

WOMEN AND THEIR INTERESTS

Why My Husband Left Me

By DOROTHY DIX.

"I lost my husband," said the eighth woman, "because I was over-sensitive."

"In poems and novels the woman who is all quivering sensibilities, and who shrinks under a touch as does the mimosa, is an alluring and romantic figure, but, believe me, she belongs in a book."

"Now I am the great original human sensitive plant. As a child I was a cry-baby. As a girl I was a shy, morbid creature, distrustful of myself, always imagining that I was being passed over, and fancying elights in every careless word and look."

"I married a man who was—just a man. He was a fine fellow in every way, but it was a purely masculine way. He was wholesome, and practical, and commonsensical, and the least subtle and psychic person that I have ever known."

"Why he picked me out for a wife I do not know. Perhaps women of the shy and retiring violet type appeal to men of his kind. Perhaps it was my very difference from him that attracted him before marriage as it bored him afterwards."

"My accursed sensitiveness also killed all confidence between my husband and myself. We could never discuss the most trivial affair without my getting my feelings hurt. If he said that we could not afford this or that, I would immediately become furiously angry because I imagined that he intended a covert criticism of the way I managed the household."

"After a while my husband grew tired of trying to handle me with kid gloves, and sidestepping my super-sensitive feelings. Instead of inviting me to weep on the second button of his waistcoat when I burst into tears at nothing, he slammed the door behind him and told me not to act like a fool. And that was the end. I lost him through coddling my sensibilities instead of trying to act like a rational human being."

"Such scenes were a frequent occurrence in our home, and while they gratified my morbid vanity, for that is all that sensitiveness is, they gradually killed my husband's affection for me. They made love a duty, and obligation, instead of a gift. They made him look for me, and when I was contract to deliver a kiss every morning as long as he lived, or else pay for the lack of it with a scene, and when a woman forces that issue, she has lost out."

"And so it went. I made any comradeship between us impossible, for how can you chum with a woman who goes about with a chip on her shoulder always looking for offense, always suspicious of the worst, and with whom any frank conversation is absolutely impossible?"

"I used to be sorry for myself. I now pity my poor husband. Living with me must have been as nerve-racking as proceeding to try to walk on eggs, for my feelings were spread out all over the place, and to keep from treading on them required more than mortal skill and agility."

"My husband was a busy man, hard worked and full of cares, and having assured me a million times that he loved me, and assumed my support for life to prove it, he naturally supposed that the question was settled and that he might go about his other affairs in peace. But my sensitiveness would not brook this."

"If a day passed that he did not swear that he worshipped me I imagined myself neglected. If he failed to kiss me when he was hurried off in the morning I saw in that an unmistakable indication that he had wearied of me and had fallen in love with some other woman, and by night I had worked myself up into such a state of hysterical jealousy that it took hours of persuasion and asseveration of his undying affection to calm me."

"I married a man who was—just a man. He was a fine fellow in every way, but it was a purely masculine way. He was wholesome, and practical, and commonsensical, and the least subtle and psychic person that I have ever known."

RED PIMPLES ON LITTLE BOY'S FACE

Dry and Left Face Scaly. Could not Sleep Till Tired Out. Used Two Cakes Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. Child Entirely Well.

2113 Carter St., Wilmington, Del.—"My little boy of seven years was broken out with rash on the left side of his face. It came in red pimples. They were dry and left his face scaly. At times he would dig his face. Rest he couldn't get till just so tired out he would fall asleep."

"I used different drugs and salves and found they did no good. Nothing did any good. Finally I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I washed his face with warm water and the Soap and applied the Ointment. I bought two cakes of Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment and he is entirely well. Nothing but Cuticura Soap and Ointment did it." (Signed) Mrs. Lillie M. Lyons, October 27, 1914.

It is better to prevent than to heal. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are prophylactics as well as emollients. Sample Each Free by Mail With 32-p. Skin Book on request. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T. Boston." Sold throughout the world.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to flush kidneys if bladder bothers you

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation. At the moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease. A SMART WINTER COAT

A New Model that can be Made to take Two Distinctly Different Forms.

By MAY MANTON

8438 Double-Breasted Coat, 34 to 44 bust.

It is not often that one pattern can be made to serve two entirely different ends but here is a coat that can be made with a tunic to wear over a plain skirt or without the tunic to wear over a fancy skirt and the difference is so complete that it scarcely would be recognized as fundamentally the same. The short double-breasted coat is much liked for the tunic skirts and for the draped skirts that still keep their place and the coat with the open tunic is one of the newest of the sort. The model while it includes all the latest features, is eminently a simple one, for the seams to the shoulders mean easy fit. The tunic when used is joined to the lower edge and the model will be found an excellent one for all the fashionable serges, for the broadcloth that is so much liked, as well as for gabardine, wool velours and the like.

For the medium size, the coat with tunic will require 6 yds. of material 27, 3/4 yds. 36, 3/4 yds. 44, 3 yds. 50 in. wide, with 3/8 yd. of velvet for the collar; the coat without tunic 3 1/2 yds. 27, 2 3/4 yds. 36, 1 3/8 yds. 44, 1 3/4 yds. 50. The pattern 8438 is cut in sizes from 34 to 44 inches bust measure. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents.

By Associated Press. Rome, via Paris, Jan. 6, 11.55 a. m.—The death of the French battlefield of Lieutenant Bruno Garibaldi has caused a revival of public sentiment throughout Italy in favor of war, this feeling being augmented by the belief that the Italian military preparations have now been perfected. About 1,000,000 men will be under arms within the present month, and another million men are being formed into a reserve ready to be called out at a moment's notice.

POLICIES EXCLUDE WAR RISK

By Associated Press. Paris, Dec. 31 (correspondent of the Associated Press).—One of the American life insurance companies has paid out about $400,000 on policies held by soldiers who were killed in the war. The last policies issued which cover the war risk were dated July 25. After that date American policies were so modified as to exclude all risks connected with the war. A captain of artillery who paid his first premium on a $5,000 policy on July 25 was killed in one of the early engagements.
