A MYSTIFYING CHEMICAL TRICK

A plain blue handkerchief is shown to the audience. When the handkerchief is warmed it turns white and when heated resumes its former color. Make a starch paste and add enough water to the paste to the 1/2. Then add sufficient tincture of iodine to color the liquid blue; a few drops will be enough. Dry a white handkerchief with this blue liquid and when the handkerchief is dry it is ready for the trick. —March Popular Science Monthly.

THE CANOE SAIL

A sail of forty-five square feet is considered about right for the average canoe, but this depends a good deal on the kind of sailing it is intended for. If one wishes to drift leisurely around, propped up with pillows and enjoying the latest fiction, twenty-five square feet will be amply sufficient and in any sort of wind even this may be too large. If, however, one wishes to put on a bathing suit and go out in search of thrills, a very much larger sheet is desirable. —March Outing.

ROMANS WIN IN ACADEMY SERIES

Take Game From Greeks After Hard Battle; Moore Is Big Star

The Romans of the Harrisburg Academy defeated the Greeks yesterday afternoon by the decisive score of 62 to 41. The game was one of the most exciting in this season.

Twenty-minute halves were played, and from the very start the Romans went into the lead.

Moore, of the Romans, led in the individual scoring with eleven field goals opposite his name. All the Romans were high scorers, excepting Walls, who played an excellent guarding game.

There was one Irishman, who went into a restaurant on a Friday in Lent and seating himself at a table said to the waiter: "Bring me a whale!"

The waiter told him that they were just out of whales. "This bring me a shark!" "The waiter replied that they were not serving sharks today."

"This bring me a jelly-fish!" "The waiter responded that Jelly-fish was not on the bill of fare."

"This bring me a good, big beef-steak; for the saints in heaven know I've tried hard enough to get fish!" "Fun and Frolic, in The People's Home Journal for March.

MORE FORESTRY LAND IS NEEDED

Western County Men Urge Legislature to Provide More Preserves

The first gun has been fired by the Wild Life League in a campaign to enlist the organized support of every camp of the League for forestry measures to come before the next Legislature.

The league has made phenomenal growth in the few years it has been organized. It is one of the two chief sportsmen's organizations of the State, the other being the United Sportsmen's Association.

Because of their thorough organization, these sportsmen have been very successful in securing the needed legislation for game protection. Their united support will be one of the strongest acquisitions the forestry mission could possibly have.

The resolution declares that five million acres of land within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is lying unproductive as a result of forest fires and repeated devastation of woodlands by fire tends to render meaningless efforts for the protection and propagation of game, fish, song and insectivorous birds, and mammals.

BRILLIANT PAINTINGS The March Scribner contains a remarkable series of paintings reproduced in colors, the work of Leon Gaspard, a young Russian artist now in this country. They are strikingly fine in their brilliant contrasts of reds, blues, and greens, some of them against a background of snow.

The artist was with the French aviation corps for a time and narrowly escaped losing his life in a fall. The pilot was killed.

Track, tennis and baseball are rapidly coming to the front at the Harrisburg Academy. Coach Smith has had his relay team out for two weeks. Coach Tatem will call his baseball squad next week.

John K. Tener, president of the National League, will keep in close touch with his teams during the southern training season. He has announced a schedule for a trip to all camps and in keeping with his policy will be in close touch with all players and managers during March and April.

The Hagerstown baseball club of the Blue Ridge League will travel from town to town by automobile. The manager, Charles W. Boyer, has purchased a large truck, which will be fitted up.

AMATEUR SERIES FOR LOCAL TEAMS

Rosewood A. C. and Telegraph Tossers to Clash on St. Patrick's Day

Contenders for the amateur basketball championship of the city, are planning for a series of games between now and the close of the season. Both the Rosewood A. C. and the Telegraph teams claim the championship on games won, and points scored.

This contest will take place on the Tech high gymnasium floor and promises plenty of excitement. The Telegraph tossers have played more games than Rosewood, but the latter has an aggregation of former High School stars, including Kent, "Bat" Tittle, Killinger and Devine.
