

BANK STATEMENT

Harrisburg National Bank
16 S. Market Square

DIRECTORS
Edward Bailey, William L. Gorgas, Ross A. Hickok,
A. S. McCreath, R. A. Keller, Jr., George W. Reilly,
Thomas T. Wierman.

Statement as of June 23, 1915

RESOURCES	LIABILITIES
Loans and Investments $1,788,863.76	Capital $300,000.00
Due from Banks 163,524.73	Surplus and Net Profits 436,870.54
Exchanges for Clearing House 21,691.15	Circulation 294,400.00
Cash and Reserve 585,658.30	Deposits 1,528,467.40
$2,559,737.94	$2,559,737.94

EDWARD BAILEY, President. WILLIAM L. GORGAS, Cashier.

Harrisburg Trust Company
16 S. Market Square

DIRECTORS
Edward Bailey, J. William Bowman, A. Fortenbaugh,
R. C. Goldsborough, E. S. Herman, H. L. Hershey,
A. S. McCreath, E. J. Stackpole, Harvey F. Smith,
E. Z. Wallower, George W. Reilly.

Statement as of June 23, 1915

RESOURCES	LIABILITIES
Loans $1,767,472.58	Capital $400,000.00
Bonds and Stocks 323,529.80	Surplus and Net Profits 435,936.40
Real Estate 147,800.00	Dividends Unpaid 550.00
Cash and Reserve 605,746.39	Deposits 2,008,062.37
$2,844,548.77	$2,844,548.77

Trust Funds $2,528,557.90
Corporate Trusts 24,166,400.00

EDWARD BAILEY, President. GEORGE W. REILLY, Pres. and Secy.
E. KEIL, Cashier. GEORGE E. CARL, Treasurer.

GEORGE KENNEDY DEAD AFTER LONG ILLNESS

[Continued from First Page.]

dillon had been very serious. His death was not entirely unexpected.

City and county officials circles in the Courthouse were startled, nevertheless, when word was received this morning of the former water superintendent's death and notwithstanding the fact that he was not a member of the recently organized Harrisburg Councilmanic Association—an organization of former city councilmen—there was some talk of paying floral tribute to his memory either collectively or by individual office forces.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock from his late home and the Rev. Dr. Lewis S. Mudge, pastor of Pine Street Presbyterian Church, will officiate. Burial will be made in the Harrisburg cemetery.

Born in This City

George Grant Kennedy was the son of J. Lemuel and Martha Barnard Kennedy, the former having served as a select councilman for years in the Sixth ward. Mr. Kennedy was born in the Sixth ward November 12, 1864, and was educated in the public schools of Harrisburg. When a young man he entered the jewelry business, serving his apprenticeship with George A. Hutman. Upon finishing his trade he began business for himself in North Sixth street. He left the city to become a clerk in the city water department in 1892, succeeding Charles B. Stucker, of the present firm of Stucker Brothers Construction Company in the same position. In 1902, Mr. Kennedy was chosen secretary of the city water board and superintendent of Harrisburg's water department. There he served faithfully until January 1, 1914, when he resigned, along with many other officials of the old bicameral system of government, upon City Commissioner Harry F. Bowman's assumption to the office of head of the department of public safety. This included the bureau of water and lighting and the water superintendency was abolished.

In June, 1904, Mr. Kennedy married Miss Flora VanOrmer. His widow, two sisters, Miss Maude Kennedy, assistant principal of the Cameron school, and Mrs. Edwin E. Woolery, of Huntingdon, Ind., his stepmother and step-sister, Mrs. H. E. Sanderson, survive him.

Directed Extensive Improvements

Under his jurisdiction some of the most extensive improvements ever made by the city water department were accomplished, many of which were worked out by Mr. Kennedy. The erection of the city's splendid filtration plant, the installation of the new high service station at Reservoir and the removal of the old historic standpipes were all done during Mr. Kennedy's regime.

As the secretary of the water department Mr. Kennedy had jurisdiction of Reservoir Park and when the additional acreage of the Hoffer tract was included in the park stretch the former water superintendent helped plan the layout of the new section of park. Several times during his administration the great reservoir was emptied of water entirely and cleaned of the accumulations of debris. Invariably Mr. Kennedy, in old clothes and boots, could be found on the mid-strewn bed of the reservoir personally supervising the work.

Incidentally, Mr. Kennedy was probably the originator of the public band concerts at Reservoir. He organized the movement and helped to boost the subscription idea in order to give Harrisburg's folks a chance to hear free band music.

Belonged to Many Clubs

While a member of Pine Street church, Mr. Kennedy was also a great club and secret society man. He belonged to the noted Social Club, the Engineers' Society of Pennsylvania and the Elks. His other secret society affiliations included Cornplanter Tribe of Red Men. From the time he could

MEADE MONUMENT

Steelton (MIDDLETOWN & HIGHSPIRE & ROYALTON OBERLID-ENHAUT)

CHARLES SHUTTER
DIES UNEXPECTEDLY

Former Head of Steelton Water Works Succumbs to Paralysis; Was Widely Known

Parade, Sports, Baseball Games and Band Concert Just a Few Activities

STEELTON ALL READY FOR BIG CELEBRATION

Governor Brumbaugh will meet next week with the Meade Monument Commission for the first time and it is expected that preliminary selection of a design will be taken. The monument is to be erected on the national capital at a point not far from the Capitol and will be a representation of the Gettysburg victor in heroic size. The government has furnished the State with the money and the figure is now being considered.

Governor Brumbaugh and Attorney General Brown take the part of the commission as members of the commission.

Keeping Tabs On Mishaps—Eighty of the 4,500 industrial accidents which occurred in Pennsylvania during June were fatal and the mines had the greatest proportion of the fatalities, according to the summary of accident reports issued by the bureau of statistics in the Department of Labor and Industry, which is following very closely the industrial situation. Three hundred and twenty of the accidents are rated as serious, and 4,108 as minor. Classified according to industries, it is shown that 1,644 were in the metal trades, 1,252 in public service, such as railroads, and 1,160 in mines. This division will play an important part in the workmen's compensation system which is about to be established. The income of their reported to it and the data collated for State use.

Plenty of Young Fish—Pennsylvania will have an abundance of young bass and trout to distribute to the streams of the State this fall, according to N. R. Buller, State Commissioner of Fisheries, who has just returned from inspection of the trout division for the first half of the year was $250,839.90, which is the largest ever known in a similar period. The cost of operating the division is less than $82,000 a year, and the net revenue received amounted to $225,810.78.

To Inspect Sites—Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the State Game Commission, will make a tour of a number of northern and western counties to inspect sites for game preserves which have been offered for leasing. Under the new law the commission can lease lands where suitable for the establishment of places where game will be safe all the year round. Some of these tracts are in the State Game Commission's hands, but the rental will be small. The commission plans to make large purchases of game for next year.

City Clerk Visits Capitol—The State Capitol was visited by morning high school and school clubs in the month just closed than in any month in years. On some days the number of visitors ran into the hundreds, and this morning after afternoon school clubs gathered through the building in parties. The opening of the building to visitors on Sundays and holidays brought up the attendance to high schools.

Off for Holiday—The State government has shut up shop for the Independence Day holidays and practically every person could get away left the "hill" yesterday afternoon, except her home to remain until Monday night or Tuesday. The holiday is more extensive than usual, as generally business concerns are closed, but this time everyone is to have Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Governor Brumbaugh is not expected to return to the city until Tuesday, when he will resume business, and Governor General Brown is figuring on getting week or ten days vacation. State Commissioner of Health Dixon is on a trip to the Pacific coast and most of the other heads of departments, except Adjutant General Stewart, who is preparing for the encampments, have gone away.

The Public Service Commission are due to meet today Tuesday for a week's hearing, the first of a long series in the hottest month of the year.

Rush to License—Officials of the State Highway Department have been not only surprised, but gratified, at the manner in which applications for half-yearly licenses are being made by the owners of automobiles and trucks. Under the law the department may issue a license for half a year after July 1 at one-half the rates. The total number of licenses issued the first day surpassed expectations and 11,000. In addition a number of applications for motor car registration have been made for other cars not yet officially listed.

Dr. Surface Honored—The Fruit World, the big horticultural journal of Australia, contains an article by Dr. H. A. Surface, the State Zoologist, on American methods of pruning and fertilizing peach trees. It is taken from one of the Pennsylvania Bulletin and was written by a man who is highly complimented in the journal.

Baldwin to Farmers—State Fire Marshal Baldwin has issued a special bulletin to the farmers of the State urging them to clean up their premises to keep them clean to avoid fire damage. The marshal's letter gives many hints and shows that he has been keeping in as close touch with rural conditions as with those in industrial establishments.

Five For Conscience—The State Treasury yesterday afternoon received $5 for the conscience fund. It came from Pittsburgh, which has sent several similar donations, with no name or address.

Can't Accept—The State is unable to accept the offer of the Aero Club of Philadelphia for the organization of an aeroplane corps in connection with the National Guard of the State because it has no legal authority. The office of the adjutant general it was said to-day that a special act of the legislature would be necessary for the creation of any new branch of the National Guard and that even if the present regulations did allow the formation of an air corps the department is without money to finance the project.

BRAKEMAN'S SKULL FRACTURED

The condition of George Snyder, 336 Peffer street, brakeman for the Pennsylvania Railroad, who sustained a fractured skull when struck by a train at Lancaster last night, will probably recover, according to a telegram from the Lancaster General Hospital this afternoon. Snyder was leaning out from his train examining a faulty brake when a train on another track struck him on the head.

Bowman's
CALL 1991—ANY PHONE FOUNDED 1871

WHY PAY MORE?
For brand-new, first-class, guaranteed (3,500 miles)

Goodyear Fortified Tires

You can save a neat sum on each tire by purchasing here—from one of the largest stocks in Central Pennsylvania.

Compare this new

Bowman Price List

With prices you are now paying

Size	Plain Tread	Non-Skid	Size	Plain Tread	Non-Skid
28x3	$7.21	$8.46	33x4	$16.48	$19.29
30x3	7.69	8.98	34x4	16.85	19.73
32x3	8.59	10.01	35x4	17.63	20.65
30x3 1/2	10.01	11.73	36x4	17.95	20.95
31x3 1/2	10.59	12.39	35x4 1/2	23.39	27.45
32x3 1/2	11.55	13.49	36x4 1/2	23.79	27.85
33x3 1/2	13.39	15.68	37x4 1/2	24.79	28.98
34x3 1/2	13.05	15.35	35x5	26.19	32.75
31x4	15.36	18.01	37x5	27.69	34.69

Other sizes at proportionate reductions.

Agents for Kelly-Springfield, Capitol and Nassau Tires

Investigate the Bowman Emergency Tire Service before going on the holiday trip.

Governor Brumbaugh will meet next week with the Meade Monument Commission for the first time and it is expected that preliminary selection of a design will be taken. The monument is to be erected on the national capital at a point not far from the Capitol and will be a representation of the Gettysburg victor in heroic size. The government has furnished the State with the money and the figure is now being considered.

Governor Brumbaugh and Attorney General Brown take the part of the commission as members of the commission.

Keeping Tabs On Mishaps—Eighty of the 4,500 industrial accidents which occurred in Pennsylvania during June were fatal and the mines had the greatest proportion of the fatalities, according to the summary of accident reports issued by the bureau of statistics in the Department of Labor and Industry, which is following very closely the industrial situation. Three hundred and twenty of the accidents are rated as serious, and 4,108 as minor. Classified according to industries, it is shown that 1,644 were in the metal trades, 1,252 in public service, such as railroads, and 1,160 in mines. This division will play an important part in the workmen's compensation system which is about to be established. The income of their reported to it and the data collated for State use.

Plenty of Young Fish—Pennsylvania will have an abundance of young bass and trout to distribute to the streams of the State this fall, according to N. R. Buller, State Commissioner of Fisheries, who has just returned from inspection of the trout division for the first half of the year was $250,839.90, which is the largest ever known in a similar period. The cost of operating the division is less than $82,000 a year, and the net revenue received amounted to $225,810.78.

To Inspect Sites—Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the State Game Commission, will make a tour of a number of northern and western counties to inspect sites for game preserves which have been offered for leasing. Under the new law the commission can lease lands where suitable for the establishment of places where game will be safe all the year round. Some of these tracts are in the State Game Commission's hands, but the rental will be small. The commission plans to make large purchases of game for next year.

City Clerk Visits Capitol—The State Capitol was visited by morning high school and school clubs in the month just closed than in any month in years. On some days the number of visitors ran into the hundreds, and this morning after afternoon school clubs gathered through the building in parties. The opening of the building to visitors on Sundays and holidays brought up the attendance to high schools.

Off for Holiday—The State government has shut up shop for the Independence Day holidays and practically every person could get away left the "hill" yesterday afternoon, except her home to remain until Monday night or Tuesday. The holiday is more extensive than usual, as generally business concerns are closed, but this time everyone is to have Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Governor Brumbaugh is not expected to return to the city until Tuesday, when he will resume business, and Governor General Brown is figuring on getting week or ten days vacation. State Commissioner of Health Dixon is on a trip to the Pacific coast and most of the other heads of departments, except Adjutant General Stewart, who is preparing for the encampments, have gone away.

The Public Service Commission are due to meet today Tuesday for a week's hearing, the first of a long series in the hottest month of the year.

Rush to License—Officials of the State Highway Department have been not only surprised, but gratified, at the manner in which applications for half-yearly licenses are being made by the owners of automobiles and trucks. Under the law the department may issue a license for half a year after July 1 at one-half the rates. The total number of licenses issued the first day surpassed expectations and 11,000. In addition a number of applications for motor car registration have been made for other cars not yet officially listed.

Dr. Surface Honored—The Fruit World, the big horticultural journal of Australia, contains an article by Dr. H. A. Surface, the State Zoologist, on American methods of pruning and fertilizing peach trees. It is taken from one of the Pennsylvania Bulletin and was written by a man who is highly complimented in the journal.

Baldwin to Farmers—State Fire Marshal Baldwin has issued a special bulletin to the farmers of the State urging them to clean up their premises to keep them clean to avoid fire damage. The marshal's letter gives many hints and shows that he has been keeping in as close touch with rural conditions as with those in industrial establishments.

Five For Conscience—The State Treasury yesterday afternoon received $5 for the conscience fund. It came from Pittsburgh, which has sent several similar donations, with no name or address.

Can't Accept—The State is unable to accept the offer of the Aero Club of Philadelphia for the organization of an aeroplane corps in connection with the National Guard of the State because it has no legal authority. The office of the adjutant general it was said to-day that a special act of the legislature would be necessary for the creation of any new branch of the National Guard and that even if the present regulations did allow the formation of an air corps the department is without money to finance the project.

BRAKEMAN'S SKULL FRACTURED

The condition of George Snyder, 336 Peffer street, brakeman for the Pennsylvania Railroad, who sustained a fractured skull when struck by a train at Lancaster last night, will probably recover, according to a telegram from the Lancaster General Hospital this afternoon. Snyder was leaning out from his train examining a faulty brake when a train on another track struck him on the head.

Governor Brumbaugh will meet next week with the Meade Monument Commission for the first time and it is expected that preliminary selection of a design will be taken. The monument is to be erected on the national capital at a point not far from the Capitol and will be a representation of the Gettysburg victor in heroic size. The government has furnished the State with the money and the figure is now being considered.

Governor Brumbaugh and Attorney General Brown take the part of the commission as members of the commission.

Keeping Tabs On Mishaps—Eighty of the 4,500 industrial accidents which occurred in Pennsylvania during June were fatal and the mines had the greatest proportion of the fatalities, according to the summary of accident reports issued by the bureau of statistics in the Department of Labor and Industry, which is following very closely the industrial situation. Three hundred and twenty of the accidents are rated as serious, and 4,108 as minor. Classified according to industries, it is shown that 1,644 were in the metal trades, 1,252 in public service, such as railroads, and 1,160 in mines. This division will play an important part in the workmen's compensation system which is about to be established. The income of their reported to it and the data collated for State use.

Plenty of Young Fish—Pennsylvania will have an abundance of young bass and trout to distribute to the streams of the State this fall, according to N. R. Buller, State Commissioner of Fisheries, who has just returned from inspection of the trout division for the first half of the year was $250,839.90, which is the largest ever known in a similar period. The cost of operating the division is less than $82,000 a year, and the net revenue received amounted to $225,810.78.

To Inspect Sites—Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the State Game Commission, will make a tour of a number of northern and western counties to inspect sites for game preserves which have been offered for leasing. Under the new law the commission can lease lands where suitable for the establishment of places where game will be safe all the year round. Some of these tracts are in the State Game Commission's hands, but the rental will be small. The commission plans to make large purchases of game for next year.

City Clerk Visits Capitol—The State Capitol was visited by morning high school and school clubs in the month just closed than in any month in years. On some days the number of visitors ran into the hundreds, and this morning after afternoon school clubs gathered through the building in parties. The opening of the building to visitors on Sundays and holidays brought up the attendance to high schools.

Off for Holiday—The State government has shut up shop for the Independence Day holidays and practically every person could get away left the "hill" yesterday afternoon, except her home to remain until Monday night or Tuesday. The holiday is more extensive than usual, as generally business concerns are closed, but this time everyone is to have Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Governor Brumbaugh is not expected to return to the city until Tuesday, when he will resume business, and Governor General Brown is figuring on getting week or ten days vacation. State Commissioner of Health Dixon is on a trip to the Pacific coast and most of the other heads of departments, except Adjutant General Stewart, who is preparing for the encampments, have gone away.

The Public Service Commission are due to meet today Tuesday for a week's hearing, the first of a long series in the hottest month of the year.

Rush to License—Officials of the State Highway Department have been not only surprised, but gratified, at the manner in which applications for half-yearly licenses are being made by the owners of automobiles and trucks. Under the law the department may issue a license for half a year after July 1 at one-half the rates. The total number of licenses issued the first day surpassed expectations and 11,000. In addition a number of applications for motor car registration have been made for other cars not yet officially listed.

Dr. Surface Honored—The Fruit World, the big horticultural journal of Australia, contains an article by Dr. H. A. Surface, the State Zoologist, on American methods of pruning and fertilizing peach trees. It is taken from one of the Pennsylvania Bulletin and was written by a man who is highly complimented in the journal.

Baldwin to Farmers—State Fire Marshal Baldwin has issued a special bulletin to the farmers of the State urging them to clean up their premises to keep them clean to avoid fire damage. The marshal's letter gives many hints and shows that he has been keeping in as close touch with rural conditions as with those in industrial establishments.

Five For Conscience—The State Treasury yesterday afternoon received $5 for the conscience fund. It came from Pittsburgh, which has sent several similar donations, with no name or address.

Can't Accept—The State is unable to accept the offer of the Aero Club of Philadelphia for the organization of an aeroplane corps in connection with the National Guard of the State because it has no legal authority. The office of the adjutant general it was said to-day that a special act of the legislature would be necessary for the creation of any new branch of the National Guard and that even if the present regulations did allow the formation of an air corps the department is without money to finance the project.

BRAKEMAN'S SKULL FRACTURED

The condition of George Snyder, 336 Peffer street, brakeman for the Pennsylvania Railroad, who sustained a fractured skull when struck by a train at Lancaster last night, will probably recover, according to a telegram from the Lancaster General Hospital this afternoon. Snyder was leaning out from his train examining a faulty brake when a train on another track struck him on the head.

Governor Brumbaugh will meet next week with the Meade Monument Commission for the first time and it is expected that preliminary selection of a design will be taken. The monument is to be erected on the national capital at a point not far from the Capitol and will be a representation of the Gettysburg victor in heroic size. The government has furnished the State with the money and the figure is now being considered.

Governor Brumbaugh and Attorney General Brown take the part of the commission as members of the commission.

Keeping Tabs On Mishaps—Eighty of the 4,500 industrial accidents which occurred in Pennsylvania during June were fatal and the mines had the greatest proportion of the fatalities, according to the summary of accident reports issued by the bureau of statistics in the Department of Labor and Industry, which is following very closely the industrial situation. Three hundred and twenty of the accidents are rated as serious, and 4,108 as minor. Classified according to industries, it is shown that 1,644 were in the metal trades, 1,252 in public service, such as railroads, and 1,160 in mines. This division will play an important part in the workmen's compensation system which is about to be established. The income of their reported to it and the data collated for State use.

Plenty of Young Fish—Pennsylvania will have an abundance of young bass and trout to distribute to the streams of the State this fall, according to N. R. Buller, State Commissioner of Fisheries, who has just returned from inspection of the trout division for the first half of the year was $250,839.90, which is the largest ever known in a similar period. The cost of operating the division is less than $82,000 a year, and the net revenue received amounted to $225,810.78.

To Inspect Sites—Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the State Game Commission, will make a tour of a number of northern and western counties to inspect sites for game preserves which have been offered for leasing. Under the new law the commission can lease lands where suitable for the establishment of places where game will be safe all the year round. Some of these tracts are in the State Game Commission's hands, but the rental will be small. The commission plans to make large purchases of game for next year.

City Clerk Visits Capitol—The State Capitol was visited by morning high school and school clubs in the month just closed than in any month in years. On some days the number of visitors ran into the hundreds, and this morning after afternoon school clubs gathered through the building in parties. The opening of the building to visitors on Sundays and holidays brought up the attendance to high schools.

Off for Holiday—The State government has shut up shop for the Independence Day holidays and practically every person could get away left the "hill" yesterday afternoon, except her home to remain until Monday night or Tuesday. The holiday is more extensive than usual, as generally business concerns are closed, but this time everyone is to have Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Governor Brumbaugh is not expected to return to the city until Tuesday, when he will resume business, and Governor General Brown is figuring on getting week or ten days vacation. State Commissioner of Health Dixon is on a trip to the Pacific coast and most of the other heads of departments, except Adjutant General Stewart, who is preparing for the encampments, have gone away.

The Public Service Commission are due to meet today Tuesday for a week's hearing, the first of a long series in the hottest month of the year.

Rush to License—Officials of the State Highway Department have been not only surprised, but gratified, at the manner in which applications for half-yearly licenses are being made by the owners of automobiles and trucks. Under the law the department may issue a license for half a year after July 1 at one-half the rates. The total number of licenses issued the first day surpassed expectations and 11,000. In addition a number of applications for motor car registration have been made for other cars not yet officially listed.

Dr. Surface Honored—The Fruit World, the big horticultural journal of Australia, contains an article by Dr. H. A. Surface, the State Zoologist, on American methods of pruning and fertilizing peach trees. It is taken from one of the Pennsylvania Bulletin and was written by a man who is highly complimented in the journal.

Baldwin to Farmers—State Fire Marshal Baldwin has issued a special bulletin to the farmers of the State urging them to clean up their premises to keep them clean to avoid fire damage. The marshal's letter gives many hints and shows that he has been keeping in as close touch with rural conditions as with those in industrial establishments.

Five For Conscience—The State Treasury yesterday afternoon received $5 for the conscience fund. It came from Pittsburgh, which has sent several similar donations, with no name or address.

Can't Accept—The State is unable to accept the offer of the Aero Club of Philadelphia for the organization of an aeroplane corps in connection with the National Guard of the State because it has no legal authority. The office of the adjutant general it was said to-day that a special act of the legislature would be necessary for the creation of any new branch of the National Guard and that even if the present regulations did allow the formation of an air corps the department is without money to finance the project.

BRAKEMAN'S SKULL FRACTURED

The condition of George Snyder, 336 Peffer street, brakeman for the Pennsylvania Railroad, who sustained a fractured skull when struck by a train at Lancaster last night, will probably recover, according to a telegram from the Lancaster General Hospital this afternoon. Snyder was leaning out from his train examining a faulty brake when a train on another track struck him on the head.

Governor Brumbaugh will meet next week with the Meade Monument Commission for the first time and it is expected that preliminary selection of a design will be taken. The monument is to be erected on the national capital at a point not far from the Capitol and will be a representation of the Gettysburg victor in heroic size. The government has furnished the State with the money and the figure is now being considered.

Governor Brumbaugh and Attorney General Brown take the part of the commission as members of the commission.

Keeping Tabs On Mishaps—Eighty of the 4,500 industrial accidents which occurred in Pennsylvania during June were fatal and the mines had the greatest proportion of the fatalities, according to the summary of accident reports issued by the bureau of statistics in the Department of Labor and Industry, which is following very closely the industrial situation. Three hundred and twenty of the accidents are rated as serious, and 4,108 as minor. Classified according to industries, it is shown that 1,644 were in the metal trades, 1,252 in public service, such as railroads, and 1,160 in mines. This division will play an important part in the workmen's compensation system which is about to be established. The income of their reported to it and the data collated for State use.

Plenty of Young Fish—Pennsylvania will have an abundance of young bass and trout to distribute to the streams of the State this fall, according to N. R. Buller, State Commissioner of Fisheries, who has just returned from inspection of the trout division for the first half of the year was $250,839.90, which is the largest ever known in a similar period. The cost of operating the division is less than $82,000 a year, and the net revenue received amounted to $225,810.78.

To Inspect Sites—Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the State Game Commission, will make a tour of a number of northern and western counties to inspect sites for game preserves which have been offered for leasing. Under the new law the commission can lease lands where suitable for the establishment of places where game will be safe all the year round. Some of these tracts are in the State Game Commission's hands, but the rental will be small. The commission plans to make large purchases of game for next year.

City Clerk Visits Capitol—The State Capitol was visited by morning high school and school clubs in the month just closed than in any month in years. On some days the number of visitors ran into the hundreds, and this morning after afternoon school clubs gathered through the building in parties. The opening of the building to visitors on Sundays and holidays brought up the attendance to high schools.

Off for Holiday—The State government has shut up shop for the Independence Day holidays and practically every person could get away left the "hill" yesterday afternoon, except her home to remain until Monday night or Tuesday. The holiday is more extensive than usual, as generally business concerns are closed, but this time everyone is to have Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Governor Brumbaugh is not expected to return to the city until Tuesday, when he will resume business, and Governor General Brown is figuring on getting week or ten days vacation. State Commissioner of Health Dixon is on a trip to the Pacific coast and most of the other heads of departments, except Adjutant General Stewart, who is preparing for the encampments, have gone away.

The Public Service Commission are due to meet today Tuesday for a week's hearing, the first of a long series in the hottest month of the year.

Rush to License—Officials of the State Highway Department have been not only surprised, but gratified, at the manner in which applications for half-yearly licenses are being made by the owners of automobiles and trucks. Under the law the department may issue a license for half a year after July 1 at one-half the rates. The total number of licenses issued the first day surpassed expectations and 11,000. In addition a number of applications for motor car registration have been made for other cars not yet officially listed.

Dr. Surface Honored—The Fruit World, the big horticultural journal of Australia, contains an article by Dr. H. A. Surface, the State Zoologist, on American methods of pruning and fertilizing peach trees. It is taken from one of the Pennsylvania Bulletin and was written by a man who is highly complimented in the journal.

Baldwin to Farmers—State Fire Marshal Baldwin has issued a special bulletin to the farmers of the State urging them to clean up their premises to keep them clean to avoid fire damage. The marshal's letter gives many hints and shows that he has been keeping in as close touch with rural conditions as with those in industrial establishments.

Five For Conscience—The State Treasury yesterday afternoon received $5 for the conscience fund. It came from Pittsburgh, which has sent several similar donations, with no name or address.

Can't Accept—The State is unable to accept the offer of the Aero Club of Philadelphia for the organization of an aeroplane corps in connection with the National Guard of the State because it has no legal authority. The office of the adjutant general it was said to-day that a special act of the legislature would be necessary for the creation of any new branch of the National Guard and that even if the present regulations did allow the formation of an air corps the department is without money to finance the project.

BRAKEMAN'S SKULL FRACTURED

The condition of George Snyder, 336 Peffer street, brakeman for the Pennsylvania Railroad, who sustained a fractured skull when struck by a train at Lancaster last night, will probably recover, according to a telegram from the Lancaster General Hospital this afternoon. Snyder was leaning out from his train examining a faulty brake when a train on another track struck him on the head.

Governor Brumbaugh will meet next week with the Meade Monument Commission for the first time and it is expected that preliminary selection of a design will be taken. The monument is to be erected on the national capital at a point not far from the Capitol and will be a representation of the Gettysburg victor in heroic size. The government has furnished the State with the money and the figure is now being considered.

Governor Brumbaugh and Attorney General Brown take the part of the commission as members of the commission.

Keeping Tabs On Mishaps—Eighty of the 4,500 industrial accidents which occurred in Pennsylvania during June were fatal and the mines had the greatest proportion of the fatalities, according to the summary of accident reports issued by the bureau of statistics in the Department of Labor and Industry, which is following very closely the industrial situation. Three hundred and twenty of the accidents are rated as serious, and 4,108 as minor. Classified according to industries, it is shown that 1,644 were in the metal trades, 1,252 in public service, such as railroads, and 1,160 in mines. This division will play an important part in the workmen's compensation system which is about to be established. The income of their reported to it and the data collated for State use.

Plenty of Young Fish—Pennsylvania will have an abundance of young bass and trout to distribute to the streams of the State this fall, according to N. R. Buller, State Commissioner of Fisheries, who has just returned from inspection of the trout division for the first half of the year was $250,839.90, which is the largest ever known in a similar period. The cost of operating the division is less than $82,000 a year, and the net revenue received amounted to $225,810.78.

To Inspect Sites—Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the State Game Commission, will make a tour of a number of northern and western counties to inspect sites for game preserves which have been offered for leasing. Under the new law the commission can lease lands where suitable for the establishment of places where game will be safe all the year round. Some of these tracts are in the State Game Commission's hands, but the rental will be small. The commission plans to make large purchases of game for next year.

City Clerk Visits Capitol—The State Capitol was visited by morning high school and school clubs in the month just closed than in any month in years. On some days the number of visitors ran into the hundreds, and this morning after afternoon school clubs gathered through the building in parties. The opening of the building to visitors on Sundays and holidays brought up the attendance to high schools.

Off for Holiday—The State government has shut up shop for the Independence Day holidays and practically every person could get away left the "hill" yesterday afternoon, except her home to remain until Monday night or Tuesday. The holiday is more extensive than usual, as generally business concerns are closed, but this time everyone is to have Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Governor Brumbaugh is not expected to return to the city until Tuesday, when he will resume business, and Governor General Brown is figuring on getting week or ten days vacation. State Commissioner of Health Dixon is on a trip to the Pacific coast and most of the other heads of departments, except Adjutant General Stewart, who is preparing for the encampments, have gone away.

The Public Service Commission are due to meet today Tuesday for a week's hearing, the first of a long series in the hottest month of the year.

Rush to License—Officials of the State Highway Department have been not only surprised, but gratified, at the manner in which applications for half-yearly licenses are being made by the owners of automobiles and trucks. Under the law the department may issue a license for half a year after July 1 at one-half the rates. The total number of licenses issued the first day surpassed expectations and 11,000. In addition a number of applications for motor car registration have been made for other cars not yet officially listed.

Dr. Surface Honored—The Fruit World, the big horticultural journal of Australia, contains an article by Dr. H. A. Surface, the State Zoologist, on American methods of pruning and fertilizing peach trees. It is taken from one of the Pennsylvania Bulletin and was written by a man who is highly complimented in the journal.

Baldwin to Farmers—State Fire Marshal Baldwin has issued a special bulletin to the farmers of the State urging them to clean up their premises to keep them clean to avoid fire damage. The marshal's letter gives many hints and shows that he has been keeping in as close touch with rural conditions as with those in industrial establishments.

Five For Conscience—The State Treasury yesterday afternoon received $5 for the conscience fund. It came from Pittsburgh, which has sent several similar donations, with no name or address.

Can't Accept—The State is unable to accept the offer of the Aero Club of Philadelphia for the organization of an aeroplane corps in connection with the National Guard of the State because it has no legal authority. The office of the adjutant general it was said to-day that a special act of the legislature would be necessary for the creation of any new branch of the National Guard and that even if the present regulations did allow the formation of an air corps the department is without money to finance the project.

BRAKEMAN'S SKULL FRACTURED

The condition of George Snyder, 336 Peffer street, brakeman for the Pennsylvania Railroad, who sustained a fractured skull when struck by a train at Lancaster last night, will probably recover, according to a telegram from the Lancaster General Hospital this afternoon. Snyder was leaning out from his train examining a faulty brake when a train on another track struck him on the head.

Governor Brumbaugh will meet next week with the Meade Monument Commission for the first time and it is expected that preliminary selection of a design will be taken. The monument is to be erected on the national capital at a point not far from the Capitol and will be a representation of the Gettysburg victor in heroic size. The government has furnished the State with the money and the figure is now being considered.

Governor Brumbaugh and Attorney General Brown take the part of the commission as members of the commission.

Keeping Tabs On Mishaps—Eighty of the 4,500 industrial accidents which occurred in Pennsylvania during June were fatal and the mines had the greatest proportion of the fatalities, according to the summary of accident reports issued by the bureau of statistics in the Department of Labor and Industry, which is following very closely the industrial situation. Three hundred and twenty of the accidents are rated as serious, and 4,108 as minor. Classified according to industries, it is shown that 1,644 were in the metal trades, 1,252 in public service, such as railroads, and 1,160 in mines. This division will play an important part in the workmen's compensation system which is about to be established. The income of their reported to it and the data collated for State use.

Plenty of Young Fish—Pennsylvania will have an abundance of young bass and trout to distribute to the streams of the State this fall, according to N. R. Buller, State Commissioner of Fisheries, who has just returned from inspection of the trout division for the first half of the year was $250,839.90, which is the largest ever known in a similar period. The cost of operating the division is less than $82,000 a year, and the net revenue received amounted to $225,810.78.

To Inspect Sites—Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the State Game Commission, will make a tour of a number of northern and western counties to inspect sites for game preserves which have been offered for leasing. Under the new law the commission can lease lands where suitable for the establishment of places where game will be safe all the year round. Some of these tracts are in the State Game Commission's hands, but the rental will be small. The commission plans to make large purchases of game for next year.

City Clerk Visits Capitol—The State Capitol was visited by morning high school and school clubs in the month just closed than in any month in years. On some days the number of visitors ran into the hundreds, and this morning after afternoon school clubs gathered through the building in parties. The opening of the building to visitors on Sundays and holidays brought up the attendance to high schools.

Off for Holiday—The State government has shut up shop for the Independence Day holidays and practically every person could get away left the "hill" yesterday afternoon, except her home to remain until Monday night or Tuesday. The holiday is more extensive than usual, as generally business concerns are closed, but this time everyone is to have Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Governor Brumbaugh is not expected to return to the city until Tuesday, when he will resume business, and Governor General Brown is figuring on getting week or ten days vacation. State Commissioner of Health Dixon is on a trip to the Pacific coast and most of the other heads of departments, except Adjutant General Stewart, who is preparing for the encampments, have gone away.

The Public Service Commission are due to meet today Tuesday for a week's hearing, the first of a long series in the hottest month of the year.

Rush to License—Officials of the State Highway Department have been not only surprised, but gratified, at the manner in which applications for half-yearly licenses are being made by the owners