TWO FIRES AT HALIFAX

Special to The Telegraph

Halifax, Pa., April 13.—A small fire on the roof at the home of J. Paul Sheesley in Front street at about 5 o'clock yesterday morning, caused by a spark from a passing engine, called the Halifax fire department out. Very little damage was done.

About 8 o'clock the same morning the fire alarm was again sounded, the roof of a house in Front street occupied by Mrs. Susan A. Daugherty having caught fire from a spark from a locomotive and burned a big part of the roof.

TWO BARN BURNED

By Associated Press

Carlisle, Pa., April 13.—Two barns were totally destroyed within twenty-four hours of each other and resulted in a loss of several thousands of dollars. The first barn, burned Saturday afternoon, was located at Mt. Holly Springs and owned by Foster Mullen, and the other the property of George Nennenger, one-half mile from Lee's Cross Roads, was consumed Sunday evening.

SIGN OF THE CROSS, AT THE REGENT

Audiences which filled the Regent Theater greeted every production of "The Sign of the Cross" yesterday and today. The film, with William Farnum, in the stellar role, is among the best ever brought to Harrisburg. Taking part in the great play are more than 500 people and the principals in the cast are among the notables in the "movie" world. When Wilson Barrett wrote the story of the Sign of the Cross, he little thought that the detail which mind's eye conceived could be pictured on a screen, but nevertheless this is just what has been done. "The Sign of the Cross," in five reels, will be shown at the Regent Theater to-night for the last time.

For to-morrow and Thursday Maffeo Magaro has engaged the remarkable film, "James Kirby," with Dustin Farnum in the leading role. This film tells a pretty story of romance and adventure and gives the star an ample opportunity to display his ability.

BIG ACT AT COLONIAL

In "The Haberdashery Girls," a musical comedy act that opened yesterday for a three-day engagement at the Colonial Theater, Busy Corner audiences are being offered one of the best vaudeville features that ever worked beyond the footlights of the popular Market Street Playhouse. The music is catchy, the scenery is elaborate, the comedy is good, and above all there is a bevy of pretty maidens well drilled in the art of dancing. The girls represent models in an apparel shop, and the various goods are displayed in all their attractiveness on the living models. Large audiences saw this act at both performances yesterday, and came away satisfied that Wilmer and Vincent had made about the best promise to bend their energies toward pleasing the public with Colonial shows, now that the Orpheum doors are locked. On the same bill with "The Haberdashery Girls" are Ray Fern, a clever comedian; Bonham and Kay, who offer a comedy musical skit in comedy acrobatics. The girls in the "haberdashery" shop will conduct the Country Store at the Colonial to-morrow night.

LEROY, TALMA AND BOSCO

The days of the "hocus poeas" magician, and of the circus conjurer with his shells and illusive pea, have long ago been disapproved. The LeRoy, Talma, Bosco company of magicians, that are at the Majestic this evening, is declared to be one of the few magical aggregations with an all new repertoire of tricks and illusions.

The tendency of the modern theatergoer is to demand something new in the shape of novelties and mysteries. Notwithstanding the fact that magic is an art, dating back to an age earlier than that of the Pyramids, yet the up-to-date magician has been unable to keep the times. To-day one no longer sees the time-honored egg trick with proverbial realism, but instead with the times. To-day one no longer sees the time-honored egg trick with proverbial realism, but instead with the times. To-day one no longer sees the time-honored egg trick with proverbial realism, but instead with the times.

ALWAYS THE SAME

John Philip Sousa has been on wheels very much of the time since 1892, with his band and special soloists, repeatedly throughout America. In Europe, and once entirely around the world. Most places of any size and importance in the day of the character of Sousa within their gates, so that the character and quality of Sousa concerts are as high as in New York. If the "Sousa" name is on a theater or musical hall program, it is a guarantee of the same excellence and value there that it does on any board in the largest city.

Sousa comes to Harrisburg to concert the world over! John Philip Sousa's name does not stand for one thing in one town and something in another. John Philip Sousa and his band with special soloists, will appear here at the Majestic to-morrow evening.

DAVID WARFIELD

One of the most important events of the dramatic calendar will be celebrated at the Majestic, Thursday evening, when David Warfield will present "The Auctioneer" in his brilliant revival of "The Auctioneer," the comedy by Leo Hitcher and Charles Klein, which in thirteen years ago made Mr. Warfield conspicuous among the greatest character actors of the day. The character of Simon Levi, the quaint and lovable old Hester street auctioneer, which Mr. Warfield has endeavored to play in the theatergoers from one end of the country to the other, has been epochal in American drama. Mr. Warfield's conception of Simon Levi is no caricature, but instead a characterization as true to life as human effort can make it. It is marked by a love for humanity, and compassion for its frailties, so that in this respect it takes on the dual nature of Her Von Harwig of "The Music Master," and his Peter Grimm, of "The Return of Peter Grimm," a perfect stage presentation of a lovable human character.

"LITTLE MARY MACK"

A new musical comedy which promises to revolutionize the stage production, comes to the Majestic Theater next Saturday, matinee and evening. "Little Mary Mack" is the attraction, and its producers have announced that it is strictly American in every detail.

Little Mary is a quaint girl, whose curiosity causes the utter route of the play. She is a girl who is determined to marry of his daughter. Mary helps the daughter win the man of her choice and her methods provide a fine opportunity for wholesome humor.

Delbert E. Davenport, the producer of the play, is also the author of the book and lyrics. Newton Ashenfelder and Sigmund Romberg are the composers of the music and the lyrics are arranged by Fred Bishop, who staged "The Three Twins," "My Best Girl," and "The Debutante."

After its engagement here, "Little Mary Mack" will run several weeks in Philadelphia, and will go to New York.

VICTORIA

The charms of moving picture entertainments are getting stronger every day and with the introduction of various new features all the old objections have been overcome. And now comes the attraction for to-day—a perfect the very best and most up-to-date theater such as the Victoria, where a $25,000 Hope-Jones Pipeorgan Orchestra has recently been installed. During each show one of the Victoria's specialties is Albert G. Miller, a lotte or Professor William P. McBride, play this marvel of mechanical skill the cast are among the notables in the "movie" world. When Wilson Barrett wrote the story of the Sign of the Cross, he little thought that the detail which mind's eye conceived could be pictured on a screen, but nevertheless this is just what has been done. "The Sign of the Cross," in five reels, will be shown at the Regent Theater to-night for the last time.

PHOTOPLAY TODAY

An announcement made by the management of the Photoplay Theater is that the hold-over news for the motion picture fans of this city. Starting to-day the summer prices of 5 cents and 10 cents will be in effect on Wednesdays and Holidays, when the admission will be adults, 10 cents and children, 5 cents.

The attraction for to-day is a summer price is Arthur Matthews and Ethel Clayton in a Lubin two-reel feature, "The Unmarried Husband," which is incidentally in the film, much of it dramatic. A number of Mr. Pife's expert touches with his usual skill in dealing with life, are scattered through it. (Cleo Ridgely) as the Girl Detective, in "Katon," and "The Pinkerton," are very complicated, but she tackles it with confidence, and runs down a gang of blackmailers that makes a fortune out of a wealthy old gentleman.

Writer of Black Hand Letter Is Under Arrest

Wilkes-Barre, April 13.—Placing $1060 in marked bills in an old tin can and then waiting in the vicinity of the lonely spot back of Luzerne, where the Rev. Father J. V. Kridika, rector of St. Mary's Lithuanian Church, of Kingston, had been instructed to place the money, State police late last night arrested Michael Petrikinis, of Luzerne. He is said to have confessed to having written 10 black hand letters in which he demanded money of the priest and to having dynamited the home of the clergyman a week ago. Petrikinis will have a hearing before Alderman Frank Brown tomorrow, at which 10 charges of extortion and the dynamiting charge will be pressed against him.
