ACID IN STOMACH
SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and, instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juices, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

Throw Away Your Eye-Glasses!

A Free Prescription
You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye-strain or other eye-weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing, say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind, could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used to say, "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to H. C. Kennedy or to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona. Fill a two ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one Optona tablet and allow to dissolve. With the liquid, bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should stop to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.—Advertisement.

A NOVEL
GEORGE AGNEW CHAMBERLAIN
COPYRIGHT BY THE CENTURY CO.

SYNOPSIS
CHAPTER I—Alan Wayne is sent away from Red Hill, his home, by his uncle, J. Y., as a moral failure. Clem runs after him in a tangle of short skirts to bid him good-by.
CHAPTER II—Captain Wayne tells Alan of the falling of the Ways. Clem drinks Alan's health on his birthday.
CHAPTER III—Judge Healey buys a picture for Alex Lansing. The judge defends Alan in his business with his employers.
CHAPTER IV—Alan and Alex meet at sea, homeward bound, and start a flirtation, which becomes serious.
CHAPTER V—At home, Mance Sterling asks Alan to go away from Alex. Alex is taken to task by Gerry, her husband, for her conduct with Alan and Alex.
CHAPTER VI—Gerry, as he thinks, sees Alex and Alan eloping, drops everything, and goes to Pernambuco.
CHAPTER VII—Alex leaves Alan on the train and goes home to find that Gerry has disappeared.
CHAPTER VIII—Gerry leaves Pernambuco and goes to Piranhas. On a canoe trip he meets a native girl.
CHAPTER IX—The judge fails to trace Gerry. A baby is born to Alex.
CHAPTER X—The native girl takes Gerry to her home and shows him the ruined plantation she is mistress of. Gerry marries her.
CHAPTER XI—At Maple house Collingford tells the tale of Alan—"Ten Per Cent Wayne"—building a bridge in Africa.

In the cool of the evening he looked about him. The tiny world into which he had fallen was penurious but self-contained. Such fabrics as there were, were homespun from the bolls of a scraggy patch of cotton bushes. A little oil in a clay dish with a twisted wick of cotton giving forth more smoke than light seemed to fix him in his setting of prehistoric man. The rice, gathered from an enduring bottom, formed with manioc, the backbone of the household's sustenance. From the outcrops of the abandoned cane fields, with the assistance of an antediluvian hand-mill and an equally antiquated iron pot, they made the black sirup that served for sugar. Salt, slightly alkaline, was plentiful. A few coys and their progeny lived in the open and lived well, for, even untilled, the lands of the valley were rich. An occasional member of the herd was carried off to market by the old dorky. The proceeds bought the very few contributions of civilization necessary to the upkeep of the lenten life.

Gerry decided. He looked at the girl and she ran to him. He put his arms around her and gazed with a sort of numbed emotion into her great dark eyes. Those eyes were wells of simplicity, love, fidelity, but below all that there were depths unmeasured and unmeasuring that gave all and demanded all.

In the mind of the husband who believed himself deserted and betrayed there no longer existed any barrier between him and this woman who had come so strangely into his life. Marriage with her was no wrong to Alex. The last scruples of civilization and of law fell from him like a garment thrown aside and he became the husband of the girl who had so innocently wooed him.

"Eh? What?" said the captain aroused to sudden interest. "What's that about Alan?"
"I ran across Alan Wayne in Africa," said Collingford, smiling. "Do you want me to tell you about it?"
Nance called Charley Stirling out. "You shirker," she said, "come and sit with me in the hammock."
"Collingford was just going to tell about meeting Alan in Africa," said Charley indignantly. And then Nance said "Oh!" and wanted to send him back but he wouldn't go.
"Yes," grunted the captain in reply to Collingford's question and J. Y. nodded as he caught the young man's eye. "Wish you would," he said and leaned forward, his elbows on the table.
Collingford was one of those men who are sensitive to men. His vocabulary did not run to piffle but he loved an understanding ear. He looked at the judge's keen but restful face, at the captain's glaring eyes, which somehow had assumed a kindly glint, at J. Y.'s rugged figure, suddenly grown tense, and he knew that Alan Wayne was near to the hearts of these three. He fingered his wine glass. "If I was one of those men," he began, looking at nobody, "who dislike Ten Per Cent Wayne I wouldn't tell you about him. But I'm not. It took me only two hours to get over hating him and those two hours were spent in a broiling sun at the wrong end of a half-finished bridge.

CHAPTER XI

Collingford gave a sigh of relief when he saw what manner of place was Maple House. As they gathered around the great table for dinner he was the only stranger and he did not feel it. Nance was there with the faint smile of a mother that has just put her children to bed. Charley Stirling, teasing Clematis, tried to forget that Monday and the city were coming together. Mrs. J. Y., with Collingford on her right and the judge on her left, held quiet sway over the table and nodded reassuringly at the old captain who was making gestures with his eyes to the effect that a whisky and soda should be immediately offered to the guest. J. Y., pretty gray by now, sat thoughtful, but kindly, at the other end of the table. Clem was beside him.

It was not until the men were sitting alone after the glass of port, in which all had drunk Collingford's welcome to that house, that the judge said casually, "Collingford saw Alan in Africa."

WHAT TO DO FOR BURNS, SCALDS AND BRUISES

Accidents will happen. They do happen and often with the most serious or fatal results.
Every home should always keep a supply of antiseptic Ucanol handy to use immediately in case of a burn, scald or bruise, because there is positively nothing else that is so effective or speedy in giving relief, or that is so healing. Even some of our largest factories use Ucanol freely when accidents occur, and always keep it in their emergency hospitals. Would they do this if they were not sure it was absolutely the best?
Do not delay but be prepared for all emergencies. Stop at your drugstore's to-day and get 50 cents worth of antiseptic Ucanol. You can't really afford to be without it. H. C. Kennedy has a fresh supply and always sells it with guarantee of money back if not satisfied.

Only four days more of the
BURNS FEBRUARY
FURNITURE SALE

If you have not been among the hundreds of delighted buyers who have taken advantage of the FEBRUARY SALE savings, it certainly will pay you to come before the sale closes.

In the history of this store it is the greatest saving event --made doubly so by the wonderful reductions from our regular prices, the higher prices of the future, and most important, the durability and attractiveness of goods themselves.

As told you in our previous store talks, the BURNS FEBRUARY SALE doesn't base its success upon advertising with ATTRACTIVE pictures one or two pieces at seemingly tempting prices--a "bait" to catch the bargain seeker.

We are glad to see that at least one other store is following our lead for honest business methods by announcing that they "do not offer baits". It seems almost unbelievable that in this age of truthful advertising, there are so many fictitious valuations quoted in furniture. It is difficult for the people to make comparison from the cold type.

Before you buy any furniture, we ask you to come here and compare the merchandise with any other FEBRUARY SALE FURNITURE.

The foundation of our furniture business is durability. Every piece that goes on our floors must be passed by our "furniture censor"; the wood is examined thoroughly, the construction is inspected carefully, the finish is judged closely. Every piece of furniture in this sale is of this kind.

OUR EXTENDED PAYMENT PLAN

permits you to buy furniture on special terms of credit, buy at prices which represent a saving to you of TEN to FIFTY percent, and break the pay part up into many small payments that you do not feel the outlay part. Come in and talk it over with us.

Hundreds of greatly reduced pieces of furniture are further reduced for the last days of the February Sale.

Testify New Haven Train Ran Past Caution Signal

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 25.—Testimony that extra passenger train No. 5 on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, ran by, at high speed, a signal set at "caution" against it on Tuesday, just before it plunged into the stalled Connecticut River Express in Milford, resulting in the death of ten and injury of fifty persons, was given yesterday at the joint hearing of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the State utilities commission. One witness said that running past signals was "a common occurrence."

Peace Trip Has Cost
Ford $400,000 So Far

New York, Feb. 25.—Eight more delegates who went to Europe as members of Henry Ford's peace expedition last December arrived yesterday on the Holland-American liner Nieuw Amsterdam.
Mr. Ford went down the bay on a cutter and met the ship at quarantine. Gaston Plantiff, his business representative, after Mr. Ford himself left the party to return to America, stated to-day that the expedition had thus far cost his employer $400,000, and his peace efforts are to be continued through delegates who remained in Europe.

Twenty Stores Damaged
by Dynamite Explosion

Special to the Telegraph
Sharon, Pa., Feb. 25.—Twenty business houses in West Middlesex, near here, were damaged by an explosion of dynamite at the Ella blast furnace yesterday. The explosion had been stored in a shed and a tramp who had been driven from the place earlier in the evening is thought to have been responsible for the explosion. He has not been located.
The fronts were blown out of stores and merchandise piled in heaps. One person, Mrs. John Mackey, was injured. She was blown out of bed and cut about the head and body. The loss is estimated at $20,000.—M. A. Hanna and Company, of Cleveland, who own the furnace, have notified the merchants to have repairs made and the firm would settle all bills.

GET RID OF SCROFULA
HOW? TAKE S. S. S.

Fifty Years' Use Proves S. S. S. Will Relieve Stubborn Cases.

You have noticed the little feasting pimples on the face and body—the swellings of the glands—soreness in the legs and arm muscles. These are the symptoms of Scrofula. You may have some of these symptoms, possibly the taint of Scrofula infection. But in either case, it is a dangerous condition. Your blood is infected, impure, and you can never hope to gain perfect health until the impurities are washed from the system. If you feel badly all the time, you must crave health. If you want to feel renewed spirits, the glow of perfect health, bright eyes, clear skin, the knowledge that you are well, you can do so. Cleanse your body by taking S. S. S. For fifty years it has been the standard blood purifier. It relieves the trouble by renewing the blood, renewing its strength, and stimulating the flow so that the blood regains its lost vitality, and throws off the poison. Even long-standing cases respond. But you must use S. S. S. Take it for all blood infections. Get it at your drug-gist's to-day.

FORMER PASTOR HERE HELPS CUPID PATCH UP QUARREL

How the Rev. Dr. B. H. Hart, former pastor of the Fifth Street Methodist church, this city, and now pastor of Pine Street Methodist church, Williamsport, materially aided an almost discouraged Cupid was discussed among the Rev. Mr. Hart's old parishioners to-day when word was received of the wedding in the Lumber City yesterday of Alvin L. Kriner and Miss Nora Pepper. Both are residents of Antes Fort county. Their courtship had covered a period of nearly nineteen years. Time and again the pair quarreled and separated only to patch up their differences a little later. However, they decided yesterday to try again and the Rev. Mr. Hart officiated at the ceremony.
