20 GALLONS OF WINE EMPTIED INTO GUTTER

Columbia Man Converted at Revival Smashes Jugs Containing His Stock of Liquor

Special to The Telegraph
Columbia, Pa., Jan. 28.—Several hundred citizens witnessed the most unusual scene ever enacted within the limits of the borough, when shortly after noon Tuesday jugs containing nearly twenty gallons of wine, were smashed in the street and the contents emptied into the gutters. This wine belonged to Lewis Ibaugh, who recently experienced conversion in the revival meeting now in progress in the First Methodist Church. Ibaugh stated that after his conversion he could no longer permit the wine to remain in his cellar, and he announced that there would be a public jug breaking, by which he would surely get away the wine and relieve the gnawings of his conscience, which he believed would not cease until he had in some such manner disposed of the wine. It was an exciting scene for the bystanders, and to add to the solemnity of the affair, the pastor of the church, the Rev. John C. Bieri, was invited to be present and give a suitable address. This was done as soon as the wine was poured out into the gutters, and a local photographer made pictures of the various scenes enacted in the ceremony.

KIDNEY TROUBLES PAINFUL AND ANNOYING

A short time ago I had what is termed inflammation of the bladder. At times I thought I would surely die. I tried the doctor, but he did not seem to hit my case. I did not get any relief from the doctor's treatment. Was advised to try Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root by a druggist. I took his advice and began taking Swamp-Root, and after using it a short time began to get better and continued using it until my trouble was gone. Swamp-Root cured me.

I gladly advise any person that is troubled as I was to try Swamp-Root, for it is a good medicine. You can use it with this if you wish in any way that will benefit others. My trade is that of a Painter. My age is 49.

Very truly yours,
J. H. JOHNSTON,
111 Waterdown, N. Y.

Personally appeared before me this 28th day of July, 1909, J. H. Johnston, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

What Thin Folks Should Do to Gain Weight

Physician's Advice For Thin, Underdeveloped Men and Women

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who have tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to life-long skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered restorative makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Sargol. Six strength-giving, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this peerless preparation, which is endorsed by eminent physicians and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A month's systematic use of Sargol should produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided. George A. Gorgas and other leading druggists supply Sargol, and say there is a large demand for it. While this new preparation has given splendid results as a nerve-tonic and vitalizer, it should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.—Advertisement.

4 Cans of Ashes Less

An institution in this city had been using a certain grade of buckwheat coal in its steam heating plant, and daily cans of ashes were taken from the furnace.

Then Kelley's Naticoke Buckwheat was tried with the result that only 6 cans of ashes had to be removed.

This demonstrates the superior heating efficiency of Kelley's Buckwheat — more heat and less ashes because it's all pure coal.

Evangelist Raps Women For Being More Interested in Societies Than Bible

Special to The Telegraph
Mechanicsburg, Pa., Jan. 28.—Everybody sang last evening at the tabernacle, for the music had a swing to it none could resist, and the vast building resounded with songs of praise. The director, Professor C. H. Hohgatz, is a real sunshine promoter, and the large choir just naturally responds to his interpretation of the very live songs. A special musical program was given last evening, which included a trombone solo by Professor Hohgatz, and a song, "De Bravers Big Horned" by the tabernacle octet, which brought rounds of applause from the audience. Great bunches of carnations were presented by the Wilcox Manufacturing Company plant, which was present in a body, to the evangelistic party. Large delegations from Shiremanstown and Churchtown were present. "The Value of a Song" was the theme of the evangelist and when he sent out the appeal at the close of his strong and convincing talk, without hesitation, a young man, followed by five other people, immediately responded.

The evangelist flung his criticism at the "women of little tin-horn literary societies, who think it is more profitable to study Shakespeare than the Bible."

To-night a delegation from the Evangelical Publishing House in Harrisburg, one from Lucknow, and Shepherds town will be present.

The American Disease

Neurasthenia may be called a distinctively American disease because the condition of the nervous strain that produces it is more prevalent here than in any other country. Overwork and worry, ambition, haste, the high tension at which business is conducted, all use up the nerve force and produce neurasthenia. For the disease is simply exhaustion and excessive irritability of the nerve centers.

A tendency to neurasthenia is inherited by many Americans whose ancestors had but a small stock of nervous energy to bequeath. Grief, excessive worry or disappointment in love, business or school work may cause neurasthenia.

The symptoms include a feeling of exhaustion upon rising in the morning, of disturbed sleep, headache, with a sense of weight and tightness about the head. The patient is irritable, difficult to please, and suffers from depression.

The treatment is to remove the cause if possible (as when overstudy is responsible) take absolute rest, spend ten hours in bed out of every twenty-four, eat as much nourishing food as possible and take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to restore the nerves. Send today for our free booklet on "Nervous Disorders." Address: Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.—Advertisement.
