FLAG HALF MAST FOR NOTED NEGRO

Children Pay Silent Tribute to Memory of Booker T. Washington

As the gong at the Hygienic school, Adams and Bailey streets, was sounded at 10 o'clock this morning every pupil in the building left his seat and stood at silent attention for two minutes. At the same time the flag that flies over the building was lowered to half mast.

This was the tribute paid to the memory of Booker T. Washington, the noted negro educator, whose funeral was held at Tuskegee, Ala., at that hour. The tribute was given at the direction of Principal C. F. Howard following an order from Superintendent L. E. McGinness, of the Steelton public schools. The Hygienic school is Steelton's school for colored pupils up to the high school grades.

Superintendent McGinness' order said: Steelton, Pa., Nov. 16, 1915.

Dear Sir:—Let me suggest that tomorrow, Wednesday, the 17th inst., the flags on the Hygienic building be placed at half mast, out of respect to the memory of Booker T. Washington, whose funeral will occur on that day. Not only your race, but the nation at large, has lost one of its greatest men. Very truly yours,

L. E. M'GINNESS, Superintendent.

In his instructions to the teachers Principal Howard said: "The funeral services for Dr. Washington will begin at 10 o'clock Wednesday. At the ringing of the gong you will have your children stand in silence for two minutes in honor of the occasion."

"You may also suggest to your pupils that it would be fitting to display a draped flag at their homes during the day."

Special memorial services for Dr. Washington will be held in the auditorium in the Hygienic building, to which the public will be invited.

OPPOSE RATE INCREASE

Water consumers at Highspire will hold a mass meeting this evening to discuss means for opposing the proposed increase in rates by the Swatara Consolidated Water Company. Action will likely be taken in conjunction with citizens of Penbrook and other nearby towns in which rates will be increased.

STEELTON PERSONALS

D.W. Worley, of Philadelphia, a salesman well-known in Steelton, called upon his customers to-day after a long illness.

Martin Koevar has returned from Philadelphia where he was a student at Medico-Chi college.

Clerks Strike in Protest Against Discharge of Assistant Postmaster

Fairmont, W. Va., Nov. 17.—Twenty-five clerks and carriers in the post office here practically the entire force, struck this morning as a protest, it was said, against the discharge of C. H. Brand, assistant postmaster, and three other employees. About twenty employees were still left in the office, but as they were largely carriers of the rural free delivery service the handling of the mails for Fairmont was seriously hampered.

The strike was reported to the post-office department at Washington by Postmaster Charles H. Manley, who found on his desk, when he entered his office to-day a large piece of cardboard on which was written "your clerks and carriers have quit. Here are your keys."

Brand, who was connected with the post office for 17 years, was recently dismissed on the charge that he had given assistance to applicants in Civil Service examinations and other charges against Perry Burton, George Cochran and James Hall resulted in their dismissal a few days later.

TRAMP MISTAKEN FOR A RABBIT

San Rafael, Nov. 17.—Mistaken for a jackrabbit while sleeping soundly beneath a spreading oak at the roadside near Fairfax, John Stewart, a tramp, received a rude awakening last evening, when William Hafmeyer, of Fairfax filled the slumbering man's legs full of birdshot.

DR. WARFIELD TO ADDRESS CHURCH

With Dr. McCarrell, of Middletown, Former College Head, Will Feature Program

Services in celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of the First Presbyterian Church, South Second street, will be continued this evening when the Rev. Dr. Ethelbert D. Warfield, D. D., LL. D., a former president of Lafayette college of Easton, will speak on "Historic Presbyterianism."

The Rev. Dr. T. C. McCarrell, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Middletown, will speak on "Our Presbyterian Neighbors."

The service this evening will be preceded by an organ recital by Prof. Frank A. McCarrell, organist at Pine Street Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg. His program will include: Allegro Maestoso e Vivace (Sonata II), Mendelssohn; Die Antwort, Wolstenholme; In Moollight, Kinder; Meditation, Breuster; Toccata and Fugue in D minor, J. S. Bach.

Last evening's services were largely attended. The recital by Prof. McCarrell delighted everyone. The Pine Street organist rendered a varied selection of difficult music entirely on the recently installed pipeorgan. Musical critics who were present declared that the selections given by Prof. McCarrell gave a splendid opportunity to test the new organ. The instrument proved most flexible in every respect. The blending of the different stops is perfect, and the quality of tone was pronounced superb. The response of the instrument to the touch of the pianist is immediate. The action is as light and pleasing as that found on the most expensive pianos. It is pronounced perfect. The congregation of the Presbyterian Church has an instrument of which they may well be proud.

OLD VETS MEET AGAIN AFTER LONG, LONG YEARS

Comrades, through the long, hard campaigns of the Civil War, William Bannan and James Riley, two Pennsylvania boys, separated following the grand review in Bannock, located in Steelton; his chum returned to the country and finally settled down in Kansas. After a year they never heard from each other.

Yesterday a stranger called at the Bannan home and inquired for Mr. Bannan. That stranger was James Riley. The two old veterans spent a pleasant day in reminiscences.

Steelton Snapshots

Firemen Meet.—The West Side Hose Company will hold a special meeting this evening.

Award Prize.—The outdoor improvement committee of the Steelton Civic Club has awarded the cash prize for the best kept yard in the Second ward to Mrs. F. E. Bets, 120 South Second street. This award was postponed almost a month, when the other prizes were given out.

Inspect Paving.—Two engineers from the United States Wood Block Reserving Company, New York, in company with E. C. Henderson, chairman of the Highway committee of Council, and Borough Engineer W. P. Callaghan, inspected the wood block paving of Front street yesterday afternoon.

New Rules Effective.—Commencing to-day employees of the Pennsylvania Steel Company will be required to show their pay checks before entering the works. The checks that formerly were housed at the upper end of the works have been moved to the new time office at Locust street.

To Elect Driver.—The Baldwin Hose Company will elect a driver to succeed Frank Dean, a substitute driver, who quit yesterday after his team had run away when it became frightened at a dump car on the cinder dump.

Jitney Runs Amuck; Hits George S. Mish

A jitney accident on Cameron street near the Elliott-Fisher Type-writer Works, yesterday afternoon resulted in the removal of George S. Mish, an engineer of construction for the city, to the Harrisburg hospital for treatment. Mish was working on one side of the street when the front wheel of the jitney broke and threw the machine across the street, striking the engineer violently and causing abrasions of the head, arms and legs. The driver, William Lower, was taken to police headquarters but was not detained after the facts were known.

Mr. Mish is the son of Dr. George T. Mish, a prominent Middletown physician, is borough surveyor for Middletown, and is widely known in the lower end of the county.

TO HOLD SOCIAL

The annual social of Columbian Commandry, No. 132, Knights of Malta, of Middletown, will be held this evening in Old Fellows Hall, West Emsau street, at 8 o'clock. Four commandries from Harrisburg and Steelton will be present. The program: Calling to order, Chairman E. K. Stipe; selection, Gibson's orchestra; singing, opening ode; prayer, the Rev. W. R. Ridington; selection, orchestra; address of welcome, H. J. Wickley; solo, Harry Hess, accompanied by J. Shroy; address, C. A. Bingham, of Reading, grand commander of Pennsylvania; selection, orchestra; talk on Knights of Malta home, A. K. Wallace; selection, orchestra; address, the Rev. E. W. Bergtresser, pastor of the Lutheran Church. Refreshments will be served.

BURGESS WARNS PARENTS

Burgess Thomas Jordan has issued a request asking parents to instruct their children to refrain from jumping on automobiles.

FIREHOSE TO MEET

The Rescue Hose Company will hold an entertainment Thursday, November 25, at its hall in South Union street. Boxing, wrestling and other sports will be among the attractions.

MIDDLETOWN PERSONALS

Ed. Watson, of Philadelphia, is the guest of J. M. Rutherford, of Royaltown. The regular meeting of the Middletown Praying Band will be held this evening at the home of Randolph Lewis, in Wilson street.

Mrs. Luther Mauss, of Swatara street, returns to her business in Lancaster after being called home on account of the death of her grandmother.

FULL CREW CASE WILL BE HEARD

Public Service Commission Will Go Into the Matter in Detail Later On

Complaints filed yesterday with the Public Service Commission by representatives of the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen alleging violations of the full crew law will be taken up by the commission later in the year in accordance with the rules the respondents will receive copies of the complaints and asked to file answers. It is probable that they will contest the complaints.

The additional complaints raise several issues regarding size of trains and also the protection of platforms. These were not covered fully in the former complaints heard.

In all probability the commission will not decide the first heard complaints until the additional ones are heard.

Phillips Welcomed.—John M. Phillips, the Pittsburgh State Game Commissioner, is here after an extended trip west. He was welcomed by many friends.

To Halt Pollution.—The State Game Commission has outlined its plan to halt pollution of streams and the wardens, who have been summoned here this week, have been instructed to make complete investigations of streams during the winter and to file reports showing the character and volume of pollution. Where notices to stop pollution are not obeyed the commissioner, N. R. Buller will certify to the attorney general for his action.

Moses Inspecting.—Engineer Moses of the State Department of Health, is at Coatesville making an investigation in the outbreak of typhoid fever. Commissioner Dixon is following up the matter very closely.

Warden Has Trouble.—Game Warden Geary at Norristown had a strenuous time yesterday endeavoring to break up an alien family which had defied the law. Finally he had to take the family and dogs before a magistrate.

Closed Theater.—The State Department of Labor and Industry has closed the theaters at Painesville because it did not comply with the inspection laws.

Ex-Member Here.—M. Clark Watson former member from Indiana, was here last evening to meet friends at the Capitol.

Lightner to Speak.—Jacob Lightner, director of the State Employment Bureau, is in Philadelphia to address the industry in connection with private employment agencies on what the State is doing.

Inspectors Here.—Chief Roderick has his entire inspection force in attendance at the Welfare Conference taken advantage of the opportunity to discuss the question of accidents and the work during the winter months when the conditions in the mines are more dangerous than any other period during the year. The present year has been particularly free from accident and it is the desire of the chief to continue the good record through the coming winter.

Rat Campaign Backed Up.—Many of the people here attending the welfare conference took hold of the suggestion that the State undertake a campaign of education for the elimination of rats because of the hazard to the attention of farmers, fruit growers, fruit packers and others with whom they come into contact during the winter work.

Made for Senate?—People at the Capitol discussed with interest a suggestion coming from Pittsburgh that Public Service Commissioner W. A. Maxce, of Pittsburgh, was a possibility as a candidate for senator. Mr. Maxce has been more or less in the limelight since he won control of city council in Pittsburgh at the recent election.

To Discus Highways.—Highway Commissioner R. H. Cunningham will take up with the Governor in a few days the proposition he has received lately to purchase control of several turnpikes. Petitioners have been coming in from portions of the Juniata, Lebanon and Cumberland valleys asking that the State free the roads. Unfortunately, the appropriation at hand is not large.

Compensation Symposium.—Workmen's Compensation Board members held a symposium at the Capitol today in advance of the welfare conference with the object of answering questions about the new system and the insurance fund. Because of recent criticisms there was a lively fire of questions for the experts to answer.

Philadelphia Next Week.—Three Public Service Commissioners who spent to-day on contract propositions will sit at Philadelphia all of next week.

Governor's Visitors.—Among visitors to the Governor to-day were Senators Sensenich, Westmoreland, and Thompson; Beaver; Representatives Lenz, Luzerne, and Hilschman; Lancaster; W. F. Shay and T. R. Reimyer, of the Danville State Hospital.

Big Payment Made.—The Philadelphia Electric Company to-day paid the State $88,000 as capital stock tax.

In Treating Tuberculosis

It should be remembered that one of the aids to relief is found in abundance of fresh air—day and night—the largest possible freedom from over-exertion and well-cooked, pure food. Attention to these should do much toward arresting the progress of the malady, but in many cases there is need for extra help. Where Nature has to work with a weakened body her power is limited. Before she can do her most, there must be a return to normalcy of functions.

Under such circumstances, try Eckman's Alterative, which has been used with large benefit by many sufferers from tuberculosis. In numerous cases it has helped to bring about recovery. And since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, its use is not attended with danger. At your druggist's or direct.

URGES MILITIA BE DEVELOPED

Cardinal Gibbons Appeals Strongly For Preparedness Prior to Celebration

By Special Correspondence Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—Urging that this country develop its militia so as to be fully guarded against any emergency and declaring that such a plan of defense was superior to an increase in the regular army, Cardinal Gibbons, last night made a strong appeal for national preparedness.

"Do not let us increase our regular army," he said, "merely to have young men waste their lives in slothfulness in barracks. I think we should have a strong militia. Let our young men spend so many weeks, or, if necessary, so many months a year in the perfection of this militia."

"Each State would carry out the details of its militia but above all would be the commanding federal officer directing the general campaign of defense."

Calls Hyphenated American Myth Cardinal Gibbons also declared that the so-called hyphenated American was a myth, that the foreigners who had made this country his home were practically as loyal as the native born.

In his plan for national defense he in-curred in many respects the propaganda of the National Security League. "This country is at a critical period in its history," the Cardinal declared. "We must refrain from an indulgence in the nervous apprehension that is afflicting so many of our citizens at this time. We must remain sane. The wild talk of preparedness is wrong. I am against peace at any cost, but I am equally opposed to the increase of our army and navy."

There is no need for America to be alarmed to-day.

Hopes For Peace Here "If this country continues the policy which has allowed us to remain at peace these many years with Europe, there is no reason why we cannot so continue. We should avoid a foreign policy of aggression. Then we will not need to be embroiled in war. Any- way, the nations of Europe are exhausted to-day with their fighting. America need not be alarmed."

The Cardinal was asked as to the effect of Christianity on the war. "Christianity has no part in Europe's struggle," he said. "Those who are fighting have fallen away from and forgotten the principles of God's teachings. Else there would be no war."

Celebrate Anniversary Attended by Archbishop Bonzano, of Washington, D. C., the papal delegate, two cardinals, archbishops and bishops from various parts of the country, the fiftieth anniversary of the ordination of Archbishop Edmund F. Prendergast, of the archdiocese of Philadelphia, was observed in the Cathedral here to-day. The occasion also marked the fiftieth anniversary of the dedication of the Cathedral.

Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, and Farley of New York, and the papal delegate occupied thrones on the altar during the celebration of pontifical mass by Archbishop Prendergast.
