HIPOLITO VILLA IS ARRESTED ON STATE CHARGE

Brother of General Defrauded Victor Caruso Out of $50,000 Is Allegation

JUAREZ IS PEACEFUL

"Wickedest Town in Mexico" Dull Under First Night of Carranza Control

By Associated Press

San Antonio, Texas, Dec. 23. — To forestall habeas corpus proceedings by which Col. Hipolito Villa might have obtained his liberty before documentary proof could have been obtained from El Paso, Colonel Villa, accompanied by a detective, was started for El Paso this morning at 4:50 o'clock. Villa was arrested here last night on a Southern Pacific train from the west, the arrest being based on a message from El Paso chief of police charging Villa with swindling. Villa agreed to return to face the charge without formal orders and even consented to pay his and the detective's fare.

"I do not speak English," was his brusque retort in perfect English, when asked for a statement.

"Was it your intention to join your wife in New Orleans?" he then was asked in Spanish.

"I do not do not," Mr. Villa replied and lapsed into silence which no question could induce him to break.

Mrs. Hipolito Villa passed through San Antonio Tuesday night with Mrs. Francisco Villa, enroute to New Orleans from where, it is rumored, the Villa family will go to Cuba to await permission to return to Mexico.

Defrauded Caruso

With Hipolito Villa when he was arrested last night, was General Rafael Flores, long known as an accomplice in the Carranza case. He accompanied the prisoner to police headquarters but was not detained.

The arrest was made on a telegram received by Police Chief Fred Lancaster from the sheriff in El Paso. It said that Villa was wanted in El Paso on a charge of defrauding Victor Caruso out of more than $50,000 on October 28, 1915.

Villa was found in a sleeping car drawing room. When assured that everything would be done for his safety, he left the car without further delay.

When the charge was read to him, Villa made no comment, but requested that he be permitted to go to a hotel under guard. This was refused and he was locked up for the night.

INDICTMENTS ARE FOUND AGAINST BOMB PLOTTERS

Three Charged With Conspiring to Secure Military Information For Germany

PLOTS WELL PLANNED

Made Arrangements to Put Agents in Mills Along Welland Canal

By Associated Press

New York, Dec. 23. — Indictments were returned to-day charging Paul Koenig, chief detective of the Hamburg-American Line, and Richard Emil Leyendecker, an antique dealer, with conspiring to dynamite the Welland canal. Edmund Justice, a Hamburg-American Line watchman, was also indicted with Koenig on charges of conspiring to secure military information for the German government.

The indictments against Koenig and Leyendecker charge them with conspiring to "set on foot in the United States a military enterprise against the Dominion of Canada." The indictments set forth that part of this alleged conspiracy was to destroy with dynamite or other means the Welland canal, leading from Port Colborne, on Lake Erie, to Port Dalhousie, on Lake Ontario.

Agents in Factories

As a part of the plot to destroy the canal, the indictments allege, Koenig and Leyendecker planned to secure employment for their agents in various factories and mills adjacent to the canal.

The military force which, the indictments charge, Koenig and Leyendecker planned to send from Germany was also intended to destroy "various plants and properties in Canada other than the Welland canal."

Burgling, Va., and Quebec, Canada, were charged in the indictments with having conspired in the United States to secure for the German government information regarding the character and quantity of munitions and other war materials being sent from Canada to Great Britain.

In this connection it is charged that Justice made trips to Portland, Maine, Burlington, Va., and Quebec, Canada, during September, 1914, and that all of these trips were a part of the conspiracy to secure military information for the German government.

Some Other Cuts

About $500 has been cut from the health department appropriation. Just $44,578 had been asked for and to date it appears that $48,878 will be allowed. The food department will likely get the same sum as this year, $2,845,000, but the provision for building inspector's appropriation of $1380. Some extensions have been planned for the police and fire alarm departments. Commissioner Bowman has provided $5,215 for the purpose.

The five additional policemen asked for will go by the board is generally conceded. The appropriation to their entire original strength is slightly less than seven months.

Provision will be made too, for sinking interest on state taxes, etc. for the floating of the $60,000 fire loan. This will total something like $2,500 or $3,000, it is figured. The Walnut street bridge loan problem and the necessary provision for sinking funds, etc., hadn't been taken up at a late hour this afternoon.

COUNCIL PARES AGAIN AT CITY $610,000 BUDGET

Original Figures of $655,000 Are Whacked to Extent of $45,000

ANOTHER SPECIAL SESSION

Police and Park Departments Occupy Commissioners' Attention

Contrary to expectations City Council this afternoon had to hold another special session to whip the 1916 budget into shape.

The commissioners fully expected that yesterday's meeting for the purpose would be the last but after several hours of weary paring, the councilmen discovered that at best they were unable to lop more than $45,000 from just estimates that totaled more than $655,000.

Originally the estimates called for an expenditure of $655,462.04; the cuts yesterday reduced the sum to $610,082.34. This is still too big if the rate is to be kept even within nine and a half mill. Hence the extra session this afternoon.

On Park and Police Departments

Most of the figuring this afternoon is understood, was done on the police, fire and park departments estimates. What the allowances for these departments will be are problematical. City Commissioner M. Harvey Taylor, chief of the park superintendent is fighting hard to obtain for his successor as much as what he was allowed for conducting the fire and park systems during the present year.

That the fire chief's hope for an ambulance is merely a dream after all is generally conceded; so is City Commissioner Taylor's request for more than $25,000 to conduct his department. He may get $2,100 it is said.

Mr. Lynch's Portion

The bureau of streets and public improvements will get $121,271 according to the figures considered this afternoon. City Commissioner Lynch wanted $132,471.80. The street commissioner asked for $22,900 for sweeping streets, an increase of $3,000 over last year's item. He will get an additional thousand more, or almost $60,000 for this department. The $3,000 which Mr. Lynch had asked for providing curving curbs on some of the corners of the business district was lopped to $1,000.

All told, City Commissioner Harry F. Bowman will ask for $70,127.84 for lighting, an increase of $9,000.

ALL LIGHTS WILL SOON GLOW AGAIN

Relief From Conditions of Last Few Weeks Promised by Company

Relief from the incomplete electric lighting service of the last week or two is promised by C. M. Kaltwasser, general manager of the Harrisburg Light and Power company in a statement issued to-day.

In explaining the causes which have made it necessary for the company to switch off the street current in some sections, Mr. Kaltwasser added a word of appreciation for the way the people of the city as a rule have borne with the conditions. "We have had many complaints, it is true, but our patrons have certainly taken the matter in a truly fine spirit when the situation was explained," said he.

"It has always been the policy of the company, went on Mr. Kaltwasser to keep the generating capacity at both the Cedar and Ninth street plants well in excess of its load requirements, although most of the current has been furnished by the York Haven Water and Power Company. For this reason whenever the York Haven plant was partially or totally shut down on account of low water or ice conditions in the river, the company has been able to furnish satisfactory service to its consumers.

"Realizing the increased demand that would be placed on the plants this winter, we made arrangements to increase our boiler capacity at the Cedar street plant about 80 per cent. Plans and drawings were prepared for this increased capacity and final orders placed on July 1, 1915. The Babcock and Wilcox Boiler Manufacturing company agreed to have the boilers and equipment installed ready for operation not later than November 15. This ordinarily would give them more than sufficient time to complete the work and also would enable us to take care of our load in case the York Haven service was interrupted on account of slush ice, etc. Due to the market conditions of iron and steel, the boiler makers experienced a great deal of trouble in securing extra heavy boiler plate for the drums in consequence, they have not been able to fulfill their promise in connection with the completion of the work.

"We have been working night and day since the receipt of the boiler drums to complete the installation of the boilers before ice formed on the river. However, this occurred considerably earlier this year than usual and caught us at a point where we had not completed our work at the Cedar street plant. To add to our troubles, an accident to our machinery at Ninth street reduced our usual capacity by 1,000 kilowatts. Repairs to this machinery has been going on night and day.

"City Commissioner Bowman referred in last night's Telegraph to the difficulties he is experiencing with the slush ice in connection with the intake at the filter plant which is the same condition that is causing the trouble at the York Haven plant.

"Our heaviest load occurs in the early evening during which time we have been obliged to take off the street lighting in order to give local industries power, and the business sections as well as the residential sections, some lighting.

"A complete record of the number of hours that the street lights have been out has been kept by this company and a pro rata deduction of the monthly bill to the city will be made, of course, in accordance with the contract.

"Judging from weather reports and river conditions this morning, we fully expect to get better service during the next few days from the York Haven Company—at least until such time as our additional boiler capacity has been completed. This will not be later than the first week in January."

Not a Youngster Will Spend Christmas Day in Harrisburg Hospital

For the first time in several years the children's ward at the Harrisburg Hospital will not have any patients this Christmas. This is providing no accident occurs to any boy or girl, or sickness overtakes any child between now and Saturday, necessitating their going to the hospital.

The last patient in the children's ward was sent home to-day. She was Eugenia Wilbert, one-year-old daughter of Wilson Wilbert of 1119 Christian street, who underwent an operation last week for an abscess.

Absence of little folks, however, will not mean the elimination of the annual Christmas tree at the Harrisburg hospital. This morning a large pine tree from Maine was erected in the middle corridor. It will be elaborately decorated.

NO WHITE CHRISTMAS

Weather Man Can't Promise Snow, But It Will Rain Tomorrow

Harrisburg will not have a white Christmas. The weather map to-day forecasts no snow. Present indications are, that it will be partly cloudy and during the best part of Saturday and that chilly winds will prevail. One year ago there were four and a half inches of snow on the ground on Christmas Day. Two inches fell on December 24.

The weather map to-day shows a storm approaching from the northwest that will bring rain to-night or to-morrow morning. The temperature will not go below 32 degrees to night. The temperature will change during to-morrow night and the mercury will hover between freezing point and 40 degrees. Saturday morning will open with cloudy weather.

Location of Gen. Villa Is Causing Uneasiness; Carranza in Juarez

By Associated Press

El Paso, Dec. 23.—General Alvarez Obregon, Carranza commander-in-chief of Northern Mexico who arrived here last night from Nogales, Sonora, said he would go to Juarez, just across the border, late to-day.

Juarez passed its first night under Carranza control peacefully and with less of the bustle characteristic of its night life. Gambling has ceased, the street resorts close and the attitude of General Jose Rodriguez as to the surrender of General Villa, Gen. Manuel Fuentes' attempts by emissaries to secure the adherence of Rodriguez to the agreement.

American Ranchers Are Holding Yaqui Indians

By Associated Press

Guaymas, Mex., Dec. 22, via Radio to San Diego, Cal., Dec. 22. Yaqui Indians still have possession of all property in the Yaqui Valley, except two ranches, one being owned by an American named Hans, where he, together with another American and eight Germans is supposed to be holding out, although no news has been received from them since Monday when the second Yaqui raid began.

According to accounts received to-day from settlers, the Indians have destroyed all the buildings and property where they have taken refuge, and as yet, no reports have been received of any Americans or other foreigners being killed.

Breitung Admits Buying Explosives For Use in Blowing Up Steamers

By Associated Press

New York, Dec. 23.—Max Breitung, under indictment with Robert Fay, Dr. Herbert Kienzel, Walter Scholz and Paul Daeche on charges of conspiring to blow up munition ships leaving the federal grand jury through his attorney, John B. Stanchfield, that he bought 350 pounds of chlorate of potash for Fay. The admission was made when Mr. Stanchfield moved for a separate trial for Breitung.

Breitung purchased the potash, one of the chief components in certain forms of explosives, at Fay's request. Mr. Stanchfield said, and in so doing acted in good faith and was entirely innocent of any plan to destroy ships. Decision on the motion was put over until January 3.

Constantly people are making similar motions by two of the other defendants will be rendered.

William McCulley, whose name was first given as Robert McCauley, and who was charged with conspiring at the request of Department of Justice officials investigating the plot to dynamite the Welland canal, was released to-day after having been questioned by police headquarters. McCulley admitted having known Paul Koenig, chief of the Hamburg-American Line detectives and accused by the government of having formulated the Welland canal plot, for five years and having recently been in his employ as a "traitor," federal officials said there was nothing to warrant holding the man.

River Park at Front and Locust Streets to Be Donato Statue Site

The River Park at Front and Locust streets will be recommended to City Council Tuesday as the most satisfactory site for the erection of the Donato statue. "The Dance of Eterna Spring."

The city art commission reached this decision late this afternoon following a conference with Giuseppe Donato, the sculptor, and Warren H. Manning, the city park expert who came to this city for the purpose.

The majority of the commission it is understood had looked rather favorably upon Front and State streets as a satisfactory location and Donato himself favored this because of the fitting background the State capitol would present.

Mr. Manning, however, didn't approve. He has frequently suggested the possibilities of a broad bridge across the river at State street. Furthermore he thinks the tall shaft of the Donato statue, for five years removed to the river front at the foot of State street. The placing of the fountain at this spot, he figures, will interfere with the suggested treatment of that section of the park.

He is a fine, upstanding, sturdy youth and his mysterious past is of no consequence to him whatsoever. He romps and studies and makes love to his foster parents as though born to wealth instead of poverty and he bids fair to become a worthy son.

Nothing is known of him before September 17, 1914, when the little fellow, then about three years old, was found asleep in the shadow of the main doorway of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, where he said he had been left "by a man who had brought him to town on a train, a big boat and a high railroad." Whole British Armies Disappear After Seven Months' Duty at Front

London, Dec. 23.—Harold J. Tennant, Parliamentary Under Secretary of War, was asked in the House of Commons yesterday how great a reserve was necessary to keep the army in the field up to its proper strength. He replied:

"For every man we keep abroad we ought to have at home in reserve 1.8, this being a year's supply of men at a monthly wastage of 15 per cent."

At this rate of wastage, the loss to British armies abroad would amount to their entire original strength in slightly less than seven months.

Dardanelles Operations Cost British 112,921

London, Dec. 23, 12:48 P. M. — Great Britain's loss of officers and men at the Dardanelles up to December 11 was 112,921.

This is the grand total of officers and men, including the naval lists of killed, wounded and missing. The number of killed was 25,279. In addition to the total of casualties, a number of sick admitted to hospitals was 96,683.

The losses were distributed as follows: Killed: Officers—1,609; men 23,670. Wounded: Officers—2,969; men 72,222. Missing: Officers—337; men, 12,114.

WALKS 64 MILES IN TWELVE HOURS

S. D. Plank, Aged 65, Goes From Gettysburg to Penbrook in Record Time

S. D. Plank, who resides about seven miles south of Gettysburg and about one mile this side of the Mason and Dixon line, arrived in Penbrook Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock on his third annual trip by foot. Mr. Plank is 65 years of age, the distance traveled is sixty-four miles. He made the trip in twelve hours.

In 1913 Mr. Plank walked to this city from his home in sixteen hours; last year he made the trip in fourteen hours, and this year he lowered his record and reduced the time to twelve hours. The remarkable feature of this feat of endurance is the fact that on Tuesday he worked ten hours at his regular employment, that of grading on the State highway, walking five miles to and from work, after which he started on his hike to this city and Penbrook. Mr. Plank is very active for a man of his age and takes much pride in his walking ability. He is the father of Mrs. George W. Copenhaver, of Penbrook, whom he is now visiting.
