

HASSETT QUINTET GIVE CENTRAL TOSSERS HARD BATTLE---NATIONAL MEETING

STAR PLAYERS IN SCHOOL LEAGUE

Local Tossers Factors in Central Pennsylvania Series; Light of Lebanon Leads

More changes have taken place during the last week in the Central Pennsylvania basketball league than at any other similar length of time during the season. York's defeat at the hands of Central last Thursday and Reading's victory over Tech has placed York and Reading on even terms for the lead of the league. Central is one game in the rear of these two teams.

Light, the high individual scorer of the league since its inception, has been displaced by Greenwalt, center of the York team. Reading High after playing four of its first five games on its own floor has taken the lead in both the offensive and defensive.

Thomas, the clever Central forward, was the highest individual scorer in the league during the week, netting a total of 20 points for his side in the game against the Yorkers. As a result he has moved into third place.

Reading has scored 190 points in five games, while Central has tallied 190 for the same number of contests. Lebanon High has amassed 220 tallies for the season but has engaged in eight contests to date.

Ten Leading Players

The ten players with the highest averages of points per game are as follows:
Snyder, Reading, 21.50, in four games; Greenwalt, York, 20.80, in five games; Harris, Tech, 19.00, in three games; Thomas, Central, 19.00, in five games; Light, Lebanon, 12.70, in eight games; Wendler, Reading, 11.40 in five games; Dayhoff, Steelton, 10.75 in four games; Kilmer, Tech, 9.20 in five games; Jones, Lancaster, 8.75 in nine games; Wallower, Central, 7.20 in five games.

The standing of the teams is as follows:

Teams	W.	L.	Pts.
York	4	1	300
Reading	4	1	300
Central	2	2	300
Lancaster	2	2	500
Tech	2	3	400
Lebanon	3	5	375
Steelton	0	4	000

"Eddie" Plank Loses Out; Belongs to St. Louis Club

Special to the Telegraph
Cincinnati, Feb. 8.—The National Baseball Commission yesterday denied the application of Pitcher "Eddie" Plank to be declared a free agent. Plank based his request on a paragraph in the Players' Fraternity agreement, which relates to an unconditional release after a player has served 10 years on one team and because the Federal League no longer has a claim to his services.

Former Governor Is Now Boston Magnate

Special to the Telegraph
Boston, Feb. 8.—Executive training in running a State seems to be a prelude to executive work in baseball. The first great example, is of course, John K. Tener, president of the National League, who was elected to that office while still Governor of Pennsylvania. Now it is announced that David I. Walsh, former Governor of Massachusetts, is vice-president of the Braves under the new organization. Walsh owns a large share of the stock in the club.

Pretty Little Belgian Refugee Wins Rich Woman as Patron

Special to the Telegraph
New York, Feb. 8.—A family of Belgian refugees is happy to-day because Mrs. George H. Gould went for a walk. Mrs. Gould, who is the wife of a wealthy retired leather merchant saw Harry De Rudder and his wife trying to earn a few pennies by playing a violin and cello in the street. She inquired and found they had a remarkably pretty little girl, Madeline, six years old.

Mrs. Gould had the little family to dinner and learned their story. De Rudder, who is twenty-six years old and a skillful musician, played in the Antwerp Opera House. He was prosperous and comfortable with his wife and little girl. But the war drove him from Belgium. With money raised at a benefit in Paris he bought his wife a cello and set out for America.

He landed here penniless. His wife, who had never played a cello before, practiced hard on the way over so she could help her husband supply the family with food and shelter until he might find a place in some New York orchestra. While the parents were playing in the street an agent of the Children's Society arrested them because, he said, little Madeline was soliciting money. Mrs. Gould came to the rescue and De Rudder and his wife were set free.

Little Madeline, who speaks English well and is able to play the violin, is now at Mrs. Gould's house where she will be taken care of until De Rudder can find a position.

At present he and his wife are living in a tiny apartment which he pays for by giving music lessons to the janitor's two little daughters.

Game Is Close Until Finish; Fouls Help High School Quintet

Central High without the services of Rote, last night won from the Hassett Club tossers, score 36 to 30. The High School quintet had to go some to land a victory. It was the excellent foul shooting of Wallower that brought the answer.

Krout put up a strong game at forward, and Gerdes played well at guard. Wallower and Houtz brought the points for Central. The line-up and summary:

WELLY'S CORNER

Recently six members of the first and second teams of the Philadelphia Central High basketball team, were declared ineligible because of failures in examinations. With the Central Pennsylvania Scholastic League teams running close, any team unfortunate enough to temporarily lose a star player, because of study conditions, would soon be counted out.

Plans are under way for a basketball contest between Hassett tossers and Tech varsity five. It will probably be a part of the program of February 23 at Chestnut Street Auditorium, which will include wrestling matches. Hassett tossers are always a strong attraction, and are in demand for games.

Those who have seen the Williamsport basketball team play, cannot understand why the Biltowners are not members of the Scholastic League. Williamsport has scored more field goals against York than any team in the League, losing games on fouls.

Results in the Interoffice Bowling League, which closed its first championship season on Saturday, brought in the front some new stars. Those Mt. Pleasant printers scored many clean-up victories, and held high records throughout the season. The rivalry was strong. There will be more doing when the local printers meet in basketball and baseball contests.

On Tuesday, February 22, live bird shooters from all over Pennsylvania will come to Harrisburg to participate

New Haven, Feb. 8.—Whether or not Arthur Milburn, Harry Legore, William Easton, R. H. Holson, to whom the decision on this and all other matters governing eligibility was delegated by the Yale Corporation.

In the meantime, the undergraduates are at fever heat on the question and only the junior promenade festivities prevent mass meetings and stronger demonstrations. Not in college generations has there been so much feeling over a matter involving undergraduates.

Judge Dismisses Suit on Federal League Request

Chicago, Feb. 8.—The suit of the Federal League against organized baseball, based on alleged violation of the Federal antitrust laws, was dismissed yesterday in the United States Circuit Court here by Judge Kenesaw M. Landis on motion of counsel for the Federal League.

For more than a year the suit, with the possible outcome, had hung over the baseball world. Its withdrawal was one of the stipulations in the recent peace agreement between the Federal League, newcomers in baseball, and the older leagues.

No objection to the order of the dismissal was advanced by counsel for the Baltimore Federal League club. The dismissal order was without prejudice to further appeal to the court by any of the interested parties.
