

GEN. SALAZAR IS IN MEXICO WITH PLAN TO CRUSH U. S. CAVALRYMEN

Former Huerta Commander, Living in Texas Flees Border and Calls on Natives to Join Him in the Protection of Mexican Soil

BITTERLY DENOUNCES DE FACTO GOVERNMENT

Determined to Do All He Can For Protection and Honor of His Country; More Carranza Troops Are Massed Along Border as Withdrawal Argument

El Paso, Texas, April 10.—In his flight from the American cavalry Francisco Villa is believed to have passed Fernal and with his band, said to number over 200 men, is reported to be heading to Durango City.

Detachments of the Thirteenth Cavalry are hard on the bandit's trail, but no official word has come from the front to indicate their position. Mexican reports stated to-day that Villa was a full day ahead of his pursuers. If Villa succeeds in reaching Durango City, he probably will be joined by the forces of the Arrieta brothers, who command more than 1,000 men.

A statement attributed to Mexican Consul Garcia that Villa has escaped any possibility of capture by the Americans, having crossed a dead line established by President Wilson and General Carranza, beyond which it was agreed that the Americans would not continue their pursuit of the bandit, was flatly denied by Mr. Garcia.

El Paso, Texas, April 10.—There is considerable mystery to-day over the reported crossing of the border by General Ynez Salazar, the former Huerta general, who has been living here and who is said to have gone into Mexico with avowed sinister intentions toward the United States.

The story of the crossing was told by police by a man who had been closely associated with Salazar. An investigation was made and later the police announced they believed the story to be true. Mrs. Salazar was questioned and said her husband was away from home, but she did not know where he was. She denied, however, that he had entered Mexico.

Calls on Patriotic Mexicans In the meantime a proclamation was discovered, signed by Salazar, in which he called on all patriotic Mexicans to join him in the protection of Mexican soil. Elifezo Baca, who defended Salazar, at trial for gun-running, declared that

Grotesquely Attired Student Fishes in N. Y. Gutter For Snowflakes

New York, April 10.—George Edward Pappas, a student in the College of the City of New York, was initiated into a fraternity yesterday. Thousands of persons on their way to church observed him, myriads of small boys stopped to ask him about the incident, and finally the police of the West One Hundred and Twenty-third street station took him in charge and had him arraigned before a magistrate.

Policeman Hartwig was walking along Seventh avenue when he saw the youth fishing in the gutter. The urban sportsman wore a red shirt, a brown soft hat, pulled down so that his eyes were hidden, ragged trousers and torn shoes, and about ten yards of red ribbon wound about his neck. He held a long pole, parallel to the curb and was apparently fishing in a very small puddle for snowflakes.

All efforts of the policeman to get a word out of the poser were unavailing. Now and again the applicant would look at an alarm clock at his side and expectorate in a cuspidor, a short distance away. The policeman took the entire production, with the exception of the cuspidor, to the station. Later he was taken to court, where Magistrate Cobb dismissed him with a reprimand.

Meetings will be held in this locality at a number of residences this week at which the ladies will discuss plans for the campaign. Bishop Tells Thrilling Story of Escape From Kaiser's Cruiser Emden

How with scores of sleepless fellow passengers he peered anxiously-eyed into the darkness from the deck of the British steamship "Fooksang," while the quick-eyed wireless man watched breathlessly with open key for the first "tip" of the whereabouts of the grim "Emden," the Kaiser's one-time Indian ocean commerce raider, is only one of the thrilling tales that the Rev. Dr. W. P. Eveland, bishop of the Methodist Church, and a missionary to Asia, told his Harrisburg friends to-day.

The Bishop is a native of Harrisburg but for the last four years he has been busy at his station in India. For a few days Dr. and Mrs. Eveland are guests of Mrs. J. Austin Brandt, of 603 North Front street, a sister of Mrs. Eveland. The Eveland's real taste of the world war was had when the "Fooksang" was cautiously ploughing its way, with deck and port lights darkened, toward Calcutta. And just before dawn, as the "Fooksang" slipped into the port, the dim gray shape of the "Emden" appeared in the distance offing and a shell whistled across the "Fooksang's" bows.

The court's decision settles the problem of whether or not the Civic club may occupy "Overlook," the handsome Fleming residence adjacent to City Pumping station along the Susquehanna, which Mrs. Fleming willed to the organization for club quarters.

Whether or not the case will be
