How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Carried Her Safely Through Change of Life.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—"At the Change of Life the doctor said I would have to give up my work and take my bed for some time as there was no help for me but to lie still. I took Lydia E. Many people have no faith in patent medicines but I know this is good."—Mrs. E. J. RICKETS, 354 8th Avenue, West, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

TRY TO HAVE THAW ADJUDGED 'SAFE'

No Attempt to Obtain His Release on Bail; Remanded Back to Tombs

By Associated Press

New York, Jan. 25.—A motion to have Harry K. Thaw sent to Bellevue Hospital so that it might be determined there whether he were sane, was made to-day by Thaw's attorneys at his arraignment in the Supreme Court here on a charge of conspiring with others in effecting his escape from the Matteawan asylum on August 19, 1913.

No attempt was made to obtain Thaw's release on bail. He was remanded back to Tombs prison to remain there till Justice Davis should rule on the motion to-day. Thaw was selected for Thaw's pleading to the indictment.

Justice Davis announced later that Thaw would be arraigned next Wednesday. The justice will, on that date, decide the motion to have Thaw sent to Bellevue.

Robert H. Thomas, 3d, of Mechanicsburg, Was on Burned Baltimore Vessel

Special to The Telegraph

Mechanicsburg, Pa., Jan. 25.—After a thrilling experience on the steamship Maryland of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company, which burned to the water's edge near Baltimore Light, at the mouth of the Chesapeake river, on Friday morning, Robert H. Thomas, 3d, returned safely to his home in this place. He was on the vessel, returning from a business trip to the Eastern Shore, and witnessed sights of bravery and narrow escapes from the icy waters. Mr. Thomas, who has had considerable newspaper experience and who is the editor of the Daily Telegraph, wrote up the story for the Associated Press. He was one of the very last persons to leave the burning boat and also materially aided in the work of calming the passengers. The boat in which he left the vessel assisted in the search for passengers who might have been in the water, but finding none, proceeded to shore, where a fire was built around which the scantily clad people gathered until rescued by other steamers and conveyed to Baltimore.

CUNNINGHAM DOES NOT WANT HIS JOB

Place as Service Commissioner or as Counsel to That Body Not Sought

Jesse E. B. Cunningham, Deputy Attorney General, returned to the capital that he would not accept appointment either as a member of the Public Service Commission or as counsel of the commission with which his name had been discussed. "To accept either would mean I would have to give up private practice, which I am not willing to do, I am not an applicant for either position," he said.

Mr. Cunningham was prominently mentioned for Attorney General and then his name figured in gossip in connection with other places. It is believed that he will remain as Deputy Attorney General if he desires. Mr. Cunningham is engaged in practice and desires to retain it.

In connection with the gossip about counsel for the Public Service Commission, which appointment belongs to the Attorney General as law officer of the commission, the name of S. I. Spuyker, chairman of the Huntingdon county Republican committee, is being used. It is believed that William N. Trinkle, counsel for former Deputy Attorney General under John C. Bell, will retire.

Cunningham, Deputy Attorney General, returned to the capital that he would not accept appointment either as a member of the Public Service Commission or as counsel of the commission with which his name had been discussed. ELEVEN HORSES TO QUIT CITY SERVICE

Purchase of Three New Motor Tractors and Two Chemicals Means Retirement

Eleven veteran fire horses, including the famous trio that race in the spectacular "three way" of the Mount Vernon's 85-foot ladder truck, are to be retired from the city's service within a few weeks by the provisions of an ordinance Commissioner M. Harvey Taylor will offer in City Council to-morrow.

The measure will authorize the advertising for bids for three motor tractors and two chemical combinations and will be passed finally at the meeting to-morrow one week. Bids will be opened February 9 or 16, depending upon whether or not there is any hitch in the passage of the ordinance through Council.

The purchase of the equipment will require the remainder of the $17,500 of the $25,000 fire apparatus item provided for by the 1913 loan. Commissioner Taylor spent more than $7,000 for chemical combinations last year.

Commissioner Taylor to-day announced the disposition of the new apparatus as follows:

Tractors for the Friendship, Hope and Mount Vernon companies and combination chemicals for the Washington and Hope companies.

This means that two horses now in the service of the Friendship, four of the Hope, three of the Mount Vernon and two of the Washington will be sold at auction.
