SEALERS ACTIVE IN THE COUNTRY

Only a Few Have Failed to Name Men to Oversee the Weights and Measures

Judging from reports which are being received at the State Bureau of Standards, there will only be three or four counties and one or two cities of the State which will be without seals of weights and measures after April 1.

Notice has been received by James Sweeney, chief of the bureau, that Lycoming county and Carbonate city have named sealers and that Fulton and Center counties plan to do the same and that the city of Easton will act on April 1.

Considerable attention has been attracted to the suit pending in the District court and fixed for hearing on Monday wherein the State seeks to require M. G. Livingston, Pittsburgh, to deliver to the State bureau. This will settle a point which has been in question.

Money From Taxes.—The first big payments of the State tax upon the premiums of foreign and domestic fire insurance companies collected in Pennsylvania are now being received by the State Treasury. On a couple of days the amount paid was in excess of the $100,000 mark. Much of this money goes to local firemen's relief organizations.

Assist.—Assurances from a number of mine owners in the State that they will co-operate with the State in its campaign against pollution of streams by installing filters of waste products have been received at the Department of Fisheries. Half a dozen concerns manufacturing powder and refining oil have sent word that they are making an improvement in the weather before the start of the season. 200 prints of filters have been distributed by the department for use of manufacturers.

The New.—Dairy and Food Commissioner James Foust has received the full record of the cold storage egg case recently tried in the Blair county courts when the manager and clerk of the case were found guilty of selling cold storage eggs without being labeled as required by law. It is the only case on record where eggs have been proved to be cold storage eggs on physical and chemical examination to the satisfaction of a jury. The verdict was a great victory for the Department of Agriculture and proves the ability of the department chemists, who have worked out a method of analysis to establish cold storage eggs. The testimony comprises 157 typewritten pages and that which is of interest in the verdict may be printed in bulletin form.

Board Meets To-morrow.—The State Workmen's Compensation Board will meet in Philadelphia to-morrow. Pays Big Bonus.—The Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia yesterday paid the State $13,333.34 as bonus on the stock from $20,000,000 to $24,000,000.

Visited by Son.—Lee Solomon, secretary of the compensation board, is being visited by his son this week. Wants Better Organization.—Dr. J. George Recht, secretary of the State Board of Education in speaking at Detroit yesterday, declared that the methods in use here were inadequate.

To Test Ralston Act.—Steps are being taken in court at Philadelphia to test the Ralston practice act which was adopted by the last Legislature.

Class To Hold Social.—The Men's Bible Class of Derry Street United Brethren Church to-night will hold a Washington's Birthday social at the home of Mrs. J. J. Daugherty, 1411 Thompson street.

Miss Matilda Hiestler, of Front and Herr streets, who has been visiting in Philadelphia, leaves to-morrow for Philadelphia, N. J., to spend some time with her aunt, Mrs. Chauncey C. Baldwin.

Mrs. Philip H. Caplan and son, Stanley Caplan, of 18 North Fourth street, are visiting their sister, Mrs. Henry Lipsitt, at Newport, for a few days.

Miss Edna M. Sprinkel, of 403 North Second street, has returned from Philadelphia, where she visited the Montessori school.

Dr. Imine Gansaul, of Market street, spent yesterday in Lebanon. Helen Moore, of Charles Gaff and Miss Helen Moore, of North Eighth street, have returned after a visit to Mr. Gaff's mother in Waynesboro.

Elias Rubende, of 1411 Thompson street, is visiting his mother and relatives in Shamokin and Mount Carmel.

Mrs. A. J. Sunday, of Bailey street, left for Sunbury where she will spend the week.

Andrew J. Baer, of South Thirteenth street, who has been confined to his home on account of a severe illness, is able to be out.

Charles Ziegler, of 1411 Thompson street, is visiting his mother, where he has been called to attend the funeral of his grandmother.

William Pen Eyek, of Albany, N. Y., has returned to his home after a brief visit with friends in this city.

Miss Amy Harner, of 1459 Market street, who has been ill at her home, is convalescent.

Molly, of Lebanon, representing the Travelers' Protective Association, against the Philadelphia and Reading Railway's schedule, which does not provide a train east from Harrisburg to Allentown after 6:30 p. m. It is claimed that the service deprives men arriving here from north and west after that hour of opportunity to go to their homes in towns along the Reading.

TO MOVE PA. STEEL HEADS TO BETHLEHEM?

at 5.30 last evening, President Grace is quoted as declaring that this proposed enlargement of the blast furnace department will include the erection of five new furnaces. "Each of these units," he is quoted, "will cost from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000."

"The plant is well situated," President Grace continued in his later statement. "It will place us in a position after all the steel business east of the Alleghenies."

Some persons seem to have the idea that the Steelton mills might be moved away. That is not possible. The plant is greater than most people believe. It is as large as our Bethlehem mills were only several years ago before we made improvements.

"New machinery is to be installed and there will be new mechanical labor-saving devices to increase the output. There is no reason why the payroll will not be increased," he concluded.

Visit Sparrows Point Arriving at Sparrows Point last evening at 5.30 o'clock in Mr. Schwab's car "Twilight," President Grace and his party called upon officers of the plant, and asked to be taken through the rail mill. This was done and the party then returned to their car where they spent the night.

Practical for the entire time to-day was spent in the plant. The blast furnaces, coke ovens, open hearth, rail mill, ship yard and mechanical departments were carefully gone over. A tour was also made through the town to ascertain the condition of the homes of the workers.

The arrival of President Grace's party last evening caused quite a bit of excitement in Sparrows Point because it was not expected until this morning.

The visit of the party to Sparrows Point bears out the reports that have been current since the financial district since negotiations for the purchase of the Pennsylvania Steel holdings from the Pennsylvania and Reading railroads have been under way. Talk was heard on every hand that the local plant would be improved and made the largest on the seaboard, being that it is the only one that Mr. Schwab has built at the water. All of his other interests are inland.

The Maryland Steel Company is busy at present filling contracts, particularly for steamships. In fact, the contracts at the Sparrows Point will keep the plant going at full capacity for the next two years.

To Build Submarines Much talk has also been going on in the financial district to the effect that Mr. Schwab would begin the building of submarines at the Sparrows Point plant. So far this has not been confirmed, but those who are supposed to be in a position to know that is going on in the steel industry declare that it is not a mere possibility for the reports. Mr. Grace, upon completing his inspection, will report to Mr. Schwab, who, within the next two weeks, will visit Baltimore and make a personal inspection of the property.

Simultaneously with the inspection trip of Bethlehem officials to the properties of the Pennsylvania Steel Company and fifteen subsidiaries, come the news from Philadelphia of a meeting of the directors of Cambria Steel, control of which was recently purchased from the Universal Motor Car Company and the Reading railroad by the Midvale Steel Company.

Donner Resigns President Donner resigned at this meeting and his place was taken by A. C. Dinkey, who is also president of Midvale.

Of the old directors, Messrs. Stackhouse, Slick and Black were retained, but those who resigned were Alexander P. Robinson, Arthur E. Newbold, John C. Ripley, W. H. Donner, E. V. Babcock and R. Francis Wood. They were replaced by W. P. Barba, John C. Neale, S. M. Vaulcain, A. C. Dinkey, William D. Dickson and W. E. Clendenen.

The Midvale Company announced that it had taken over and paid for a majority of the stock of the Cambria Company. The time limit has expired in which the Midvale people agreed to pay any owners of Cambria stock $81 a share for all stock presented to Drexel & Company, but yesterday it was agreed to extend this time for a brief period to permit further purchase of stock.

At the same time, we were somewhat anxious to see the latest Scripps-Booth model of which we have heard so much favorable comment, so we looked around to the Universal Motor Car Company's display of that popular car. We were met by Charles H. Mauk who greeted us cordially and invited our careful inspection.

We first saw the Scripps-Booth eight-cylinder touring car at $1,175—a very distinctive model at a moderate price. "It is the one light car," said Mr. Mauk, "that is a fit companion to the highest priced limousine or touring car. You cannot appreciate its mechanical perfection until you've ridden in it." And say, it sure is a mighty racy looking piece of machinery.

From there, we went to the exhibit of the Ensinger Motor Company, showing the Hippobolite, Charles Ensinger's right away he began to talk business. We've a neighbor who drives a Hupp and with whom we've made several trips so felt that we were on a familiar point out that the cushions of the new model were being made two inches thicker than formerly which meant increased comfort to an extent that we had never experienced before. The most prominent feature of the new model is perhaps the increased efficiency of the motor, 20 per cent. greater power being added merely by the accurate fitting of the valves. So far as appearance was concerned, Mr. Ensinger's description coincided absolutely with my own impression when he said, "It's a car of surpassing beauty—the owner's face will give you daily satisfaction, and the car is as good as its looks."

Our next visit was to the East End Auto Company's display of the Detroit Electric with C. B. Hoffer in charge. When the Mrs. beheld the Electric Coupe there was no restraining her. She simply must get into that car. It was so inviting. Mr. Hoffer smiled. Evidently he was accustomed to these enthusiastic outbreaks. And honestly, I couldn't criticize mere actions, for it was indeed a car after my own heart. I was particularly interested in every detail and as handsome a car as any on the floor. Why, just to see it was to want it, and even though we've arranged for a demonstration, I feel that Mr. Hoffer has made the sale. My biggest job of the evening was to get the Mrs. to finish my trip with me. She was perfectly satisfied just to sit there and admire.

We now decided to pay a visit to the exhibit of the Sterling Auto Tire Company where Frank E. Bosch is holding forth. What would the show be without that familiar face? He greeted us cordially and almost reluctantly (?) told us of the merits of Miller Tires. What he said must be about right for he had four or five tires there that had been used anywhere from 9,000 to 10,000 miles, some of which look to be good for a few hundred more.

It was now getting late, but there was still one car that we wished to look over, so we hastened to the showing of the Packard Twin Six. Here we found a car of genuine class. B. B. Harrington was in charge of the exhibit and extended to us many cour-

One year ago the home of Worthy Clothes for Men and Young Men was opened at 14 North Third Street by Charles J. Watson and Moe L. Cooper.

In Worthy Clothes at $15, $20 and $25, these men pledged themselves to set higher standards of value than had ever before been enjoyed by the men of Harrisburg and vicinity—the highest in quality, style, fit and workmanship that could be produced at these prices.

And it wasn't long before "Worthy Clothes" became a byword with men who give more than passing consideration to their clothes-buying.

By leaps and bounds the business grew far beyond our most liberal expectations. The necessity for larger quarters became apparent—and recently we acquired a long term lease to the entire building in which our storeroom is located.

We are here to stay—and ere we cross the threshold of our second year of business we take this opportunity to thank our many friends for their liberal patronage that has assured the success of this store—to pledge a continuance of the honest values and conscientious merchandising that have characterized our first year in business.

factory of forty years of manufacturing experience and backed by a capital of five-and-one-half million dollars. "That," said Mr. Cooper, "is why we can so highly recommend the Jeffery." Candidly, we were more than pleased with the Jeffery and have arranged with Mr. Bentz for a demonstration before the meeting.

At the same time, we were somewhat anxious to see the latest Scripps-Booth model of which we have heard so much favorable comment, so we looked around to the Universal Motor Car Company's display of that popular car. Actors Ask Mrs. Fiske For Sunday Production

In the New York World of Tuesday, under the caption "A Tribute to Mrs. Fiske," the following article appeared, which is of interest to the friends here of Mrs. Helen E. Martin, in whose play Mrs. Fiske is appearing:

"Erstwhile Susan, at the Gaiety, received a petition yesterday requesting her to give a performance of the play on some Sunday night in the near future in order that the members of the dramatic profession may attend the play which was headed by Professor Brander Matthews, of Columbia University, and every actor and actress of repute now playing on the New York stage signed it. It was said last night that Mrs. Fiske would probably comply."

How To Get Rid of a Bad Cough

A Home-Made Remedy that Will Do It Quickly, Cheap and Easily Made

If you have a bad cough or chest cold which refuses to yield to ordinary remedies, get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Start taking a teaspoonful every hour or two. In 24 hours your cough will be conquered or very nearly so. Even whooping cough is greatly relieved in this way.

The above mixture makes a full pint—a family supply—and the finest cough syrup that money could buy—at a cost of only 54 cents. Easily prepared in 5 minutes. Full directions with Pinex.

Pinex and Sugar Syrup preparation takes right hold of a cough, and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough in a way that is really remarkable. Also quickly heals the inflamed membranes which accompany a cough, and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. Excellent for bronchitis, spasmodic croup and winter coughs. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children like it.
