Then decide, once for all, which match to use hereafter.

Take five—or ten—Safe Home matches, and an equal number of matches of any other brand.

Compare them as to length and strength of stick, appearance, workmanship, anything you please.

Light one of the Safe Home matches. See how evenly it burns. See?

Shake it! It still burns. "Flick" it with your finger. It does not spark. It does not sputter. The head does not fly off. Let it burn awhile until the stick catches. Blow it out! See? It is OUT and it stays out. There is no dangerous charcoal after-glow. The stick is impregnated.

Now light one of the other matches. Shake it! "Flick" it with your finger. Blow it out! Well—?

CONSERVATION IS TO BE DRAWN UP

Proposed Bill Will Be Prepared by Legislative Reference Bureau For Governor

IT WILL MEAN ECONOMY

Governor Plans to Consider the Measure During the Coming Fortnight

Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh's ideas on the proposed department of conservation which is to include the State Game, Fish, Water Supply and Forestry departments are being put into the form of a bill by the State Legislative Reference Bureau which it is expected will be ready for discussion within the next week.

The fundamental idea in the bill is to consolidate the activities of the outdoor forces of these branches of the government. There are now game, fish and forest wardens who are in the woods and it is the idea that the men can be better distributed than they are at present and with the assistance of the State police can be more effective in rounding up violators of the laws.

These departments receive about a million dollars in biennial appropriations and it is said that the Governor has a plan whereby the game bureau will receive all of the revenue from hunters' licenses and more, too. In all probability the committees of the various organizations interested in wild life will have to present their ideas to the Governor. One of these plans is for a State commission to make study of the game and fish departments have operated in other States and to make a report to the Legislature.

No action is likely to be taken this session for revival of the campaign against the chestnut tree blight which was abandoned two years ago because of the lack of funds. The State Forestry department will be expected to track the disease and any spread that appears to be alarming will be reported, but no separate commission to fight it is considered as all probable.

REVIVALS ARE OLD AS HISTORY OF RELIGION

They Far Antedate Christianity; One Was Held a Thousand Years Before Christ

FLAG AND BIBLE GO TOGETHER

International S. S. Lesson Is "Samuel, the Victorious Leader," I Sam., 7:3-17

(By William T. Ellis) Informed folk are amused when they hear persons talking of the "Billy" Sunday meetings in Philadelphia as if they were quite a new thing. In truth, revivals are as old as the history of religion. They far antedate Christianity. The present Sunday School lesson deals with a notable one experienced a thousand years before Christ. While the nation often slumped afterwards, it was nevertheless more thoroughly a nation, because fused in these hot fires of spiritual emotion. "Revolutions never go backward." History advances by a series of convulsions. Where the flames of ardor burned yesterday, the crucible of conventionalities presses to-day. Fire is followed by formalism. This is broken up by the inevitable revival which creates a fresh self-realization, and a new and personal apprehension of God.

Samuel led the nation in a spiritual revival at Mizpah, and consecrated Israel to Jehovah's service. This makes daily reading in a day when the newspapers of America are giving more space to religion than ever before in the history of the world.

Prying That Was Punished

From the cities of the Philistines the Ark was carried to Beth-shemesh in Israel, where the people suffered for their irreverent treatment of it. The first of all commandments is "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me." In the summary of the law given by Christ the preeminence of God is made basic. This makes daily reading in a day when the newspapers of America are giving more space to religion than ever before in the history of the world. Sins of irreverence, small and trivial in themselves, were repeatedly committed with contemptuously apparent disregard of all proportion to the offense. The reason for this appears upon deliberation. Reverence is fundamental. It is a sort of religious reverence. "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me." In the summary of the law given by Christ the preeminence of God is made basic. Rallying to the Standard

That troublesome Ark of the Covenant—troublesome as truth is told—was a long time removed to the house of Abinadab in Kirjath-jearim. Apparently there was a Levite there, and assuring the safety and prosperity of the family of the Ark was cared for reverently for twenty years.

That was a dry spell spiritually in the life of Israel. It seems to have been a sort of between seasons. Samuel was in seclusion, ministering of course, but ripening for his greater work. He had to achieve maturity of life before he could be ready for the tasks that awaited him. Our bustling day is impatient of these quiet times of preparation which come to men and to nations. Apparently the prophet of old was a reminder of our national life have been a making ready for the great crisis which we seem to be facing.

When the hour struck, Samuel called the assembly to the people to Mizpah. It was a summons to rally to the standard of Jehovah. He evoked their national consciousness as well as their dormant religious sentiments. The occasion revealed the patriotism of religion and the religion of patriotism; each virtue supplements the other. The convocation at Mizpah was a national assembly as well as a religious revival. The flag and the Bible always go together. Every battlefront in the present war reports a religious quickening. The two great thoughts of God and country are Siamese twins.

When the Preacher Rebukes Hearers Some folk seem unable to enjoy the "Billy" Sunday revival in Philadelphia because it makes them uncomfortable. They are not permitted to rise into idle transports and ecstasies. Just at the point when they are getting ready to shout, the preacher says "some perfectly sane things about the church members who are the confederates of corrupt politicians and the bulwarks of bad business, and straightway all the pleasure goes from the revival for those who want their religion to be a sort of spiritual luxury, not connected with the realities of every day. If you've got religion, reasons the evangelist, get out and work for God. If you haven't, hit the trail. But before you go up the aisle you must be prepared to give up all that would be inconsistent with the Christian life.

One of the distinct contributions of "Billy" Sunday to the religious life of our day is his exhortations of unrighteous Christians to get out and work for God. He is not a member of the ineffective church member, in the pulpit and in the pews. The limit of his rather extensive and effective vocabulary is used in penetrating the self-complacency of such a professed Christian who is living in sin. Yet "Billy" Sunday could point to old Samuel on this occasion at Mizpah as a precedent.

The Prophet demanded that Israel give up the worship of Baalim and Ashteroth, and turn with wholeheartedness to Jehovah. The bed rock of the message was that one could not live in sin and be acceptable to Jehovah. The Holy God demands righteousness.

Cheap and common criticism is flung at convention-going; yet if the convention is made a means, and not an end, it is a wise investment. Most of us are not ready to achieve a new horizon. They lack a knowledge of the bigness of the enterprise of which they are a part, and of the joy of the larger fellowship. The temptations of such a gathering are a rich spiritual inheritance that are as food through hungry years.

He evoked their national consciousness as well as their dormant religious sentiments.
