Hot Water for Sick Headaches

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headache of any kind, is caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood, through the lymph ducts, excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilide, aspirin or the bromides which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drunk before breakfast for awhile, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache but will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar, and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphate hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poison.

Results are quick and it is claimed that those who continue to flush out the stomach, liver and bowels every morning never have any headache or know a miserable moment.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS
A slant at the New York theaters reveals the following bits of news: A Hawaiian quartet has been installed in the lounge room of "The Booth Theatre" and audiences at "The Fear Market" are now assured entertainment between the acts. "Fair and Warmer" will occur to-night at the Eltinge. Ada Meade last night replaced Adele Rowland in the cast of "Katinka," following a renewal of the Rowland-Barnes-Hammerstein controversy.

"Marie Odile," the Belasco production in which the extremely feminine Frances Starr plays the leading role, has met with considerable unfavorable criticism in Philadelphia, where it made its initial appearance the other evening. The criticism seems to be that the Belasco development of sentimentality is not justified as the means of covering the otherwise sordid story of the betrayal of Marie by the Prussian. "Marie Odile" played in this city last year.

When Director Lloyd, at the Oliver Morosco studios, gave the command "shoot," Anna Held became nervous and forgot her "business," that of kingly tripping onto the stage, among other things, instead of gamboing upon the rostrum pretty Anna deepened another look at the door with a questioning look that made the cameraman stop grinding. Advancing cautiously, she of the "naughty eyes" inquired: "What is ziss shoot?" "Who is going to be shot?" It was with difficulty that the handsome Lloyd repressed a smile as he explained that all the shooting would be done before the camera. "Ah," your wonderful language, exclaimed the French comedienne, with a pretty little shrug of astonishment—and, perhaps, relief.

Harry Lauder is an enthusiastic member of the International Association of Rotary Clubs, and a Rotarian of standing and favor. Whenever he goes he is lavishly entertained by the Rotary organization, as he was at a special luncheon in Chicago, in Cincinnati the Rotary Club prides itself on its magnificence and hospitality. That body telegraphed Lauder before he arrived, inviting him to be its guest, and he readily accepted. He got the following telegram: "Thanks for your acceptance. We will entertain you as you never were before entertained by a Rotary Club." He flashed back the following telegram: "Thanks for your thanks. You'll have to go some."

LOCAL THEATERS

A Shy Bachelor
He was one of the "unfortunates" of the "open season" on bachelors. This young eligible had encephalitis himself and fever in a bit of a wonderful one room at a nearby suburb. Everyone agreed his domicile was impossible to live in. He was, however, very happy in the fancied security of his isolated cabin.
Game one Sunday a knock on the door and a neighbor with an invitation to dinner. As he had neglected to register his ladder the day before, he accepted.
After the dinner, an elaborate affair, he was in some unaccountable way left alone with a maiden of ancient vintage, who proceeded thusly: "Do you know, Mr. Blank, I think your piece is just the cutest bungalow ever. I have always wanted to live in just such a little home, and you don't know how I'd just love to have a man like you—and—"

Mr. Blank was upon his feet and making for the door by this time, and—letting no grass grow under his feet in getting away, he's still roling.
But on the door of said bungalow is a conspicuous sign labeled: NOBODY HOME.

"The Princess Pat"
"The Princess Pat," Henry Blossom and Victor Herbert's latest comic opera, will be the attraction at the Orpheum Theater Friday, February 4. It is one of those very rare comic operas which are at once comic and operatic. The book and lyrics are in Mr. Blossom's best vein, with pith and point to the comedy, while Mr. Herbert's music not only excels the best that he put into "Mlle. Modiste," "The Red Mill," and "The Prima Donna," but in one or two of the concerted numbers, approaches closely the distinction of his grand opera effort in "Natoma" and "Madeleine."

"Let Katy Do It," one of the most pleasing dramas that the Triangle service has sent to the Orpheum Theater, will be the attraction at the Orpheum Theater to-morrow. A woman's fight with jealousy and her final triumph and happiness are forcibly shown in the new Ince-Triangle story, "The Green Swamp," which will be the dramatic feature of the new bill at the Orpheum to-morrow. Bessie Barriscale, favorite of the "fans," and Bruce McKae are the co-stars of this play. Bruce McKae is a Londoner by birth, but a New Yorker by stage habit. He is something of a globe-trotter, having lived in England, America, New Zealand and Australia. "The Green Swamp" is a society play, absorbing in interest, splendidly enacted and elaborately mounted.

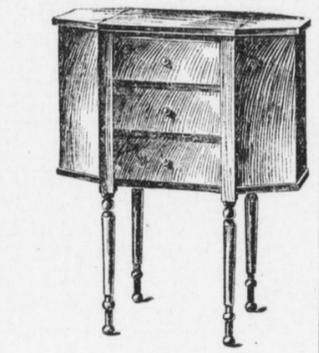

"Jane," a filmization of the brilliant Charles Frohman comedy by the Oliver Morosco Photoplay Company, starring Charlotte Greenwood and Sydney Grant, of musical fame, will be the Paramount Picture attraction at the Orpheum to-day and to-morrow.

The story concerns Charles Shackleton, who offers "Jane" $500 to pose as his wife during his uncle's approaching visit. "Jane" finds it hard to lay aside her feather-duster instincts, but gets along very well until the inquisitive old uncle benevolently inquires for "the baby." To quiet any suspicion the conspirators fill the vacancy, but unfortunately require the infant to be a reluctant washerwoman, who does not speak good English, and in the midst of the uncle's ecstatics over their bursts in and demands the immediate return of her child. Repulsed, she summons the police, who, finding the baby in the uncle's arms, nab him as the kidnaper. Everything turns out happily in the end, however.

One of the most unique vaudeville acts that has been at the Majestic this season is the Chung Ex-Mayor Bent Hwa Four, four full-time vaudeville troupes. Today the Chung Hwa Four first appear in Chinese costume, but adhere to American songs, which they render admirably. Another clever feature of this bill includes a very interesting illustrated play by Francis E. Bent, former Mayor of New York City. An unusual Keith hit that will be presented at the Majestic during the first half of the week will be that of the Ward Sisters, the mysterious dancers. One of them is of magnetic weight, and a reward will be offered to any person or group of persons who can lift her from the floor.

MARYSVILLE LINE CASE IS DEFERRED

Will Be Taken Up Again by Commissioner Ryan Next Monday Afternoon

Commissioner Ryan last night continued the hearing in the complaint of John F. Shannon, Jr., of Marysville, against the service of the Marysville line of the Valley Railway Company until next Monday afternoon, when some figures on what additional car service would cost can be analyzed. The hearing did not close until 9:30 o'clock last night and the concluding testimony was by the company's officials and men, who denied most of the allegations made by Shannon. Just what will come out of the statement of cost of operating cars remains to be seen. Commissioner Ryan said he wanted to be just to the public and not unjust to the company and considered that attorneys for the complainant should furnish him with more information and their calculations of the matter.

One of the interesting things to people living along the lines of the company that turned up last night was the statement by Dispatcher Sensemman that when a car had seventy-three passengers it was considered "too full."

Social and Banquet of P. O. S. of A. at Dillsburg

Calvin Strayer, of York, national president of the Patriotic Order Sons of America. The committee on refreshments was composed of J. A. Grove, J. S. Kapp, W. B. Dick, C. J. Stouffer and John W.
