JUST BURYING DEAD

DOG IS BURIED WITH $1

County Clerk Lebo Lays Down Precedent For All Time in Case of Constable J. Gruber

Dauphin county always does, always has and always will pay any constable a whole dollar if he buries a dog under certain conditions. The conditions are simple—the dog MUST be a dog, and the owner must be unable to such an extent as to warrant any citizen asking the constable to take his life, or he MUST be an ownerless animal who is making himself obnoxious by chasing chickens, pigs, sheep or otherwise misbehaving as a dog should.

Notwithstanding the fact that this is the law, Constable John Gruber, Middle Paxton township, yesterday raised a point as to what really constitutes the grounds for the claim for the dollar, and in refusing the claim Chief Clerk D. Frank Lebo, of the County Commissioners' office, after consulting with County Solicitor F. M. Ott, mouthed the precedent that will obtain hereafter.

The facts are these: Constable Gruber found a dead dog in the water trough on the Narrows road between Dauphin and Heckton, and he buried it. While on a visit to town yesterday he dropped around to the County Commissioners, stated the facts and claimed the dollar. Whereupon Mr. Lebo explained the law.

To Appoint Guardian for Estate.—Monday, July 12, at 10 o'clock, has been set for the Dauphin orphans' court for inquiring into the question of whether or not Miss Henrietta Eaton is able mentally to take care of her estate, and to appoint a guardian for the purpose.

Confirm Orphans' Court Accounts.—Fifty-five executors, administrators, guardians and trustees' accounts were presented in Orphans' court this morning for confirmation prior to the regular session of Argument court. Among the sales confirmed was the exchange of the old Bucher mansion at No. 1 South front street, for heirs or relatives of the Bucher family since 1790 to Attorney E. M. Hershey who will convert the structure into modern apartments. The house was owned by Lorne Hummel, Eliza Hummel, MacDonal, Helen Ray Donaldson, and they joined with Attorney John A. Herman as co-executors for the Hummel estate in asking the court for permission to sell the property.

At the Register's Office.—Letters of administration were issued to-day on the following estates: J. Frank Witter, Uniontown; to Isaac Harry Copenhaver, Hershey; to Mrs. Alice Copenhaver, Frank H. McCabe, city, to Jane McCabe. The will of Sarah Bishop was probated and in the instrument Benjamin W. Wolfe her executor.

Enter Paving Liens.—Three liens against property owners on Wisconsin street for unpaid paving assessments were entered by the city treasurer to-day.

Appointed Watchman.—Charles D. Blessing was appointed by the Dauphin county court to-day as night watchman of the Third ward. Howard M. Larnhart and Harry Rayson were appointed auditors to examine the school treasurer's accounts of Susquehanna township.

"Grandfather Clause" Held Unconstitutional

Special to The Telegraph

Washington, D. C., June 22.—The Oklahoma constitutional "grandfather clause" restricting the negro vote and the "grandfather clause" in the Annapolis (Md.) election statute were annulled as unconstitutional yesterday by the Supreme Court. Chief Justice White, for the court, held that the Oklahoma statute was a violation of the Fifteenth amendment to select an arbitrary date, such as 1866, in fixing the qualification of voters. In the Annapolis case property and other tests for voters enacted by the Maryland Legislature for Annapolis, in the same act in which the "grandfather clause" was inserted, was held to be so closely related to the "grandfather clause" as to make all the qualifications fail.

HIGHWAY WORK IS TO BE PUSHED ALONG

Governor Did Not Touch Very Heavily Upon the Appropriations For the State Roads

The importance of highway conditions in Pennsylvania is shown by the fact that Governor Brumbaugh approved the appropriations made to the State Highway Department almost in full. As passed by the Legislature, $8,400,000 was appropriated to the State Highway Department; as approved by the Governor, the sum is $5,800,000. He cut $1,000,000 from the Highway Department appropriation bill by reducing the item appropriating $300,000 for the payment of the expenses, costs and awards in the purchase or condemnation of turnpikes forming part of the State Highway routes, to $250,000. The other $50,000, he deducted from the $100,000 appropriation for the purpose of rebuilding, repair and maintenance of the National, or Cumberland Road.

In the general appropriation bill the sum set aside for engineers, clerks, etc., was cut from $358,800 to $250,000. The salaries and expense items of the Automobile Division, which includes the money paid for the purchase of automobile tags and plates, was cut from $200,000 to $180,000 and the item for complete the surveys and plotting of county and township roads was cut from $50,000 to $40,000.

SUBMARINE MOVIES AT THE COLONIAL

Fairy-Like World of Ocean's Bottom Delights Lovers of the Films

The Williamson submarine motion pictures, which without doubt have received more comment in the public prints than any other film ever manufactured, were presented at the Colonial Theater, in conjunction with its vaudeville show yesterday. They will be repeated at all performances to-day and to-morrow.

Yesterday was a rather warm day and I had been wishing that I might take the family into the country, but the editor decreed that Max must be on hand to review the Colonial show at night, so that settled it. When we got to the Colonial we were all glad we hadn't gone to the country, for the Colonial went us one better and took us to the very bottom of the ocean, where a fairy like world of gorgeous beauty exists and where fishes large and fishes small dart about in their graceful play.

At the Bottom of the Ocean. Have you ever spent an hour at the bottom of the ocean? Probably not. But you can spend a very profitable hour at a coral bed. The sweeping under getting wet, if you will drop into the Colonial to-day or to-morrow. If you think that the woodland on your favorite mountain offers beautiful scenery, just take a look at the marine growth that carpets the floor of the ocean and you will yield the palm to the beauty that lies beneath the briny deep.

The Williamson submarine pictures were of such educational value that the school children of New York were sent to see them, and their teachers look at a coral bed. The sweeping under water beaches of sugar white sand, the waving greens that rise into the water from the ocean's bed, the massive pinnacles that cling to the rocks in defiance of the hunter's hook, the fishes that inhabit the deep, all these are shown in their natural state, just as they exist down deep under the surface of the water.

How Pictures Are Taken. The Williamson brothers, who invented the device by which they are viewed into the water to take motion pictures, are Norfolk boys whose father was employed in the Navy Yard. There was often work to be done far under water, and the boys proved their ingenuity by making a water tight chamber that could be lowered into the sea and give the workman free use of his arms. This invention led to the later invention of a waterproof chamber from which moving pictures could be taken far under the water.

I was glad the Williamsons possessed such genius, and so was everybody else in the Colonial last night. We all learned much that we didn't know before. And it was a pleasant lesson, for everything that was unfolded before our eyes was interesting and most of it beautiful. There were soothing moments as the peaceful beaches a thousand feet below water presented themselves on the screen, there were tense moments as deep sea divers were shown in the bulk of a sunken ship seeking lost treasure, and there was a reel thrill when one of the Williamson boys met a shark far under the surface of the water and fought a duel to the death right in front of the camera's eye.

Every school child in Harrisburg and their uncles and their aunts and mammas and their papas, should see these pictures, for they are worth seeing and remembering.
