Natural History Society Opens Sale of Seats For Polar Explorer's Talk

Sale of reserved seats for the lecture to be delivered Tuesday evening in the Majestic by Sir Douglas Mawson, the noted Australian scientist and Antarctic explorer, was opened this morning at 9 o'clock at the box office when the advance tickets were exchanged. To-morrow the general sale will begin. Sir Douglas will speak here as a guest of the Natural History Society on his daring trip across the wastes of the south polar seas in search of data relative to the atmospheric, climatic and ocean current conditions of the polar seas and their probable effect on the climate of Australia. The Australian, who was the scientist with the Sir Ernest Shackleton party that made its memorable dash for the pole, was selected by the Australian government as being the most competent man to make the journey. One of his big jobs was to superintend the construction of a series of wireless stations from his native land to the great barrens around the pole in order to keep the people at home properly and accurately informed as to the weather and ocean current conditions. His awful experiences with two companions, both of whom died, and his return after months of untold hardship will be illustrated with remarkable stereopticon and moving pictures. The Australian will reach this city at 10.45 o'clock Tuesday morning and will be taken on a drive along the River Front prior to paying a visit to Governor Brumbaugh at the Capitol.

Rally and Institute For Upper End Teachers

Plans have been completed by Professor F. E. Shambaugh, county school superintendent, for a joint institute and educational rally in the high school building at Millersburg to-morrow. In the morning there will be section-meetings, the section for rural teachers being conducted by Professor Shambaugh. In the afternoon all the teachers will gather in a general session, which will be addressed by Superintendent L. E. McGinnis, of Steelton, and Superintendent Wagner, Carlisle.

SHOW HIM!
You can clothe your children in silks and satins, bedeck them with French ribbons until they out rival a French millinery store, and yet they are orphans, though you still live. Show me your children, show me the company you keep, show me the nature of the books you read, and though I have never been in your home, I will write you a perfect history if it, and it will tell you how it came out. And I believe the ideal mother is the product of a civilization that rose from the manger of Bethlehem.—"Billy" Sunday in the Christian Herald.

The man who would be truly happy should not study to enlarge his estate, but to contract his desires.—Plato.
