PENROSE RAPS AT PRIMARY SYSTEM

Senator Makes Comments Upon the Address of John C. Bane at Star Bar Meeting

Senator Boies Penrose, although within a year re-elected to the United States Senate by a popular vote, both at the Republican nominating primaries and at the general election last November, last night in Philadelphia reiterated his objections to the new system of naming representatives to the upper branch of the national Congress. He voiced this opposition in commenting upon a speech made by John C. Bane, a well-known lawyer of Pittsburgh, at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, yesterday at Cape May, N. J.

Mr. Bane contended that the constitutional amendment for the election of United States senators by direct popular vote "was one of the first substantial achievements of the crimes of representative government."

In commenting upon Attorney Bane's address Senator Penrose said:

"I agree with many of the views expressed in the speech referred to. I opposed the popular election of United States senators and voted against the measure whenever it came up in Congress. My opposition was based entirely upon my theory of the American government and not upon any personal grounds, as was shown by the fact that I cheerfully bowed to the will of the majority and submitted my name to the voters. The old way of electing United States senators was generally looked upon by publicists like Mr. Bryce, as ideal and better than any other method devised to create what is called an upper legislative chamber. The more you know of the machinery of the American government, the more you will be convinced that the United States Senate is the most important cog in the governmental machinery."

"The United States Senate has upon numerous occasions amply vindicated itself in its debates and decisions and has been of infinite service to the country."

"Now that we have the popular election of senators, the question arises how long can the Senate continue. In other words, will the American people tolerate two votes in the Senate from Nevada named by an electorate of not more than four or five thousand, and with a population not as large as many wards in Philadelphia, and having the same time the two votes equal to the two votes from Pennsylvania? If so, this condition is illogical, and is bound to cause a breakdown sooner or later when some vital question arises."

"The same thing applies to amendments to the Constitution. The smaller States like Nevada and Arizona have the same voice in amending the Constitution that New York and Pennsylvania have. It is not likely that the people will tolerate indefinitely having a lot of radical legislation hastened on their two-thirds vote of the States representing very small minority of the total vote of the country."

"We have started to undermine the Constitution and no one can tell where the bricks will fall."

THE BUCK CHILDREN

Among the visitors to Harrisburg on Monday afternoon, July 5, to view the Liberty Bell will be Frederick H. Buck and Ruthanna C. Buck, children of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Buck, Jr., of Enola, who are lineal descendants of John Harris, the founder of Harrisburg. Their mother, Mrs. Buck, is a great-great-granddaughter of William Maclay, who married Mary Harris, the eldest daughter of John Harris and his wife, Elizabeth McClure.

DIG THEIR OWN GRAVES

You have read that trenches have changed war; that the life of a soldier is regarded as so precious by those who devise the war machines that everything is done to protect him. "Digging in" and "trenchwork"—reassuring phrases for those who do not know, or for those who do not think. By statistics I tried to show how "safe" the trenches are. Yes, everything is done to safeguard the soldier; he is valuable to the State. But if trenches were devised to save the soldier, modern artillery and explosives were devised to kill him; and the only thing that makes you wonder about the trenches and their relative value to life is how a man can get into them and be alive at the end of the war.—Christian Herald.

FLIES AVOID BLUE

A French scientist is authority for the statement that flies have a distinct objection to the color blue. This was first discovered by a farmer who keeps a large number of cows in several sheds. One of these sheds happened to be painted blue on the inside and in this the cows were little troubled by flies. He blueed all the walls and thus protected all his cows. French farmers in the vicinity are now adding a blue coloring to their whitewash. Their formula is as follows: To twenty gallons of water add ten pounds of slacked lime and one pound of ultramarine. The walls are tinted twice during the summer.—The American Boy.

Shippensburg Civic Club Plans Fourth Celebration

Special to The Telegraph—Under the auspices of the Civic Club, Shippensburg, Pa., will observe Independence Day, Monday, July 5, along the lines of a "safe and sane Fourth." A similar affair last year was highly successful in every way and won much commendation. The committee this year fully expects to exceed the effort of last year and plans are being worked out with that in view.

At 6.30 o'clock p. m. a parade will be formed of the patriotic organizations, fire companies, Boy Scout troops, Camp Fire Girls, school children, etc., which will follow a route over the principal streets to the Athletic Park, in North Prince street, where the program will be completed. A patriotic address will be given by Professor J. K. Stewart, of the normal school faculty. The Edward Shippen Military Band has been engaged for the occasion and a large chorus is preparing to lead in the singing of patriotic songs. The display of fireworks has been selected with great care and will have many fine pieces.
