

MAGIC WHEEL IS DELIGHTFUL OPERA

The Orpheum last night was transformed into an entrancing fairy spot in the woods. Already feeling the spell of the witch, and looking back at the audience, we imagined a large hillside thronged with happy people, and then we turned and saw the stage as a fairy glen in a fertile valley; and lo! magically there appeared the style of comely maidens, forming a wheel, and dancing the "Joy of Spring." The hillside smiled approval.

Peasants, lacemakers, goat herders and many others came upon the scene to pay their tribute to Spring. It was indeed a charming scene. The hillside clapped its hands for joy.

Purposely the story of the Magic Wheel is omitted here, because everybody should go and learn it for themselves. It is a stunning production. The opera is built on folk songs and fairy tales. The music is tuneful, catchy and very appropriate to the text. The characters are exceedingly well chosen and are a decided credit to Harrisburg. And the chorus—how many in it? Bless you, I don't know; we didn't count that far when I went to school. The costumes! I can't find the words to describe them. Seriously, "The Magic Wheel" last night was a distinct and tremendous success. The performance went with good snap and sparkle. And oh! to see the youth, the and vigor represented.

It afforded many happy moments. Of course a witch was needed to supply the magic. Crossing a Scotch moor after dark and through a graveyard; whistling with might and main to keep up our courage, and scare the witches away; were thrilling moments. Our belief in witches was very real. The witch last night, we suspect, was in league with the good fairies. Miss Middaugh as the witch carried her part well. She sang in excellent style and her acting was highly commendable. Her make-up was true to tradition, and she gave genuine pleasure.

Miss Catherine Heicher as the Duchess of Hinterland, the schemer, supposedly in league with the witch, acted her part with considerable skill and force. Her singing of the part was of a high order and much enjoyed. Miss Alice LeCompte as Lady Carlotta was very capable indeed and acted her part with considerable understanding of the character required. She was well received as she sang in excellent style. "A Wish is a Bubble." She was cleverly made up in this scene.

Miss Carrie Rely as the Widow Schumacher parlayed me, the shy Widow Schumacher—made a stunning looking widow, so the burgomeister is forgiven. The duet between the two was well sung and the burgomeister's singing seemed to please the audience. Miss Rely sings with much charm and grace and gave considerable help vocally throughout the opera.

Mr. Hartman as the burgomeister was well made up. He made a jolly, good-natured official and sang with most excellent style and voice. Jerome Hamilton and Louis Munnell as Prince Fritz and his groom afforded both amusement and pleasure with their incidental bits. Mr. Hamilton showed experience in stagecraft and deserves much commendation for his singing and acting, which added considerably to the success of the opera. He was very effective in the duets with Lady Frieda. Mr. Munnell as the groom did his part well and gave the opera those touches of comedy which delighted the audience.

It would have been more to our liking if the Duke of Hinterland (George Sutton) had appeared more frequently in the opera. The baritone was not allotted a big part, but what there was Mr. Sutton did with a grace and dignity that impressed. He sang the sword song in ringing style and assisted in a well-arranged quartet.

And now we must give the individual honors of the evening to Lady Frieda (Mrs. Roy G. Cox), who charmed with her grace and comeliness. She acted her part with distinction and rare appeal. Her voice and style in this role made her singing very enjoyable. Her musical temperament. She was greatly enjoyed and liberally applauded.

Among the musical numbers finding the most favor were "Spring," "Gisla," "Black Magic," "Good Luck," "Dear Old Moon," "I'm the Witch," "Spinny Song," "Something Happened," "Hip, Hip, Hooray," "When My Dreams Come True," "Win a Wife," "The Beauty Mirror," "An I Were a Maid," "A Wish is a Bubble," "Pray Thy, Pretty Maiden," "The Same Old Way," "Graft," "Stole Fruit," "Chorus Song," "The Bird Song" and "The Cuckoo Duet."

Space will not permit all that could be said in favor of the performance, but the bird songs mentioned, and also some other splendid features. Miss C. Wynne Cassel was delightful as Queen of the Bird Kinder, and also Miss Getha High as canary soloist. Miss Elizabeth Ross as the canary, sang as pretty as a picture and sang with charm and assurance. Miss Catherine Dubbs as the parrot leader was a distinct and pleasant surprise. Her acting and singing was a delight and received spontaneous applause.

The cuckoo duet by Miss Ross and James McCutcheon was very clever. With these young people showing nothing and singing ability above the average. Mention should also be made of the six graceful little dancing ladies that appeared during the bird songs; the gavotte, quaint, charming and proper; and the rope dance, with Miss Dorothy Cox and Jean Davis doing an especially charming dancing figure; and the sprites, the elves, the witches, the star nymphs, the wood nymphs, the ladies, the lords, the dwarfs, toy vendors, and hosts of others that kept us interested and entertained from the rise of the curtain.

Mrs. Lake has cause to be very tired—but happy. Work well done is always a rich reward, and heartiest congratulations are hereby extended to her.

The opera is pure in thought and action. It is happy in its employment of youth. Harrisburg is well blessed with handsome girls and boys, and it was good to see them engaged in so worthy an opera for so worthy a cause.

Attractive young ladies in striking costume vended excellent candy at a very reasonable figure. There was a big demand for the libretto, which is a complete guide and souvenir.

The Sunshine ladies—where are their equal?—have seen another big undertaking with the same success. The writer urges everyone who possibly can to go to this most attractive musical entertainment. There are still some good available seats.

P. S.—There was one dismal failure. An actor, over which even the witch had no control, was the donkey. He refused to go on. Not sufficient rehearsal and a slight nervousness in his hind feet were the reasons given.

The cast is as follows: Lady Carlotta, Mrs. Roy Galbraith Cox; Prince Fritz, Jerome Hamilton; Duchess of Hinterland, Miss Catherine Heicher; Lady Carlotta, Miss Alice LeCompte; Granny Teeter-toes, Miss Belle Middaugh; The Widow Schumacher, Miss Carrie Rely; The Duke of Hinterland, George Sutton; The Burgomeister, Abner Hartman; The Groom, Louis Munnell; Lady Lisbeth, Margina Moeslein; Lady Gretchen, Helen Yocum; Graf Swartz, Hugh Wolf; Graf Smertz, Marvin Lesure; Graf Weber, Paul Strickler.

Chung Wa Four, a Celestial Quartet at the Majestic For the First Half of Week

Four male comedy trillers from the Celestial Kingdom promise to provide one of the interesting attractions at the Majestic during the first half of next week. Due to the fact that few Chinese can sing American songs, let alone succeed with American comedy, the Chung Wa Four is one of the unique acts in present-day vaudeville.—Adv.

INDICATIONS OF NEW FIGHTING

given to developments in connection with Greece. The Allies, for their part, have made a new move in making a landing on the Karaburun Peninsula, near the head of the Gulf of Saloniki, occupying the Greek fort there. The move seems to have been dictated by strategic reasons, it being considered undesirable by the entente forces to have the position in other hands than their own.

As to Greece herself, a dispatch from Teutonic sources carries the intimation that King Constantine and his close advisers fear she may be dragged into the war eventually through the influence of former premier Venizelos, with the Greek people, the idea of a revolutionary movement of a grave character not being absent from the minds of the ruler and his political and military aids.

Contemplate Advance
Coincidentally there are revived reports that a speedy advance on Saloniki is contemplated by the Teutonic allies and that Turkish forces, notably the Gallipoli army, are moving to positions where they will be ready to strike in the attack.

Although it is reported from Athens that the Italians have determined to abandon Durazzo on the Albanian coast, owing to the difficulties presented to its defense against the Austrians, there are reports from Southern Albania more favorable to the allies. Rome has advised that Essad Pasha, leader of Albanian troops favorable to the entente has effected a junction with the Italian forces. Positions at Avolana and in other sections of Southern Albania are being held by the Italian troops. The measures taken will be effective in checking the Austrians.

Kinard; four brothers, Fred, employed in the Government printing office at Washington; Harry, superintendent of the State Hospital at Danville; George and Andrew Orth; two sisters, Miss Rebecca Orth, principal of the Lincoln school building, and Mrs. Chris Morgenthaler of this city.
