City Should Boast of Splendid Growth in Few Years If Tips Are Complied With

Do you know that there are certain proper plans and specifications for a shade tree? City Forester Mueller has prepared a drawing and some tips as to planting, pruning and caring for shade trees in the city streets which, if properly carried out, would insure Harrisburg during the next few years a splendid growth. The accompanying etching shows in detail just how the tree should appear according to the forestry office. In the first place, in selecting a tree one of the varieties that flourish in Harrisburg should be chosen, and in making the choice it will be best to consult with the forester. The tree should have a well-developed head and leader, the head to begin not less than seven or more than eight feet from the ground; it should have a straight trunk, free from diseases. One foot above ground the trunk should be two and a half inches in diameter, the roots should be well developed and fibrous, the trunk should be supported by a two and a half inch chestnut stake fifteen feet long and driven about three feet in the ground. Attached to this should be a galvanized wire mesh guard six feet high and with a bit of hose at the top rim to serve as a protection against chaffing of the bark. Six square feet of open ground should be provided for a tree three inches in diameter, the area to be increased on the basis of an additional square foot for every two inches increase in trunk diameter. The pit for planting should be made by removal of fifty-six cubic feet of earth, replaced with top soil or otherwise enriched. Subsoiling is necessary to help the tree live under artificial conditions. Good drainage may be provided by subsoiling with dynamite. If you follow all these tips you'll have a tree what IS a tree.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

TREATIES ARE NOT VIOLATED BY ACT

Attorney General Gives an Opinion in Regard to Secretary Bryan's Complaint

Attorney General Brown in a letter to Secretary of State Bryan at Washington expresses the opinion that the proposed workmen's compensation acts do not violate treaty provisions of the United States and the kingdom of Italy. Mr. Bryan wrote to the Governor in April, calling attention to some statements made in Washington to the effect that the bills apparently discriminate against alien dependents, widows and children not residents of the United States, as compared with residents, in the matter of computing future instalments of compensation. Mr. Brown says: "The proposed workmen's compensation act is in no sense violative of the rights secured by this treaty." He reviews the rights to recover compensation as set forth in the bill, calls attention to the fact that the provisions of the act are not compulsory and says "It denies to no one any subsisting rights."

VOCATIONAL ACT IS NOW EFFECTIVE

Governor Approves Measure to Pay the Way For the Education of the Youth

Bills establishing the State Bureau of Vocational Education and reorganizing the Attorney General's Department and twelve others were approved by Governor Brumbaugh to-day. The vocational bill was presented by Mr. Milliron, Armstrong, and is designed to carry out the Governor's ideas on that subject. It establishes the bureau in the Department of Public Instruction and arranges for two divisions, agricultural and industrial, each under a chief at $4,000, two supervisors at $2,000 and two stenographers. The Attorney General's Department bill provides for a first deputy at $7,000, a deputy at $6,000, two deputies at $5,000 each, two deputies at $3,500 each, private secretary at $2,500, three law clerks at $3,000 each, stenographers at $1,200 each, messenger at $1,200 and a telephone operator at $900. All deputies are to be appointed by the Governor. In addition the Attorney General may employ special attorneys, but may not spend over $20,000 per year. The act also carries $2,000 for salaries to June 30. The act is designed to make effective the centralization of the legal business of the State.

township annexed to a city shall be assumed by the consolidated municipality. Validating bonds of any school district issued since May 18, 1911, under prescribed conditions. The Governor also signed the resolution requesting all officers of state departments to purchase and specify products of the United States and that the various counties, cities, boroughs, townships, boards of education and school boards and boards of public and private institutions be urged to do the same, and resolution for printing 50,000 copies of act to prevent desecration of the flag.

Bills Vetted
Governor Brumbaugh last night announced his veto of the Dunn House bill providing that school tax in first class districts might be levied at different rates in built-up and rural districts, holding that it is unconstitutional and is mistaken policy. The Governor says: "The reason for the bill seems to be that because in certain outlying districts the school facilities are claimed to be not equal to those in the more congested districts the tax levied in these outlying districts should be less than in the congested districts. If the law were to conform to this idea it would spell a hopeless outlook for the childhood of this outlying territory. The remedy is not to make a lower tax rate, thereby accepting a cheaper form of education for these children, but the remedy is to continue the uniform tax rate as the law requires and establish for these children educational opportunities commensurate with the rights of the people. In other words, the remedy lies with the boards of education in these districts whose function it is to provide education equally effective for the children of the entire district."

The Farley Senate bill, providing that all elevators be equipped with air cushions, was vetoed for the reason that a restriction to one class of safety devices would work a hardship and that the act does not provide for punishment of officials or directors of corporations guilty of violations. The Governor vetoed the Spangler House bill validating any acts of a corporation between issuance of letters patent and recording of charters, holding that the implication of the bill is too wide. The bill for the deficiency for Coalade Hospital was reduced from $17,209.21 to $13,019.47 and a resolution for recall of a bill signed last night was vetoed because the measure had become a law.

Friedman and Nori, Former Indian School Officials, Indicted in U. S. Court

Special to The Telegraph
Sunbury, Pa., May 8.—The grand jury in the United States court here returned true bills against Moses Friedman, ex-superintendent of the Carlisle Indian school, and S. J. Nori, his ex-chief clerk. Two counts are alleged, one is that they embezzled United States moneys, the other that they took money from Indian students. The Indian girls were brought here to testify. Miss Margaret Buffalo, a Chippewa, told the grand jury of alleged transactions with the pair, she saying she gave Nori and Friedman money to keep for her that she never got back. Susie Wallace, a Crow Indian maiden, who was a student at Carlisle, made the same statement before the grand jury. Nori also appeared as a witness against his former chief. It is understood that he is appearing State's evidence and has declared that any amount of money that he received from Indians that were not accounted for he turned over to Friedman.
