Are You at Peace in Your Family?

Don't Deplore War in Europe if You Are Battling with Your Relatives and Your Every Day Associates in Life.

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox
Copyright, 1915, Star Co.

If you are an American born citizen, naturally your first and foremost reason for being thankful at this time of year will be that you are not living in a war-riddled country. We all know what is the condition of Europe today.

Little lads and grandfathers,
Women old with care;
But all the men are dying men
Or dead men over there.

No one stops to dig graves;
Who has time to spare?
The dead men, the dead men,
How the dead men stare!

Kings are out a-hunting—
Oh, the sport is rare;
With dying men and dead men
Falling everywhere.

Life for lads and grandfathers;
Spills for kings to share;
And dead men, the dead men,
Dead men everywhere.

But while you deplore this condition of things existing abroad, and while you congratulate yourself that you are an American and out of the war zone, suppose you give yourself a little self-analysis, as a holiday exercise.

Are you really living in a world of peace? Are you at peace with your associates in the business or social world where you dwell?

Are you at peace in your family, which includes your in-laws?

Are you at peace with yourself? Unless you can answer all three of these questions in the affirmative you have no right to talk about the horrors of war and how sad it is that the world has returned to barbarism.

You must know that war is an accumulative thing, and if no one individual indulged in quarrelsomeness thought or words war could never come.

No doubt you can relate glibly to any one who will listen just how this war originated and just how it could have been avoided. But can you, even to your own mind, explain just why you do not get on better with your fellow men?

There died, recently, in New York, under tragic circumstances, a still young woman who was reared in a Christian home, accustomed to attending divine service twice every Sunday and who said grace always at her own table. She was an only daughter and her parents possessed a comfortable fortune, and she was reared with every luxury. Yet she early developed a quarrelsome nature which was not controlled by her parents, who, because she was an only daughter, and gifted with beauty and intellect, allowed her to dominate them.

The mother was quick tempered and the home became a scene of continual discord. This Christian born and reared child of good fortune rapidly developed into a home tyrant. She married and became the sort of wife that she had been a daughter. Her parents died literally and actually of broken hearts.

The young woman, after degenerating mentally and morally, through her selfishness and lack of self-control, ended her life by suicide. All this was done in a land of peace. It is sadder than any of the tragedies of war.

ONE-PIECE DRESS FOR SMALL WOMEN

Skirt Made With Box Plait Effect at Front and Back; Tunic Edges Disappear

By MAY MANTON

8987 (With Basting Line and Added Seam Allowance) One-Piece Dress for Misses and Small Women, 16 and 18 years.

There is no more fashionable combination than silk with Georgette crepe and these are the two materials combined in this frock. The silk is one of the very new ones showing a flowered design and the crepe matches the ground color. The skirt is made with a box plait effect at the front and back and the edges of the tunic disappear under these box plaits. There is a bodice and an overdress.

For the 16 year size will be needed, 6 3/4 yards of material 27 or 36 inches wide or 4 yards 44 with 3 1/4 yards 44 inch wide for the under bodice and drapery 3/4 yard 36 inches wide for trimming.

The pattern No. 8987 is cut in sizes for 16 and 18 years. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents.

DIXIE GOES AHEAD

By Frederic J. Haskin

ing. Dr. Knapp had to build up the rudiments of commerce before he could do anything for agriculture. He began by stimulating the people in every way to put their products on the market, and to raise "money crops."

Once some people came to him for a contribution toward holding a bazaar in order to make money for a neighborhood church. He asked them what they would sell at the bazaar. They said they would make things to get in a lesson in practical economics. He pointed out to the members of the community made things, sold them to each other, and used the money for a community enterprise, they were producing exactly nothing. Their time was wasted. He therefore made his contribution only on the condition that it be used to plant the ground where the church was to be built in cotton. All the neighbors were to help care for the patch. When the cotton was harvested the proceeds would be devoted to a building fund. Dr. Knapp's project carried and the whole community had a practical demonstration of how to raise and market money crops.

Dr. Knapp also distributed high grade seed corn, and persuaded the farmers to plant it by promising to buy all they raised at two dollars a bushel. He never had to pay this price because all the other farmers were envious of the tall, heavy crop which grew from the "money" corn, and promptly bought all that was harvested for seed. So corn planting spread apace, and already the farms were reaching up the hillsides and out of the bottoms.

The cotton business got its big boost when some young men with money came South looking for plantations. They went first to the famous Albemarle county, and asked the price of the rich cotton lands in that State. They found they could buy all they wanted for one or two hundred dollars an acre; but they had been instructed to pay only twenty. So they went to the sand hills, where the soil seemed much the same, and bought great tracts of the rolling uplands. Here, to the amazement of the natives, they covered hundreds of acres with growing cotton. Other men with capital followed, and also others without capital. Both classes generally succeeded. Cotton became the money crop of the sand hills.

The most romantic incident in the up-building of the hill country, however, was the taming of the superponing grape. This sweet and juicy fruit is a native of the swamps and creek bottoms in the sand hill country. Its vines tangle themselves over vast acres and bear great quantities of the fruit, which is pale pink and grows in clusters of three. The old-time Scotch settlers quickly acquired a fondness for this delicious wild grape and transplanted it to their dooryards. Nearly every homestead had its superponing vine somewhere in the yard, from which the fresh fruit was gathered and eaten. Some of these vines covered almost an acre of ground, and produced far more grapes than the family could use; but no one ever thought of marketing them. They are extremely perishable, and too sweet to preserve with sugar.

The Day of Arsenic and Mercury Gone Forever.

Scientists Discover Botanical Antidotes for Blood Disease.

In one of the greatest private laboratories in the world there is prepared a remarkable medicine known as S. S. S.

And an army of men and women bear testimony to its marvelous effect in blood diseases.

There is not a stage or condition of any form of blood disease but what a similar case has been completely overcome, utterly banished and the entire blood supply, the tissues, the mucous surfaces, the bones, the joints, the mouth and throat, the hair and scalp, the eyesight—all have recovered their normal state of health by virtue of this wonderful S. S. S.

And these facts have been put to the most severe tests—they have withstood the sternest test of all—the test of time—S. S. S. having been the standard for 50 years. They have met the most rigorous, the most searching of all blood tests—the scientific and accepted Wasserman test.

And these wonderful results have been accomplished by a scientific method that has completely overthrown the vicious and destructive use of mercury, iodide of potash, arsenic and other mineral poisons.

A New Era Dawns.

To what extent articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, neurasthenia, and pernicious anemia owe their origin to the use of mineral drugs is a matter of speculation. And yet the wonderful S. S. S. not only drives the impurities out of the blood but so repairs the functions of assimilation and elimination throughout the body that the destructive influences of even the mineral drugs are overcome. The materials of which S. S. S. is made, are gathered by experts and the great Swift Laboratory has been visited and commended by men of national fame, both in statesmanship and in business life. Not one ounce of mineral drugs enters this famous laboratory. The medicine is prepared from the native roots; the virgin elements are extracted by a comprehensive and scientific process; and this is given to the world the greatest antidote for blood disease to be found anywhere on the face of the earth.

An Institution of Learning.

But the Swift Laboratory does not stop at the preparation of S. S. S. It has resolved itself into an institution for the instruction of those who need guidance; to whom the knowledge and medical wisdom of wide experience is priceless and yet can be had for the asking. All who are in any way afflicted with blood disease, eczema, lupus, catarrh, rheumatism, psoriasis, mucous patches, copper spots, falling hair, fading eyesight or any other external or internal effect of blood disease are urged to at once procure a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, department or general store and immediately fill out the coupon on this page for private, personal and confidentially sealed instruction and advice for successful home treatment. This matter is so important and of such great value that it should be attended to at once. But of all things do not permit anyone to sidetrack you on to any of the myriad of so-called blood tonics. Ask for S. S. S. or send for it, and be sure you get S. S. S.

dissolves acid accretions, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the nerve centers that cause such mystifying and often baffling rheumatic pains.

And best of all, this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach. If you have drugged yourself until your stomach is nearly worn out, you will be astonished to find that S. S. S. gives no unpleasant sensation, but goes right to work. This is because it is a pure vegetable infusion, it is taken naturally into your blood just as pure air is inhaled naturally into your lungs.

The great Swift Laboratory has spent thousands of dollars in perfecting, producing and placing in the hands of the public this wonderful medicine. So give your blood a good bath with S. S. S., for it knocks the worst forms of rheumatism every time.

This Great Laboratory is Devoted Entirely to the Preparation of S. S. S.

Blood Bath Knocks Rheumatism

Remarkable Effects of a Remedy That Actually Irrigates the Entire Blood Supply.

It sounds queer to take a blood bath but that is precisely the effect of the most remarkable remedy known as S. S. S. It has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In five minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder to all work to the end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dislodges all accumulations in the joints, Gentlemen: I wrote to you some 60 days ago thanking you for your advice about how to cure my little girl who had awfully bad sore legs and feet. So I did as you directed me to do and she is all O. K. I am a railroad man and have a family of wife and four children. I am giving my daughter S. S. S. now and have been for some time past. I certainly appreciate your kindness in giving me such good advice.

Respectfully,

German Who Took Ship by Himself Gets Life Sentence For Piracy

Wilmington, Del., April 19. — Without showing the slightest emotion, Ernest Schiller, alias Clarence Reginald Hudson, the German pirate who single-handed took charge of the British steamship Matopop and compelled the crew to run her into Lewes, stood in the Federal court yesterday afternoon and received a sentence of imprisonment for life, after pleading guilty to a charge of piracy. Schiller left for Atlanta last night in custody of Marshal Farry and a deputy.

Schiller appeared almost relieved, as he received his sentence from Judge Bradford, his one fear still being that he might be turned over to the British authorities. Before boarding the train up to Atlanta to-night, Schiller made this statement:

"I want my friends to know there was no motive of robbery, when I captured this steamship. It was for the cause of Germany and in revenge against England. I wanted to show them up. I could prove through my friends in New York, that it was my aim to blow up the ship, but nobody helped me, because they were dubious of me and my plan. I think they may have believed I was an English spy."

Scandalous Notes From Anonymous Writer Defame Phila. Society Women

Special to the Telegraph
Philadelphia, April 19.—A number of Philadelphia women, prominent in society, particularly some residing in the immediately vicinity of Rittenhouse Square, have been annoyed by anonymous defamatory letters lately. Several fashionable residents along the Main Line also have received scurrilous missives in the same handwriting.

The matter has been placed in the hands of James B. Cortelyou, chief post office inspector here, and a vain effort made to identify the writer of the letters. This task has proved difficult, the envelopes showing that they were mailed at various parts of the city and invariably in street boxes.

The letters, it is said, were, without doubt, written by a woman who has made an effort to disguise her real penmanship.

Members of one well-known family have been so annoyed that the services of a leading lawyer were enlisted. A daughter in this family was married in New York some time ago to a well-known young man. Prior to the wedding and following it the letters came regularly, many absurd statements being made regarding the bride.

Rally to Defense of National Guardsmen

Washington, D. C., April 19.—Indignant resentment of the aspersions cast upon the officers and men of the organized militia by Senator Borah, of Idaho, in a speech delivered in the Senate Saturday, was yesterday voiced by members of the House.

Mr. Borah's charges that the money appropriated by the Federal government for the militia had been wasted and in many cases "embezzled" were vehemently denied and when the army bill again comes before the House in the form of a conference report several members stand ready to give the lie to these statements and back up their assertions with absolute proof.

Representative James Hay, chairman of the House committee on military affairs, called up the Division of Military Affairs of the War Department yesterday and asked for the truth regarding Borah's charges. He was informed that every dollar appropriated by the Federal government for the militia had been expended according to law, that every dollar had been accounted for, that the "waste" complained of by the Senator covered the entire period from 1898 to the present time. The accusations of "embezzlement" have no foundation whatever in fact.

Representative Thomas S. Crago, of Waynesburg, Pa., who until within a few weeks ago was lieutenant-colonel of the Tenth Regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania, emphatically denied the aspersions cast upon the National Guard by Senator Borah.

Oh My Stomach! Oh My Stomach!

But Now, Thanks to Quaker Herb Extract

(Special, York, Pa.)
Mrs. John Pflaum, widow, aged 53 years, living near Seven Mile, said: "Some years ago I became attacked with a case of stomach troubles. I was told it was caused from some kind of an injury I received during the life of my husband, whom I always assisted in his work of caning chairs and making baskets at home. At first I only had pains when I got into a stooping position, but gradually these pains became more severe and at times they were almost unbearable. I was assured that I had neither cancer nor tumor but it was feared my trouble was caused by gall stones. I took many severe and expensive treatments but I received no results from them. My stomach became so bloated that for over three years I could wear neither corset nor bandage. Gas would form and I would try in every manner to get rid of it, but I simply could not. Night after night I would roll and toss in my bed and cry, Oh, my stomach, oh, my stomach, and did not know what to do or where to turn for help. I was persuaded to call at the drug store and was told that my case required the attention of my doctor. The Health Teacher who had been there said I simply could not get rid of it, but I simply could not. Quaker Herb Extract and Quaker Stomach Pills. They may relieve you and they cannot harm. I did so, and now comes the most remarkable part of all. I had as I have already stated suffered for years all the troubles were in my stomach from what caused

I could not tell, doctors did not tell nor did the Health Teacher seem to know yet after taking these Quaker remedies I began to get better from day to day. I now eat well, sleep well. I have no more gas or distress and all bloating has left me. This result is due entirely to Quaker Herb Extract and Quaker Liver Pills which are intended for stomach, liver and kidney troubles. It should surely be an inducement for all sufferers to at least try them. Who knows but what others also will receive such wonderful results like Mrs. Pflaum. They are surely worth this trial. So call to-day at Keller's Drug Store, 405 Market street and obtain this wonderful Quaker Herb Extract $1.00 per bottle or three bottles for $2.50. Oil of Balm 25 and 50 cents a bottle. Kidney Pills 50 cents a box.—Adv.
