S. P. C. A. Notes

Kats increase with such rapidity that should the number of cats be largely reduced, as would happen if cat licenses came into general use—the country would soon be inundated with rodents. How many Americans know that Congress recognizes the economic value of cats in protection of the mails? Annual protection is made for government cats. They are entered on the payroll as employees and even in panic times when other government employees must "go," the number of cats kept has never been reduced.

Many practical humanitarians are opposing cat license bills despite the sensational statements of the number of birds killed by cats. Surely in comparison with the birds dead in the interest of sport and hats the number killed by cats is comparatively insignificant.

Instead of waging war on the cat take the advice of Dr. Joseph Kalbfus in putting up your birds' house, as so many are doing this winter. He says, "Be sure, to place your birdbox in such a position that cats cannot reach it. I would suggest that in every instance your birdhouse should be raised at least eight feet above the ground, and be supported by iron or tubing, so that cats or squirrels cannot reach them."

Some Brandeis Views

The remedy for existing conditions is the conservation of wasted energy.

The great trouble with all forms of business to-day is that too little attention is given to the men at the bottom of the ladder.

The best brains should teach the men lowest down.

All the powers of capital and all the ability and intelligence of the men who wield and serve capital have been used to make slaves of these steel workers.

Capital in many instances really earns a great deal less than is safe for industry.

There is little choice between unions and employes when it comes to violence.

There must be not only a division of profits but of responsibility.

The worker must have a voice in saying how the business shall be run.

Crush the trusts and the high cost of living will decrease.

The liberty of the workman is a hoax.

The competition in business corresponds to liberty in political and civil life.

To preserve the liberty of the many, we find it necessary to restrict the liberty of the few.

Excesses of competition lead to monopoly just as excesses of liberty lead to abolition.

LEGAL BASIS OF SUBMARINE WAR

Prof. Niemeyer, German International Law Expert, Discusses Problem

Berlin, Feb. 11.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—In answer to American criticisms of submarine warfare aroused by the Lusitania and Ancona cases, Professor Theodor Niemeyer, international law expert at the University of Kiel, has issued a brochure entitled "The Legal Basis of Submarine War." In it he gives his reasons for believing, not only that such warfare is justified, but that passengers may be torpedoed as the Lusitania and Ancona were without any infringement of existing international law.

Submarine warfare per se, he argues, is allowable because it is not forbidden. Various restrictions placed upon naval warfare in general by international conventions, he declares, are null and void because not ratified by all of the present combatants.

The "command of necessity" he argues is another reason for the submarine. It has "the right and duty to do everything that serves the war's purpose."

He quotes Article 49 of the London Declaration to show that neutral ships may be destroyed if the attacker is in danger, but that no such conditions is imposed in regard to enemy vessels.

The inference therefore to be drawn is that the attacker needs no such pretense or excuse as danger to justify him in sinking his opponent's ships.

As regards the rights of passengers, the writer declares that they are not touched upon in any international agreement until the London Declaration, which, in Article 50 says: "Avant la destruction (of the ship) les personnes qui se trouvent a bord devront etre mises en surete." (Before the destruction of the ship the persons who are on board shall (or must) be removed to safety.)

On the word "devront," Professor Niemeyer lays the greatest stress in his argument. He declares that the French have but the one word "devoient" to cover both must and shall. He elects to translate devront as shall, maintaining that if "must" had been meant the form "doivent" would have been used.

On the assumption, therefore, that

Article 50 was intended to read that passengers shall be placed in safety, he is of the opinion that the words, "if it is possible," are to be interpolated or read into the paragraph. With the article in this revised form, as he is morally convinced it should be, he finds every phase of submarine warfare justifiable.

Anxiety Hangs Over

Professor Niemeyer opens his brochure with the following foreword:

"Ever since North American diplomacy has sought to impair the glorious deeds of our submarines by the notes and to harm them by international complications, the anxiety that from our hands without opposition has hung over the German people like a black cloud. We hope, however, that our submarines will not be offered up as an altar of waste through half-way measures to suit foreigners. We express our complete confidence in our heroic submarine commanders and crews, with the assurance that they will stand behind them, filled with admiration and gratitude, so long as a drop of blood still flows, so long as a hand draws the sword."

The writer earnestly disputes the contention that international law has been smashed to bits in the present war. He maintains rather that it is, strangely expressed, bent but not broken. There has not been as large a proportion of offenses against it, he says, as against criminal law the world over.

After presenting many reasons why the submarine might be considered unmentionable to existing law because it is new, he declares that this view after all is untenable and insists that the U-boat will have to continue to operate under present statutes until new ones are created after the war.

He complains on the one hand that international law as it now stands is "of holes" and too "elastic," but "in these very facts justification for many of the acts of submarines. In support of his contention he quotes many phrases which he terms vague, and which, he says, are construed in one way by America, in another by England and in still a third by Germany. In this connection he takes a tilt at American jurisprudence.

About the middle of his brochure he seems to despair of convincing America that he is right and Americans wrong, for he says:

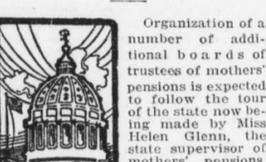

"It is, I fear, easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a genuine American really to understand a German, or even a Dutchman or a Norwegian, when one of them insists that, according to the character of the war and the character of international law governing warfare, the true inwardness of the legal basis or status of war changes."

MOTHER PENSION WORK GOES AHEAD

Miss Glenn Out Meeting Officials of the Various Counties Regarding It

COMMISSION TO MEET

Public Service to Sit Monday; Movie Men Win in the Philadelphia Courts

Organization of additional boards of trustees of mothers' pensions is expected to follow the tour of the state now being made by Miss Glenn, who has been away for several weeks from the courts. The last Legislature created the position of supervisor, but the place was not filled until last Fall. Miss Glenn began her first tour in the early winter and arrangements have been made for county commissioners to petition for appointment of trustees.

Over twenty counties now have mothers' pension systems in operation and the project is being discussed in probably as many more. Under the law the Governor names the trustees upon agreement of the county to contribute one-half of the pension fund required. The Auditor General's department has worked out a system of accounting and uniform blanks.

Look for More.—Prospects of activity in the stock market have raised the hopes of State fiscal officials that the stock transfer act of 1915 will amount to something as a revenue increaser after all. The act was passed the calculations in the revenue scheme were that it would amount to $100,000 a year, but the first month it turned in over $350,000. Capitol Hill people now figure out that at a quarter of a million dollars will be raised in 1916.

Teach Citizenship.—School teachers' associations in a number of counties of the State have added "Citizenship" to the subjects for discussion at their monthly meetings, according to the State Board of Education. As these meetings are the ways in which the teacher and the school can inculcate love of country and veneration for American institutions and the nation's great men, the State Board of Education will also be asked to outline what they have done toward promoting the idea of citizenship among their pupils.

Owner of Fishing Tug Fined.—The owner, master and other employees of the fishing tug Alfred S. Toledo, Ohio, were arrested and fined $100 each for operating the tug on Lake Erie in violation of the act of April 19, 1913, which prescribes a certain size mesh in gill nets which may be used. The parties were using gill nets of illegal mesh and when the nets were discovered, amounting to $405.68, together with the fines imposed, $500, making a total of $905.68, was paid over to the Department of Fisheries for the use of the Commonwealth. The prosecution was brought under the direction of the Attorney General's Department, Attorney Clark Olds, of Erie, representing the State. Erie is the largest fresh water fish port in the world and unless the laws are enforced and the fishermen made to live up to them it is useless to have the laws on the statute books. It would be unfair to the Pennsylvania fishermen who fish out of the port of Erie to allow outsiders to fish without living up to the law, and the department believes this arrest and conviction will have the desired effect of having the law respected by all the fishermen.

Commission to Meet.—The Public Service Commission will meet here on Monday for its session for contracts and charters. It will have several hearings during the week.

After Oyster Men—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of fifty persons in Pittsburgh for the sale of oysters which have been "fattened" or "blotted" with water contrary to State laws. This is the largest number ever issued for this offense at one time.

Holiday To-morrow.—To-morrow is a holiday at the State Capitol and it will be closed in honor of Abraham Lincoln.

McDowell Elected.—Ex-Representative Thomas R. McDowell has been elected president of the Chester county supervisors association.

Deliver Address.—Major Robert Griffiths of the State Treasury Department, will be the orator at the Lincoln Day Dinner given under the auspices of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Y. M. C. A. at the association's rooms, Lehigh and Kensington avenues, Philadelphia, on Saturday evening. His theme will be Lincoln's Life and Place in History. The major will be celebrating his own natal day, also, as he was born on February 12.

Movie Men Win.—A long-drawn-out controversy between movie picture manufacturers and the State Board of Censors over the right of appeal from the latter's decisions was settled yesterday, and precedent was established in Common Pleas Court No. 2, Philadelphia, when Judge Barratt filed an opinion upholding the right of film companies to appeal from the board's ruling to restrict or forbid the production of film. Judge Barratt's action sustains the appeal taken by the Franklin Film Manufacturing Corporation from the censors' finding in the photo-drama, entitled "Virtue."

NO ACID STOMACH, SOURNESS, GASES OR INDIGESTION

In five minutes your sick, upset stomach will feel fine.

"Pape's Diapepsin" neutralizes acids in stomach and starts digestion.

Take your sour, out-of-order stomach—or maybe you call it indigestion, dyspepsia or gastritis, it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain triangle and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your former misery.

The correct name for your trouble is food fermentation—acid stomach—food souring; the digestive organs become weak; there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, coming, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness or many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump in your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself in five minutes that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating food like a man without fear of discomfort and misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.—Advertisement.

URGES EVERYONE TO QUICKLY GET ON WATER WAGON

Drink glass of hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses the stomach and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatism, twinges, aches, those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.—Advertisement.

TO GAIN FLESH AND INCREASE WEIGHT

People Who Were Thin and Run-down Have Reported Weight Increases of Ten to Twenty-five Pounds From This Simple Test

Thin men and women, 10 pounds or more under normal weight, who would like to put on weight, why not try this? They should weigh, ought to give themselves the Sargol test.

This test is safe, easy, pleasant, costs little if it succeeds and nothing if it fails.

Weigh yourself before you begin. Then get from G. A. Gorgas or any reliable druggist where a sixty day supply of Sargol (tablet form). Take one tablet with each meal—one before you go to bed—until you have used the supply. Weigh yourself each ten days during the test and note what improvement has been made. Let the scales tell the story. If at the end of sixty days your weight has not increased at least 10 pounds take the box tops of the packages of Sargol you purchased and take to the druggist you bought them from and he is authorized to return every penny you paid him. This test is surely worth trying as thin people from nearly every part of the country tell of gains in weight ranging all the way from ten to twenty-five pounds that followed their use of Sargol in this way. Sargol is a carefully balanced combination of flesh building agents and assimilative aids that may be taken with entire safety.—Advertisement.

ECZEMA CAUSED YEARS OF INTENSE AGONY

"I have suffered intense agony from Eczema on my legs and other parts of my body for years, and received only temporary relief from other preparations. It is only a month since I started to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT, and there is no sign of Eczema or itching. You can refer to me."—Geo. C. Talbot, 27 Penfield St., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I've got a hundred testimonials, says Peterson, just as sincere and honest as this one. Years ago when I first started to put out PETERSON'S OINTMENT, I made every effort to give a big box for 25 cents, and I'm still doing it, as every druggist in the country knows. I guarantee PETERSON'S OINTMENT because I know that its mighty healing power is marvelous. I say to every one who buys a box that it is rigidly guaranteed for Eczema, Salt Rheum, Old Sores, Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles, Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Chafing, Burns, Scalds and Sunburn, and if not satisfactory any druggist will return your money.—Advertisement.
