GREAT PORT ON BLACK SEA TAKEN

Asian northern flank secure and takes from the Turks their last effective rallying point on the coast nearly to Sinope. The city lies eighty miles west of the Russian frontier and 110 miles northwest of Erzerum. It has a population of 40,000, 18,000 of whom are Christians.

Owing to the mountain barrier the Russian campaign for Trebizond has been conducted practically independently of the other Caucasian operations, the troops working directly along the seacoast from Estoum. The capture of the city will give the Russians command of the Erzerum-Trebizond road and the passes which will enable the coast army to effect a junction with the army west of Erzerum and solidify the whole line of advance into Turkey.

GOVERNOR SICK AT WASHINGTON

Laugh on Thursday night, his destination being withheld at his offices. Late last night Private Secretary Ball telephoned to Washington and today telephoned that the Governor had been taken ill, but was improving.

Attorney General Brown said that the information he had received was that the Governor's illness was about over and that he looked for him to return in a day or two.

The news of the Governor's illness created considerable stir at the Capitol.

A message received in Harrisburg this afternoon from Philadelphia says that Gov. Brumbaugh is in a hospital in Philadelphia and may be operated upon for removal of gallstones. He is also said to be suffering from nervous strain.

HELD AS SNEAK THIEF

Paul T. Goodling, charged with entering a room in a downtown hotel and stealing a pocketbook containing more than $10, was arrested this morning by City Detective George Shuler. He was lodged in jail for a hearing.

NATIONAL COMMERCE CHAMBER FIELD SECRETARY TELLS OF WORK TO BE DONE BY ORGANIZATION

Edward F. Trefz, field secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, was the guest of honor and made the principal address at the dinner given to him by the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce at the Harrisburg Club last evening. An additional treat was a supplementary address by E. St. Elmo Lewis, the nationally prominent efficiency expert, who is at present doing special work for the Elliott-Fisher company in this city. The local Chamber has heard Mr. Lewis before and gave him a hearty welcome.

Charles W. Burnett, who recently represented the Harrisburg Chamber as National Councilor from this city to Washington, introduced the speaker of the evening. Mr. Trefz immediately jumped into his subject with the strong and pointed statement that "this country must cease talking and do something." The approval shown by his auditors was evidence that they strongly agreed with him.

The speaker then scored the businessman for his lack of active participation and interest in the national government except insofar as it affects his own particular locality. Behind every institution is the businessman, but he has never been sufficiently interested in the efficiency of government to even inform himself on matters concerning the national welfare, declared the speaker. His contrasting reference to the indifference of German organization and English diplomacy was not flattering to Americans.

Commerce Chamber's Work This led up to his main point, that the Chamber of Commerce was born to combat this very weakness, existent in the United States by reason of the businessman's indifference to the government. He then sketched the history of the formation of the National Chamber in 1912, the difficulties encountered in its growth, and its present important standing with a membership of 740 out of a possible 1,000 commercial organizations in the country. It is now the strongest commercial federation in the world and becoming more influential and powerful all the time.

A big part of its work has been aimed at getting certain referenda before the people. Four have recently received prominence by virtue of national necessity. One is the national budget; another the maintenance of retail prices, another a Congressional appropriation for vocational education, and the last and most timely of all, the question as to whether there shall be a National Advisory Council composed of representatives of the army, the navy, and the industrial interests of the country. These he discussed briefly and comprehensively, emphasizing the importance and significance of the Chamber of Commerce in the matter of the mental preparedness of America in the future.

"The hope of America is to keep the laws equal and to maintain all men equal before the laws, but at the same time there is a premium on ability and progressiveness," was one of his many observations which the speaker's wide experience has convinced him are national truths.

E. St. Elmo Lewis talked on some of his experiences in Chamber of Commerce work, particularly that of organizing a Chamber in Jamestown, N. Y. He likewise mentioned the great work of the Detroit Chamber in its assimilation of the foreign element in that city. Henry Ford as a man of remarkable genius and great heart was extolled by Mr. Lewis as one of Detroit's "assets," a seller of automobiles in five languages.

FEW CONTESTS IN COMMITTEE LIST

Friends of Senator Penrose Say That His Re-election Will Be Easy

OTHER SIDE SAYS NOT

No Contests From This County and None From Cumberland and Perry

Men who have been observing the filing of petitions at the State Capitol for the Republican State committee seats to-day expressed the opinion that outside of the two large cities and some of the eastern counties there will be very few contests worthy the name. In fact, the opinion was freely expressed that there would be fewer contests than generally supposed, in quite a number of counties candidates are not opposed.

It was claimed to-day by friends of Senator Penrose that the number of unopposed candidates for committee seats and those whose selection is assured despite opposition to them make certain the election of the Senator as Republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania. This contention is disputed by the opponents to the Senator, but they do not make any definite estimates.

There are only two counties in the state where the Republicans do not have candidates. They are Cameron and Pike. In the Cameron district the single candidate lost out because he did not have enough signers. No one filed from Pike.

There were reports to-day that there would be some contests inaugurated against petitions of candidates for State committee.

Frank A. Smith and A. L. Etter are not opposed in this county for State committee. There is no opposition in Perry or Cumberland.

Withdrawals of candidates for Republican national delegates were filed at the Capitol to-day by Howard L. Bonn, Reading, Thirteenth district, and John P. Trevisakis, Turtle Creek, Thirtieth. The latter has filed for alternate.

Rudolph R. Hitchler, Wilkes-Barre, has the record for filing the last petition for the coming primary.

He entered a paper from Luzerne county at 30 seconds of midnight.

Eleven petitions which were received by Chief Clerk Trumbull in the morning mail to-day were returned, as the primary act requires petitions to be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth before midnight. In one case the letter was postmarked 10 p. m.

The Brumbaugh headquarters to-day issued this statement:

"Governor Brumbaugh's campaign for control of Pennsylvania's national delegation to Chicago and for party unity got under way in earnest yesterday, following the filing of nominating petitions containing the signatures of tens of thousands of representatives and influential residents of every part of the State.

"The utmost confidence reigns in the Brumbaugh campaign. There will be no cessation of concerted activity until the Governor starts for Chicago at the head of a delegation irrevocably in favor of his candidacy for the Presidency. The complete defeat of the faction whose opposition will not avail to stem Republican harmony in the State is virtually sealed already.

"In a statement issued to-day, Attorney General Frank E. Bower, premier of the Governor's advisory board, held forth these reassuring prospects.

"Everything is in splendid shape, and, as expected, we have a complete ticket of candidates for delegates-at-large and in the Congressional district. Some of our candidates have filed pledges to support the popular choice, others have not, but all petitions were filed just as planned, and there is no doubt that the Governor will head a delegation at the Chicago convention, overwhelmingly supporting him in his effort for party unity and harmony and, as far as Pennsylvania is concerned, there will be no repetition of the disastrous fiasco of 1912."

Mrs. Hess Denies Tale Husband's Attorney Told About Eel in Bottle

In a brief little letter to the Telegraph to-day Mrs. Catherine Hess denies the story related by W. Justin Carter, her husband's attorney, to the effect that John W. Hess, her spouse, had evidence of how she "put an eel in his whisky bottle." This was to support his allegation of cruel and barbarous treatment.

"The Hess case was heard in April divorce court. Here is Mrs. Hess' letter, however. In regard to the item in last evening's issue relating to the Hess case—Mrs. Hess as well as those who have known her, deem the item very rude. This couple has lived in harmony for eleven years and then awake one of those sad tales, 'another woman in the case,' and Mrs. Hess has suffered the old, old story. Let it be said that Mrs. Hess has always carried the highest esteem of those who knew her. Mr. Carter should have waited until he was positive, and not say what they 'intended to try to produce.' He certainly was trying to boost his client, but let it be remembered that Mrs. Hess had some very narrow escapes of fatal injuries, and all while John wore the uniform of a city policeman.

HENRY W. SALTZMAN Funeral services for Henry W. Saltzman, 211 Muench street, were held at the home, the Rev. S. Winfield Hermsen, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church officiating, assisted by the Rev. C. H. Grove, of the Green Street Church of God. Mr. Saltzman was a resident of this city for more than fifty years, coming here from Shippensburg. He was employed for some time by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and later was a janitor at the Zion Lutheran Church. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jane Saltzman; two brothers, Denton and Milton, this city, and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Salt of Reading, and Mrs. Alice Smith, this city.

CONTEST LIKELY ON YATES PAPERS

His Nomination Petition For State Senator Said to Be Illegal; Other Candidates

A contest of the legality of the petition filed shortly before midnight last night to place the name of the Rev. W. N. Yates on the Republican ballot as a candidate for the nomination of Senator from Dauphin county may
