BALL PLAYER WINS GIRL FROM JACKIE

Both Proposed at Same Time; Landsman Had Taxi Waiting and Let Sailor in the Lurch

Special to The Telegraph Atlantic City, June 16.—Confronted by two persistent wooers, who arrived at the same time at her home in Northfield, each proposing immediate marriage, Miss Reba Rice the 18-year-old daughter of Mrs. Joseph Wheeler, proved herself equal to the occasion yesterday. Her choice lay between Hudson Wendnessness, a jackie on the battleship Utah, and John Smith, star member of the Pleasantville baseball team. Smith proved to be the lucky man. He had evidently felt sure of his ground, for he had a taxicab in readiness, and, after the couple had rushed to the machine and started at high speed for the resort, the sailor awoke to the fact that he was coming out second best. The jackie pursued the flying pair in another taxicab, but they transferred from one car to another when this city was reached, throwing the disappointed suitor off the track. Then they doubled back to Pleasantville, boarded an electric train for Camden, and confided to the few friends accompanying them that they were going to Elkton, Md. Word came late in the afternoon that the ceremony had been performed and that the couple will return to Pleasantville within a few days. Wendnessness idly-constolate, returned to his ship on a later train.

Final Effort to Land International Club For City Is Being Made

A final effort is being made to raise the $5,000 needed by to-morrow night in order to have the Newark franchise of the International League transferred to this city. The Pennsylvania Exhibition Company is boosting the proposition and has sent out 300 letters to local business men asking them to support the move. The local men interested in the change have until to-morrow night to notify President Barrow that they have the money he requires before the team will be transferred. The season books, selling at $20, are helping the fans of the city but the fans must have the 250 books sold to land the team in Harrisburg. The International League, rated a trifle lower than the majors would provide real baseball for the city, offering an opportunity that the fans are making every effort to snatch. Any one can get all information on the transfer, by calling Bell phone, 1051 or 958.

RULES FOR NATIONAL FOREST HOMESTEADS

Secretary of Agriculture Promulgates Regulations For Administering New Leasing Law

Washington, D. C., June 16.—The Secretary of Agriculture has promulgated a set of regulations for administering the new law which provides that national forest land may be leased for summer home sites and other recreational purposes in tracts of five acres or less for periods not to exceed thirty years. This law supplements the revocable permit system under which recreational use of the forests already had developed considerably. Many users have been unwilling to make substantial improvements because of the uncertainty of tenure involved in the old form of permit, which, however, is still expected to meet the requirements of persons who are not likely to occupy the land for more than a few years, or to make elaborate improvements. The primary object of the "term permits," as the leases are called, is not to obtain revenue but to promote the use of national forest land for recreational purposes, say the regulations. At the same time, since permittees receive special benefits it is regarded as only fair that they should reimburse the government for the expenditure incurred in administering the forests. The rates range from $5 a year up, in accordance with the location of the land, the demand for it, and the use to which it will be put. The district foresters are authorized to grant permits to applicants who intend to make improvements costing less than $1,000 and to use the land for a period not longer than fifteen years. All other permits will be approved by the forester at Washington.

Applications must be filed with the supervisor of the forest affected, designating the location of the land desired, the use to be made of it, and the approximate cost of contemplated improvements. Examination and survey of the land will be made by the forest service free of charge. An application for a hotel or summer resort site must be accompanied by plans and specifications of proposed structures and a statement as to their probable cost. The law stipulates five acres as the maximum, and it is believed that much less than this will suffice for most persons, but permittees will not be placed close together except when it is necessitated by heavy demand for land in a particular locality. Forest officers are instructed to prevent monopolistic control of desirable locations by individuals or groups and no permits will be given for lands which are subject to entry under the homestead law, nor for lands which will be needed for public or quasi-public purposes. Where provision for the needs of recreation users calls for such a course, the forest service reserves public camping or outing grounds, open without charge to all who desire to make use of them. The regulations provide among other things that permittees shall comply with State laws and the rules of the Department of Agriculture; that premises be kept neat and sanitary; that all reasonable precautions be taken to prevent forest fires, and that in the case of a hotel or resort the permittee shall conduct his business in a legal and orderly manner.
