CARNEGIE WILL OBSERVE 50TH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY
Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 23. — The eightieth birthday anniversary of Andrew Carnegie and the fifteenth anniversary of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, will be observed at the annual founder's day celebration at the institute to-day and to-morrow. Several hundred educators and professional men from various parts of the country are here for the exercises.

How to Destroy Catarrh Germs and End Catarrh Forever

Catarrh is a germ disease and the only way to cure it so it will stay cured and never come back is to kill and drive out of your system the catarrhal germs which have found lodgement there. When the germs go the catarrh will stop. The trouble with most treatments, like sprays, salves, creams, greasy balms, lotions, etc., is that they give only temporary relief by opening up for a while the clogged head, throat and nostrils. In a little time the Catarrh comes back as bad as ever. People who suffer continually from catarrh should drop such temporary makeshifts and get something that really gets at the root of the disease and stamps it out. There is nothing better for such cases than breathing into your nose and lungs the pleasant, soothing, germ destroying air of Hyomel (pronounced High-o-me) made from purest oil of Eucalyptus and combined with other powerful healing, antiseptic and germ destroying ingredients. Hyomel penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membranes of your nose and throat, stops discharges, clears the passages and completely overcomes the disease by destroying its cause. For catarrh germs cannot live in your body after Hyomel reaches them. H. C. Kennedy and many other good druggists in Harrisburg and vicinity have long sold Hyomel on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back and find this generous policy pays. Most druggists are now giving a pocket inhaler made from hard rubber with every complete treatment sold. This makes a very simple, easy and convenient means of treating by the best known method this dangerous and often disgusting disease.—Advertisement.

SCHOOLHOUSES BEING FIXED UP

State Board of Education Inquiries Have Been Having Excellent Effect

School directors and men in charge of school property all over the State are taking steps to improve fire protection and to brace up preparations to meet emergencies according to the reports which are reaching the State Board of Education offices as a result of the inquiries sent out as to the preparedness of buildings for fire and panic. These letters were issued soon after the Peabody fire in Massachusetts and were accompanied by a blank asking for information as to conditions. The reports have shown very plainly that there were some schools in the State which needed better conditions and the statement have since been sent that steps are under way to correct. In some districts there appears to have been a lack of attention as to exits and means of fighting fire, but the reports show that the officials have bestirred themselves.

The letters have also had the effect of spurring up attention to fire drills.

New York Copies Ours.—New York State fishery authorities will pattern their new fish hatchery at Dunkirk, N. Y., after the Pennsylvania State hatchery at Erie, having asked for details regarding plans some time ago and just notified Commissioner N. R. Buller that the Erie hatchery will be the model. This hatchery was built two years ago and has been inspected by men from half a dozen States and by federal officials. Commissioner Buller is on a series of inspections this week to outline the winter work and also visited Alexander's Spring in Middle county. The new hatchery at Bellefonte is nearly finished, but the commissioner is hurrying along that at Pleasant Mount. Inspections will also be made at Torresdale. The Wayne county hatchery is to be used as the station for experiments and training men.

State Bulletin Issued.—The proceedings of the meeting of the State Board of Agriculture last January have been issued in bulletin form, giving some of the interesting details leading up to the change in the Department of Agriculture. Dr. Surfact's bulletins of last Spring have also made their appearance.

Attending Conference.—Insurance Commissioner Johnson and Deputy McCulloch are in Philadelphia attending the insurance conference to-day.

Inspecting Works.—John S. Spicer and John H. Walker, of the Department of Labor, are inspecting the Bethlehem Steel works at the direction of Commissioner Jackson.

Spoke at Pottsville.—O. D. Schoch, of the Public Service Commission, has returned from Pottsville where he spoke on agricultural education.

Dr. Dixon Wins Out.—Commissioner of Health Dixon yesterday was upheld in the Delaware county court in his refusal to produce books and records at the trial of an insurance case. The commissioner sometime ago declined to have such matters made subject to call on attorneys and Judge Johnson yesterday upheld his stand in court.

Cunningham Speaks.—Highway Commissioner Cunningham, Deputy G. H. Elles and Chief Wynn, of the bureau of township highways, addressed the Lebanon county supervisors at Lebanon to-day. Deputy Commissioner Hunter spoke at Bedford.

Getting Convictions.—Dairy and Food Commissioner Foust to-day heard of over a score of convictions in pure food cases in Philadelphia.

Half a Million To-day.—The State Treasury to-day received over half a million dollars, including $314,000 from the United Gas Improvement Company and $106,000 from the Bessemer and Lake Erie.

Attaches Remembered.—Attaches of the Executive Department have received from Mrs. James S. Hlatt scarves and other souvenirs which Mr. Hlatt had purchased for them while at San Francisco but which, owing to his illness, he had been unable to present.

Meade Memorial Meeting.—Members of the Meade Memorial Commission met at the Governor's office to-day.

gravely agitated the court, jury, witness, counsel and a crowded courtroom at the trial of Giuseppe Donato's action against Milton S. Hershey, the "chocolate king." Donato is suing to recover $25,000, the price of the fountain carved for Hershey park.

The witness on the stand really had to decide and a hushed courtroom waited his decision with more than ordinary interest.

Mr. Hershey was the witness.

Hershey Grilled.
The question was propounded by Ralph B. Evans, of counsel for Donato who subjected the chocolate manufacturer to a couple of hours of rather irksome grilling in cross-examination. Mr. Hershey's contention all along has been that he ordered a fountain for $2,100; that Donato had modeled one worth $25,000 and that he, Hershey, decided to pay that amount. On the contrary he said, he didn't want the more expensive fountain and wanted the $2,066.67 he had already paid Donato on account.

Donato said he had been instructed by Hershey to make such changes on the original statue as he deemed best in "his artistic judgment."

The trend of the plaintiff's cross-examination was to show that Hershey had consulted Donato from time to time and had approved of the changes. Mr. Evans asked the chocolate manufacturer to study the crayoned exhibits of the models on the courtroom walls to determine the question of whether the drawings represented a trio of draped ladies modeled from the same single figure—or whether the drawing depicted three undraped ladies, each modeled from a different figure.

A Question Easily Answered.
The question of drapery could be answered at a glance—take that from anybody in the courtroom. They are undraped.

Mr. Hershey wasn't at all sure about the identity of the figures. "Are they the same?" asked Mr. Evans.

"Yes, I think they look like a single group."

"Would you say each of the three was made from the same model? Look at the figure on the right. She's raising her right leg isn't she? Now then look at the figure on the left. What leg is she raising?"

After a long and careful survey Hershey decided that the left lady was tossing her left leg.

Red Flag to a Bull.
Spectators sat back in their chairs with an audible sigh of relief.

Attorney Evans then switched to the variance of the testimony the chocolate manufacturer had given yesterday on the stand and the allegations he swore to in his affidavit of defense. Mr. Hershey admitted that the correspondence on the subject between Ogelby Paul, his representative, Donato and himself didn't interest him very much at the time. He never more than glanced over the correspondence and then referred the letters to his attorney. The sculptor's letters to him on the subject had much the same effect he declares, "as a red rag to a bull."

Just before the court rose for the noon recess Mr. Evans got before the jury the one point over which he worked with the witness for nearly an hour. Hershey's defense has been that the fountain in question isn't the fountain he contracted for.

Knew Fountain's Value.
"Let me understand Mr. Hershey," gently pursued Mr. Evans, "you say this fountain is not the one you ordered."

"No, sir."
"The fountain in question is one that Donato claims is worth $25,000?"
"I believe he does, yes."
"And the one you say you contracted for was to cost $21,000?"
"Yes, sir."
"Then why did you instruct your counsel to issue a writ of replevin to obtain possession of the $25,000 fountain?"
The chocolate king declared that he was chiefly interested in getting some return for the more than $2,000 he had expended in payments to Donato.

"But you knew that Donato claimed this fountain was worth $25,000; that it was not the fountain you ordered, and yet to get back the $2,000 you had advanced you seized the more expensive fountain?"
"Yes, sir," admitted the chocolate manufacturer.

Schwab Will Enlarge Danville Plant Which He Recently Purchased
Special to The Telegraph.
Danville, Pa., Nov. 23.—Reorganization of the Danville Structural Tubing Company, with Charles M. Schwab as one of the principal stockholders, means that Danville will in the near future be one of Pennsylvania's most active iron towns, and hundreds will be given employment as soon as additional mills are erected.

Mr. Schwab has been negotiating for the plant for some time, and when he learned that he could not purchase it outright the reorganization plan was agreed upon, and Carlson Warner, a nephew of Mr. Schwab, was sent here to be the resident representative of the ironmaster.

The new company has been capitalized at $600,000, having paid Thomas J. Price and William Pursell, former owners, $150,000 for the plant and the forty or more acres surrounding it. Mr. Price, Mr. Pursell and Edward F. Price are the other stockholders.
The present big mill will be remodeled at once and additional ironworkers put to work. Plans for a modern mill are being perfected and the officers say work will be started in the early Spring. This mill will cover five or six acres and 1,200 additional men will be employed. It is understood that other mills will be erected next summer.
Structural tubing and sheet steel will be the principal products.
