ALWAYS $10

With Clothes Costing $15 to $18—Then Draw Your Own Conclusions

This much we know—never before have Wonder suits and topcoats represented such remarkable values as they do today. The cost of woolens, linings and other materials is higher than at any time during our years of clothes-buying.

So we are actually sacrificing profits to give you Wonder clothes at $10 of the quality to which you are accustomed.

We will maintain this high quality even if continued pressure of war prices forces us to raise our price.

Wonder clothes, sold direct with the middleman's profit of $5 to $8 saved to you, are still guaranteed on a money-back basis.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

The Winter Garden observed its fifth anniversary last evening in New York City. Al Johnson gave a number of his old songs for the occasion, including "Sumurun," "Rum Tum Tiddle" and "When Grown Up Ladies Act Like Babies." Grown Up Ladies Act Like Babies.

An article in a recent Puck comments most philosophically upon the recent acquisition by one Charles Chaplin of a contract which brings him in some odd $250,000 royalties. And then, in somewhat embellished terms, the work he does to earn this money is carefully set forth. One can discover in a melange of flying custard pies, babies being thrown into ash cans, baking and other quiet, unexciting, but profitable, and the article ends with a tribute to American intelligence.

Director Wm. Taylor had a too efficient actor when he "shot" the castle gates in "Davy Crockett." He instructed the play to be especially adapted for the part, to dash out of the castle with the maiden in his arms and to get married and live quietly in the arms to liberty. The player appeared in his black armor with the girl alright, but immediately began to slay the poor supers, even the ones at the edge of the scene, and would have trimmed the whole crowd but for the imperiously shouted command to stop. When brought to task he mumbled something that sounded like "I was just putting a little action into the scene."

To win fame, money, riches and honor, to have fiddlers, your puppet, to wear the honors of motion picture land from all corners, and then when all is done, to get married and live quietly in the remaining years in a secluded cottage where you can raise your children in the way they should go, is that your idea of happiness? No? Well, that is exactly the program which pretty, vivacious, and young Mae Marsh, everybody who has seen "The Birth of a Nation" will remember as Flora Cameron, has mapped out for herself.

"Audrey," one of Mary Johnston's most popular novels, which was played successfully on the stage several years ago, will soon be seen on the screen. Faulstich Frerick will take the part of Audrey, and the play will be set at Palm Beach and Jacksonville.

LOCAL THEATERS

The Pennsylvania State College Combined Musical Clubs are the first organization from any college for some years to present a play. The play, "The Musical Group of over sixty college men come to the stage next Friday evening with the established reputation, won by it in open contest, of being one of the best of the kind, and the best of its kind in the college world.

With new wearing apparel of gorgeous textures and combinations and stunning in their designs, girls are still with us $50,000 in jewels, deck out "The Fashion Girls" at the Majestic Theater. The act has taken on a decided newness from what it was earlier in the week, not only in the matter of costuming, but even in staging and theme. The Keith show surrounding "The Fashion Girls" in all their splendor, is entirely different, too, from the original supporting show. They who like to see famous pieces of jewelry noted for their design, and value in workmanship and gems, will not want to overlook the extraordinary treat that H. C. Claster is affording, by permitting the pretty girls to wear them in their gowns. The creations in lingerie, gowns, suits and whatnot are doing pretty well for Bowman and Company in this line. The interesting supporting Keith hits include Cunningham and Marion; Hugh Herbert and company, offering a clever comedy, "Prosperity"; Carey and Burns, and Tyson and Barbour.

There are some great moments packed with action and suspense in the new Triangle feature, "Hell's Hinges," which will be presented at the Colonial Theater to-day and to-morrow. William S. Hart, whose chief characterizations are that of western "bad" men, has a most striking scene, and many a striking scene, in this picture. One is the fight between the good elements of the town, which results in temporary victory for the evil forces. They signalize their triumph by burning down the church. But the evil forces are reckoned with by Blaze Tracy (William S. Hart). He kills Silk Miller, the crafty housekeeper, and stands off a whole town full of desperate men while he shoots the bad men in the jail. The lamps are suspended. William Collier, the famous comedian, starring in "Wife and Auto Trouble," a two-reel comedy for to-day and to-morrow.

Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Lima, Ohio.—"I was all broken down in health from a displacement. One of my lady friends came to see me and she advised me to commence taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I began taking your remedies and took $5.00 worth and in two months I was a well woman after three doctors said I never would stand up straight again. I was a midwife for seven years and I recommended the Vegetable Compound to every woman to take before birth and afterwards, and they all got along so nicely that it surely is a godsend to suffering women. If women wish to write to me I will be delighted to answer them."—Mrs. JENNIE MOYER, 342 E. North St., Lima, Ohio.

Women who suffer from displacements, weakness, irregularities, nervousness, backache or bearing-down pains, need the tonic-strengthening properties of the roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE NEED OF AMERICAN UNITY

And here lies the first of our lessons of the war. That we shall have men and munitions for our defense goes without saying; that we shall even have some plan of defense is equally true. But that we shall have the spirit and the intelligence to make the best use of our resources, the courage to all, is another matter. For the great assets of a nation in a crisis are not men and munitions; they are leaders, and followers with a purpose beyond the desire to save their skins. If we are to be driven to take up the burdens of a world power, it is not enough to have resources such as ours.

It is not enough even to have a navy and military programme, coast defenses, an army, ships and aeroplanes. Such a program means the establishment of a new profession, diplomacy; of new careers in the public service, civil and military, which shall attract men of talent away from the mere pursuit of wealth. It means not merely the education of men to fill such posts, but these new responsibilities and the burdens which they entail—above all, to view life and public affairs with new eyes, and to exchange their old provincial attitude of mind for an intelligent conception of the world in which they live. It means, in brief, regeneration and a policy.

Drive Catarrh Away By Purifying Your Blood

During winter, nature changes the blood of man and we, because of our habits, unconsciously do those things which are against nature. Then far down amid the vital organs creep weaknesses, that our blood is not vigorous enough to fight off. Here is where Catarrh enters and quickly makes a conquest. We feel the effects of a cold in nose or throat and sometimes in lungs and stomach. The most common symptoms of the presence of Catarrh is an inflamed and tender condition of the breathing passages and the blocking of throat and nostrils with mucus. It is a frequent mistake to treat this symptom and neglect the actual disease. If the blood was pure and vigorous Catarrh would not get a foothold. But having gotten a foothold in our system, the only possible way to cure the disease is to remove the impurities from the blood and at the same time tone up the blood so it will become vigorous and health again. The use of washes, sprays, salvers, have only a temporary local effect; they do not reach the disease. S. S. S. has proved for half a century to be the most powerful antidote to poison in the blood. Its action is to strengthen the blood corpuscles so they fight off disease. If you suffer from Catarrh in any of its forms, don't be misled into treating the symptoms but take S. S. S. and remove the cause. Any druggist can supply you. Get the genuine. Write our Medical Department, Room 21, for advice. Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.

Regent Exploits "The Painted Soul"

Bessie Barriscale, the star, makes just as repulsive a girl in the streets as she makes a sweet and attractive girl when she has reformed, due to the influence of a picture in front of which she sits as she poses, the model for a painting of "The Fallen Woman." Bessie Barriscale finds splendid support in Truly Shattuck, as the artist's mother, and Charles Ray, as Edward Bernard, the artist's friend. "To-morrow only," "The Grip of Jealousy," a romantic drama of the South, featuring Louise Lovely.

It seems that the management of the Victoria Theater in announcing to-day's Big Bargain program is following the various department stores and business houses of the city in making to-day a Friday Bargain Day. Every feature is a real feature of the day. Enough to be a headliner in itself. One is "The School for Scandal," a five-part production, "Pearl White will tell you," "The Iron Claw," a sensational drama of compelling interest, and "A Man's Work," a three-part screen better than the original, and laugh-provoker called "She Came, She Saw, She Conquered."

AMERICA'S ANOMALOUS POSITION IN THE WAR

(Wilbur C. Abbott of Yale University in the April Yale Review.)
But what of the United States? What has it learned and what is it to do as a result of what we have seen and endured, and what we have feared, while our kinsmen beyond the sea were engaged in this work of destruction? We have been in, like the combatants, and in perhaps no less degree, must face the problems it has raised. We have grown richer, and it seems to many, in consequence. The answer is peculiarly difficult and unsatisfactory. We have grown in wealth without a corresponding increase in responsibility, and our prosperity has been accompanied by no discipline which makes for the strengthening of national character. We have lacked the tremendous experience which comes from the expenditure of the last ounce of physical energy, and a faith strained to its breaking point; and, with all the material losses which accompany any such struggle such as Europe now endures, it remains an open question whether in comparison, let us say with France, we have gained or lost in the ultimate resolution of events. For all the nations of equal rank in the world, we have not been able to formulate with any definiteness a collective opinion into a national ideal or policy, and take measures to put it into effect.

"FASHION GIRLS" IN LOCAL GARB

Bowman and Claster Creating Public Sentiment in Favor of "Shop at Home" Policy

Packed houses greeted the first exhibition and those that followed yesterday at the Majestic Theater, where the Fashion Girls are posing as living models for the display of gowns, linens, hats, shoes, gloves and what else of Bowman & Co. The girls will play the week out in Harrisburg showing exclusively the Spring styles of the local department store. The $50,000 worth of stockings to be cathected Crawford herself donned for the finale of the act created an interested buzz of conversation and surprise each time they and she together made an appearance.

Not for a long time has Harrisburg been so interested in a display of local finery as is shown in the acceptance of the Bowman challenge to the Fashion Girls and the attempt, admittedly successful, to prove that when it comes to a matter of styles little old Harrisburg isn't taking any back seat. The twelve models themselves had the time of their young lives previous to the first exhibition, when they spent hours in the big store going over everything from stockings to bathing suits and selecting the gowns and other paraphernalia unnameable by mere man which they would wear in the three-day exhibit. Milady and milady's daughters and sisters and aunts, all were there, and if an intense gaze had power to burn there would have been a mighty conflagration on the Majestic stage during each performance.

The display of everything that feminine beauty requires convinced many—unfortunate husbands included—that "shop at home" is not such a bad policy after all, particularly when one can get here in Harrisburg just exactly what one thought it required a trip to Philadelphia or New York to possess.

SENIORS SHY AT OSCULATION

Forty-three Princeton Men Declare They Have Never Kissed a Girl

Special to the Telegraph
Princeton, N. J., March 31.—Confessions wrung from the Princeton seniors by the time-honored custom of finding out all the secrets and publishing them to their classmates were given out here by L. G. Payson, the class secretary. The most startling of all facts laid bare by members of the class was that the record-breaking total of 43 had never kissed a girl. There are 136 seniors who consider it unhygienic. Forty of the class think it is morally wrong to kiss a girl.

For the last 30 years, without exception, Yale has been termed the favorite college next to Princeton and the seniors this year did not depart from the opinion of former Princetonians. Vassar leads among the women's colleges. The favorite character in history is Abraham Lincoln, with Bryan near the end of the list. Booth Parkington is the best fiction writer, with Fenold Scherwin the most likable character in fiction. Faustian leads for the favorite character in literature, however, and Shakespeare is the most popular playwright. Shaw is second in this respect. "Crossing the

The position of "worst poet" is given to Edmund Wilson, a member of the senior class, but Ella Wheeler Wilcox runs a close second. A choice of personalities also was made by the class, and resulted as follows: Best all-round man, C. L. Heyniger; best athlete, E. C. Law; the man who has done most for the class, the busiest man and the man most likely to succeed all were accorded to L. G. Payson. H. H. Harvey was voted the most respected man. Professor George B.
