PLAYS AND PLAYERS
Ode to Mary Pickford (By Clara Mason Stuart.)
"To make the common world seem strange."
To man the common virtues glow, Mid common things let fancy range—Is that what the pictures show?
"And if, in shifting mood and scene, Just simple goodness shows a gain, Read what you will upon the screen—Then Mary did not play in vain."
—Picture Progress, January, 1916.
Samuel Ryan, one of the William Fox film stars, is more Irish than his name implies, and consequently has the characteristic Celtic way of describing things. In "The Fourth Estate," a feature picture of newspaper life in which Mr. Ryan was co-star with Ruth Blair, he was compelled to accomplish a real fall down a flight of steps. "I commended myself to the old sod," said Mr. Ryan, "and with determination, Relaxation, Precipitation, I picked myself up with only one bruise and that same was all over me body."
The Oliver Morosco Photoplay has just closed a contract with George Broadhurst, the famous international playwright for all of his plays and for his future work extending over a term of years. This is said to be the largest contract made with any author since the commencement of the motion picture industry. Among the plays to which the Oliver Morosco Photoplay Company has acquired the motion picture rights are the following: "The American Lord," "The Wrong Mr. Wright," "Why Smith Left Home," "The Speculator," "A Fool and His Money," "An International Marriage," "The Crown Prince," "The Law of the Land," "The Captain," "The Easterner," "What Money Can't Buy," "Don't Weaken," "A Man and His Wife," "A Lucky Dog." Mr. Broadhurst will supervise the scenarios of all these plays which will insure the production on the screen of all dramatic values which have made them famous throughout the world.

LOCAL THEATERS
Grace La Rue, who is to give a Costume Recital of Songs in English, at the Orpheum theater Monday evening, Jan. 23, is a most versatile Grace La Rue woman. As concert singer of the highest type she is known to many. But she adds to these accomplishments several others. For one thing, she paints. Besides, articles from her pen have appeared with some frequency in the fashion magazines, and some day when the demands of her profession will permit, Miss La Rue is going to sit down and write a book. The little page has already been set up in type, and bears the words—"The Story of a Girl."
Miss La Rue believes that her clothes should serve only to help in singing her songs, and should be designed in harmony with the contents of the songs. It is her ability to realize this which makes her costumes so notable.
To-night presents local theatergoers with their last opportunity to see Mme. Nazimova's Last Chance stirring drama, "War Brides" at the Majestic Theater. During the past two days, this sensational vaudeville sketch has created more comment and played to larger audiences than any headliner that the management has exploited this season. What looks to be another bill of much interest is the variety offering that is slated to hold forth at the Majestic during the first half of next week. The headliner of this bill is a joyous "id" act, produced by Jesse L. Lasky, whose every effort is always the last word in stage production. The attraction is called "At The Party," and calls in a clever and youthful group of children, who sing and dance and enact a very cleverly arranged playlet. Another act of interest is Pietro, the celebrated piano stolen last Monday from Mrs. Murphy, a neighbor, at Yaletta, which Duran, with his brother Frederico, opened fire from the roof of their house.

YOUNG AMERICAN RANCHER IS SHOT

General Gabriel Gavra, commander at Juarez, from headquarters, gave out a statement, which also covered the circumstances of the fight as they were related to him by Bernardino Duran and his brother, who participated in the shooting and by a squad of Carranza soldiers, who were near the scene of the fray and who arrested the Mexicans. General Givara declared that Duran claimed self-defense. The general said that if found guilty, the Durans would receive prompt punishment.
Shot in Back
Akers was shot in the back while riding a horse that also carried his companion, Douglas Lawrence. Lawrence reached Yaletta last night, several hours after the shooting and reported that the Duran brothers, one of whom he said to have served a term in the State penitentiary of New Mexico, had been running American cattle across the border for the last few weeks. They were said to have been mutilated by the Durans, by cutting off their ears to prevent identification.
Akers' body was brought to Juarez early to-day for identification by a squad of police sent out by General Givara.
Lawrence said they were trying to get away from the Duran house when they were fired on and that Duran followed Akers on horse back for several miles before Akers fell. Lawrence said he dropped off the horse and hid in the brush. Duran, who was found leading the horses on which the Americans had tried to escape, declared he did not know the men were Americans until he examined the body of Akers. Mrs. Akers, the widow, was notified of the death of her husband by Lawrence.

El Paso Excited
Activities began to-day in El Paso among those interested in preventing a repetition of the riotous demonstration that followed the massacre of foreigners at Santa Ysabel January 10. Civilian and military authorities were early on the alert, and plans were laid to impress the people with the necessity of remaining calm.
After examining the secret service officials and two prisoners, General Givara at Juarez to-day gave out the following statement:
"Three days ago two Americans appeared at the office of the mayor and asked the aid of a police officer to look for six or seven cows that had been stolen from them. One officer of the secret service was furnished.
"About 3 o'clock Friday afternoon they went toward the place named San Lorenzo where they learned some cows were hidden.
"The Americans went to the house and knocked, one of the Durans answered, he asked what they wanted. They told him they wanted to see the cows. Duran requested them to show their authority.
Shoot From Roof
"The Mexican officer said he did not have an order for search, but showed his star. Duran then said he would see what his brother thought of it, but in a few moments the two Durans appeared on the roof and began shooting at the visitors. The two Americans and the Mexican officer returned the fire, at the same time backing in order to get the Durans' horses to flee. The Duran brothers started in pursuit, Frederico Duran after the Mexican officer and Bernardino after the two Americans. One American rancher who was pursuing the Mexican officer could not get to his mount.
"The Mexican officer was overtaken and relieved of his arms and badge. Duran exacted a pledge not to report the matter until he had taken the officers back to the house with a detachment of soldiers, detailed on duty in the neighborhood heard the shooting and started to investigate. The sergeant in command apprehended Frederico Duran and the Mexican officer. Duran said he had just killed an American in self-defense. He said he had pursued the two Americans about three miles when he saw one of them fall. The other American jumped off his horse and disappeared.
"The sergeant brought to general headquarters in Juarez the whole party."

Two Hundred Shots Were Fired at Companion of Murdered American
Lsleta, Texas, Jan. 22.—Douglas Downs, companion of Bert Akers, who was killed yesterday by Mexican cattle and horse thieves just below the border of San Lorenzo, Chihuahua, declared to-day that five Mexicans fired two hundred or more shots at them.
He said neither he nor Akers was armed. Downs said the Mexican who killed Akers' first fired point blank at him (Downs) but missed. Downs then hid in a Mexican rancher's chicken coop where he found a flint lock musket. With this he prepared to defend himself but the slayers abandoned the chase.
Although Pursued, Villa Finds Time to Take Unto Himself Another Bride
By Associated Press
El Paso, Jan. 22.—Although supposed to be the object of a determined search by three Carranza columns, sent out to bring him in dead or alive, Francisco Villa, the proscribed Mexican chieftain, has found time to be married, and has forsaken his cavalry bride at him (Downs) but missed. Downs then hid in a Mexican rancher's chicken coop where he found a flint lock musket. With this he prepared to defend himself but the slayers abandoned the chase.
At least two women, one now in Cuba, and the other in Los Angeles, are said to claim Villa as husband, but Enriquez said he had authentic information that Villa had tarried at Bachineva, in the mountains of western Chihuahua, long enough to marry.

Villa and Zapata Bandits Blow Up Train; 23 Dead
El Paso, Tex., Jan. 22.—Twenty-three persons were killed near Puebla recently when a passenger train was blown up supposedly by Villa and Zapata adherents, according to A. J. Trumbo, wealthy mine owner of the State of Oaxaca, Mexico, who arrived here yesterday.
Only one passenger survived, it was reported. Mr. Trumbo said the train which was blown up was immediately ahead of the one on which he was traveling from Mexico City.
"Several volleys were fired into our train," added Mr. Trumbo, who left with his wife for Los Angeles, with them was H. C. Tanner of Mexico City, who is convalescing from a bullet wound inflicted, he said, by a military officer when he presented insulting references to the United States.
Mr. Trumbo's story of the blowing up of a passenger train near Puebla, with twenty-three casualties, is the first intimation of such a tragedy to reach the border.
Cowboy Says 5 Mexicans Shot Akers; Texas Rangers Wait For Shot at Them
By Associated Press
Yaletta, Texas, Jan. 22.—Five Mexicans, members of a band of cattle and horse thieves, who have harassed the border for weeks, shot and killed Bert Akers, a young rancher of this place, yesterday afternoon, according to the story told of the tragedy to-day by Douglas Downs, Akers' companion, who survived a hail of bullets as he and Akers, riding one horse, sought frantically to escape. They were un-

DEATH OF MISS ELIZA SNYDER
New Cumberland, Jan. 22.—Miss Eliza Snyder died at the home of her niece, Mrs. Robert Miller on a farm in York county on Thursday morning. Miss Snyder was 80 years old and was a life-long resident of York county. IDEA OF CAPTIVE SCOUTED
By Associated Press
Chihuahua, Jan. 22.—Reports of the capture of General Villa, or of persons known to have taken part in the Santa Ysabel massacre, in which 18 foreigners were killed on January 10, are untrue, according to General Luis Herrera. Rumors were current here all day yesterday concerning the capture of General Villa.
TO USE PLANE AGAINST YAQUI
By Associated Press
Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 22.—Carranza authorities to-day asked permission of the State Department at Washington to ship an aeroplane in bond through American territory from Agua Prieta, the Mexican garrison opposite here, to Naco, Sonora. It is said they desire to use the aeroplane in the campaign against Yaqui Indians.

"Five Days From New York"

DEPARTMENT STORE out in Los Angeles (California) recently featured an announcement exploiting its good service, in which it stated that it was only "five days from New York."

- Five Days! It recalls the time when "dry goods, notions, boots and shoes" were brought from the near eastern cities to Harrisburg in about the same length of time, via the famous Conestoga Wagons.
- That has not been so very long ago.
- Many of our older residents will remember the first railroad train that steamed and struggled into town.
- And to-day, with a fine system of railroads, Harrisburg and Bowman's are but FIVE HOURS from the great central market—New York.
- And well you may remember in cases of emergency, here is a store that will turn every stone in its path to procure special articles which may be desired, in a minimum length of time; providing such are obtainable, and possible for rapid transit.
