MILITARY TRAINING FOR TECH STUDENTS BEING CONSIDERED

J. Grant Koons Will Take Up Question With School Board in Near Future

ORGANIZE CADET CORPS

Prepare Youth of City For Defense of Nation in Case of Need

Tech high school boys of the future need't have any misgivings as to their ability to give the best kind of an account of themselves in a military way if the plans of J. Grant Koons, one of the instructors at the trades school and former first sergeant and drill-master of the Governor's Troop, can be successfully worked out.

Ex-Sergeant Koons plans to organize a cavalry, artillery and infantry cadet corps among the youths of Technical high school.

For months Sergeant Koons has been considering the scheme, although the recent action of the national defense, the advantages of a reserve, the importance of educating the youth of the country as to how to handle themselves in camp in case of war and many similar problems that were suggested by the Plattsburg camp have lent considerable impetus to the movement.

While military instruction in cavalry, artillery and infantry are to be an important feature of the proposed organization, Sergeant Koons hopes to devote attention to camp development and particularly to camp sanitation.

SHELL RACES WILL FEATURE WATER FETE DURING CELEBRATION

Two Crews of Four Men and Single Shell Stars to Compete in Carnival

Two crews of four men each and four single shell stars will be sent to Harrisburg by the Fairmount Rowing Association of Philadelphia for the great municipal improvement celebration water carnival, it was announced this morning by J. Ray Hoffert, chairman of the water carnival committee.

This association is one of the most prominent rowing organizations in the East and each year holds a series of regattas on the Schuylkill river, Fairmount Park. The members include a number of former college stars and the best men on the water polo team.

When negotiations were started to make shellboat races a part of the water sports, it was pointed out that A. A. U. rules would interfere, as rowing associations work under amateur rules.

The objections were overcome by an agreement that a mesh shall be given individuals who participate. The local committee will see that the expenses of the Quaker City rowers are paid.

ARBITRATORS DECIDE AGAINST DR. STOUGH

Verdict For $2,700 Returned in Favor of Hazleton Councilman in Slander Suit

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 9.—A verdict for $2,700 was returned to-day by the arbitrators against the Rev. Henry W. Stough of Wheaton, Ill., and in favor of William Cullen, a councilman of Hazleton, whom the evangelist was charged with slandering.

There is no special privilege attached to a clergyman, much less an evangelist. There would be higher and better grounds for according special privilege to a clergyman, that is a pastor of a congregation than to an evangelist, the clergyman being more or less permanently located and having a local habitation. The evangelist, on the other hand is a mere floater, here to-day, gone to-morrow, and accountable to nobody, and only answerable to the law.
