

ARCHBISHOP'S BODY TAKEN TO CHICAGO

Funeral Services For Most Rev. James Edward Quigley Conducted in Rochester

By Associated Press. Rochester, N. Y., July 12.—Funeral services for Most Rev. James Edward Quigley, Catholic archbishop of Chicago, who died in this city Saturday, were held today in St. Patrick's Cathedral where a pontifical mass of requiem was celebrated by Bishop Thomas F. Hickey, of Rochester.

Long before the services opened the street in front of the cathedral was crowded. The body of the Archbishop, clad in full Episcopal vestments, rested on a catafalque in the chancel. The casket was draped in black and at the conclusion of the mass the pall was removed so that those who wished might view the body.

A delegation of 60 priests and a number of laymen from Chicago attended as well as priests from Buffalo, eastern cities and Canada, members of sisterhoods and delegations from various Catholic societies.

Bishop Hickey was assisted by the Very Rev. M. J. Fitzsimmons, administrator of the Chicago archdiocese, Arch Priest the Rev. John E. Waseeth and the Rev. Raymond C. Quigley, deacon and subdeacon, respectively; the Very Rev. A. J. Thelle, Chicago, one of the late prelate's three vicar generals and the Rev. J. J. Jennings of Chicago, honorary deacons; the Rev. Daniel Quigley, of Seneca Falls, Thurifer; the Very Rev. Andrew B. Mahan, of St. Bernard's Seminary and the Very Rev. Edward F. Hoban, chancellor of the Chicago Archdiocese, masters of ceremonies; Alcoytes Rev. Innocent Kestel and the Rev. Frank Karabaz of Chicago.

Absolution was read over the body by four visiting bishops and Bishop Hickey.

The body was to be taken to Chicago this afternoon on a special train of ten cars and accompanied by Bishop Hickey and clergy and a special guard.

Bellefonte, Pa., July 12.—Andrew Plewka, alias Planka, a Poland, of Doylestown, Pa., was electrocuted at the new penitentiary today for killing two sailors on the Delaware river on Christmas day, 1912. Only the official witnesses and officers were present at the electrocution.

GOAL SET FOR LEMBERG CAMPAIGN ALREADY REACHED

By Associated Press. Austrian Headquarters, Galicia, July 11, via London, July 12, 11:35 a. m.—The relative subsidence activity on the part of the Teutonic allies during the last week may be explained by the fact that the goal set for the Lemberg campaign already has been attained. This was the recapture of the city and the securing of strong defensive positions to the eastward and northward. These positions have now been secured along the line of the Zlota Bipa and Bug rivers and the ridge to the northward of Krasnik.

CARNIVAL FLIRTS WITH CLOVER CLUB

Shows Go Astray on the Railroad; Located Later and Now Speeding Here

FRANK FISHER

Steelton's freckle-faced, barefooted small gentry who were on hand early this morning to welcome the arrival of the A. V. Maus Carnival Company, which is scheduled to give a week's exhibition under the auspices of the Clover Club, were doomed to disappointment.

Only part of the show arrived. Through some error in the shipping directions, several carloads of the big show went astray somewhere between here and Minersville, where an exhibition was given last week.

President A. V. Maus, of the carnival company, and members of the Clover Club, when they learned of the error, kept the telegraph wires humming until the missing parts of the show were located. Now they are speeding here just as rapidly as the fastest trains can bring them.

With several scores of small boys as an escort the part of the show which arrived yesterday and Saturday were unloaded and hauled to the show grounds at Front and Franklin streets. If there are no further "hitches" everything will be in readiness by 8 o'clock this evening for Burgess Wigfield to officially open the exhibition.

The proceeds of the shows will be devoted to the Clover Club's charity fund. On the committee in charge of the club's interests on the show grounds are John A. Farthing, chairman; L. Irs. Carrell, secretary; M. A. Weisenrod, treasurer; Frank Fisher, Harry Guekes, J. W. Bricker, Mark Samson, Samuel Breckenridge, Albert Treher, Albert Pugh, John S. Thompson, James Clave, Dewey Rodkey, John Keffer, Lloyd Davis, Alven Pierce and William Keller.

CONDEMNATION MAY COME AFTER ALL

State Unable to Get Title to One Property Although Everyone Is Willing to Give

It is likely that in spite of the excellent work of the Capitol State Board of Education, which has acquired three-fourths of the properties in the park extension district without having to resort to condemnation proceedings, it will have to go to court after all and on a very unusual and unforeseen condition. The commission has expended close to $1,800,000 and has $200,000 recently appropriated which it is expected will give it title to all of the properties in the district before another fifteen months goes by. The results it has obtained have attracted attention and it looked as though it would not be necessary to invoke the law.

Some time ago the commission took steps to secure a property in South street close to the Capitol which had been partly destroyed by fire and found the owners very willing to sell. When it came to getting the abstract of title it was found that there were some gaps which could not be filled, although everyone was willing. The result was that the courts will probably be asked to clear the title and say who shall get the money.

Orders in New Form.—The general orders issued from National Guard headquarters giving the appointments and assignments of officers under the act of 1915 are the first to appear in a form different from what has been known for many years. The appointments and assignments appear in the rear of the booklet in a list of names. Heretofore they have appeared under regimental headings. The regimental orders also contain the names of men commissioned under elections held under the old system prior to June 1.

"Pearce" Declares Frank Holt Was His Partner

By Associated Press

New Orleans, La., July 12.—The letter received by a newspaper here last night signed "Pearce" declared the writer intended to kill J. P. Morgan and Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, and finish the work of Eric Muentzer, who committed suicide several days ago after wounding Mr. Morgan. It warned persons who had friends or relatives aboard the British steamships Howth Head and Baron Napier, which sailed from New Orleans July 9, with mules for the British army, to watch for reports from those vessels. The letter says: "Holt (Muentzer) was my partner, and I glory in the thought of his comradeship. We worked together ever since this cursed war began. Holt is gone but I am still here, and I am going to carry on the work the two of us began. I am going to carry on the work with redoubled fury."

"The statement that Holt intended to wreck libraries and other such public buildings is a lie. The Capitol is the only building that we planned to wreck and we partly succeeded in our plan. But what we did plan and what I am going to carry out, is the just idea to stop this country from contributing to the damnable, hellish, barbaric slaughter across the ocean. British mule ships are daily leaving New Orleans laden with livestock for the enemies of Germany, just as ships laden with guns and ammunition to slaughter Germans are almost daily leaving New York. Therefore, this city furnishes a promising field for the work that lies before. I succeeded in blowing but one British ship leaving this port—I may succeed in destroying ten—but I am going to carry out this work and whatever I achieve will be satisfactory to me. And then I will be ready for Morgan and after I get through with Morgan,

I will be ready to share my pal's fate. I consider it a glorious fate.

"And Sir Cecil Spring-Rice? Do you want to know whom Muentzer was after when he went to Glen Cove? Morgan? Partly. The real reason for going to Glen Cove was Sir Cecil Spring-Rice."

"We have trailed Spring-Rice for weeks and we are going to get him yet. This country considers Muentzer a barbarian—a crank. I knew him in Germany. I knew him in America. He destroyed property and took lives when he knew that good would follow, never otherwise. He taught me his principles, his ideals and as I said before, I glory in his leadership of the past. He stood ready to risk his own life to save other lives that he considered worthy. Why, at the time the Lusitania sailed on her fateful voyage, do you know who it was that warned Vanderbilt and the rest not to sail on her? It was Eric Muentzer. He knew what was going to befall the British liner. He not only sent messages to a large number of people that he knew were going to sail on the ship, but he personally appealed to Charles Frohman not to make the voyage."

"Just as Muentzer appealed to Frohman, Vanderbilt, and the others not to sail on the Lusitania so I now appeal to worthy Americans in this country not to sail on the British mule ships leaving this port."

"Remember I am Muentzer's pupil and very, very seldom has Muentzer failed. Muentzer's methods are my methods. I am working with enough explosives to wreck this whole town. I have a program to follow: British ships, Morgan, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, and then oblivion. Halle failed completely. Muentzer succeeded partly. I am going to succeed completely. I am but one among millions, but I have Muentzer's backing and—I have dynamite. "If there be any one among the readers of this, that doubts these words, let him watch and watch; the early part of next week will witness the completion of Muentzer's plans; that is, the beginning of the completion. If you will look up the records you will discover the names of two of His Majesty's ships that have just left port—perhaps never to return. One of them is called Howth Head, the other Baron Napier. Have you relatives on either of these ships? If you have, I feel sorry for you if you are an American. If you are a subject of His Majesty, I congratulate myself. Watch the career of some of these mule ships.

(Signed) "PEARCE." Hans Halle, arrested here last December for having in his possession a bomb which he confessed he had constructed to ship to New York where it was to be put on a French line vessel was arrested late last night by the police, who declared he would be held until the Baron Napier and the Howth Head had been reported safe.

Halle recently was acquitted of a charge of conspiring to ship explosives on an inter-state carrier.

indicated that he considered this part of the punishment to-day in doing out Knell's sentence. Knell, in pleading guilty to-day to driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, said he didn't realize what he was about. The witnesses included Police Lieutenant Warden, Motorcycle Officer Fetrow and Charles Robinson, one of the occupants of the car. Robinson said Knell, in response to a protest as to his extraordinary speed, laughingly declared that he meant to show his passengers "the time of their lives."

Whereupon he threw on a life-line more speed and began to zig-zag from side to side. In presenting Knell for sentence Assistant District Attorney Fox said that Knell's license had been revoked by the State Highway Commissioner.

"Oh, then," observed Judge Kunkel to Knell, "you've been partly punished."

broth and several hours later revived him sufficiently to question him. The boy told a rambling tale of escaping from an orphanage in Illinois some time ago. Since then, he said, he has been on the road working his way east. While telling his story he inadvertently mentioned the kindness of some people at the Cove. Sheriff Dare had received a description of a missing Harrisburg boy, but a short time before and soon identified the lad as John Dunlevy. His parents were notified and the boy will be brought to his home to-night.

The lad was sent on an errand by his mother last Thursday afternoon and failed to return for his supper. He did not give any reason for running away.
