EMIGRANT'S FRIEND VISITS HARRISBURG

"Uncle Joe" Nathanson Takes Three Carloads of Emigrants to Pittsburgh

Joseph Nathanson

"Uncle Joe" Nathanson, the Pennsylvania railroad veteran interpreter was visiting friends in Harrisburg yesterday. His visit to Harrisburg was to mingle with his friends. It is five months since this important official of the Pennsylvania railroad has been in Harrisburg. The emigrant business has been rather dull since the war started.

On Tuesday, Interpreter Nathanson went west with three carloads of emigrants. It was the first lot of foreigners handled by the Pennsylvania railroad since the opening of the European war. They were mostly of the peasant class, and came from parts of Europe not in the war zone.

In conversation with some friends the veteran interpreter said:

Dig War Trenches
 "Emigrants who formerly came to America to build trenches are now digging in the war zone. I have been busy looking after foreigners who were going back. At intervals there will be a rush of emigrants to the United States, but nothing like it has been in the past. If you belong to a country which is at war you never will get out of that country until the war is over."

Interpreter Nathanson would not talk on the war. He is the one employe whom the Pennsylvania railroad company will not retire on the age limit. He is too valuable to dispense with, and holds a life position.

Elect New Directors; Confirm Promotions

Vacancies caused by the death of N. Parker Shortridge, a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and S. B. Liggett, secretary of that company and the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, were filled by the directors of the companies at Philadelphia yesterday.

Phelan was elected director of the Pennsylvania Railroad company to succeed Mr. Shortridge, and S. H. Miller, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, was elected secretary.

In addition the following appointments were made: J. W. Orr, assistant controller, promoted to controller to succeed J. W. Renner, retired.

J. W. Roberts, superintendent of car service of the Vandalia railroad, promoted to general superintendent of passenger transportation to succeed Charles Watts, retired.

E. B. Young, chief clerk to the first vice-president, promoted to assistant secretary.

A. M. Marion, chief clerk to the general superintendent of freight transportation, promoted to the newly-created position of assistant to the general superintendent of freight transportation.

S. M. Rankin, chief clerk to the general superintendent of passenger transportation, promoted to the newly-created position of assistant to the general superintendent of passenger transportation.

P. R. R. Buys Bonds; Part of Financial Plan

Announcement was made yesterday that the Pennsylvania railroad had sold to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York $4,000,000 of consolidated mortgage bonds to bear interest at the rate of 4 per cent.

This closes the consolidated mortgage which is a continuing one, limited to $100,000,000 until some of the outstanding issues under this mortgage, which aggregate $51,000,000, mature and are paid no further issue thereunder can be made.

There have been issued and are outstanding under this mortgage $5,000,000 5 per cents, due in 1919; $2,000,000 4 per cents, due in 1943; $4,500,000 3 1/2 per cents, sterling, due in 1945; and $40,000,000 4 per cents, lu 1948.

While no official statement has come from the company other than the condition of the sale, it was stated at Broad street station that the proceeds of this bond sale were to be used for no specific purpose but that the sale was simply part of the financial plan mapped out for the year 1915.

Announcement was also made of the regular quarterly dividend of one and a half per cent.

NO ACTION YET IN FATAL AUTO CRASH

District Attorney Considering the Coroner's Jury Verdict and Testimony

District Attorney Michael S. Stroup was undecided to-day as to his action in the case of the death of Miss Grace Maugan who was killed in an automobile accident on the night of January 1.

Coroner's jury last night in their verdict, censured John J. Hargest, Jr., who drove the automobile that collided with a car at Front and Walnut streets. Hargest was charged with negligence in not having his car under control.

District Attorney Stroup attended the coroner's hearing last night at the chapel of Undertaker Rudolph K. Spicer. He asked the witnesses a number of questions. Other attorneys present were Charles H. Bergner, Edward E. Beideman, and William L. Loeser. They did not say whom they represented.

"I know of the verdict," said District Attorney Stroup at noon to-day, "but I have not formed any conclusion as to my future action. I want to go over the testimony and verdict carefully, neither of which has reached me officially."

Witnesses last night told how Miss Grace Maugan, of 310 Forster street, had been killed and Miss Lillian Swails, Samuel Weber and T. Elder Cleecker, injured. Some testified that Hargest did not have his car under control when he approached Walnut and Front streets. Others declared the driver was running at a high rate of speed. The verdict of the jury was as follows:

"That we, the coroner's jury, find that Miss Grace Maugan came to her death as a result of a collision between an automobile in which she was riding and a street car at Front and Walnut streets, on the night of January 1, and that John J. Hargest, Jr., driver of the automobile was negligent in not having his automobile under control as he approached the street intersection."

IMMIGRATION BILL VETOED BY WILSON

ous matter to exercise the power of veto in any case, because it involves opposing the single judgment of the President to the judgment of a majority of both houses of the Congress, a step which no man who realizes his own liability to error can take without great hesitation, but also because this bill is in so many important respects admirable, well conceived and desirable.

"Its enactment into law would undoubtedly enhance the efficiency and improve the methods of handling the important branch of the public service to which it relates. But candor and a sense of duty with regard to the responsibility so clearly imposed upon me by the Constitution in matters of legislation leave me no choice but to dissent.

New Departure Noted
 "In two particulars of vital consequence this bill embodies a radical

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Friends did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 311A Marcellus Avenue, Manassas, Va. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation. Advertisement.

departs from the traditional and long established policy of this country, a policy in which our people have conceived the very character of their government to be expressed, the very mission and spirit of the nation in respect to its relations to the peoples of the world outside their borders. It seeks to all but close entirely the gates of asylum which have always been open to those who could find nowhere else the right and opportunity of constitutional avation for what they conceived to be the natural and inalienable rights of men; and it excludes those to whom the opportunities of elementary education have been denied without regard to their character, their purposes or their natural capacity.

"Restrictions like these adopted earlier in our history as a nation would very materially have altered the course and cooled the humane ardor of our policies.

"The right of political asylum has brought to this country many a man of noble character and elevated purpose who was masked as an outlaw in his own less fortunate land, and who has yet become an ornament to our citizenship and to our public councils.

Effect Not Realized
 "The children and the companions of these illustrious Americans must stand amazed to see the representatives of their nation now resolved in the fullness of our national strength and at the maturity of our great institutions, to risk turning such men back to their shores without a test of quality or purpose. It is difficult to believe that the full effect of this feature of the bill was realized when it was framed and adopted, and it is impossible to assent to it in the form in which it is here cast.

"The literacy test and the tests and restrictions which accompany it, constitute an evasive and radical change in the policy of the nation. Hitherto we have generously kept our doors open to all who were not unfitted by reason of disease or incapacity for self-support on such personal records and antecedents as were likely to make them a menace to our peace and order or to the wholesome and essential relationships of life. In this bill it is proposed to turn away from tests of character and of quality and to impose tests which exclude and restrict; for the tests here embodied are not tests of quality, but tests of opportunity. Those who seek opportunity are not to be admitted unless they have already had one of the opportunities of education. The object of such provisions is restriction, not selection.

A Political Issue
 "If the people of this country have made up their minds to limit the number of immigrants by tributary tests and to reverse the policy of all the generations of Americans that have gone before them, it is their right to do so. I am their servant and have no license to stand in their way. But I do not believe that they have.

"I respectfully submit that no one can quote their mandate to that effect. Has any political party ever avowed a policy of restriction in this fundamental matter, none to the counsels on it and been commissioned to control its legislation? Does this bill rest upon the conscience and universal assent and desire of the American people? I doubt it. It is because I doubt it, that I make bold to dissent from it. I am willing to abide by the verdict, but not until it has been rendered. Let the platforms of parties speak out upon this policy and the people pronounce their wish. The matter is too fundamental to be settled otherwise.

"I have no price of opinion of this question. I am not foolish enough to profess to know the wishes and ideals of America better than the body of her chosen representatives know them. I only want instruction direct from those whose fortunes with ours and all men's are involved."

May Seek Repassage
 Other business in the House was suspended while the President's message was read. Speaker Clark conferred at once with Representative Burnett and Sabath who had been leaders in the work of the bill. Mr. Burnett wants to bring the veto up for a vote on repassage a week from tomorrow. Mr. Sabath wanted it to come up next Tuesday. Mr. Burnett favors it. Mr. Sabath opposes it. A day probably will be set aside for debate before a vote is taken.

The reading of the veto evoked applause on the Democratic side and from some Republicans.

Representative Burnett said the would move that the House pass the bill over the President's veto. "I do

MOVIES RANK HIGH IN WORLD'S INDUSTRIES

President of National Censor Board Says Legal Censorship Will Ruin Business

J. W. Binder, president of the National Board of Censors, in his address to the exhibitors on "Voluntary vs. Legalized Censorship," declared the motion picture industry the greatest amusement enterprise in the world and that it ranks fifth in the world's industries.

He said motion pictures exert a tremendous religious and political influence, they are a great force and must be directed. The best censorship does not come from politically appointed boards but from the ten million people who daily attend the motion picture shows. At least $500,000,000 is spent annually, two hundred and fifty thousand people make a livelihood from this business, and legal censorship would undoubtedly ruin it.

"One hundred and fifty-three members," continued Mr. Binder, "divided into six committees and selected from the best educational institutions of the country, act as the national board of censorship and not one cent of money is paid to them for their work and service to the millions of people in the United States, who spend thousands of dollars daily at motion picture shows."

Officers Are Elected
 Ben H. Zerr, of Reading, was elected president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of Pennsylvania at the final session this morning. Other officers elected are: Gebhart W. Sahner, Pittsburgh, first vice-president; Gilbert Miller, Plymouth, second vice-president; James DeWitt, Harrisburg, secretary; Charles Segall, Philadelphia, treasurer; Frank A. Gould, Reading, publicity representative.

W. J. Herington, of Mt. Oliver, was chosen national vice-president and instructed to apply at once to the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America for recognition of the newly formed. The matter will be referred to the executive committee of the national organization within the next few days.

Harrisburg a Local
 The committee on restricting the State announced that nine places were chosen as locals: Philadelphia, Wilkes-Barre, Reading, Harrisburg, Williamsport, Altoona, Pittsburgh, Erie, DuBois, Robinson and George M. Krupa, of Lancaster, and F. M. Shadel, Williamtown, have enrolled.

After a short discussion it was decided to appoint an advisory board of five members. The following were selected: P. Magaro and C. Floyd Hopkins, Harrisburg; Harry Green, Nat Fischer and H. Berman, of Philadelphia.

Against Lengthy Programs
 Yesterday afternoon many of the members spoke about the length of shows, and practically all of the exhibitors agreed that it was best to give a short, interesting show. Many managers deplored the length shows given in some places and said that from personal contact and observation they had found short programs the best and most liked.

READJUST WAGE SCALE
 Pittsburgh, Jan. 28.—The first move looking to a readjustment of wages in the steel industry was made here today when thirty independent sheet and tin plate manufacturers headed by W. J. Lynch, of Granite City, Ill., met a committee from the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, under President John Williams and Secretary Tigh of Pittsburgh.

not desire snap judgment on anybody," he said. "No one who avors that bill has had any tips when this message would come in. The message in itself, in its four corners, gives good reason why it should become law."

The message was referred to the immigration committee, from which Chairman Burnett said he would ask to have a report to the House one week from to-day. The veto will not come before the Senate until it has been acted on in the House.

RELIEF CANVASSERS FIND MUCH DISTRESS

In One Home the Husband Was Taking in Washing; Half Dozen Others in Want

Canvassers for the Home and War Relief Committee who are collecting funds to carry on the work of aiding the needy at home and furnishing supplies to the war sufferers in Europe found a household where the woman was sick with a small child to care for, while the husband was doing family washings to get food and coal. Supplies were sent at once.

In all, half a dozen families where there was sickness or want were relieved through the medium of the canvassers.

That there must be generous response to the requests for money is shown by the report of the home relief division, which has 321 women to whom work is being given. Of these only 113 are known to the local charities, showing that this work is emergency relief.
