NOTED BASS SOLOIST IN RECITAL HERE

Herbert Witherspoon, of Metropolitan Opera Co., Artist For Wednesday Club

HERBERT WITHERSPOON

The Witherspoon-Sassoli concert, Monday evening, February 15, in Fahnstock Hall, is creating a great deal of interest among members of the Wednesday Club. To have two such artists of ability and renown appear in one evening is a rare treat to be taken advantage of by the musical public.

Herbert Witherspoon, basso, is in a class by himself. It matters not whether he is portraying a king of the realm or a country bumpkin, he reveals his power to wonderful advantage. The nobility of his voice and the dignity of the man helps to enhance the importance of any importance.

Several years ago when the Metropolitan director decided to revive Weber's romantic opera, "Der Freischutz," Witherspoon was offered the leading part of Caspar. Instead of being eager to do it, the basso begged to be allowed to sing the part of the hermit, usually considered a minor role, which privilege was reluctantly granted. The critics lauded his work, which, by his personality and beautiful voice, had lifted the part to an eminent place.

Artistic harp playing is at a premium and Miss Sassoli with her rare musical insight and delicacy of touch and technique that is the envy of many harpists is marvelous in her unique art.

Miss Romaine Brown, 1224 Derry street, will entertain a number of her friends to-night at a Valentine party.

William Hain, who has been visiting friends in Highspire and Harrisburg, returned to his home in York yesterday.

Louis Leaves For New York Style Exhibit

The custom tailoring establishment of Louis, ladies' tailor, will be closed until Monday the 15th, while Louis is attending the display of the most exclusive ladies' custom tailors and designers of Europe. Selections from the importations of materials and novelties will be made, as well as style sketches from the most approved models. These will be arranged for your inspection upon return home, and the ideas gained while there will be of invaluable aid in choosing your Spring and Summer costumes.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY IS JUST ORGANIZED

Youngest Lutheran Church of City Gets Young People to Work

A Young People's Missionary Society, with twenty-seven charter members, was organized last night at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Green and Seneca streets, during the annual district meeting of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of Harrisburg Lutheran churches. More than 400 women were present.

The officers of the new society are: President, Mrs. W. H. Jacobs; vice-presidents, Mrs. G. A. Martz and Mrs. W. R. Gallagher; secretary, Mrs. A. E. Burkholder; treasurer, Mrs. Albert Householder.

Mrs. Chester Buck conducted the organization. Mrs. J. Bradley Markward, synodical president, made an address on "Missionary Work and Child Welfare in Foreign Countries." A symposium, "The Child in the Midst," was conducted by Mrs. C. C. Groff with classes of children from the various Lutheran churches of the city, as follows: "The Child in Its Helplessness," Bethlehem; "The Child at Home," Memorial; "The Child at Play and at Work," Augsburg; "The Child at School," Christ; "The Child at Worship," Messiah; "The Child at Work," St. Matthew's. A vocal solo was given by Miss Jane Smyser Kinzer and a recitation by Master Wendell Taylor.

The Y. M. C. A. Star Course Opens Friday Evening

The opening attraction in the Young Men's Christian Association star course will be Miss Lucille Landers, of Boston, a graduate of the Leland T. Powers School of Oratory, in a program including dramatic readings and folk songs. This will be Miss Landers' first appearance in this city. She is young, gifted and beautiful and her program will be excellent. She comes to Fahnstock Hall Friday evening, February 12. Doors will open at 7:30 and the program will begin promptly at 8:15. Entrance tickets for the three entertainments are selling rapidly. Those that remain may be purchased at the association building.

Miss Landers will be followed Friday evening, February 19, by Ambrose Jeffries, of New York, the well-known magician. The closing number will be Miss Lillian Layton Lamson, of New York, the great character impersonator, in a charming play.

Business Girls' Class Have a Gymnasium Fete

The "Business Girls' Class" of the Y. W. C. A. Gymnasium, will have a Valentine party this evening, when a hundred girls are coming masked as children.

The grand march will be followed by guessing contests of various sorts, with a peanut hunt and gymnasium stunts.

Refreshments will be served under the direction of the physical culture committee of the association, with Miss Eby, the chairman, presiding.

The class girls, under the able leadership of Miss Bolles, the instructor, have decorated the gymnasium in special ways and a delightful evening is anticipated.

MISS RITTER GIVES ENGAGEMENT PARTY

Good Wishes For Miss McManamy, Who Is to Marry Henry Rupp

MISS M. McMANAMY

Miss Madeline Ritter, of 316 Kelker street, entertained at her home in honor of Miss Minerva B. McManamy, whose engagement to Henry Rupp, of this city, was announced during the evening by the hostess.

Ferns and potted plants adorned the house, with special decorations of pink and green in the dining room. The centerpiece of the supper table was of roses and stelia and the favors were tiny Cupids with ribbon-hung cards bearing the names of the newly betrothed. Many good wishes were extended to the bride elect, who will be guest of honor at several prenuptial events.

In attendance were Miss Nellie Foulk, Miss Mary Belle Wills, Miss Martina M. Mullen, Miss Phoebe H. Miller, Miss Ruth M. Sterringer, Miss Mabel W. Winger, Miss Clara M. Rice, Miss Naomi Winger, Miss Pearl Sowers, Miss Minerva B. McManamy and Miss Madeline Ritter.

Miss McManamy is a popular young girl of the city, a graduate of the Central high school, class of 1910, taking active parts in the Demosthenian Literary Society and musical events of the school. She is now connected with the general offices of the Elliott-Fisher company.

Mr. Rupp is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in their offices here and takes an important part in the P. R. R. Y. M. C. A.

Shower of Bridal Gifts For Miss Helen Plank

Mrs. A. W. Plank and Mrs. John B. Burnett, grandmother and aunt of Miss Helen M. Plank, gave a bridal shower last evening at their residence, 1313 Walnut street, for the bride elect.

Beautiful gifts were showered on Miss Plank, her more intimate girl friends of the Bell Telephone Company presenting her with a complete china tea set.

Music and refreshments were enjoyed by the guests, among which were Mrs. J. B. Burnbaum, Mrs. F. C. Crizman, Mrs. T. M. Yeakle, Mrs. Russell Hertzler, Mrs. Annie Kindler, Miss Katharine Kissinger, Miss Rosalie Yeakle, Miss Sara Smith, Miss Pearl Condon, Miss Edith Stewart, Miss Ruth Richardson, Miss Ethel Frankenberg, Miss Florence Seass, Mrs. J. W. Yeakle, Miss May Hertzler, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Plank, Mrs. A. W. Plank and David W. Attig.

Spend Evening of Fun With J. W. Barker's Class

An interesting program is being prepared by Class No. 6 of the B. P. Stevens Memorial Methodist Episcopal Sunday School, taught by James W. Barker, for to-morrow evening.

This class has a fine record, for in the past three years it has taken in membership from thirteen to eighty-four.

To those who attend the entertainment is promised an evening of fun. The "Family Album" will be shown, a business meeting of the class will be held, to show the excellent system used in transacting the affairs, and solos and quartets will be sung.

A small admission will be charged, the proceeds going toward the building fund of the church.

Mrs. Chauncey C. Baldwin of Perth Amboy, N. J., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles W. Raymond at Front and Herr streets this week.

Mrs. Joseph Armento of Walnut street is slowly recovering her health after an attack of erysipelas.

Mrs. John W. Rely of Fort Hunter has gone to Concord, S. C., with Pittsburgh relatives, to remain for two months.

Mrs. Joseph R. Montgomery and Mrs. David L. Jauss of Chestnut street, are spending the month of February at the fashionable Arlington hotel at the Arkansas Hot Springs.

Charles Geary, of Newport, was a visitor in this city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Reese Bortel, of Newport, have returned home after spending the week-end with relatives in Harrisburg.

The Rev. E. C. B. Castle, of Mechanicsburg, attended the Christian Endeavor rally at the Derry Street United Brethren Church last evening.

C. M. Kaltwasser, general manager of the Harrisburg Light and Power company, has returned from a visit to New York.

R. F. Lucien, Youngstown, Ohio, is the guest of friends on South Eleventh street.

This Piano Sale Will Close Quicker Than Ever Before

Extraordinary Last Minute Values. Read Carefully Then Act Quickly. The Time Is Getting Short

By Saturday night we expect to be able to close this sale. We expect all the used pianos and players and most of the new instruments at reduced prices, to be sold. So we say—act quickly—the time is getting short, dangerously short.

Despite the large number of instruments sold, we offer tomorrow a fine variety of used uprights which have been completed since the opening of the sale.

Each of these pianos should find a new home before night. And if only a few who read this announcement could realize, as we do, what extraordinary values will be presented tomorrow, there would not be half enough to go 'round.

These Pianos at These Prices Tomorrow Action Must Be Immediate. See Them This Evening or Early in the Morning

Elks' Social Committee Gives a Farmers' Dance

One of the most enjoyable of social events arranged by the Elks' social committee was the Farmers' Dance held last evening with an attendance of 150 guests in costume.

The ladies wore singham aprons and sunbonnets over dainty summer frocks, and the men had costumes of overalls, red bandannas and wide straw hats.

The setting for the event was in true barnyard style with the well, "old oaken bucket" and usual pump.

A mock wedding was featured with Miss Johanna Reese as the "bride," Charles Williams, bridegroom; Mr. Reese, best man; Miss Elsie Schmidt, maid of honor, and Charles Schmidt, as the minister. During the service the Updegrave orchestra played softly "Oh Promise Me."

All the masqueraders participated in the grand march and afterward had their picnic supper in the clubroom, from tin palls filled with good things to eat.

GUEST AT LANCASTER

Illustrious Potentate George W. McIlhenny of Zemo Temple, will be a guest of the Lancaster county Shriners' club, at Lancaster, to-night. Ladies' night will be observed, the big time to take place at Hotel Brunswick. The program will include dancing, cards and luncheon.

Piano Appearance Is Not Quality

Of course, there is no objection to owning a piano that is beautiful. In fact it is an added advantage.

But when you look at a beautiful piano with the intention of buying; it is a mighty good safeguard to know what is inside. For that is where piano quality is found.

Quality, by which is meant tone production and ability to withstand strain, is the essence of a piano. It is what makes the instrument desirable or undesirable.

When you are thinking of piano purchase, we invite you to look at the Steinway, the Mehlin and the C. M. Sigler. They are three pianos represented exclusively in Central Pennsylvania by this house and with each one is given the double guarantee of manufacturer and merchant. We invite your inspection.
