, afternoon and evening—"Billy, the Kid."
Saturday, afternoon and evening—"Damon and Pythias."
ORPHEUM
Every afternoon and evening—High-Class Vaudeville.
COLONIAL
Every afternoon and evening—Vaudeville and Pictures.
"BILLY, THE KID"
Few of the younger leading men of the present day have a larger following than his Berkeley Haswell. The present season Mr. Haswell is to appear in the always popular, "Billy, the Kid." While the play is melodramatic and the situations exceedingly strong, the story is well written and full of interest. It follows the career of a young man who has been led into evil ways by his own father, but who, realizing that such ways are not the real ones, and through the force of the great love he bears a young woman who has been his childhood's playmate, he eventually leaves that part of the country and comes East to live and lead a new life. The company is reported to be one of exceptional strength. "Billy, the Kid," with Mr. Haswell as the hero, is to come to the Majestic, Friday, matinee and night.—Advertisement.

"DAMON AND PYTHIAS"
"Damon and Pythias," which comes to the Majestic, Saturday, matinee and night, have for ages stood out in a firm and heroic posing as the example of the greatest friendship the world has ever known. The story of the meeting of these noblemen, the first spark and growing of their friendship into an eternal bond, is one of the most human stories ever spread upon the history of mankind. It appealed to the Universal Company and as a result their new triumph and dramatic spectacle of this wonderful story, as told in six parts of thrilling grandeur and stirring reality—the most exciting example of the art of the photoplay producer. No production in years has been made on so great a scale or with such a thorough research for accurate stage investiture of this before Christ. This big spectacle has been endorsed by the Knights of Pythias.—Advertisement.

COLONIAL
To resort to the vernacular, "class" is the word that is the keynote of the Colonial's bill for the first half of the week. No one of the acts has a very large company, but the three or four, and sometimes two players, that are in the respective acts, are all clever and decidedly entertaining. Marjorie Dalton and company present a splendid comedy playlet called "A Tonic for Temper," that is good enough for any "big time" bill; Ross and Ashton, song and patter comedians, are certainly funny company and their bright patter is sure-fire; the Three Melvins add thrills aplenty with their high class gymnastic turn, and Thurston and Young, two dainty and clever girls, appear in a refined singing turn, "Happy Hooligan," a screaming comedy film in two parts, is the leading attraction in the moving picture program.—Advertisement.

PALACE TODAY, "THE TREASURE TRAIN"
One dark night John Armstrong, a tramp, crawled into a wayside railroad station to seek warmth. Five years later John Armstrong was the superintendent of that same railroad. Armstrong loved the life of a tramp but the reception he received that night in the dingy little stationhouse was the beginning of the series of events which changed the whole tenor of his career. Of course, the girl came into the story later and played a mighty big part in the transition. It was two masked eyes squinting along the barrel of a glistening revolver, directed at Armstrong's forehead. Armstrong submitted to the thing, the same as the stationmaster had done, and looked on while the thugs, plundered the place.

Then the thieves planned to wreck a train with passengers and gold aboard. Armstrong, however, could not look on quietly and see this done. That is where the real story commenced.
"The Treasure Train" features King Haggott in a role that fits him to perfection—one that was specially written for him by George Edward Hall, author of the story. King is supported by Miss Arline Pretty, who, as Nell Bythe, is both fascinating and clever.—Advertisement.
PHOTOPLAY TODAY
Donald Atwater, society man, finds his affections reciprocated by Alicia De-marest. At the naval Training Station Donald introduces Alicia to Lieutenant Ardling and Ensign Herford. In contrasting her society sweetheart with the energetic, ambitious naval officers Alicia realizes that Donald is simply wasting his opportunities and wrecking his future. In order to rouse his spirit she openly shows a preference for the naval men, and the game culminates at a battleship dance, to which Donald has not been invited. The rest of the interesting story is told in "The Making of Him," a Lubin two-reel film. At The Photoplay to-day.—Advertisement.

FUNERAL OF WM. N. MILLER
Well-Known Businessman Will Be Buried at Shiremanstown Shiremanstown, Pa., Dec. 8.—William N. Miller, senior member of the well-known grain firm of J. R. Miller's Sons, of Shiremanstown and New Kingston, died at his residence in Shiremanstown Sunday night at the age of 53 years. Mr. Miller was born in Berks county, but for many years had been a resident of Shiremanstown. He was an active member of St. John's Lutheran Church, of this place, and for many years connected with the deaconate. He was also connected with the various Masonic organizations, being a member of Eureka Lodge, No. 395, of Mechanicsburg, as well as Irene Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Shiremanstown; was held in high esteem by his acquaintances and enjoyed a wide circle of friends. He is survived by his wife and one son, Jacob H. Miller, and a brother, J. Morris Miller. Private funeral services will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. H. K. Lantz, with burial in St. John's Cemetery.

THRESHING RECORD MADE
Annville, Pa., Dec. 8.—On the farm of Simon Behm, in South Annville township, the threshing outfit of Morris Long threshed 3,000 bushels of wheat and 20 tons of straw in twenty hours. This is a record for Lebanon county.
CAMPAIGN TO CONTINUE
Dillsburg, Pa., Dec. 8.—On account of the interest shown, the evangelistic campaign conducted by the Rev. S. B. Goff, of Philadelphia, and his soloist, Professor Myers, in the Methodist Church, scheduled to close last night, will continue until Wednesday night, inclusive.
