

VALUABLE ITEM FOR MEN

Health and strength hitherto unknown will soon be yours in rich red blood through the arteries and veins and life's greatest ambitions may be realized never before if the following special treatment is followed by those men and women who are stricken with that most dreaded of all afflictions, nervous exhaustion, accompanied with such symptoms as extreme nervousness, insomnia, cold extremities, melancholia, headaches, constipation and dyspepsia, kidney trouble, dreadful dreams of direful disasters, timidity in venturing and a general inability to act naturally at all times as other people do. Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health and all the happiness accompanying it, the following home treatment is given. It contains no opiates, habit-forming drugs whatever. The treatment consists of (3) three-grain codonine tablets, packed in sealed tubes, and widely prescribed and dispensed by physicians and all stocked pharmacists. Full directions for self administration now accompany each tube. It is claimed that these tablets possess the most wonderful tonic-injuring powers which can soon be experienced after taking them.

SAYS WE BECOME GRANKS ON HOT WATER DRINKING

Hopes every man and woman adopts this splendid morning habit.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; and days really incapacitated by illness. If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, half-dying, looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-checked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out. Else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood. Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone, its cleansing, sweetening and refreshing effect upon the system.

DIXIE GOES AHEAD

By Frederic J. Haskin [Continued From Editorial Page] established, and that if the ship lines would only come in, the railroads would have to make the rates. Their problem is how to get the movement started at either one end of the other. The way Charleston is going at the proposition is typical and interesting. Charleston, as every one knows, is very quiet and very historical, and is also very busy and very ambitious. These contrasting qualities jostle against each other in every phase of the city's life. Take the Chamber of Commerce, for example. Its walls are decorated with the pictures of all its presidents, clear back to the Colonial ones with long-curly hair and filled collars a root wide. But its executive office is occupied by a man, who, at the slightest interrogative exclamation, will give you a complete statistical review of the traffic situation in America as affecting Charleston, and conclude with a forecast of the city's future that makes you want to go out and buy real estate at once. This Chamber of Commerce is alive. Its president is something of a national figure. It is imbued with the historical consciousness that Charleston was once the second port in America; and also with a present determination that it is going to be one of the most important ones again. Charleston looks forward to the day when it will not ship cotton and grain and beef on the hoof; but cloth and flour and meats. And the profit upon these manufacturing operations will remain in and about Charleston and great will be the wealth and the fame thereof. The city also looks to a more immediate future when it will get a share of the goods that are being manufactured in the Southern Allegheny region. All of the swift mountain streams are being harnessed. Tennessee and Georgia and Alabama are becoming a manufacturing country using hydro-electric power. The natural outlet for these new industries are the southern ports. Charleston is determined that said goods shall have every assistance in finding their natural outlet.

DAVIS, AUTHOR AND WRITER, DIES SUDDENLY

[Continued From First Page.] York city. His wife assumed, when he did not return, that he had sent himself to read and did not visit the library until after midnight. Mr. Davis had been in failing health for some time and had sought quiet at his country place, Cross Roads Farms, under the care of his wife, who was Bessie McCoy, the actress. Richard Harding Davis, one of the most popular of American writers, a playwright also, and a veteran correspondent of five wars, including the present, was born in Philadelphia in 1864, the son of L. Clarke Davis and Rebecca Harding Davis, also a writer. Started in Philadelphia After being educated at Lehigh and Johns Hopkins Universities, Mr. Davis entered journalism, starting with the Philadelphia Press and later serving on the New York Evening Sun. He was correspondent during the Turco-Greek, Spanish-American, South African and Russo-Japanese wars for the London Times and the New York Herald, and during the present war wrote dispatches for a syndicate. One of his earliest and most widely read books, "Soldiers of Fortune," was published in 1899 and in succeeding years he wrote more than thirty volumes of fiction and non-fiction, together with a number of plays and numerous short stories. In 1899 Mr. Davis married Cecil Clark, daughter of J. M. Clark, of Chicago, and was divorced from her in 1912. A few days later Mr. Davis married Bessie McCoy, who was the famous Yama Yama girl in a popular musical comedy. A daughter, Hope Davis, was born. Stories Are Stirring Richard Harding Davis first gained distinction for his stories in the New York Evening Sun in 1888. For a short time he was managing editor of Harpers Weekly. In 1914 he was correspondent for the New York Tribune in Mexico during the hostilities between that country and the United States. Behold the Woman!

A new book by T. Everett Harre, published by J. B. Lippincott, on sale for the first time next Saturday.

Advance notices of this stirring book claim that no romance of antiquity has been written in the English language for many a day surpassing "Behold the Woman!" in the vividness and reality of its presentation of an epoch barbaric in its luxurious magnificence, unrestrained in its naked passions, ruthless in its cruelty and riotous and murderous in its religious conflicts. "Behold the Woman!" describes a period said to have been even more colorful than that of Nero,—the time is the final conflict between Paganism and Christianity.

Senator Sherman Will Have All but Two of Delegates From Illinois

Chicago, April 12.—Returns to-day from yesterday's Presidential primary in Illinois shows that Senator L. Y. Sherman will have fifty-six out of the 52 delegates in the national Republican convention. Two of the district delegates elected on the Republican ticket have declared themselves favorable to Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. John M. Harlan, who ran for delegates at large "unpledged" but who declared in his campaign that he favored Colonel Roosevelt, was defeated by approximately 20,000 according to returns compiled early today. President Wilson was the only name on the Democratic ballot.
