Russ Brothers Sell Factory.—The biggest realty transaction of the month was recorded yesterday when William and Louis Russ sold the ice cream factory and six city streets to Russ Brothers Incorporated, ice cream manufacturers, for $22,200. Other transfers were: William A. Carrie, Roll, Fifth and Schuylkill streets, $1; P. D. Hartman to the State for Capitol Park extension, 703 South street, $2,500.

KEEP URIC ACID OUT OF JOINTS

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water. Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid, which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating in the circulation through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.—Advertisement.

A Cold House Means Sickness

Heavy colds, pneumonia and even tuberculosis are frequently the result of a cold house. An even warmth is essential to your family's health and even heating requires good fuel. Montgomery coal is all coal, burns evenly, thoroughly and gives the maximum in heat value. Try a ton the next time.

THE MASTER KEY

By John Fleming Wilson

By special arrangement for this paper a photo-drama corresponding to the installments of "The Master Key" may now be seen at the leading moving picture theaters. By arrangement made with the Universal Film Manufacturing company it is not only possible to read "The Master Key" in this paper, but also afterward to see moving pictures of our story.

COPYRIGHT, 1914, BY JOHN FLEMING WILSON

The man made no bones of demanding a large extra sum in compensation for his risks and intimated with extreme plainness that in case his exorbitant blackmail was not paid he would not only accompany them, but put it out of their power to go alone.

For an hour Wilkerson bargained and haggled, but all to no purpose. At last he gave in and practically stripped himself of coin, which the other pocketed without a thank you. The three of them started forth under a glimmering moon toward the priests' camp, a mile or so away by a spring.

Half an hour's steady tramping brought them within eyesight of the place, and Wilkerson went ahead to spy out the lay of things.

When he came back he roughly told Drake, in reply to his question, that the idol must be in one of the pack sacks lying about.

"It's a case of sneak up and get a sack each of us and then look for the idol in it," he said.

"All right!" Drake growled. "But it's risky business. In case of a muss where'll we meet again?"

"At our own camp," Wilkerson whispered and led the way.

When they came close to the spot where the natives were asleep the three of them paused and listened.

Presently Wilkerson gave a silent signal that no one was awake, and they crept up among the baggage.

The first two sacks yielded nothing and Wilkerson was reaching out for one that seemed bulkier than the rest when their guide coughed and instantly a couple of the priests awakened.

Seeing strangers, they gave an alarm, and one, apparently a soldier, frad off an ancient musket so close to Drake that he incontinently dropped his burden and fled.

He heard Wilkerson cursing behind him, a couple of more shots and then took to his heels in good earnest as he heard rapid footsteps.

A moment later Wilkerson had caught up to him, panting and dragging the sack, which he had refused to surrender.

Between them they carried it on further and then rested in a slight hollow till their guide came up.

"If the idol isn't in this sack," Wilkerson said with a snarl, "I'll go back and shoot up the whole outfit and get it."

When the things were cut and the great bag opened the first object that met their eyes was the image they sought, glimmering in the half light.

The moment he saw it and knew that his quest was ended Wilkerson flung the rest of the stuff away and boldly got to his feet.

"Now for our own camp. We'll just see where those plans are," he growled. Drake and the guide both protested in vain.

Safely away from pursuit, they lit a light and examined their find.

"It's the same one," Wilkerson said triumphantly.

This last he almost shouted into the still air, and Drake drew back.

"At least let them have their idol," he muttered, picking it up.

Wilkerson snatched it away from him with a gesture at once childish and murderous.

"I think I'll keep this for a memento," he cried, careless of who might hear him.

He stood up, the image in his grasp, and before the sound of his blasphemy Drake and the guide crept away in silent horror.

And not far distant Faversham sat vigilant by the side of his camp watching over the sleep of Ruth Gallon.

Possibly it was an echo of Wilkerson's savage cry of triumph that stirred her in her dreams.

She sighed and reached out one slender hand. It touched that of John Dorr and rested there as if she had found safety.

Sir Donald saw that movement, and his eyes burned with jealousy. But he did not move, keeping his ears open for the slightest sound, his eyes for the faintest shadow between his charges and the horizon.

CHAPTER XXVII.
 "A Traitor to John Dorr."

RUTH GALLON awakened at dawn and looked about her, trying to remember what had happened and where she was.

Slowly there came back to her the scenes of riot in Bhalia, the assault on the hotel and their own subsequent flight.

Around her the natives lay in postures of sleep. Not far away, within arm's reach, John Dorr was still unconscious of the new day.

Apart sat Sir Donald, rife on his knee, bowed in drowsiness after his night's vigil.

She called over to Faversham, and he roused himself, apparently much embarrassed that he had been found watching over the slumbers of his company.

A moment later the whole camp was up, and breakfast was soon dispatched.

"Now for a council of war," the baronet said presently. "So far we have made good our escape from the fanatics, and I believe now it would be wise to turn back and seek civilization again for the sake of Miss Ruth."

"Oh, I am good for any amount of this kind of travel!" she exclaimed.

"And I am wild to go ahead and find the idol and the plans."

"So far as we know, they are in Bhalia," Faversham remarked, with some brusqueness. "I don't intend that you shall risk your life again in such foolishness."

John Dorr had steadily grown more and more suspicious of the Englishman's attitude, and he now bitterly resented his assumption of guardianship over Ruth, the more so that he realized Faversham had extricated her once from a tangle of his making and was undoubtedly right when he proposed that she be placed in safety.

Beech-Nut Tomato Catsup

IN spite of what one hears in some quarters—we believe that people were never so critical about quality and so discriminating about flavor as they are right now.

OTHER AUTO SHOW AT KELKER ST. HALL

Capital City Motor Dealers' Association Perfects Organization; Exhibit March 13-20

With George A. Dechant chosen as president to read the Capital City Motor Dealers' Association the organization was perfected last evening at the Plaza Hotel. About twenty-five men who represent various makes of cars were present or represented by their salesmen. Seventeen members pledged themselves to maintain an organization for show purposes in order to display their automobiles to the best advantage at a minimum cost. To accomplish this it was proposed to admit all dealers in automobiles on a profit-sharing basis, giving a pro rata refund from earnings of the show to each member according to the number of square feet paid for at the show. Every automobile dealer within a radius of fifty miles is eligible to membership in the new association.

E. C. Ensminger, Hannabolt, East End Auto Company, Studebaker, Oldsmobile; Mohr Brothers, Metz; W. P. Keister, King; E. W. Shank, Maxwell; George Dechant, of the Case Company; P. H. Keboch, Jackson; David Ream, Mitchell; Case Company, Case car; J. A. Gilmore, Kissel; H. A. Fishburn, Empire; Vulcan; Roberts & Holm, Hayes; Paul D. Messner, Stanley; P. Driscoll, Ford; Hottenstein & Zeck, Buick and Chevrolet; Conover & Mehring, Detroit; E. L. Leinbach, City Auto Supply Company, supplies.

These seventeen dealers will exhibit the cars mentioned at the Kelker Street Hall, March 13-20, inclusive. Benjamin Johnson, automobile show promoter, of Baltimore, is being considered to manage the show. About 5,000 of the 7,500 available feet of floor space was contracted for last evening. Another meeting will be held this evening when E. C. Ensminger and Secretary Barrett will report on the hall and perfect plans.

The officers elected are as follows: George Dechant, of the Case Company, president; E. W. Shank, local Maxwell representative, vice-president; and R. C. Barrett, of the East End Auto Company, secretary-treasurer.

The following executive committee was elected: E. L. Leinbach, City Auto Supply Company; P. Driscoll, Ford; Hottenstein & Zeck, Buick and Chevrolet; Conover & Mehring, Detroit; E. L. Leinbach, City Auto Supply Company; supplies.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffing, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relieves cases instantly. It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

CONSTIPATION, COLDS, HEADACHES, REGULATE YOUR BOWELS! 10 CENTS

Furred tongue, Bad Colds, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and constipated bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a still barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, severe colds, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascarel to-night will surely straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel cheerful and bully for months. Don't forget your children—their little insides need a good, gentle, cleansing, too, occasionally.
